Secret Session Agenda Heavy

As permitted under terms of the Open Meetings Act, Tawas Area Board of Education spent much of its Monday night meeting in closed executive session.

Board Pres. James Russo told citizens and representatives of the news media that items to be discussed during the closed session included personnel matters and property acquisition.

Brief discussion of one point, renewal of a contract with its negotiator, Thomas Basil, was held prior to the executive session.

Supt. Robert Halle told members that he would again recommend renewal of Basil's contract for two years. There was some question among board members concerning opening of this position "to other people," but the superintendent expressed the opinion that if this is done, the board should consider retaining the Michigan Association of School Boards as its negotiator in contract talks with school district employees.

"I think the board has been satisfied with the performance of Basil," said the superintendent.

The board of education did not elaborate on the matter of property acquisition. Brief discussion was held on a matter said to be before the Michigan Civil Rights Commission. The superintendent indicated that the matter concerned a civil rights suit filed against the school district in 1975-76 and recommended that the district's attorney be instructed to go ahead with an out-of-court settlement. It is believed the matter concerns a suit filed by women coaches of the district.

Following the executive session, it was indicated that the board of education had presented a written evaluation of performance to the superintendent, which it was required to do by February 15. Under state law, the superintendent is to be notified by April 1 if his contract is to be renewed.

A work session of the board of education is to be held Monday, February 26, concerning grade placement at the Tawas City Elementary Unit for the next term.

Last month, Elementary Prin. Herman Rollin recommended to the board of education that the East Tawas Elementary Unit be utilized for kindergarten through third grade and the enlarged Tawas City Elementary Unit be utilized for grades four through six.

Consideration has been given to the possibility of moving one of the junior high school grades to the Tawas City building. It is expected that the matter will be discussed further on February 26.

The only formal action taken by the board Monday night saw the appointment of Robert Erickson as the varsity baseball coach. He served last year as the junior varsity coach. His appointment was recommended by T. D. Haskin, athletic director, and Prin. John Alexander.

Auto Negligence Suit Filed Here

An auto negligence suit seeking damages of $85,000 has been filed in Iosco County Circuit Court concerning a motorcycle-truck collision on April 14, 1977.

David Kozlow, who was operating a motorcycle, is the plaintiff and Rudolph C. Wrathell is the defendant.

The accident took place on Sand Lake Road at the Alabaster Road intersection and Wrathell's pickup truck collided with Kozlow's motorcycle.

Kozlow, who sustained a skull fracture and eye injury, claims that Wrathell was negligent.

Boundary Commission Orders

Merger Vote April 2

Voters of the Tawas will decide the question of consolidating the two communities at a special election to be held Monday, April 2.

That was the order Tuesday morning of the State Boundary Commission meeting at Lansing. The public hearing was called to rule on the sufficiency of petitions asking for an election on the merger proposal.

Attending the meeting was Rachel Sue McCreedy, city clerk of Tawas City, who called the Herald office by telephone to say that the boundary commission had ruled out any possibility of holding the election on different days in the two communities.

She said the boundary commission had received an oral opinion from the state attorney general stating that a consolidation election should be held on the same day in each community.

The election coincides with the annual spring election at East Tawas, which operates under the old Fourth Class City Act, but a special election will be called in Tawas City.

If voters favor the proposal, a second election would be held in about 60 days to name members to a charter commission. Although state law provides for such an election within 60 days, the attorney general's office ruled that a few additional days could be given to meet requirements for filing nominating petitions by candidates for the charter commission.

Should the merger question be approved by voters April 2, the consolidation timetable would revert to the point where it was prior to filing petitions for an immediate election on the question. On October 24, the state boundary commission approved the consolidation and a charter commission would have been elected at a later election.

If a majority in either community vote "no," the consolidation movement would end at that point. If there is an affirmative vote in each community, a charter commission would be elected to develop a home rule form of government.

