

Citizens Want City to Pay Their Legal Bill

A request to pay the legal bill of citizens who brought a lawsuit against the city clerk, dismissed in circuit court two weeks ago, was tabled Monday night for further study by the Tawas City Council.

Before the meeting ended, City Clerk Rachel Sue McCready came under another round of fire from Mayor Herbert Cholger, Coun. Robert Rollin and Allied Taxpayers.

Florence Upson, who was nominated in the recent primary election as one of six candidates who will vie for three seats on the city council in the November general election, expressed the opinion to the council that it was "an infringement of citizens' rights" and felt that the city should bear the entire cost of litigation.

Mrs. Upson was one of several persons who circulated petitions last June asking for a referendum on a charter amendment which would return Tawas City to a three-ward system for electing aldermen.

After checking with state election authorities and the city attorney, Mrs. McCready ruled that petitions submitted did not conform with state requirements, determining the wording and certification of petitions to be insufficient. In addition, the mandatory provision of designating the organization or persons primarily interested in the petitions was omitted from the wording.

Mrs. Upson was of the opinion that the city clerk had a duty to provide proper guidelines to persons interested in submitting petitions to the council and believed the city should pay legal fees brought in the unsuccessful suit.

Coun. Jerry Cotter expressed the opinion that the city was not in the business of providing legal advice, while Coun. Hugo Keiser stated that anyone had the right to bring litigation against the city, but he felt that citizens "were way off base" to ask the council to pick up a bill for legal fees when they were the ones who brought suit.

Mayor Herbert Cholger said that petitions were being circulated again asking for a referendum on the question of the ward system and expressed the opinion that it should not have been necessary to bring legal action against the city clerk in the first place. He cited an instance where the Saginaw City clerk had approved petitions, regardless of the fact that it was known that petitions were in error, and believed Mrs. McCready should have certified the recent petitions. "The city clerk has a lot of power and can put proposals on a ballot, regardless of reviews by the city attorney or the state attorney general," said the mayor.

City Mgr. Lowell Thomas said, however, that the city is subject to all types of lawsuits in such instances—"and you are hung if you do and hung if you don't."

He said that most city clerks use the discretion of the law so as not to submit themselves to lawsuits "and the city council should want the clerk to abide by the letter of the law."

The city manager also said that the city clerk, as well as other functions of the city government, must work consistently within the framework of local ordinances and state laws.

"The council is elected by the people to make decisions and the city administration is required to follow the law," said Thomas.

Councilman Rollin expressed the opinion that the city clerk was using her office to "punish individuals." The mayor believed that if the city clerk was interested in seeing the "people get their just," she should have explained the proper form for submitting petitions.

The city manager pointed out, however, that both he and the clerk had "sat down and explained the problems concerning the petitions with both you and Bob (Councilman Rollin). We discussed everything in detail." Thomas felt that a finger should not be pointed at the city clerk or himself "when two elected officials did not follow through."

Councilman Cotter expressed the opinion that everything that Mrs. McCready had done concerning the referendum petitions was according to law—"if not, the case would not have been dismissed," he stated. Cotter also said he believed the majority of the people were satisfied with Mrs. McCready's work.

(At the present time, possible criminal action is still under consideration against circulators of petitions, who were subpoenaed, but did not testify in the recent trial against Mrs. McCready as the court dismissed the case. An inspection of petitions by the city attorney indicated the possibility of several fraudulent signatures.)

Thomas asked authorization from the council to pay $960 to (See CITY CLERK, page 6.)

SHOWING a copy of his revised book on Michigan trees is Norman Smith of East Lansing. Smith married a former East Tawas girl and his work with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources brought him to this area on numerous occasions. He was here several years ago for the dedication of the Lake Michigan to Lake Huron Riding and Hiking Trail.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Author Revises Popular Book on Michigan's Trees

Norman Smith, no stranger to the Tawas area, has revised his "Michigan Trees Worth Knowing," which is now in its fifth edition published by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Retired chief of the DNR's office of planning services, Smith is married to the former Rosemary McKay of East Tawas and is well-known in this community.

Smith's "Michigan Trees Worth Knowing" has been popular reading material for the general public since it was first published by the DNR in 1948. It is of interest both to the layman as well as the professional forester.

This latest edition, numbering 88 pages and in a handy nine-inch by 11½-inch format, has been expanded with the addition of color photography snapped by the author. The full color front cover is a "montage" of leaves from Michigan trees in full color. The booklet is available locally at the Book Nook, East Tawas.

A native of Ann Arbor, Smith is a graduate forester with bachelor of art, bachelor of science and master of forestry degrees from the University of Michigan, where he specialized in forest management and forest recreation.

His career with the DNR spanned the years from 1937 to 1976, including 27 years with the forestry division at Lansing, at which time he was involved with forest use planning and development. He played a direct role in the growth of the state forest campground system in the 1950s, in the establishment of scenic forest drives, the Lake Michigan to Lake Huron Riding and Hiking Trail and in the preparation of informal material.

From 1964 until his retirement in 1976, he was chief of the office of planning services, responsible for development of the state-wide Michigan Recreation Plan and for initiating the National Rivers and Wilderness and Natural Areas programs. In 1966, he was appointed to the state board of registration for foresters and served as a member for 10 years.

His "retirement office" in his home at East Lansing contains such collectibles as log marks from the early lumbering days and antique wooden tools. His interest in collecting and exploring the history and uses of trees, as well as tree photography, has been a hobby and an avocation throughout his career.

He has used that experience to tell the interesting story, both in words and photographs, of 76 different species of trees found in Michigan, listing the identifying characteristics, areas of natural occurrence, history, uses and disease enemies of each tree.

Forty-eight color photographs and 214 black and white photographs are used to identify characteristics of trees and leaves.

The booklet includes a drawing to simplify leaf terminology, a glossary of terms, scientific tree nomenclature, information on wood to burn, plus an introduction to forest regions, history, ownership of the resource, forest products, protection and management.

D&M Derailment Near Black River

A Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company crew and specialized equipment called in from Indiana were still at work Tuesday clearing wreckage left by the derailment of a southbound freight train late Monday near Black River, Alcona County.

Federal Bureau of Investigation authorities have been notified as there are indications that track switching equipment had been tampered with.

Two diesel locomotives and 13 hopper freight cars were piled to a height of 30 feet and damaged in the wreck. No injuries were reported. Names of crewmen involved were not available Tuesday morning.

The 85-car train was southbound from Millersburg to Bay

City when the derailment took place between 9:30 and 10:00 p. m. A railroad spokesman at the general offices in Tawas City said that 200 feet of mainline tracks were torn up in the accident.

Hulcher Company of Indiana, specialists in removing railroad equipment damaged in such wrecks, was called to the scene and was at work Tuesday morning. It is expected that two weeks will be required to completely clear the scene.

Railroad officials and law enforcement agencies conducted preliminary investigation of the crash before calling the FBI. Tampering with railroad switches or railroad operating equipment is a federal offense.

Council Hears Complaint

ET Businessman Concerned Over Possible Parking Loss

Concern over the proposed Newman Street improvement project was expressed by Gary Goddard, businessman, at Monday night's meeting of the East Tawas Council.

Goddard said he was opposed to the project and cited his particular concern over losses in parking slots and if those lost parking spaces would be balanced by the city in other areas.

Mayor Robert Bolen said that the entire project, including reconstruction of Newman Street, itself, is largely dependent on state or federal help and that plans are indefinite at this time.

The city has been considering a major reconstruction of Newman Street for several years, but the project is believed to be about two years away.

