

Oil and Gas Leasing Activity on Increase in Iosco; State's Oil Rights Sale Was Brisk

A producing oil well has never been tapped in the history of Iosco County but, judging from renewed activity in oil and gas leases, speculators believe there is a good chance that paying quantities of petroleum must exist here.

Earlier this year, the register of deeds office reported that oil and gas leases were filed by Dart Oil and Gas Corporation of Mt. Pleasant for considerable acreage in Reno and Plainfield Townships. Last year, Hunt Energy Corporation filed leases on 63 parcels in Tawas, Wilber and Baldwin Townships.

Since then, additional leases have been registered and only last week the Michigan Department of Natural Resources disclosed that it had completed its oil and gas lease sale on land with state-retained oil and mineral rights in Northern Michigan, including an undisclosed amount of acreage in this county.

A spokesman for the DNR said Friday that the largest price paid in the sale for Iosco County oil rights was $2,510 for 160 acres in Section 12, T24N, R6E, Oscoda Township.

Eleven different firms purchased 10-year oil leases from the state on lands in Iosco County, along with two local property owners who purchased state oil rights to their own land. Property under consideration in the sale was land formerly owned by the state under tax title.

Among the successful bidders were Energy Acquisition Corporation, Michigan Oil Company, Muskegon Development Company, Stocker and Sittler Oil Company, Hunt Energy Corporation, Dart Oil and Gas Corporation, Karlan Keillor, Western States Oil Company, Gulf Oil Corporation, Jack Gryberg and Associates, Carl Wender. Successfully purchasing the oil rights on their own property were Irwin Ruppert and Hugo J. Keiser of Tawas City.

The register of deeds office was visited Friday by W. C. "Dick" Palmer of Albion, one of Michigan's well-known "wildcat" oil men. A native of Michigan with 32 years of experience in the oil business in Texas and Oklahoma, Palmer returned to this state in 1959 and brought in four wells near Albion. According to Palmer, the first producing oil well in Michigan was hit in 1926 "but we haven't scratched the surface of the shallow basins or deeper strata," he predicts.

Palmer said he was looking over oil leasing prospects in Iosco and Arenac Counties in order to "get a handle" on the availability of lands.

Speaking like a true "wildcatter," Palmer said, "No one can say there is no oil in Iosco County because the few dry holes which have been punched or drilled here in the past really had not provided a good (See OIL LEASES, page 2.)

Huron Park Signs Hit by Vandalism

Vandalism to signs at United States Forest Service Parks in Grant Township last week continues under investigation of the Iosco County Sheriff's Department.

Donald R. Hoppe of the forest service's Tawas Ranger District office at East Tawas said that vandalism or theft of more than 19 signs at the Sand Lake picnic-swimming area and Round Lake Campground had a dollar value of more than $1,500. Although vandalism to road signs has been increasing each year, Hoppe said that last week's damage was the worst on record.

One target of the vandals was a large wooden sign at the Round Lake Campground. Those responsible used an axe or a hatchet to obliterate lettering on the face of the sign.

Thirteen signs in all were damaged at Round Lake and four road marker signs are missing at the Sand Lake picnic-swimming area. An additional forest service sign was stolen from M-65 at Kokosing Road intersection.

The sheriff's department is checking out two leads given by persons who witnessed the vandalism.

New Elementary Principal at Hale

Dennis Guiser is the new elementary principal at Hale Area School, succeeding Peter Holley, who was promoted to superintendent of schools earlier this year.

A six-year veteran member of the elementary faculty, Guiser had a one-year leave of absence last year to work toward his doctorate at Michigan State University. He completed one year of campus work and has 1 1/2 years of additional work to reach that goal.

Guiser served three years as Title I director and director of special education at Hale Area School.

He received his bachelor of science degree in 1970 from Central Michigan University and master of art degree from CMU in 1975.

He and his wife, Beverly, are parents of two sons. He is a native of Lincoln Park.

Guiser attended his first meeting of Hale Area Board of Education Monday night as the new principal.

Business conducted during that meeting included final approval of work on the elementary school renovation and payment to the contractor, Powers Aluminum.

Other business conducted included extension of a contract with Hale Education Association and approval of the vocational contracting program outlined by Karen Schmidt, vocational supervisor.

Resignations were received from Michael O'Farrell, science teacher; Steven Dutcher, first grade teacher; Maureen Salyers, elementary aide; Janet Taylor, elementary cook.

New teachers hired include Janel Runyan, second grade; Francine Kolodziejski, fifth grade; Michael Snyder, drafting.

The board of education approved a rollback of 1.56 mills of taxes in operating millage to comply with provisions of the Headlee Amendment. The new tax rate will be 22.44 mills, rather than 24 mills.

Authorization was given to borrow $286,000 in anticipated taxes to meet expenditures until receipt of property taxes in December.

Reports were heard on the summer recreation program, the school's athletic policy, Hale Cooperative Nursery lease, annual audit and school operation for the fiscal year.

Dismiss Suit in Iosco Circuit Ct. Against TC Clerk

A suit brought by a group of petitioners against City Clerk Rachel Sue McCready was dismissed Friday in Iosco County Circuit Court by Judge Leo Corkin of St. Johns, who sat in for Judge Allan C. Miller.

Indications are that criminal prosecution could result over alleged fraudulent signatures found on petitions.

Friday's suit asked the court to rule on the sufficiency of petitions asking for a referendum on the question of returning Tawas City to a three-ward system for electing aldermen. A vote on a charter amendment would have been required.

Prior to a hearing on a writ of mandamus, Roger Bauer of Alpena, the attorney hired to represent those persons signing the petitions, made a motion to dismiss the suit against the city clerk.

Following the hearing, Bauer said that petitions asking for the referendum on the three-ward system were invalid due to conflicts with state election laws.