Voters would have the opportunity to accept or reject a proposed new charter within a year after formation of the charter commission. If rejected on the first vote, the charter commission could submit the proposal a second time. If it was rejected again, the consolidation movement would end.

Road Problems Set for Discussion

Financial problems concerning roads at the township and county level are to be discussed Thursday morning at a meeting between county road commission authorities and township supervisors.

The meeting is to be held at the road commission headquarters on M-55 at 10:00 a. m.

James Delahanty, engineer-manager for the road commission, said the meeting was being called primarily for an exchange of information between officials at the two levels and to offer suggestions as to possible solutions to existing problems.

Delahanty said that county road projects are scheduled about a year in advance due to the need for necessary engineering and a multitude of permits now required by the state.

One of the foremost problems to be discussed concerns the possibility that two-cent-per-gallon tax increase on gasoline and increased rates for license plates may be stymied for some time in appeals court next month. The increases were adopted by the state legislature, but opponents immediately began a drive to place the proposition before voters of the state.

Another discussion point at the meeting will be maintenance of private or noncertified roads in the county. These roads were originally constructed by property developers under a private status and the county is paid 100 percent reimbursement for maintenance.

Delahanty said there is an extremely large number of private roads and maintenance costs are accelerating at a rapid rate, just as the cost of all road maintenance is increasing.

He said that Iosco now has about 900 miles in its county road system and he believes that 70 percent of that total is in less than excellent condition. He said that road maintenance dollars were being spread thinly over the county road system and he wonders if that is fair to property owners presently on the established road system.

Delahanty said that another reason for the meeting was to acquaint a number of new township supervisors with state laws pertaining to operation of the road commission.

was City Volunteer Fire Department was notified.

Firemen spent about three hours sifting through debris before finding the body.

Memorial services were held Sunday, February 11, at the Tawas City West Chapel, and Doris Stiehl of Tawas City.

He was born June 5, 1923, in Alabaster Township.

Surviving are one son, Harmon W. Roiter of Elk Rapids; one daughter, Martha Roiter of North Carolina; one brother, John Roiter of East Tawas; two sisters, Helen Hines of Pasco, Washington, and Doris Stiehl of Tawas City.

Senate Majority Floor Leader Gives Rail Revitalization Views

Railroad revitalization in the state and expanded transportation programs in Northeastern Michigan led a list of priorities in the area of transportation outlined Friday by State Sen. David A. Plawecki, Dearborn Heights.

Plawecki, senate majority floor leader and a leading lawmaker in transportation, announced a new thrust in the state's three-year-old rail program designed to turn some state subsidized lines into independent, profit-making railroads.

In addition, the senator touched on the subject of US-23 renovation and the county's new state supported bus system which will go into operation this summer.

The senator made his remarks during a press conference for Northeastern Michigan news media aboard the D&M's executive train, which traveled a 30-mile route from the general office in Tawas City to National Gypsum Company's White Rock Quarry in Sherman Township and back.

A luncheon was held Friday noon at the Holland House, called by Tawas Chamber of Commerce, at which the senator outlined legislative goals and new transportation policies. Attending that meeting, along with about 50 businessmen, was State Rep. Tom Alley of West Branch.

Concerning railroad transportation, he said that in 1976, after an absence of more than a century, the state plunged into the railroad business in order to save some 1,200 miles of rail lines scheduled for abandonment under the federal Rail Reorganization Act.

Of local interest, the Detroit and Mackinac Railway made an outright purchase of former Penn-Central trackage from Gaylord to Cheboygan and north to Mackinaw City, plus agreeing to operate that portion of the Penn-Central route from a point south of Gaylord to Linwood under a federal-state subsidized basis to guarantee operation.

"The new policy," explained Plawecki, "calls for the state to upgrade rail lines with a one-time capital infusion."

The D&M Railway Company headquartered in Tawas City, the only solvent short line railroad operating in the state, was the first railroad to submit a proposal under the state's new policy. The proposal would only affect that portion of the former Penn-Central route which the D&M operates under subsidy.