Mrs. Elmer Dzuba appeared before the council and spoke of her disenchantment with the city in several categories, especially the condition of the harbor parking lot.

The council pointed out that the area in question is under lease to the state and that the city has no authority to maintain it.

Mayor Bolen assured her, however, that the city would approach the state for permission to keep the parking lot usable.

(City Clerk Clyde Soper called the waterways commission Tuesday morning and permission was granted to the city to grade the parking lot.)

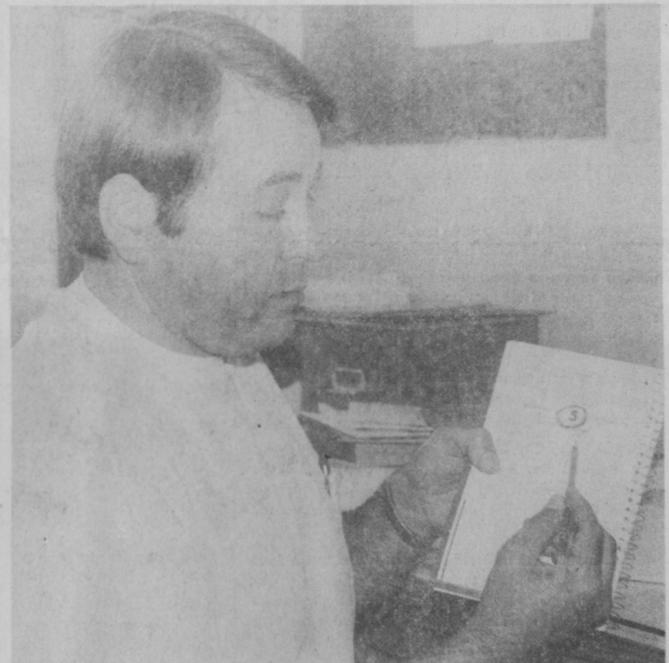

Due to problems developing from congestion at the Tom Dillon Park during softball double headers, the council urged the park commission to shift some activities as rapidly as possible to the Dewey Durant Park where activities can be carried on without creating a nuisance.

First phase of the Dewey Durant Park has been accomplished with construction of a softball field and two tennis courts. When completed, the park will have four softball fields, six tennis courts, a skating pond and facilities for other recreational activities.

A proposed subdivision control ordinance submitted by the clerk was turned over to the planning commission for public hearing and evaluation.

An appeal by Felix Galavage for city assistance in preventing harassment by a neighbor was deemed to be a civil matter which could only be settled by private litigation. Chief of Police Donald Docking was requested to contact the city attorney to spell out the city's position in the matter.

Senator Irwin Offers Help in Getting All New Buses

Help from State Sen. Mitch Irwin was enlisted Wednesday by the Iosco County Board of Commissioners to aid this county in securing buses promised by the Michigan Department of Transportation.

During a break in attendance at a tourism hearing, Senator Irwin offered his services to the board during its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon.

According to latest information from Lansing, the state department of transportation is offering to provide three new buses and three old buses to this county to start a new transportation system under state contract.

The three old buses are the same ones which Iosco County had used in its previous transportation system. The major reason for disbanding that system was the high cost of maintaining those buses and only one was still in operation when that system folded.

In other business Wednesday, the commission heard a report that District Health Department No. 2 board of directors had unanimously adopted a motion amending its budget to delete the position of administrator. The motion provided that Dr. Paul Christenson would act as health officer/medical director to become effective as soon as possible.

The AuSable Valley Community Mental Health Services submitted a request for this county to expand its financing by approximately $10,000 this year. Iosco pays 58 percent of the total budget, Ogemaw County's share is 30 percent and Oscoda pays 12 percent.

Iosco County was requested to allocate $24,697 for contingency matching funds and an expansion request of $8,287. This amount totals $32,984, as compared to the current year's allocation of $22,484.

A mid-year report by County Treas. Edward Nelkie indicated that fees collected by county offices are expected to approximate the budgeted amount of $531,829 by the end of the year. By July 31, the fees amounted to $285,450.57.

Fees included $1,307 from animal control, $17,908.47 from building and safety, $26,540.20 from the county clerk's office, $59,251.98 from 81st District Court, $5,894.12 from the equalization department, $2,406.49 from the probate court, $30,017.35 from the register of deeds, $4,219.56 from the sheriff's department and $137,905 from the county treasurer's office. The major portion of the latter figure comes from interest gained through reinvestment of funds.

The commission authorized payment of $406.70 as this county's share of the defense by attorneys for the Michigan Association of Counties in litigation involving the right of counties of Michigan to receive federal payment in lieu of taxes. Money paid by the federal government to counties in which federal forests are located was (See COMMISSION, page 6.)

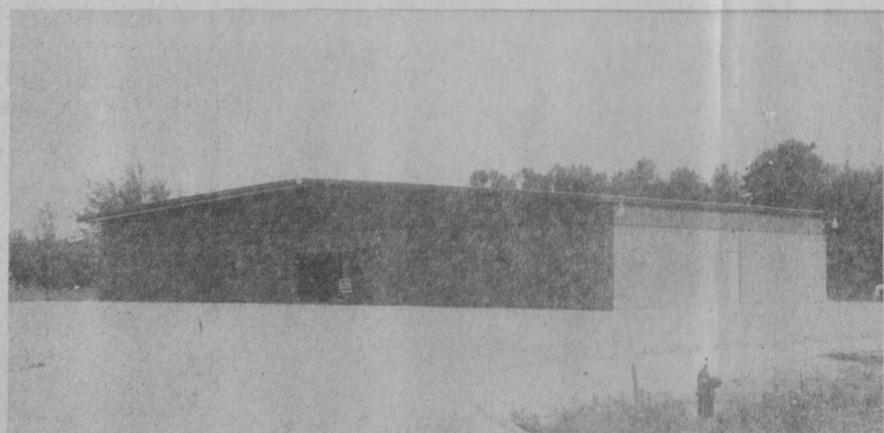

Registration District Set for W-P Area

Whittemore - Prescott Area School District is now a registration district for all school elections, following confirmation of a board of education resolution by county clerks of Iosco, Arenac and Ogemaw Counties.

As the result of board action, all school voters must register in the township or city in which they live.

The board of education adopted the resolution unanimously after a 1.5-mill operational tax request was defeated by only 13 votes in an open election. Voter registration had not been required in past elections.

A special election is scheduled for Monday, September 10, when another operational tax proposal will be presented to voters.

OPEN HOUSE for the new Tawas Masonic Temple on M-55 east of Tawas United Methodist Church, Tawas City, will be held Sunday from 12 o'clock noon to 5:00 p. m. The new building will be open for public inspection. Planning for this new building started two years ago and actual construction commenced late last fall. A few things still to be accomplished include a blacktop parking lot. Elmer Squires, master of Tawas Lodge No. 274, Free and Accepted Masons, had charge of construction and finishing the building. The building is to be the scene Thursday night of the organizational meeting of Tawas Bay Chapter No. 71, Order of the Eastern Star, following recent consolidation of Tawas City Chapter No. 303 and Iosco Chapter No. 71.—Tawas Herald Photo.

One-Man Art Show is Scheduled

One of the most outstanding artists of the Tawas Bay Arts Council, Larry DeRosia, will hold a one man show Friday and Saturday, August 24-25, 1:00-5:00 p. m., at the art gallery. His talent ranges over many facets of arts and crafts, from leather carving, embossing, repousse technique (high relief embossing) and floral designs with enamel highlighting.