City Atty. Kenneth J. Myles had subpoenaed 17 persons to appear at the trial, including all circulators of petitions and the person witnessing the signatures of the circulators.

Myles, who said his inspection of petitions had indicated that several signatures were fraudulent, had also subpoenaed several persons whose signatures on petitions did not appear to be genuine.

The city attorney said that the alleged fraudulent signatures on the petitions could result in criminal prosecution against two circulators, whose signed affidavit indicated that signatures were genuine.

Myles said the signatures he questioned involved one or more persons allegedly signing several signatures of family members on three petitions. He had subpoenaed those persons whose signatures he questioned.

On June 18, City Clerk McCready ruled that petitions submitted at a previous meeting of the city council did not conform with state election requirements and determined the wording and certification of the petitions to be insufficient.

One of the major reasons found by the city clerk in ruling that wording of the petitions was insufficient was that the petitions failed to provide who, body, organization or persons were primarily interested in the petitions as required by state statute.

On June 18, Mrs. McCready told the city council that she had checked with state election authorities and the city attorney had been informed that state law made it mandatory for such petitions to provide the name of the sponsoring organization or names of persons primarily interested in the petitions.

At the time, both Mayor Herbert Cholger and Councilman Rollin were of the opinion that the city clerk should have waived that requirement.

In retaliation, a petition submitted only last week by Allied Taxpayers asked the council to authorize a referendum permitting the people to vote on the question of electing a city clerk rather than the appointive method prescribed by the 1971 city charter. Under the charter provision, the council appoints both the city clerk and city treasurer on recommendation of the city manager.

A motion by Councilman Rollin supported by Mayor Cholger seeking the referendum was defeated by a four to two roll call vote. Opposed to the proposal were Coun. James Lansky, Donald Hayes, Hugo Keiser and Jerry Cotter.

As an outgrowth of discussion at last week's council meeting, the city clerk is to hold a public session Wednesday, August 15, 7:30 p. m., for persons interested in learning about election laws or to learn about procedures for a person to qualify as an elector. That meeting is to be held at the city hall.

ONE OF THE HIGHLIGHTS of Saturday afternoon's program during the annual Grant Township summer festival was the traditional water ball fight between volunteer firemen. Firemen and spectators, too, were drenched with water from hoses as each team attempted to push the ball across a wire with high pressure hoses. The contest was all in fun and added greatly to the afternoon's program, which included slow pitch softball games, contests for children and adults and a drawing for prizes. Turn to pages 2 and 4 of this section for more pictures.—Photo for the Herald by Donald Warner.

Enjoy the Few Vacation Days Left, Kids; School Days Soon

With the summer season winding to a close, the first hint that fall will soon be here comes this week with announcement of enrollment schedules at Tawas Area School.

Students new to the community who have not enrolled at the junior and senior high school should call in for an appointment with the guidance staff, states Prin. John Alexander.

Any student who has not registered before this should go to the high school on Thursday and Friday, August 23-24. Returning students who registered for the coming term last spring, can pick up their schedules, student handbooks and locker assignments on Monday and Thursday, August 27-30, 8:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., in the high school cafeteria.

Opening day of school for the staff will be Tuesday, September 4, with a full day for students on Wednesday, September 5. Lunch will be available in each school that day.

A report Monday night to the board of education by Alexander indicated there would be little change in the high school program this year, other than addition of a section of photography in the art offerings and a typing II class.

The principal said that Gene Salomony, band director, has been relieved of a study hall assignment this year to hold a class for students interested in instrumental music, but who do not desire to participate in a senior class numbering 160 students the following year, which is expected to relieve congestion in the building.

Alexander anticipates a total high school enrollment of approximately 675 to 680 students, which could again place this school in class C competition for athletics.

Jerry Youngs, junior high school principal, said there (See SCHOOLS, page 5.)

Bandit Robbed Oscoda Savings

A $1,000 reward has been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of an armed bandit, who walked into First Savings and Loan Association of Oscoda Monday afternoon and demanded money.

The robber, who wore no mask, was described by Oscoda-AuSable Township Police authorities as being "well dressed," wearing a blue suit.

More than six feet tall, the bandit walked into the office shortly after 3:00 p. m. and pointed a pistol at a teller. An undisclosed amount of money was taken.

The bandit was last seen walking north on US-23, after the holdup.

It was the first armed robbery of an Iosco County bank since October 1965, when a lone bandit walked into the Whittemore branch of Farmers and Merchants State Bank, pointed a pistol at a teller and made off with more than $7,000. That robber was later apprehended in another bank robbery.

test. Stating that he had drilled his share of dry holes over the years, he pointed out that Michigan's average of one producer out of five holes was good odds as against one producer in nine holes nationally.

The latest flurry in leasing property for oil and gas rights has been the greatest since 1961, when 13,074 acres of Isoco lands were leased and three unsuccessful test wells were drilled in Burrell and Reno Townships.

Drilling of those holes stopped at around 3,000 feet and Palmer believes that future drilling here and in Arenac County will be at a much greater depth—from 5,000 to 6,000 feet.

Oil and gas leasing activities in this county dates back to 1927, when a test well was sunk at East Tawas. Each decade thereafter witnessed periods of active interest here, but all wells sunk to date have not been producers.

Oil and gas in paying quantities have been found in counties surrounding Isoco during the past 50 years and it is expected that the current national shortage of crude oil will touch off new oil and gas exploration in this region.

Blust-Roberts Wedding Vows Solemnized at Hale

A secluded evergreen grove at the home of the bride's parents north of Hale was the scene of the marriage of Nancy Ann Roberts and Jeffrey Murray Blust Saturday afternoon, August 4, as guests were seated on semicircle benches in the natural chapel.

The Rev. Donald Morris of Hale United Methodist Church officiated at the double ring ceremony as the couple spoke their vows. Ronald Roberts, brother of the bride, with guitar accompaniment, sang wedding folk songs during the ceremony.