"If the state department of transportation and the D&M reach agreement as to the amount of capital improvement money the state should provide and the level of service the D&M should guarantee to communities and shippers, then the annual state operating subsidies for the 105.6-mile line from Sallings to Linwood would be discontinued," states the senator.

The great benefit of this arrangement, he said, should be an assurance to communities and shippers along the line of reliable rail freight service for the long term instead of a year to year determination of service availability.

"In this way, existing and new business and industry will be able to stabilize, expand and locate in the area with an assurance of dependable rail freight service," he explained.

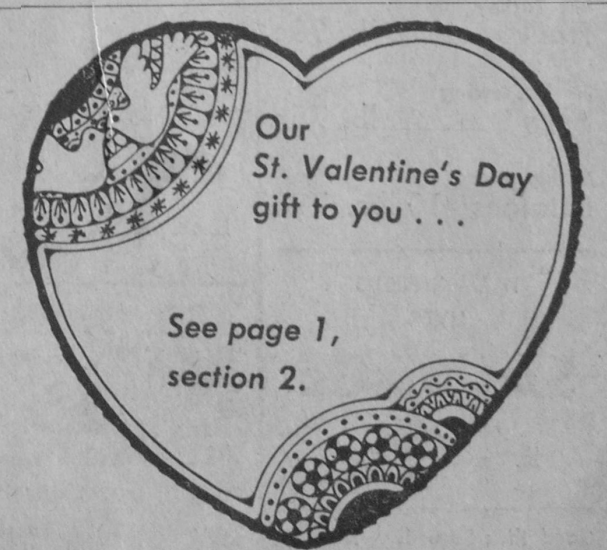

"Railroad rejuvenation," noted Plawecki, "is one aspect of an effort by the state to develop a comprehensive transportation network throughout Michigan."

Senator Plawecki said that approximately $15,000,000 in federal funding was being spent annually to keep non-solvent railroads operating and it is hoped that the new capitalization program to upgrade rail lines would permit removal of operational subsidies in the state.

He also said that if liability problems can be solved, the state was also interested in the establishment (See SENATOR, page 4.)

Editorial— An Excellent Safety Record

Fellow citizens of Northeastern Michigan extend congratulations to Consumers Power Company's northern region for earning the utility's top recognition for safety—the president's award.

The award recognizes the region's 613 employees as having the safest work record in 1978 among all regions of the company. Job safety is important to the consumer, as well as to the working employee, as such a record helps to reduce the loss of man-hours. In other words, a good safety record actually should help to keep utility costs down for the consumer.

Most consumers would agree that it would be great if this record of performance by operational employees of the utility could be extended in other ways to top management of the company. This is doubtful, however, after recent news reports that, despite higher earnings for stockholders last year, the utility is appearing before the public service commission seeking another giant rate increase.

This corner does not wish to continually make stockholder-owned utilities "whipping boys" as a principal reason for the high cost of living, but inflationary tendencies must be stopped at some point. The public cannot continue to absorb the cost of "mistakes" by management.

TODAYS Meditation

The World's Most Widely Used
Devotional Guide

(Read Ephesians 4:23-32)
Be kind to one another.—Ephesians 4:32 (RSV)
Years ago, enroute to the West Coast, I blundered into a highway under construction.

Roadblocks were opened each day at 3:00 p. m. No human habitation marked any segment of the 50-mile stretch. Only pine trees hemmed in a forest to the right and left. Midway through this lonely road lay a mudhole concealing a broken Coke bottle. I hit it—bull's eye. The jagged edges riddled a tire.

A trucker finally came by and changed my tire. I was so grateful that I was effusive in wanting to pay him. "How much do I owe you?" I asked, opening my pocketbook with ruffles and flourishes.

"Young lady, some things are not for sale. This is a lonely road. You barely escaped spending the night here—alone in this pine forest. I did not stop to increase my bank account; I only stopped to help you. No! This service was not for sale."

The husky trucker slapped his muddy hands together, climbed into his truck, and drove off.