DeRosia makes his home in Uniroyal where he was a graphic illustrator. His interesting hobbies are reflected in his home, with paintings, hand carvings, leather faced clock and cabinets filled with his leather works. He has taught many young people the art of leather working and his signs can be found among his neighbors and the county. One of his achievements was the customizing of the interior of Roy Rogers' car. His leather panels showed scenes of ranch and wildlife with the horse, Trigger, and the Roy Rogers brand.

Another achievement was the hand-tooled leather cover for the album presented to Queen Elizabeth. A duplicate album was also presented to the Archbishop of Canterbury. He is the recipient of the coveted salon ribbon given to the most outstanding leather craftsman in the International Assembly of Leather Craftsmen from all over United States and Canada.

He is well-known throughout the county for his lifelike ice sculptures winning first prize for his beautiful 10-foot Madonna.

Tawas Bay Arts Council invites the public to meet this versatile artist and to participate in the open house to view the many works of art.

Starring in the film, entitled "The Poachers," is James J. Musser, who experienced a touchy situation in filming a scene with a 35-pound snapping turtle with a foot-long neck. These and other exciting scenes will not want to be missed by area residents nor visitors to the area.

Proceedings of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners

AUGUST SESSION
August 1, 1979

A regular meeting of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners held at the county building in Tawas City on August 1, 1979, pursuant to published schedule.

Present: Stech (District 1), George (District 2), Merschel (District 3), Ulman (District 4) and Webb (District 5).

Absent: None.

Committee reports were presented by board members as follows:

Commissioner Stech: Reported in reference to a proposed CETA program for the painting of hangars and landscaping work at the county airport. The matter was discussed briefly.

Commissioner Merschel: Reported, in reference to the county building expansion and alteration project, that he has been following up on various matters daily with Architect John Dye and that there are a few minor things to be completed; further indicating, with respect to the commissioners' room, that Architect Dye is to secure samples and bids on carpeting.

Commissioner Ulman: Reported, in reference to a recent meeting of the parks and recreation commission, that pursuant to the Michigan camp grounds rules and regulations, there are 13 mobile homes at Old Orchard Park that must be removed and not allowed to re-enter, as mobile homes are not classified as recreational vehicles.

Commissioner George: Reported in behalf of the Iosco Transit Corporation in reference to the proposal of the Michigan Department of Transportation to initially furnish three new buses and three used buses for the new county transportation program proposed to be implemented in October, indicating that they would like to exert some pressure on department of transportation officials and Governor Milliken to furnish the six new buses as originally agreed.

Chairman Webb reported that the contract with the United Steel Workers Union for district court personnel has been approved by Arenac County, whereupon some of the details of the contract were discussed by board members.

Continuing, Webb indicated that there are two sizes of vehicles available under the state purchasing program, proposing that perhaps the county should explore the possibility of using the smaller, mid-size cars for patrol vehicles to conserve gasoline. Following a brief discussion on the pros and cons of using smaller vehicles, Commissioner Stech was assigned to investigate the matter with Sheriff Westcott.

Webb further reported that Oscoda Township Supervisor Robert Foster is scheduled to meet with board members today to discuss their ambulance budget for next year.

Commissioner George referred to the resolution he offered at the July 18th meeting providing for a 7.1% increase in the annual fee to the Multi-County Landfill Corporation, which, after considerable discussion, was tabled until today, indicating he will re-introduce the proposal later in the day. In the ensuing discussion, the probability of federal revenue sharing being discontinued by September, 1980, and the need to seek an alternate source of funding was raised, as well as the possibility that it may be necessary to seek voted millage or return the obligation to the local units.

Committees were ordered to their respective duties at 10:15 a. m., the official meeting to stand in recess subject to the call of the chair.

The communications received by the clerk's office were referred directly to the chairman for assignment to committees.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The meeting was called to order at 3:30 p. m. by Chairman Webb, all commissioners being present.

Following a review of the minutes drafted by the clerk for the July 18, 1979, meeting, it was moved by Stech and supported by Ulman that the minutes, as corrected, be approved. Motion carried.

Commissioner Merschel presented and moved adoption of the following resolutions:

Your building and grounds committee recommends that said committee be authorized to proceed with recarpeting and refurbishing the board of commissioners' rooms, with payment to be made from federal revenue sharing funds and reimbursed thereto from the county building authority account, provided funds are available from that account when all other building and parking lot remodeling previously authorized is completed and paid for; and further, that the clerk and treasurer be authorized to effect payments authorized herein upon receipt of authorization from the building and grounds committee indicating receipt of goods or services called for.

Supported by Ulman and carried on the following roll call: Ayes: Stech, Merschel, Ulman and Webb. Nays: George.

Your building and grounds committee recommends that an order be placed with Michigan State Industries for 5 sections of moveable partitions, including hardware, for the approximate cost of $508, with payment to be made from Federal Revenue Sharing funds and repaid thereto from County Building Authority funds, provided they are available with all other building remodeling work, including the parking lot, is completed and paid for; and further, that the clerk and treasurer be authorized to effect payments authorized herein upon receipt of authorization from the building and grounds committee indicating receipt of goods or services called for.

Supported by Ulman and carried.

Commissioner Ulman presented and moved adoption of the following resolutions:

Your administrative committee recommends that Chairman John Webb be authorized to sign the contract between United Steel Workers of America, on behalf of Local Union 8403, and the 81st District Court covering the period of January 1, 1979 to December 31, 1979.

Supported by George and carried.

Your administrative committee recommends that we, the Iosco County Board of Commissioners, accept the resignation of Vaughn Bell as a member of the Iosco County Planning Commission and appoint Ray Andrus, of AuSable Township, to fill the vacancy for the remainder of the term expiring December 31, 1979.

Signed: Marian Ulman and David George

Supported by George and carried.

Commissioner George offered the following resolution, moving its adoption. Motion supported by Stech, and following a period of discussion wherein it was proposed that the resolution be withdrawn and the matter referred to the county planning commission for study, failed on the following roll call: Ayes: George, Nays: Stech, Merschel, Ulman and Webb.

It is recommended that the Iosco County Planning Commission, utilizing the services of Northeast Community Services and East Central Michigan Planning and Development Regional staff, prepare and submit a request for a federal block grant (pre-application due October, 1979) to assist permanent Iosco County home owners, particularly the elderly and limited income families, to insulate and otherwise improve the habitability of their existing homes; further, the board hopes that particular attention will be paid to the older sections of AuSable Township and the rural sections of the county; and further, the board of commissioners expressly does not wish to seek funds to build new low-income housing for future Iosco County residents, as this area, it feels, is being handled adequately by the private sector of the county.

Continuing, George presented and moved adoption of the following resolution, motion being supported by Merschel and carried.

Your finance committee recommends that vouchers submitted by County Road Commissioners Henry M. Conley, A. J. Aulerich and Ralph T. White for mileage in the amounts of $27.54, $10.20 and $11.22, respectively, be approved for payment from road commission funds.

The following report of minutes of the statutory finance committee meeting of July 19, 1979, was presented by Finance Chairman George, who moved its acceptance, motion being supported by Merschel and carried.