Escorted to the altar by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Roberts, the bride was attired in a self-created gown of cream embroidered cotton with full length sleeves gathered below the elbow and featuring a wide skirt ruffle accented with soft green ribbon. She had also fashioned her tiera headpiece of cream and green silk flowers and babies breath to match her quaint bouquet of similar blossoms.

Mrs. Roberts wore a brown and white floral print gown with stand-up collar and short cuffed sleeves.

The bridegroom was accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Blust of Hale. Mrs. Blust wore a yellow dotted Swiss gown with cape sleeve jacket.

As matron of honor, the bride's sister, Susan Shirley, was attired in a soft green dress with long ruffle. A small silk flower corsage was pinned in her hair.

Lloyd Murray, grandfather of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Assisting with the gifts and guest book was Kari Blust, sister of the bridegroom.

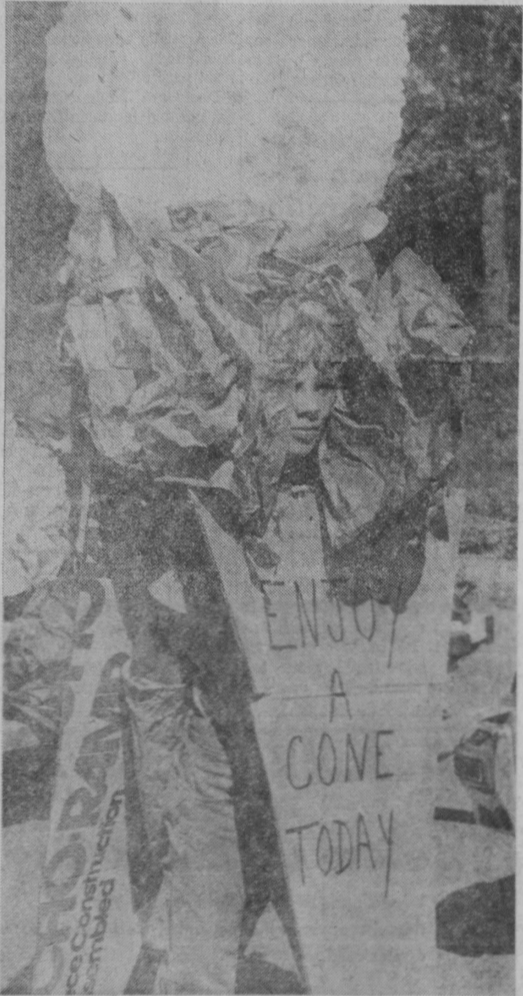

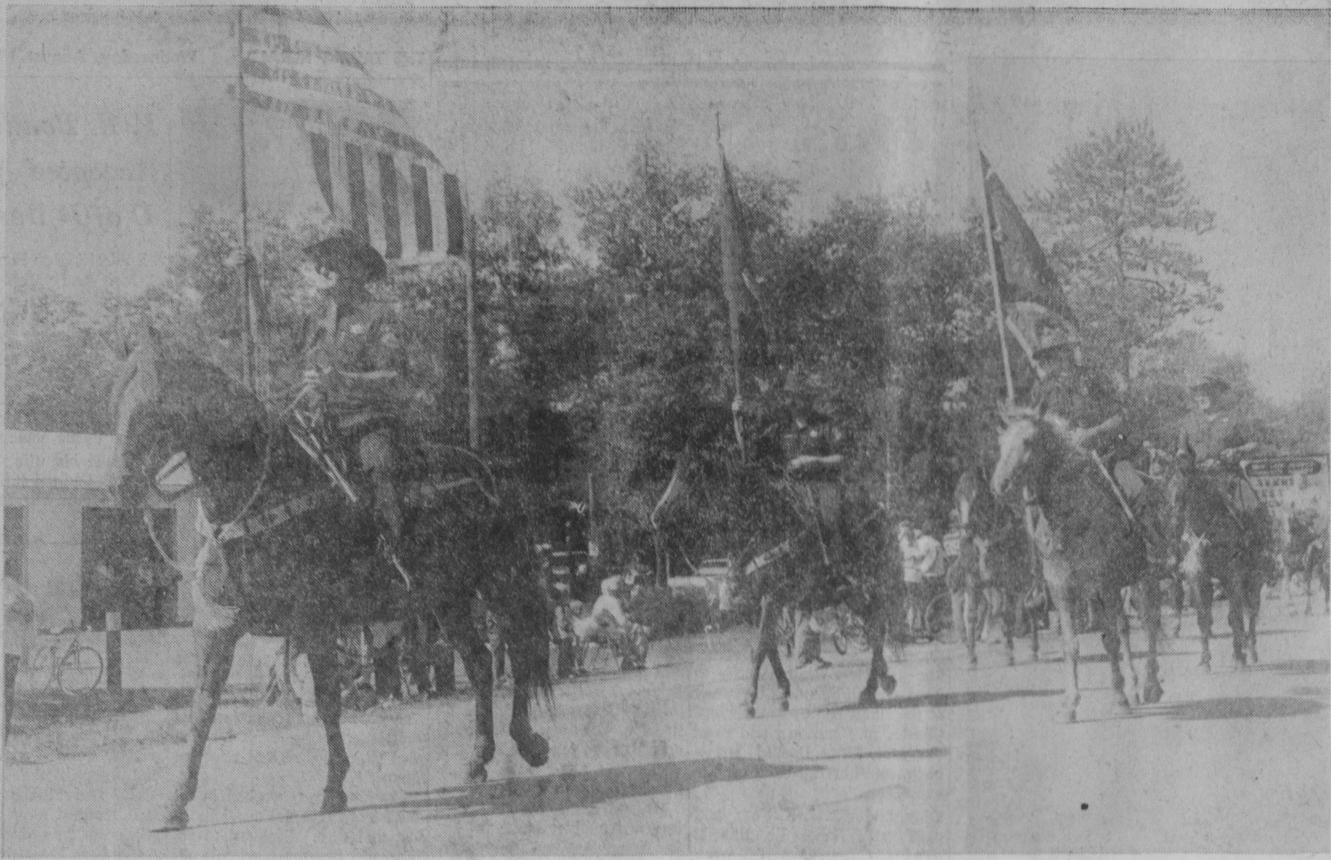

Guests of honor at the wedding were grandparents, Esther Murray of Hale, Violet Scofield of Detroit and Maybelle Roberts of Onaway, and the bridegroom's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Burns of Denver, Colorado. Other guests were present from southern Oregon, New York, Lexington and Kingston, Jamaica.