Reporting Is Important Responsibility

People receiving social security monthly checks have an important responsibility to report changes in their situation which may have an effect on their eligibility or the amount of their check, a social security representative said recently.

Correct reporting may mean that a person will not have to pay back benefits he or she should not have received. Or, it may mean that a person will receive a larger check, the spokesperson said.

The events that must be reported are listed and explained in the booklet, Your social security rights and responsibilities. There are separate editions for people who receive retirement and survivor benefits and for those who receive disability benefits.

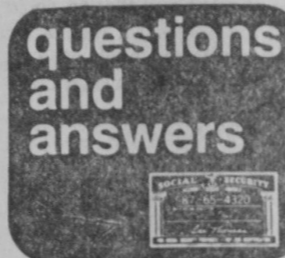

All people who receive retirement or survivor benefits should report the following:

- Change of mailing address.
  - Earnings in excess of the yearly exempt amount.
  - Earnings in excess of the yearly exempt amount.
  - Leaving the U.S.
  - Work outside the U.S.
- Dependents and survivors should also report:

- Divorce or annulment of marriage.
  - Marriage.
  - Adoption.
  - A child leaves the care of a parent.
  - A child nearing 18 is attending school or is disabled.
  - Change in school attendance for student 18-22.
  - A person becomes unable to manage funds.
  - A person getting checks dies.
- Disabled people must also report if they return to work or if their condition improves.

Full information about reporting responsibilities can be obtained at any social security office. People can make their reports by phone, mail, or in person. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory.

People who think they may be eligible for SSI payments should apply as soon as possible at a social security office. No payments can be made for months before an application is filed.

Q. My boss told me that more of my earnings will be subject to social security taxes this year. Exactly how much of my salary will be taxed?

A. The maximum amount of yearly earnings subject to social security taxes—the wage base—increases from $17,700 for 1978 to $22,900 for 1979. The social security law calls for additional increases in the wage base in future years in order to keep the social security system on a sound financial footing.

Young-Ehrnst Marriage Vows Said at IHM Church

Following a two-week Florida wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Joel L. Young will reside in Tawas City. The couple exchanged marriage vows Saturday, February 10, at Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, Tawas City.

The Rev. Fr. Lawrence Boks officiated at the double ring ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Ehrnst of Tawas City and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Young of Turner. Peach chrysanthemums and cut flowers decorated the altar. Nancy Carney was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride descended the aisle in a white floor length gown fashioned with peasant bodice and angel wing sleeves trimmed with lace to match the lace capelet. Her veil was held by a bonnet style headpiece accented with seed pearls and lace. The bridal bouquet was composed of yellow and white daisies surrounded by babies breath.

For her role as maid of honor, Barbara Grack of Tawas City wore a peach gown and carried one long stemmed chrysanthemum. Harold Schaffer of Turner served as best man.

The bride graduated from Tawas Area High School and attended Kendall School of Design. The bridegroom attended Arenac Eastern High School.

Tom Alley is Majority Whip in State House

State Rep. Tom Alley, West Branch, has been elected a majority whip by the House Democrat Caucus.

That honor follows his earlier election as chairman of the House Democrat Freshman Caucus. Alley was elected in November to his first term in the house of representatives.

"I am highly honored by this show of confidence in me by my fellow caucus members," Alley said of his selection as a majority whip. "It is particularly an honor for a first-term house member. I will fulfill the duties of the office to the very best of my ability."

A whip sees that members of his party are on the house floor for important votes and that they know the party position on those votes; it is the responsibility of the whip to see that no important piece of legislation is considered unless members of his party are present to participate in voting.

Alley is a former supervisor of Ogemaw Township, Ogemaw County. He is a former teacher with bachelor and master degrees from Central Michigan University.

Basic Record Keeping for Iosco Farmers

A basic record keeping program for today's farmer is planned for Iosco County. The program will acquaint the participants with the record keeping requirements for farmers. The program will deal with the development of a depreciation schedule and the use of that schedule to help organize today's farm business. Each participant will have the opportunity to work through a farm record keeping exercise and then use the records developed in the program to discuss the possible decisions that could be made based on these records.