MINUTES OF STATUTORY FINANCE COMMITTEE MEETING OF JULY 19, 1979

Members present: George, Ulman, Merschel

1. Claims and accounts as attached were reviewed by the committee and approved with the following exceptions:

Exceptions	Reasons	Action
25 - Schmidt's, do not pay sales tax	reject	.15
69 - Petty Cash, math error	Tawas Hardware receipt	reject 2.48
60 - Alexander Business, board of commissioners did not authorize purchase by prosecuting attorneys office	reject	689.00
85 - Sid Teague, do not pay mileage for salaried employee coming to county office	reject	27.20
Claims & Accounts 2
42 - Gingerich Feed, do not pay sales tax	reject	.72
Claims & Accounts 3
1 - Multi-County Landfill, bill rejected at 7/18/79 board of commissioners meeting	reject	6971.60

2. Additionally, the committee discussed the following items and took indicated disposition:

1. Last month $109 was spent on county car washes. It is the commissioners' understanding that the sheriff was having his cars washed by the jail prisoners.

2. It was noted that if the county treasurer and clerk approved the processing of the county's payroll on the new computer, saving in bank payroll processing fees for county CETA employees ($127.60 last month) would pay for the program in about one year. In the interim, a less expensive way of processing CETA payroll checks should be investigated.

3. The veterans' counselor, emergency services coordinator, friend of the court, and drain commissioner are all part-time employees paid by salary, and therefore, travel to and from the county office is not eligible for reimbursement. Part-time county employees who are not salaried employees but are paid on a per diem basis (road commissioners, planning board members, park and recreation commissioners, etc.) are, by law, entitled to mileage reimbursement.

Finance Chairman George raised the sanitary landfill matter and read the following proposed resolution, moving its adoption, motion was supported by Merschel, and following a period of discussion (wherein Merschel expressed the opinion that the Multi-County Landfill Corporation is doing a very good job and that they are unable to get any response from the D. N. R. with respect to their license; Ulman indicated her feeling that Multi-County should be willing to trade off the increase for the reduction in volume as a result of the bottle ban; Stech voiced his opinion that the county should go along with the contract terms and explore the matter of returning the responsibility to the local units; and Webb expressed the feeling that they will have to go along with the contract, but should explore other alternatives) carried on the following roll call: Ayes: Stech, George, Merschel and Webb. Nays: Ulman.

Your finance committee recommends that, pursuant to the 1978 contract between Iosco County and Multi-County Landfill Corporation, the annual fee of $97,665 be increased by 7.1% for the period 7/1/79 through 6/30/80 and that $1,733.55 be paid from Federal Revenue Sharing funds to cover the increase for the July-September quarter; the 7.1% representing 70% of the 10.2% increase in the consumers price index for all wage earners from 3/31/78 (CPI-189.7) to 3/31/79 (CPI-209.1).

Commissioner George, reporting in reference to the Oscoda-AuSable Ambulance program, indicated that they are taking delivery of a new ambulance next week and that he feels the board has an obligation to help fund the purchase. He thereupon read the following proposed resolution:

Whereas, the Oscoda-AuSable Ambulance Service was organized last year with donated obsolete ambulances; and

Whereas, operation of the Oscoda-AuSable ambulance Service has helped reduce the deficit of the Tawas St. Joseph Hospital (fully funded by the county); therefore,

It is recommended that a one-time payment of $14,552.50 (50% of the cost of the new ambulance due this month) be made to the Oscoda-AuSable Ambulance Service from the county ambulance fund.

Motion was supported by Stech and the matter discussed at some length, whereupon it was moved by Ulman to table the resolution until the next meeting. Motion failed for lack of support.

Following continued discussion, it was moved by Merschel and supported by Stech that the resolution be amended to reduce the amount of the contribution to $10,000. Following further discussion, motion to amend carried on the following roll call: Ayes: Stech, George, Merschel, Ulman and Webb. Nays: None.

It was thereupon moved by Ulman and supported by Stech to delay action on the original resolution, as amended, for a period of 15 minutes. Motion carried and a brief recess ordered at 4:40 p. m.

Upon call to order at 4:55 p. m., the question was called (on the resolution as amended) and carried on the following roll

LEGAL BRIEFS

By Michael F. Colley, President Association of Trial Lawyers of America

As U.S. citizens, we are likely to have only two opportunities to take a direct part in the process of our government. One is when we elect public officials to the administrative, legislative and judicial branches of local, state or national government.

The other is when we are personally called upon for jury duty to shield or protect our fellow Americans from possible judicial or administrative injustice in the courts.

Each year the U.S. court system calls upon at least a million American citizens to serve as jurors on some 200,000 juries. Just about anyone can be called to serve as a juror, but there are some general qualifications.

In most states, you must be an American citizen, a local resident, at least 21 years of age, have good character, ordinary intelligence, and be able to read, write and understand the English language.

The assembly of a jury panel is normally carried out by a jury commissioner who selects names from a variety of sources such as voter registration rolls, census records, property and tax rolls, vehicle registration records and even city telephone directories.

After a person has qualified as a juror, their name is then placed in a general ballot box from which all trial jurors are drawn as they are needed.

Drawing names for jury duty must be done publicly, as it is the law. After the desired number of names have been drawn, each juror is served a notice specifying the time and place where he or she is required to appear. This is not a request that can be ignored. It is a legal summons and must be obeyed.

But jury duty doesn't take forever. Usually, a jury duty call runs from five days to three weeks, unless you become involved in a lengthy criminal trial or if you are on a grand jury.

Pay for jury duty ranges from a low of $3 a day in Colorado to a high of $16 a day in Massachusetts.

Being summoned for jury duty and its impending responsibility is an honor, and you should not regard it as an unwanted intrusion into your personal life. It recognizes that you are a U.S. citizen and a resident in good standing of your community.

It also means that you will have an opportunity to play an active part in our democratic form of government and see that justice is done in our court system.

Michael F. Colley juror, but there are some general qualifications.

Ruth Armstrong Appointed to Parks-Recreation Board

Appointment of Ruth Armstrong to the parks and recreation board was approved Monday night by the Tawas City Council. Names of three other persons, Carl Babcock, Donna VanMeter and Randy Norwood were submitted to the parks and recreation board for a recommendation. Only one vacancy exists on the board since Monday night's appointment of Mrs. Armstrong.

Coun. Hugo Keiser and Donald Hayes, who serves on the council's industrial committee, were named to serve on a committee with two planning commission members to develop a set of covenants for property titles in the 40-acre addition to the city's industrial park.

Second reading of an ordinance providing procedures for vacating city streets and other public property was unanimously adopted by the council and given immediate effect.

Acting on recommendation of the planning commission, the council authorized vacation of sections of Maple and Spruce Streets as requested by Tawas Hospital, with reservation of easements for utilities and a turn around for Spruce Street in exchange for an additional 33 feet of right-of-way on German Street between Maple and Beech Street to the city.

The council authorized vacation of an alley in Porterfield's Addition with reservation of easement for utilities. On recommendation of the planning commission, no action was taken on vacating Jefferson Street between River Street and Tawas River unless the requesting abutting property owner is willing to purchase a lot at the corner of Vine and exchange it with the city for the vacated portion of Jefferson Street.

A public hearing on the proposed street vacations is to be held September 4.

First reading was held on proposed amendments to the zoning ordinance. Second reading was held on an ordinance regulating construction and related activity within public rights-of-way. The ordinance provides that a permit must first be obtained from the city for any evacuation construction or placement of temporary or permanent facilities, posts or other structures, including driveways, within the rights-of-way of city streets. The ordinance was given unanimous approval.

Authorization was given by the council, following a three to two roll call vote, to retain Dorchen and Serlin of Oak Park to prepare architectural plans for a new city complex. Cost of the work would be $1,200. In addition, the council approved an expenditure of $750 to $1,000 to prepare a topographical map of the site for use in preparing plans. Voting in favor were Coun. Hugo Keiser, Jerry Cotter and Charles Landon. Opposed were Mayor Cholger and Coun. Robert Rollin.