The couple will reside in Negaunee where they are employed. The new Mrs. Blust will continue her studies at Northern Michigan University for a degree in home economics. Her husband is nearing completion of his studies for a pilot's license.

Three Iosco Youths Going to State 4-H Club Horse Show

Three Iosco County youths will take their horses to Michigan State University for the annual state 4-H Horse Show on August 21. From right, Janice Kitchen, Tracy Lueckmena and Judy Wood, along with Debbie Holmes, alternate, will be among nearly 500 4-H members from all over Michigan who will participate in the day-long event featuring 13 rings with different competitions taking place simultaneously.

More than 200 classes range from hunter equitation and dressage to western pleasure and barrel racing. A new event this year is trail riding, in which contestants will ride through a course with obstacles commonly encountered on a trail ride.

"The show gives the youngsters an opportunity to assess their abilities by observing and competing against 4-Hers from counties other than their own," says Robin Bell, Iosco 4-H program assistant. "They can also share ideas with members with similar interests."

In addition to the various competitions, the show stresses learning horse show management. Nearly all of the 75 horse show officials are volunteer leaders from 4-H clubs throughout the state.

Schools Lower Heat on Federal Order; Dress Kids Warmly

Parents were advised to dress youngsters warmly this winter when attending Tawas Area School, due to emergency building temperature restrictions which became law on July 16.

In order to comply with those regulations, all thermostats in schools will be turned down this winter in order to conserve heat and energy.

"Corridors will be much colder than last winter and our advice to parents is to make sure their children are dressed warmly with sweaters and even 'long johns,'" stated Supt. Allan Dighera.

According to basic restrictions formulated by the federal government, space control devices are not to be set to consume energy to raise the temperature above 65 degrees. During the unoccupied period of a building, eight or more hours, buildings cannot be maintained above 55 degrees.

The superintendent emphasized that elementary units are exempted from federal regulations.

"We intend to make a concerted effort to make the school district more energy conscious," said the superintendent, "starting with the children, teachers and administration. Lights are to be turned off when not needed and electrical heaters in portable units will be turned off when teachers are not present."

The school is being required to make a study of energy usage over the past two years and to submit a report in order to be eligible for aid.

would be no changes in the class program other than switching some sections where class enrollment necessitates. He said that the junior high school department would have one room open for one hour a day.

Youngs projected an enrollment of 132 students in the seventh grade and 134 in the eighth grade. He said some 40 students would be alternating between eighth grade and ninth grade classes to make up work failed last year. The junior high school sends 154 eighth graders into the freshman class for this fall.

Herman Rollin, elementary principal, said there would be approximately 750 students in kindergarten through grade six. The big change will be utilization of the new addition to the Tawas City Elementary Unit. The addition of six classrooms there will see the move of all students in grades four through six to that unit, while all students in kindergarten through third grade will attend the East Tawas Elementary Unit.

Rollin said he expects this change will result in a smoother operation.

There will be no change in elementary curriculum. He said considerable work still needs to be completed at the Tawas City Elementary Unit library.

Two teachers remained to be hired in the school, one in the high school and one elementary teacher.

Rollin reported that vandals smashed 17 windows at the East Tawas Elementary Unit. Building custodians discovered the damage when the building was opened Monday morning.

The administration is in the process of correcting fire code violations noted by the state fire marshal's visit on March 10 at the East Tawas unit. Actual cost of work is $4,620 and the architect is to make a recommendation concerning installation of a ramp for wheelchairs at the Lincoln Street entrance.

Tawas A. School Gets Assurance on Gas Allocation

Tawas Area School was notified this week that its 1979-80 gas allocation will be 100 percent of total delivery made during the base year from November 1, 1977, through October 30, 1978.

As was the case last year, however, no bids were received for furnishing gasoline to operate buses this term. Supt. Alan Dighera said that bid requests had been submitted to five suppliers.

The superintendent said the state had guaranteed the school would receive a 100 percent allocation and it is expected that an open quotation, based on the market price, will be received before the start of school.

At Monday night's board of education meeting, bids were received from Wilson Dairy and London Dairy Farms for furnishing dairy products for the hot lunch program. One bid was received from Schafer Bakeries for bread and related products.

Bids received on a new hot water boiler for the Tawas City Elementary Unit were tabled for further study. Bidding on the boiler were Ulman Plumbing and Schaaf Heating and Plumbing.

At its last meeting, consideration was given to installation of a fast recovery hot water heater in the Tawas City Elementary Unit kitchen in order to avoid turning on the unit's steam boiler early in fall. It was reported Monday night, however, that space was lacking in the kitchen for installation of such a unit, which also supplies hot water to rest-rooms and shower rooms.

This project was one of two turned over to the budget committee for study prior to a final determination. The second project included construction of a parking lot at the west end of the Tawas City Elementary Unit. Also to be considered is filling a hole where portable units have been removed and the amount of landscaping to be handled in the basic contract for an addition to the unit.

Seymour Carpet was awarded the bid to install carpeting in one portable unit.

On recommendation of the superintendent, the Tawas City Elementary Unit's existing boys' rest-room is to be repainted for the opening of the term, rather than to construct a complete new rest-room costing approximately $15,000. A hot water line is to be run into the room to comply with a directive of the district health department.

Marcia Sztanyo was released from her contract to accept a new teaching position in Illinois. She has been a member of the high school faculty teaching and coaching staff for seven years.

Michael McCarley has been hired as the new auto shop teacher. He had 2 1/2 years experience at Montrose and is a graduate of Central Michigan University.

Norman Godfrey has been hired as the reading teacher for the junior high school. He is a graduate of Western Michigan University and has 1 1/2 years of teaching experience.

Katherine Wasyk has been hired to teach sixth grade reading. She has served as a substitute teacher in previous years.

The superintendent reported that a cost analysis is currently being conducted concerning the school's hot lunch program and it is expected that a price increase will be required for daily hot lunch tickets. Prices paid by students last term was $2 per week for elementary students and 50 cents per day or $2.50 per week for high school students. Cost to all adults participating in the hot lunch program is 75 cents per day.

Permission was given to advertise the building trades home for sale. All local real estate agents are to be contacted.

TAWAS BAY PERCH

CHRISTINE BETTIS, 14, of Carpenter Road, Grant Township, who will be a freshman at Tawas Area High School this fall, has had quite an unusual pet this summer. A baby tree swallow fell out of its nest three weeks ago and hurt its leg in the fall. Christine cared for the injured bird and it now eats around 45 grasshoppers a day—all caught by Christine. The bird has its full freedom, but seldom misses a free dinner. That time of year is approaching when swallows will be heading south and Christine expects that "Tweety" will join its fellows for the flight to a warmer climate.—Tawas Herald Photos.

This fish story concerns a finned creature which has long tickled the appetites of Michiganders. The yellow perch may lack the prestige of a whitefish decorating a plate in the home or restaurant, but what it lacks in size or appearance, when compared with its fellows from the deep, is forgotten after preparation for the table—either pan or deep fried—and eaten.

An amazing transition has taken place in recent times concerning the value of the yellow perch. On today's market, the per pound value of the lowly yellow perch often matches or exceeds the asking price of even the mighty lake whitefish. In the mid-1960s, commercially caught perch brought around 15 cents per pound; today, the market price is $3.50 per pound and higher for filleted perch.

This price increase has come about mainly through a matter of supply and demand. Here along the Lake Huron shore, where restaurants of the Tawas built state-wide reputations on serving perch plates, restaurants must now import perch from Canadian waters to satisfy the demand.

Popularity of the perch, like that of the whitefish, caused a near depletion of this tasty fish from the Great Lakes. Stocks of yellow perch once thought to be practically indestructible have been the subject of frequent studies. It is recorded, for instance, that yellow perch landings averaged 545 metric tons annually at the turn of the century, declined to an average of 210 metric tons from 1917 through 1963. The stock was large, but so slow growing that landings in the commercial fishery were depressed under the existing size limit.

A most dramatic change resulted, however, in the mid-1960s through addition of the ultimate in new gear and concentration of fishing effort. Introduction of nylon gill nets, plus abandonment of the size limit resulting from court action brought against the state by commercial fishermen right here in Iosco County, proved costly.

A yield of 545 metric tons—matching the previous record high of 50 years earlier—was made in 1966; landings then declined gradually and by the early 1970s, were as low as 104 metric tons.

While development of strong year classes and the rate of regularity of spring warming apparently are related to year

THE YELLOW PERCH has the distinction of being the most popular pan fish in Michigan, due mainly to the generous supply in the Great Lakes. This picture was snapped in the early 1900s and shows what the well-dressed perch fisherman wore at the Prescott dock in Tawas City. The cane fishing pole was a tradition here for many years, but rarely is one seen today.

class strength, along with environmental factors, overfishing was the primary cause of the recent changes in the perch stock.

After finally recognizing the problem, the gill net fishery was closed by regulation in Saginaw Bay as a protective measure and restricted use of trap nets was permitted in the lower bay.

Sports angling in outer Saginaw Bay, which declined severely following removal of size limits and expansion of the gill net fishery in the mid-1960s, has made a dramatic comeback during the past seven years. The return of the yellow perch has not reached the point, however, where thought should be given to the return of commercial fishing for perch.

Manipulation of the size limit without control of commercial fishing effort proved a near disaster in the mid-1960s and an often forgotten fact is that it is important to enforce restrictive regulations on the recreational fishery. Abiding by the daily catch limit, for instance, is important for the sports angler to remember.

At one time, in fact, regulations on the sports fishery were much more restrictive. A case in point can be found in the files of The Tawas Herald.

On April 22, 1932, this newspaper reported that "A much appreciated move was made by the conservation department when the ban on fishing for perch in the Tawas River was removed last Tuesday and, as soon as the word was received, the river bank was lined with fishermen."

The river had been closed several years to fishing until May 1 as a means of protecting fish during the spawning run. As a result, the perch fishing season was over by the time the local anglers were permitted the opportunity to wet their lines.

"During these days of unemployment, a chance to fish is something appreciated and of great benefit," stated the Herald during the peak of the great depression. The fishing ban was lifted here through the efforts of State Rep. Fred C. Holbeck and Mayor Edward Trudell, the latter being a commercial fisherman.

Tawas Bay and Saginaw Bay both have long histories of recreational fishing, particularly for perch, and hundreds of fishermen could be found each spring lining the banks of the Tawas River or fishing from docks and boats in Tawas Bay. The riverbank fishing is a thing of the past, but fishing from docks and boats throughout most of 1979 has been exceptionally productive.

Recreational harvest of the yellow perch of Tawas Bay has long been an important attraction for tourists to this area, which has been an important contribution to the economy. And the availability of perch in these waters has also been important to the food consumption of local families due to the rising cost of living.