The council approved an expenditure of $767 as the city's share of improvement to the city garage utilizing an energy conservation grant.

The next meeting of the city council is to be held Tuesday, September 4, due to the Labor Day holiday.

The council approved entering into contract with the Department of Natural Resources for completion of the city park dock before September 30, 1980. Estimated cost of the project is $76,000, of which $57,000 would be paid by the state and the remaining 25 percent would be paid by the city.

The city manager was authorized to continue negotiations with a property owner concerning a triangular piece of property involved in German Street right-of-way widening. The parcel, containing 130 square feet, was purchased by a private owner about four years ago in the tax sale.

the city attorney for preparation of the defense of the city clerk in the lawsuit. He said that the fee had not been anticipated during budget preparation, although it could be paid from the regular budgeted item for legal fees and a supplemental appropriation be made by the council at some future time.

Councilman Rollin moved to table any action for study as he felt that the city's bonding company should be contacted concerning payment. The city manager pointed out that the bonding company had nothing to do with the case.

A motion by Landon to pay the city attorney's fee was approved by a three to two roll call. Voting in favor were Keiser, Cotter and Landon; voting no were Rollin and Cholger. Coun. James Lansky and Donald Hayes were not present.

During the citizen participation portion of the meeting, Randall Lanski questioned the city manager concerning employment of Mrs. McCready both as the city clerk and as administrative secretary. He felt that the city charter prohibited the hiring of a person for more than one job.

The city manager pointed out that the charter provision cited by Lanski applied only to elected officials and that it was economically feasible in a small city to have a person holding more than one job. He said, for instance, that a city manager also serves as zoning administrator and city street administrator and that the clerk does not get double pay for her work.

The mayor expressed the opinion that the city manager had accepted the position because he felt he was competent, but he did not believe that the city manager should have an assistant.

Thomas pointed out that he had been authorized to hire a secretary by unanimous action of the city council. Councilman Landon pointed out that the council had urged hiring of an administrative secretary for years and that Thomas had taken the council's advice and hired one.

Rollin expressed the opinion that the city clerk was "over performing" and that she had blocked the public out of the city hall.

This was denied by City Manager Thomas, who said that the door to his office and the door to the city hall is always open to the people.

The city manager also felt too much of the council's time was being taken up in meetings with administrative details when many questions of citizens could be handled at his office.

On motion of Coun. Charles Landon, no new business will be permitted after 10:00 p. m., although discussion started on any matter prior to that time would be carried to conclusion.

Regular meetings of the council start at 7:30 p. m. and often extend to 11:30 p. m. and later.

It was emphasized that citizen participation at the meeting would not be hindered. Under council policy, any citizen wishing to address the council has three minutes to do so. Those wishing to address the council are encouraged to contact the city manager on the Friday previous to the meeting to be placed on the printed agenda.

City Authorizes Engineers to Make 2nd Sewer Application

A resolution authorizing Edmands Engineering Company to make application for a step two grant for federal-state participation in the three-million-dollar program for secondary sewage treatment was given Monday night by the Tawas City Council.

This phase of the program begun more than four years ago follows completion of the step one participation, which saw federal, state and local money used to study a regional concept of secondary sewage treatment and a survey of existing mains to determine the points of ground water infiltration.

That original study concerning a regional concept apparently has been shuffled aside, according to Ralph Knop of Edmands Engineering. Tawas Township, Alabaster Township and Baldwin Township have all indicated those units do not wish to proceed beyond the first step, while differing views exist between engineering firms hired by East Tawas and Tawas City concerning the actual manner of secondary waste treatment.

At the end of the first step, engineers of each community presented a number of options to bring sewage treatment plants in line with environmental and health protection guidelines of the state and federal government. It was decided at that time that each community should construct its own sewage disposal additions.

Since then, however, Spicer Engineering Company recommended that one plant be constructed to serve both communities, but Tawas City's engineering firm does not believe this is economically feasible.

Tawas City was the lead applicant under the original step one grant, but failed to follow through on signing an admission to the state that its present primary sewage treatment plant does not meet state regulations. As a result, the city's priority rating which had been near the top of the list has dropped close to the bottom.

Knop said that efforts were being made to correct that problem and raise the city's priority rating. In the meantime, East Tawas is moving into position as the lead applicant.

With each city submitting contradictory plans, the state must become more involved to determine the actual method for secondary sewage treatment and phosphate removal for the two communities. Because of this unique difference, it is expected that state authorities will take action very soon.

Because of the change from a regional system involving the townships, which dropped out because of the lack of federal-state funds for sewer main construction, the entire secondary sewage treatment project has been scaled down to handle only the two cities.

Knop said that cost of the construction would be financed, if approved by all agencies, on a basis of 75 percent by the federal government, five percent from state funds and 20 percent from the two cities.

The next step would be to apply for a grant to aid in preparing plans for the project. Edmands Engineering has estimated that cost of the design would be $217,000. This would include provisions to comply with state standards, rehabilitation of present systems, industrial recovery and pretreatment and a user chart system.

City Mgr. Lowell Thomas said that he expected Tawas City's share would be financed through general obligation bonds requiring a vote of the people.

Water Billing Change Gets Council OK

Effective immediately, city water billing is to be on a monthly basis, but actual billing will still be made each quarter for alternating sections of the city. The city manager said this change would provide for a smoother operation by the administration.

A street improvement project deleted earlier this year by the council was reinstated at the request of the city manager. Lowell Thomas said that funds were available to pave Seventh Avenue between Second and First Streets at a cost of $4,575.

The council approved a recommendation from the city manager to switch from the Michigan State Accident Fund to the Michigan Municipal League for workmen's compensation coverage. Thomas said that 130 cities had joined MML's program and he had confidence that there would be considerable savings in premiums to the city.

A letter from Herman Rollin, elementary principal of Tawas Area Schools, stated that it would have been impossible to use the gymnasium of the Tawas City Elementary School Unit for the city's election polls during the recent primary election. He said the building was simply not available during the past summer due to the construction program at the school. The city administration was criticized at the last meeting due to the fact that polls had been changed back to the city hall during the recent primary election.

New Hale School Administrators

DENNIS GUISER was hired last week as the new elementary principal at Hale Area School. A number of the elementary faculty for six years, Guiser served three years as Title I director and director of special education. He was granted a leave of absence during 1978-79 to work toward his doctorate degree at Michigan State University. A native of Lincoln Park, he received his bachelor of science degree from Central Michigan University and a master of art degree from CMU in 1975. He and his wife, Beverly, are parents of two sons.—Tawas Herald Photo.

PETER HOLLEY, veteran elementary principal, was picked in June by Hale Area Board of Education to succeed Wayne Case as superintendent of schools. The 36-year-old Holley had been elementary principal since 1970 and previously served as an elementary teacher. He received his bachelor and master degree from Wayne State University and his first teaching experience was in Detroit Public Schools from 1966 to 1969. In 1971-72, Holley was enrolled in educational programs concerning school administration at Michigan State University and an administration action series at Central Michigan University in 1976-77. He and his wife are parents of two children.

IOSCO JAILS

IOSCO'S first jail was located in the basement of the old courthouse and was the scene of a famous escape. Heavy nails were driven through ceilings of cells to discourage escape by prisoners.

A county jail probably should be considered the least likely target for arson, but that view must be tempered somewhat when it is realized that the cry of "fire" coming from the jail cell is often a clever ruse by an inmate to attempt an escape from incarceration.