It was for this reason that the Tawas Chamber of Commerce was so outspoken in its objection to the state removing size limits on commercially caught perch at a public hearing held at the East Tawas Community Building in 1964.

Although local voices were ignored and the size limit was eliminated, causing a near catastrophe to the Saginaw Bay perch stock, the one productive result of that hearing was the legislative decision to require a recreational fishing license on Michigan waters of the Great Lakes. After many years of managing fish stocks principally for the commercial harvest, the state has, since enactment of the recreational license, turned its attention toward recreational fish management.

The end result, however, has been at the expense of commercial fishing. When the stock of perch reaches a satisfactory level, restricted and limited entry fishing with trap nets should follow and area restaurants could again obtain adequate supplies of locally caught perch.

Not satisfied with present restrictions, a move is afoot to permit the reintroduction of unselective gill nets into the waters. All that has been accomplished toward renewing and building the stock of perch in Saginaw Bay could be negated through a removal of those restrictions.

Recreational anglers, as well as the general public, must be made aware of the consequence of any such move, particularly if some point out that exotic species of fish have been introduced into the Great Lakes for recreational fishing and that perch should be harvested with gill nets.

That was the thought of the state's fishery management in the mid-1960s when the coho salmon was introduced into the Great Lakes and the size restriction on commercially caught perch was eliminated.

History should not be permitted to repeat itself. The perch is still the tasty morsel it always was and can be caught by the "little guy" who cannot afford any great expenditure for specialized gear and boats required to catch salmon and trout.

DOWN.

Michigan Consolidated watches its costs, always looking for more efficient and less expensive ways to serve you and to hold down your natural gas bills. Here's some of those cost-effective ways:

- The number of our employees is no higher than it was ten years ago—yet we serve many more customers and maintain more facilities.
- We now charge the cost of appliance repairs only to those customers who request this service. At one time this cost was included in everyone's bill.
- Our newly established Customer Information System links all outstate districts with one office. We found this to be the most efficient way to give information and provide 24-hour service to customers throughout Michigan.

We'll continue searching for more ways to hold down your gas bill. We want the gas supplied by Michigan Consolidated to keep its place as your best energy buy—now and in the future.

THESE MODERN fishermen display a catch of perch following an afternoon of fishing on Tawas Bay. Fishing gear is more expensive these days and ownership of a power boat was never in the wildest dreams of fisher-

Roses to Tawas Bay Artists for Another Outstanding Art Show

The 19th annual Tawas Bay Waterfront Art Show again proved to be one of the finest events of its kind in Northern Michigan. It is THE major attraction of the year in Tawas City and local residents, as well as visitors, look forward to this great week-end each year.

The show held at the Tawas City Park and Iosco County Building provides the only cultural activity of any consequence to residents of the Tawas and surrounding area, furnishing an outlet to encourage the talents of local artists; at the same time, it permits residents to enjoy and purchase the art work of fellow citizens, as well as bringing in highly talented visitors to display and sell their wares.

This show is one of the few events in the country where thunder showers—often prevalent during the month of August—rarely dampens the spirit of exhibitors and spectators. The recent show provided an excellent example of this fact when a large crowd of people remained at the park to inspect or consider the purchase of paintings and other creative craft objects which had been covered with plastic for protection against the rain. It is not that way at most other outdoor shows—at the first hint of rain, the crowd leaves.

Approximately 3,000 people—local residents and visitors—attended and enjoyed the 19th annual show. Sales were down because of the uncertain national economy—purchase of arts and crafts objects feel the axe first when tightening a budget—but few complaints were heard from visiting exhibitors, who enjoy coming to this community and meeting old friends.

The show is also important to this community's economy for it attracts many persons, who normally would not stop here; during their stay, those visitors spend money in restaurants, service stations, markets and other business places, which helps to provide employment of local residents.

This corner is relating the above for it was disappointed to hear the suggestion last week to the Tawas City Council that the only persons benefiting by the show were the exhibitors and that local taxpayers "bore the burden" of paying for services. It was suggested to the council that the city consider charging a fee of $5 to each exhibitor because they were profiting from the show.

What was not said is that exhibitors pay a $12 fee to the sponsoring organization to finance printing of programs and other expenses of staging the show. To most exhibitors, any additional cost probably would be a factor prohibiting participation.

This corner cannot recall an instance where the city has made a charge for a public event held in this beautiful park, especially where the event is enjoyed by local citizens and taxpayers. The only exception to the above would be when a midway-carnival was located in the park. The city treasury benefited from charging a fee for use of the park, but the practice of holding such a show here was discontinued for obvious reasons.

Rather than considering a charge for the park, the city council should write a letter to Tawas Bay Artists, the sponsoring organization, commending those fellow citizens for their splendid efforts toward bringing another fine show to the shore of Tawas Bay and offering a cultural activity which normally is not found in a small town.

The art organization will or already has thanked visiting artists and craftsmen for coming to our community and providing a most enjoyable week-end.

Japanese Youths Visiting Iosco Co.

Four Iosco 4-H families are hosting Japanese youngsters as part of the Michigan 4-H-LABO Party program. The Japanese youths arrived in Michigan July 23 and will stay with their American hosts until August 21.

"The purpose of the exchange program is to establish close relationships between the two countries and give the Japanese young people a chance to further develop their command of the English language," says Robin Bell, Iosco Youth Program assistant, according to Mrs. Bell, Iosco County host families may also have a chance to visit their new friends in Japan next summer.

Iosco 4-Hers Eligible for Free Horse

Iosco County 4-H teen-agers, 15 or older, are eligible to receive a free harness horse to raise and sell at auction for profit next fall. Deadline to register for the offer is August 24. Contact must be made with the Iosco County Cooperative Extension Service office before that date, says Robin Bell, Iosco County 4-H youth program assistant.

From all of the candidates who apply for the offer, 15 teen-agers in the state will be selected. Finalists will be chosen by state 4-H officials in early September.

In October, each participant will receive a foal from the Michigan Standardbred Breeders' Association (SBA). Each participant will raise the horse until October 1980 and sell it at a standardbred auction. The 4-Hers will receive the year's expense required to raise the horse, plus one-third of the auction sale price. The remainder of the sale price will go to the SBA.

"The project gives the kids a chance to learn the responsibility which comes with caring for a horse," Mrs. Bell says. "A unique aspect of the standardbred project is that it gives the kids a rare opportunity to learn about the economics and career possibilities in the harness racing industry."

The youngsters will participate in a number of programs throughout the year through the cooperation of the Michigan Harness Horseman's Association. They will attend a meeting on care of the standardbred foal, visiting breeding and training facilities, show the horses in halter and driving classes, and attend a workshop on preparing a yearling for sale.

Any 4-H member who is at least 15 years old and is currently involved in the horse project is eligible for the program. Members must have written permission from their parents or guardians; have recommendations from their 4-H leaders and county youth agents; demonstrate experience with horses, and have proper facilities. For further information and application, contact the Iosco County Cooperative Extension Service office, Post Office Box 599, Tawas City, Michigan 48763; phone 362-3449.

"As he thinketh in his heart, so is he." (Proverbs 23:7)

While visiting in a nursing home recently, I met a very lovely elderly lady. Her mental faculties were severely impaired. She could not remember the way to her room.

She began playing the piano in the assembly room while I was visiting with another patient. Her playing was simply beautiful. After listening to her for a little while, I walked over to the piano and engaged her in conversation. I asked her if she could play "How Great Thou Art."

"Sure," she said; and without a note of music before her, she played a stanza through beautifully. Then, I asked her if she could play "Amazing Grace." Her face lighted up, and she said, "Oh sure, that is one of my favorite hymns." She played it through perfectly.

Another patient told me this lady had devoted her life to the study and production of beautiful music. There she sat playing from memory. She remembered her music. Her face was radiant. She had become the product of her years of study and devotion to music.

PRAYER

Our Father, since we become the products of our innermost thoughts, enable us to think on the things that are honest, just, pure and lovely. We pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

State Unemployment Rate Rises

DETROIT—Michigan's unemployment rate rose by one-half of one percent to 7.7 percent in July as summer job seekers made their presence felt on the state's labor force. Michigan Employment Security Commission Dir. S. Martin Taylor announced.

In July, the number of jobless workers in the state climbed to 339,000, an increase of 22,000 from June when the jobless rate was 7.2 percent. Total employment dropped by 1,000 last month to 4,065,000. At the same time, the state's labor force grew to a record 4,404,000, an increase of 21,000 from June.

A year ago, July 1978, Michigan's unemployment rate was 7.3 percent with 308,000 out of work.

Taylor attributed the jobless increase to the seasonal influx into the labor force of students and other summer job seekers who were unable to find employment. Employment gains in some industries offset much of the early model changeover and inventory adjustment layoffs in the automotive industry.

Nationally, the unemployment rate also rose increasing from 6.5 percent in June to 5.7 percent in July.

Warns of Building License Violation

HARRISVILLE—The Alcona County prosecuting attorney advises that during this season of the year, when individuals are considering alterations to existing buildings or erection of new buildings, they be very careful of the persons with whom they deal.

All persons engaging in work on a fixed price basis are required under the laws of the state to be licensed. Owners of property should request that the persons with whom they are dealing, if the deal is on a fixed price basis, to show them their license issued by the Department of Licensing and Regulations of the State of Michigan.

Only if the owner provided materials and the contractor provides only labor, is a contractor able to charge on an hourly basis.

On August 1, a contractor was found guilty in the 82nd District Court of engaging in the business of a building contractor without being licensed by the state. The conviction arose out of a contract with a property owner for alteration work on a residence in Alcona County.

The property owner paid the contractor $2,000 down on a $5,000 contract. Thereafter, very little work, amounting to approximately $800, was performed by the contractor. Thereafter, no further work was performed.

Acting on complaint, J. Thomas Carroll Jr., Alcona County prosecuting attorney, issued a warrant charging the contractor with violation of the state licensing law. A second warrant was issued later against the contractor charging embezzlement.

Carroll advises that the firm has been known to operate also in Bay County, Iosco County, Oscoda County, Alpena County and Presque Isle County.

Introducing MODOMAC 44 a new concept in cleaning and protecting the finish of your vehicle, aircraft, boat or recreational vehicle. It's an external treatment that's warranted to last!

MODOMAC 44 is a professional application, not a wax job. It doesn't employ plastics. It doesn't require re-application (for years and years). It doesn't smear or soften in heat. It won't streak, etch or oxidize aluminum surfaces. It won't craze or check in cold temperatures.

MODOMAC 44 is a tested, proven treatment. Although new to this community, it has been seven years in development in other parts of the United States. The process is derived from that used to clean and protect commercial surfaces to keep them shining with sparkle and free of damaging contaminants (induced by the constant use of cleaners during extensive heavy usage).

The chemical utilized in the process is a blend of silicones, cleaners, hardeners and sun screens formulated for easy cleaning. The result is a smooth characteristic that guards the surface, tending to make foreign materials slip off and not stick.

Available for any hard, non porous surface, the Modomac 44 treatment is not diminished by detergents. Yet it gives the finish a showroom new look for years restoring paint and eliminating the need for waxes, chrome cleaners and compounds.

MODOMAC 44 has more features than other systems

- Available on cars, boats, airplanes, trucks, vans, motorcycles, recreational vehicles, busses, mobile homes, etc.
- Increases surface life, preventing paint from fading or losing brilliance.
- Lasts many times longer than conventional treatments.
- Resists harsh detergents, yet can be washed and washed.
- Seals out rain, salt, sun, dirt, water, grease, fuel spills, bird droppings, bug stains, tree sap, road tars.
- Protects in extreme heat and cold.
- Restores metal to new appearance, prevents tarnish.