The old lockup in Tawas City, which served Iosco County for about 70 years before being replaced in 1957 by a solid masonry structure, was threatened by fire on more than one occasion.

In a couple of instances, the old jail was threatened with fire during the winter because of faulty heating equipment, but in practically every instance on record where fire was reported at the jail, investigation disclosed that the blaze was intentionally set by a prisoner bent on making his escape.

The most recent fire of any consequence was recorded in the mid-1940s, when a prisoner set fire to a waste basket in his cell and cried out in alarm that the jail was ablaze.

Mrs. John Moran, wife of the sheriff, went to the rescue and opened the cell door. The prisoner knocked the jail matron aside and bolted out the main entrance to freedom. The escape took place during the dead of winter, however, and the escapee forgot to grab a coat on his way out of the building.

After making his way to a wooded area and eluding Sheriff Moran and his posse, the escapee spent a cold night on the ground. He went to a nearby house the next morning, turned himself in to authorities and spent extra time in the lockup for his efforts.

Threat of fire in the old jail was of real concern for the brick veneered structure was of wooden frame construction and any fire in the building could have been a disaster for prisoners as well as the sheriff and his family.

In addition to the threat of fire as a ruse for escape, the old jail was the victim on occasion when fires were intentionally set by mental patients or drunks.

The most famous incident of that type occurred on February 3, 1918, when an inmate, as recorded by The Tawas Herald, "caused a great deal of excitement and was himself severely burned last Sunday morning when he set fire to the mattress in his cell, either with the intent of suicide or with some undefined notion of escape."

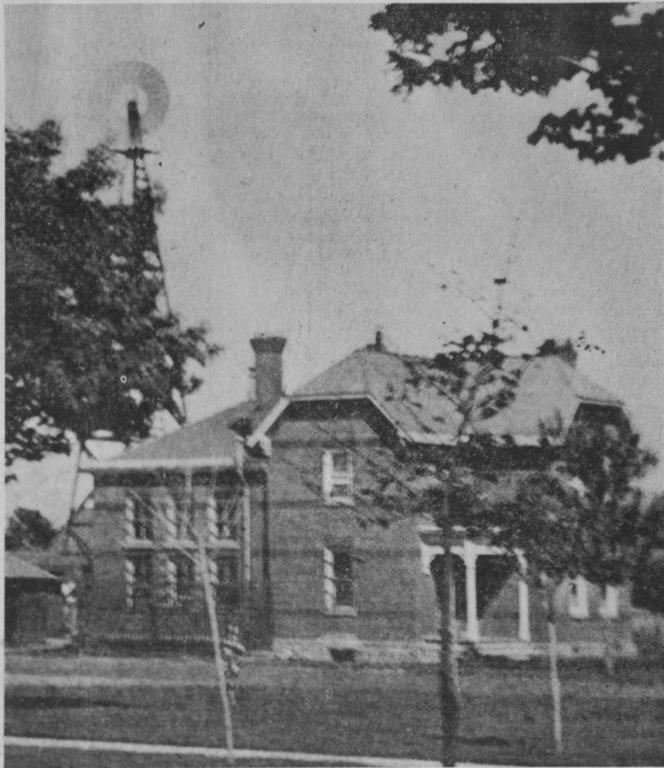

In its report published February 8, 1918, the Herald said that the prisoner had been restless and kept the rest of the prisoners awake nearly all Saturday night by his talking and attempts to get out of jail.

"The sheriff finally locked the man in a cell by himself in order to keep him quiet. Shortly before 5:00 a. m., the other prisoners were aroused by heat and smoke and summoned the sheriff and family with their cries of 'fire,'" stated the Herald.

Upon investigation, it was found that the prisoner had hung a blanket over the grated opening at one end of his cell and propped a mattress over the door, so that others could not observe his actions and had then set fire to one of the other mattresses.

"Sheriff Thomas Hill rushed in and unlocked the cell and tried to open the door, but it had become warped and stuck," reported the Herald. "The sheriff was overcome with the smoke and had to be assisted outside by his son, Viril, who then went back to get the man out of the cell."

The prisoner was bent on his own destruction and seized the sheriff's son by the wrists and FIRE was a major threat to prisoners held at the old Iosco County Jail as well as to the sheriff and his family, whose living quarters were located in the building. Several intentional fires were set in cells by prisoners as a means of making an escape from the building. One prisoner died as the result of burns received in one fire.

attempted to hold him, "but Viril loosened his hold and, grasping him by the leg, tried to pull him out. The prisoner then grabbed the bunk and held on and Hill had to use force to loosen his grip."

Young Hill finally succeeded in dragging the man to safety. The prisoner was severely burned about the head, his hair having been nearly all singed off and was also badly burned on the back, legs and hands. "He was carried over to the courthouse, his clothing removed and his burns partly dressed and he was taken to the hospital at Bay City by Sheriff Hill on the evening train. He was too badly injured to recover, however, and died the next day," reported the Herald.

Viril Hill suffered some slight burns on his hands and he and two or three others were nearly overcome by smoke. Six of the mattresses and a number of blankets were destroyed by the fire and the steel work of the cells was badly warped in places.

The prisoner had been held while awaiting arraignment on a charge of grand larceny, it being alleged that he had stolen a carload of mine props from another man's property. He had been arrested several times before on criminal charges and was brought in by Sheriff Hill in the spring of 1917 for refusing to register for selective service.

"The affair was one to be regretted, but no blame can attach to anyone except the man who became the victim of his own unruly disposition," commented the Herald.

The above incident recalls another occasion when water, not fire, caused a great commotion at the jail. A citizen being held there on a drunk and disorderly charge suddenly got it into his head that the plumbing in the building needed repair.

The man was a plumber by trade and, without benefit of any tools, completely disassembled the water pipes in the second floor women's quarters where he was being confined.

Before long, prisoners in the bull pen below began to complain about the water pouring through the upper floor and Sheriff Charles Curry was awakened. He was greeted by a deluge of water as he raced upstairs to investigate the cause. The prisoner was then locked in the jail's padded cell to keep him out of mischief.

Operation of a county jail until very recent times was under a most casual arrangement, due mainly to the fact that there were not many prisoners to contend with and the county did not provide the one or two-men sheriff's department with enough funds to hire a turnkey.

The sheriff and his family, who resided in the jail, took turns watching over prisoners. Additional manpower was obtained by designating tasks to trusted prisoners, who were given certain privileges during their time of incarceration.

As a result, a number of unusual incidents took place which would horrify today's jail staff. On one occasion, Sheriff Ivan O'Farrell left a "trusty" in charge of the telephone while he and Undersheriff Leon Putnam investigated a complaint.

When the lawmen returned an hour or so later, they discovered several bullet holes in the ceiling and walls. It seems that the trusted prisoner had discovered a World War II trophy—a German submachine gun owned by the sheriff and stored in an unlocked closet. He loaded the weapon and accidentally fired a burst of lethal rounds before being able to take his finger off the trigger. The prisoner was no longer trusted and returned to a cell to finish out his term of confinement.

Two successful jail breaks have been recorded in county history besides the one in the mid-1940s involving the prisoner who set fire to the waste basket. The first escape occurred in 18-78 when the jail was located in the basement of the old courthouse; the third came in February 1975, when three felons used a hacksaw to cut through bars of the present jail.

In each instance, the prisoners were later recaptured and returned to jail or to the state prison.

A complete record of events which have taken place in the county's three different jails is maintained in a series of large daily ledger books on file there. An interesting history might someday be compiled from those records to benefit the Iosco County Historical Society's collection.