Look Before You Buy Dream House

Before you build or buy that energy-efficient dream house, take a look at one other potential energy saver—the land. "Extreme haste and lack of consideration in site planning often results in immediate as well as long-range energy losses," explains Joseph T. Cox, landscape architecture specialist for Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service. Cox's observations on site selection, energy-efficient landscaping and maintenance are detailed in a recently published extension bulletin titled "Design Your Landscape to Conserve Energy."
 Among his suggestions are to choose a lot free of threats from floods or erosion, with very little need for uprooting vegetation or destroying tree root systems.

Deciduous trees can be energy savers if they are planted on the west side of the home to protect it from the hot summer sun in the afternoon. In the winter, these same trees allow the sun's rays in to warm the home. Evergreens with branches to the ground can protect the home from the penetrating chill of a winter wind. Place them parallel to a house wall, preferably on the northwest side, allowing space for growth and harmless snow drifts.

Powered garden tools may be energy wasters, so Cox suggests considering alternatives to the traditional grass lawn. One of these is uniform height ground cover plants, which need very little upkeep.

For more energy-saving tips on landscaping, ask the county extension office for bulletin No. 1122, or obtain a copy from MSU Cooperative Extension Service office, Post Office Box 599, Tawas City; phone 362-3449. Single copies are free to Michigan residents.

Establish Need for Spouse Shelter at Meeting of Huron Haven, Inc.

Thursday, August 9, representatives of several agencies attended an open meeting of Huron Haven, Incorporated, a spouse shelter system for Iosco County. The need for such a program in this area was established through information accumulated by Linda Gillam and Tpr. Thomas Beebe from county pastors and law enforcement agencies.

A recruiting program is under way for volunteers to provide transportation, shelter homes and counseling. Debra Schmidt of Alpena's Shelter, Incorporated, has offered services to provide crises intervention training sessions for counselors in September. Anyone interested in assisting with any phase should call Elizabeth Keller, 739-8256 or 739-1598, or write Huron Haven, Incorporated, Post Office Box 274, Oscoda.

When fully established, Huron Haven, Incorporated, will provide immediate transportation, shelter, counseling and information on available long-term assistance.

The next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, September 5, in the Oscoda Township Hall.

Kitchen Safety

AVOID SERIOUS BURNS

Why do a slow burn over an accident that might have been prevented? Check the kitchen for possible hazards that could cause serious burns such as the following:

Teach young children that the heating units of a range can be hot and may still be hot even after the units are turned off.

If grease in nonelectrical cookware catches fire, smother the fire with a lid.

Turn cookware handles to the side or back of the range during cooking to reduce the chance of hitting the item and knocking the hot contents over. Use insulated pot holders rather than cloth or paper towels when handling hot cookware and cookware handles.

Keep electrical cords from small appliances out of the reach of children and where someone cannot accidentally trip over them.

Check for low-hanging tablecloths—an invitation to toddlers to pull hot foods down on themselves.

If liquids boil over, get out of their way. Turn off the heating unit and let the boiling substance cool before touching the pot.

Avoid wearing loose-fitted clothing or dangly jewelry when cooking. Such items can get caught in appliances or catch fire over heating units of the range.

Do not soothe a burn with butter as that will only cause blisters. Instead, soak the burned area in cold water. It helps to take the sting out and cool the area. If the burn is serious, seek medical attention.

Sorry, there is no excuse for not reading the medicine label. The label tells you what it's for, how much to take and how often to take it. It's important information. Before you take any medicine, read the label. Medicines can't help you if you don't take them right.

Lower State Peach Crop is Predicted

Thirty-five-million pounds of peaches would make a mound of peach sundae or peaches and cream! Good things are growing in Michigan and the state's peach growers are estimating this harvest of peaches this summer, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Due to adverse weather conditions, this year's production is predicted 40 percent less than 1978. Peaches are picked when firm-ripe. Because of this they are very perishable and require special handling.

Unlike peaches, Michigan pears are picked when not quite fully ripe and still firm. To ripen pears, store them in a dark place at 60 to 70 degrees for two to three days. The state's pear production has doubled in the last three years, with an estimated 12,000-ton harvest this summer. Michigan is fifth in the nation for total pear harvest, according to MDA.

Most of the state's pears, primarily Bartlett's, go to canners; however, fresh Michigan pears are available mid-August through October.

Prune plum production in Michigan climbed to the second highest in the nation in 1978 with a 65 percent crop increase. Growers harvested 48-million pounds for a total market value of about 3.3-million dollars.

Two-thirds of the prune plum crop goes to processors for making jams, jellies, preserves and other products. Michigan plums are also excellent in cakes, tarts, pies, salads or for out-of-hand eating.

All three fruits are excellent for snacks and preserving, but try some new recipes. Michigan plums are great for a plum sauce topping for cheese cake. Boiled and baked peaches complement ham or duckling main courses.

Record High Loan Volume

Several changes in the Farmers Home Administration program have created an extra high loan volume and FmHA investment into the area, indicated Philip Shaw, the local FmHA supervisor. More than 44-million dollars has been lent by direct loans since October 1978 from the FmHA office in West Branch which services Ogemaw, Iosco and Roscommon Counties. In addition to direct money, Shaw says that FmHA has guaranteed almost four-million dollars of loans provided by other lenders in this three-county area.

This is the largest yearly loan program the West Branch office has ever experienced, reflects Shaw, and represents a considerable federal investment into the area.

Shaw said that one factor contributing to higher loan volume by the West Branch office was the gain of Iosco County area in October 1978 and the loss of Oscoda County. The Iosco area provides for substantially more demand for FmHA services than did the Oscoda County area.