An historical researcher would have a field day compiling his information.

Replaced Old Jail

THE PRESENT Iosco County Jail was first used in 1957 and is of solid masonry construction. Several changes have been made to the building since then to comply with new rules of the state corrections department.

Editorial—

The first public notice establishing a special election in Tawas City on Tuesday, October 2, is officially announced this week by the City of Tawas City.

The last day for registering for that election is Tuesday, September 4. Any qualified elector who is an actual resident of the city may register at the city hall any week day, 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m., or on September 4 from 8:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m.

More will be said about this election in the next two months but, from this corner's viewpoint, October 2 will be the blackest day politically in this city's history.

This election is being called on petition to recall five persons who were elected by fellow citizens to serve their community as members of the city council for four years. Three of the councilmen were renominated in the recent primary election and are among six candidates to compete for council seats in the November general election; the other two candidates have two years to go on their four-year terms of office.

All five of the officials being placed before voters for recall are outstanding citizens of this city. The only reason for the recall election is that one faction in this community does not agree with the decisions or recommendations made by them, as stated on petitions.

Four of the five councilmen are businessmen and one is a truck driver; one served his city as a fire chief for many years, until elected to the council; one had previous service on the council and board of education; one served as city attorney; three served on the planning commission; two served on the city charter commission.

The reason for this recall is typical of the "gong show" type of small town politics which one faction will drag this community's name in the mud to achieve their or its own ends, whatever that may be. Two other candidates in the November general election circulated the recall petitions, while the entire matter was the "brainchild" of other elected officials whose names will be on the general election ballot.

The recall of any city official based on the lame explanation listed on petitions should be defeated soundly by thinking citizens of this community.

"THEN I GOT TO THINKING, IF THAT'S WHAT GOOD OL' JIMMY WANTS..."

Know Your Michigan Law

By Attorney General FRANK J. KELLEY

Parents who believe their child may be handicapped and in need of special education have the right under Michigan law to request that local school districts provide special education services for their children.

Michigan's "mandatory special education" program, which assures special education programs for every handicapped child, has increased and improved since federal aid began in 1975.

Last year, over 160,000 students were enrolled in special education programs in Michigan, and over 16,000 teachers and employees were involved. A 50-million-dollar increase, totaling 170-million dollars, in state and federal funds is expected for this year's programs.

Special education programs for mentally, physically and emotionally impaired students, including those with hearing, vision and speech impairments are available for persons from birth to age 26. Homebound or hospitalized students or students with learning disabilities are also eligible.

A school district must have a medical doctor or professional person evaluate any student whose parent requests special education services be provided for their child.

To determine if a student is handicapped, a committee of administrators and teachers familiar with the student and the programs will consider the medical evaluation and other information and if the committee identifies the student as handicapped, a program will be recommended to develop the student's maximum potential.

Under the law, parents have the right to participate in the committee's decision and to have an adviser assist them. Parents also have the right to a hearing before an impartial hearing officer if there is a disagreement about the committee's decision.

The parent may be represented at the hearing by anyone, including a lawyer, and may call witnesses or present a personal evaluation of the child and other pertinent information.

Parents may appeal to the state superintendent of public instruction and, after that, to the courts if there is dissatisfaction with the hearing decision.

Special education programs are available to every handicapped student in Michigan. Parents who suspect their child may be handicapped should contact their local school district and request an evaluation for their child.

New Class for Handicapped

Zion Lutheran Sunday School will open a new avenue in Christian education for the mentally handicapped under the direction of Miss Adel Astala, who works with the children of Bright Horizons Learning Center. The class begins Sunday, September 9, and is open to any family in the Tawas area desiring God's word and love for their special child.

The class will be held September through May at 8:45 a. m. at Zion Lutheran Church, Second Street at Seventh Avenue, Tawas City. For more information, call Miss Astala at 362-8484 or Jane Chandier, 362-3238.

(Read Genesis 4:8-16) "Am I my brother's keeper?" (Genesis 4:9 RSV)

I was reared in Arkansas where my grandmother lived. She enjoyed telling my sister and me all sorts of interesting stories to entertain us and to recall our Danish heritage. One such story was of Denmark's heroic protection of her Jewish population during the Nazi occupation. Most of the 6,000 Danish Jews were taken by boat to neutral Sweden while the Danes protected Jewish property for their return. Jewish deaths were few in number.

The Danes had recognized their fellow humans as brothers and sisters—people created and loved by the one God. Many times our actions contradict our words of love professed in Christ's name. We say we love others but we act as if only our denomination, social group, state, nation or race is preferred by God.

We need to reflect upon the meaning of parenthood so that the blood of our brothers and sisters does not cry out to God against us. Paul said, "If I speak in the tongues of men and of angels but have not love, I am a noisy gong or a clanging cymbal."

PRAYER

Our God and our King, help us to realize that our insensitivity to others' needs causes us to think only of ourselves while they remain tormented, physically and spiritually. Amen.

Lecture Set at East Tawas

"Where can we turn when we see financial security slipping through our fingers?" asks a visiting Christian Science lecturer. Edwin G. Leever of Winter Park, Florida, offers a bold Christian approach to economic challenges, in his upcoming lecture, "Prayer Is Effective in Our Economy," to be given Sunday, August 26, at 3:30 p. m. in the East Tawas Community Building, corner of US-23 and Newman Street, East Tawas.

Through a series of examples from his own and others' experience, Leever illustrates that prayer brings healing to situations of unemployment, insufficient income and inadequate housing.

He has long been active in his church's healing ministry, resigning from a career in the aerospace industry to devote full time to the public practice of Christian Science. In 1977, he was elected to The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, of East Tawas is sponsoring this one hour lecture which is open to the public without charge. Ellen Wayne, second reader, will introduce the speaker.

Highlights And Sidelights

Senator Young Wants Public Input

LANSING—State Sen. Robert Young, Saginaw, has called for input from the various chambers of commerce in his district on what they see as the effects of government regulations on small business across Michigan.

Young, a member of the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules sub-committee formed to study these effects, feels the chambers of commerce could be one of the best sources of information on this subject.

"Small businesses often take their complaints and grievances to their local chambers in order to find solutions," explained Young. "And one of their major complaints is that they are bound by too many costly government regulations that prohibit them conducting their business in the manner they choose. I want to hear their complaints, and if possible, alleviate them."

For example, according to figures from the Chamber Challenge, a national publication, government regulation is America's growth industry. On the national level expenditures to pay for federal regulatory activities in the areas of job safety, energy, consumer safety and health and others have risen from approximately 811-million dollars in 1970 to about 4.8-billion dollars in 1979.

After receiving input from a variety of small businessmen across the state, the subcommittee will report back to the joint committee in the fall.

LANSING — Continuing his fight against the proposed implementation of the Solid Waste Management Act (Public Act 641), State Sen. Robert Young, Saginaw, has sent his district local officials a copy of the proposed rules for implementing the act. He has asked that officials review them and attend public hearings scheduled for late August, conducted by the Department of Natural Resources.

"I want people to attend these public hearings and express their opinions," explained

Young, "I want the people in my district to help make these rules as palatable as possible."

Following the public hearings, the DNR is expected to incorporate citizen input into the implementation rules and resubmit them to the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules for further review.

"As a member of the Joint Committee, I will be one of the people charged with reviewing the final proposed rules and approving or disapproving them," commented Young.

The initial dump closings in Senator Young's district have been temporarily halted, allowing the governor's office, the DNR and local officials more time to review the question of solid waste disposal. The date for submitting county plans has also been delayed until the implementation rules have faced further review.

The public hearings are scheduled for:

Law Building Auditorium, Lansing, August 24, at 1:30 p. m.; Holiday Inn, Gaylord, August 28, at 1:30 p. m.; State Office Building, Escanaba, August 30, at 1:30 p. m.

NO ENVIRONMENTAL or public health hazard has been indicated from routine operations of nuclear power plants, according to a recent Michigan Department of Public Health study. Findings of the study were based upon the department's independent ongoing radiation monitoring program in the vicinity of each nuclear power plant in the state. The filter assembly from an environmental air sampler located near Consumers Power Company's Palisades nuclear power plant is inspected by Lawrence Kenaga, environmental supervisor.

4-H Riders-Horses Eligible for Meet

Iosco County 4-H members and their horses are eligible to enter the first state 4-H competitive trail ride September 21-23, near Higgins Lake in Roscommon County, says Robin Bell, Iosco County 4-H youth program assistant.

The ride will be held in conjunction with the seventh annual open competitive trail rides sponsored by the Arabian Horse Association of Michigan. Competitors will check in for the ride September 21. Riders will compete September 22 over a 40-mile trail on South Higgins Lake Road, beginning at 8:00 a. m. Awards will be presented at 2:00 p. m. September 23.

"The ride is a unique opportunity for 4-Hers to compete outside of the show ring," Mrs. Bell says. "It gives them confidence and builds trust between horse and rider."

The horses will be checked by a veterinarian every 12 miles and after they have completed the trail. A trophy and ribbons to sixth place will be awarded based on the horse's condition throughout the ride and the rider's horsemanship. Horses can be any breed or sex, but must be at least 60 months old at the time of the ride.

"Trail riding helps riders understand the importance of conditioning their horses," Mrs. Bell points out. "This is not an event for a horse that has not been conditioned for it." A negative Coggins test within 180 days of the ride is required.

Any 4-H member may enter for a fee and must have the name of his or her club and the signature of the club leader. For more information about the event and applications, contact the ride secretary: Gail Werner, 8869 Patterson, Southeast, Caledonia 49316; phone (616) 891-1681. Entries are due September 8.

FOR THE SECOND WEEK, a display of some 40 antique dolls will be at the Iosco County Historical Museum Wednesday (today), August 22, through Sunday, August 26, during the hours of 1:00-5:00 p. m. The display is from one of the largest collections in Northeastern Michigan and was shown at the Besser Museum in Alpena some time ago. A guide will be present to give a history on various dolls. A small donation is requested to help defray the cost of transporting and insuring the collection. Proceeds above expenses will go to support the museum, which operates solely on donations. —Tawas Herald Photo.

"It's 2 A.M. and I feel rotten. Who has time to read medicine labels?"

Sorry, there is no excuse for not reading the medicine label. The label tells you what it's for, how much to take and how often to take it. It's important information. Before you take any medicine, read the label. Medicines can't help you if you don't take them right.

FAMILY LIVING EDUCATION

Most persons have begun a diet and given up because it was too limited, too boring and not enough variety to keep going. That problem can be solved by using a new, revised "Guide to Calorie Control" compiled by Anita Dean, Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service specialist in foods and nutrition.

Mrs. Dean divides the food choice list into seven categories. Within each category are listed a number of food selections, all containing the same amount of calories.

For example, in the meat, fish, egg and cheese category, one can have one-fourth cup of salmon, tuna, crab or lobster or an ounce of lean meat like beef, lamb or ham and only be consuming 75 calories.

In the vegetable group, a list of choices, ranging from carrots to rutabagas, contain 35 calories per one-half cup. Then, there is another vegetable list, containing things like greens and mushrooms, which one can gorge on because they contain negligible calories.

The other five groups listed are milk products, 170 calories; fruits, 40 calories; bread and cereals, 70 calories; fat, 45 calories, and a free choice group with insignificant calories.

According to Mrs. Dean, "This diet allows selecting a wide variety of foods from each group. For example, instead of one serving of bread, one serving of any other food shown in the bread list may be selected."

The first copy of extension bulletin E-782 is free and may be obtained by writing to the MSU Cooperative Extension Service in Iosco County, Post Office Box 599, Tawas City, or phone 362-3449.

LOOKING BACKWARD—

Hospital Now Fully Accredited

15 Years Ago—

August 19, 1964—Tawas Hospital has been fully accredited by the board of commissioners of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. This was the result of an evaluation of a hospital survey conducted during July, representing the American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association.

Quick action by a Waterways Commission Dock attendant, Brent Babcock, was credited Thursday with saving the life of a two-year-old Detroit boy, who fell into about 10 feet of water off shore from the East Tawas State Park.

The first of 50 covered hopper cars was delivered to the Detroit and Mackinac Railway. The cars will be assigned to the movement of bulk cement and ground gypsum rock.

Tawas Area School is presently in the process of developing a vocational education and guidance program which would offer additional educational opportunities to students and would also prove to be an asset to local business.

25 Years Ago—

August 27, 1954—All four lanes of US-23 between Pinconning and Standish will be open to traffic this week-end. The pavement has been widened to four lanes and a divider constructed.

Thirty-seven golfers registered to compete in the annual stag day at Tawas Golf Course.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a barn owned by Grant Bessey of Tawas Township late Wednesday. The fire was first noticed in a straw stack adjacent to the barn. Firemen and neighbors saved about 300 bushels of grain which were stored in a grainary. A milk house near the barn was not damaged.

The Mackinac Straits Bridge and St. Lawrence Seaway are expected to be stimulating factors in the industrial growth of Michigan.

Due to excessive lawn and garden sprinkling, water pressure dropped to only 18 pounds at the Tawas City standpipe. The normal pressure on mains is 50 pounds.

Ted Woelke of Pigeon is the new baseball coach at Plainfield Township Agricultural School. He was coach last season at Rose City.

Annual old timers' baseball game will be held Labor Day at the Tawas City diamond. The creaking ancients, managed by Rollie Gackstetter, will cross bats with Mgr. Harold Wegner's Tawas City lineup for 1954.

35 Years Ago—

August 18, 1944—"Superintendents, school boards, youth guidance groups and parents are urged to unite in a concerted effort to get every high school and grade school child back in school on the very first day," County School Commissioner Russell A. Rollin said today. "Many students have dropped out of school to assume a job in a war plant or on the farm. This is important, but I hope that we do not lose sight of the fact that an educational background is of the most vital importance."

A group of some 40 rural people from this county have held two meetings at the Plainfield Township Hall and have formulated plans for the second annual fall fair to be held October 3-4.

Among the 354 men from Michigan at the San Antonio Air Cadet Center, Texas, receiving preflight training is John Katterman of Tawas Township.

Members of Northeastern Michigan Hereford Calf Association are urged to use caution in marketing the calf crop. Cattle from this region is presently being marketed with a spread of $5 to $15 per hundredweight and this is entirely too great a variance in selling price. Too many light, thin cattle are going to market which should be held on the farms of Northeastern Michigan and carried to heavier weights.

Applications for automobile operators' licenses will be received at the county jail from 9:00 a. m. to 12 o'clock, only, five days a week, reports Sher. John Moran.

Receiving military honors was Capt. Harold A. Timreck of Tawas City, flight surgeon at the Eighth Air Force Base, England, awarded the Soldier's Medal for bravery and heroism displayed while helping to save the lives of airmen trapped in a flaming bomber; Lt. Carlton Haglund of East Tawas, the Air Medal for his work in the South Pacific.