The program is a two-day series and will be held at the Grant Township Hall. Each session will start at 1:00 p. m. and end at 3:30 p. m. The program will be held on Thursday, February 22 (part one), and Thursday, March 1 (part two). To reserve program materials or to obtain more information, contact the Cooperative Extension Service, 362-3449.

Braves Top S-S; Meet Gs Friday

Tawas Braves racked up their sixth conference win of the season Friday night against visiting Standish-Sterling Central. This sets the meeting for an important game this week between Tawas and Gladwin.

The Braves fell before the undefeated conference leaders on January 12 and will be seeking to avenge that loss before a home crowd. The loss to the Flying Gs is the only blemish on Tawas' conference record, but Coach Paul Becker's charges will have to play super basketball to beat the talented Gladwin squad.

Tawas continued to hold second place in NEM standings by taking a 19-12 first quarter lead over the visiting Panthers and coasting the rest of the way. About the only exciting moment in the game came in the second quarter when Center Kevin Grace stuffed the ball in the basket to bring Tawas fans to their feet.

Tawas held an 18-12 margin in the second quarter, rang up a 28-23 edge in the third quarter and the Panthers held a 15-12 margin in the final.

A total of 49 fouls were called by officials during the night, which slowed the game considerably, 23 assessed against the Braves and 26 against the visitors. Tawas meshed 18 of 31 shots from the charity lanes and the Panthers completed 21 of 38 foul shots.

Tawas made good on 27 of 61 shots from the floor and Kraig Moffatt was the scoring leader with 22 points. Brian Norton had 20 points on five field goals and 10 foul shots while Grace had 15 points on four field goals and seven from the foul lines.

Tawas Junior Braves lost their second game of the season to the Standish-Sterling junior varsity, 61-54. The visitors took a 14-10 lead in the first quarter, but Tawas came back with a 15-10 margin in the second quarter.

Standish-Sterling took charge in the third quarter with a 20-15 margin and outscored Tawas, 17-14, in the final quarter.

Scoring for Tawas were Bolen, two points; Grabow, 20 points; Pockel, 18; Finley, six, and Hester, eight points.

Koin was the leading scorer for the winners with 23 points.

Hale was out of the game from the very start against the taller Posen squad, which jumped to a 31-8 margin in the first quarter. The winners poured in a 21-15 margin in the second quarter, held a 22-14 edge in the third quarter and racked up a 22-13 fourth quarter lead.

Jay Clements had 20 points for the losers. Gary Wood, leading scorer for Hale, did not score a bucket.

Mich. Week Participation is Considered

At the Thursday, February 8, meeting of Tawas City Businessmen's Association, the bylaw committee presented a revision to the bylaws to be read and acted upon at forthcoming meetings. Thirty-one members and one guest were present at the noon luncheon at the Midway Restaurant where the group meets weekly.

In a discussion regarding Michigan Week participation and activities, the association voted to change its noon luncheon meeting to Monday for that week only if the Tawas City Council decides to participate in the Mayor's Day exchange program. The association would host the visiting mayor at the luncheon meeting.

Funding of the Iosco County Historical Museum was also discussed by the group.

THIS ARTIST'S SKETCH depicts a 25,000-kilowatt wood-fired power plant as proposed for construction near Hersey in Osceola County. Consumers Power Company, Morbark Industries of Wynn and Wolverine Electric Cooperative of Big Rapids, whose gas and oil-fired power plant is located in the left background, recently concluded a seven-month study into the potential for wood-fired electric generation. The study determined that such a project appears to be feasible. Actual construction of a demonstration plant is contingent upon regulatory approvals, financing and the availability of long-term contracts for waste wood.

VA Alerts Vietnam Era Veterans of GI Bill Benefits

Special Veterans Administration efforts to alert Vietnam era veterans to unused GI Bill education benefits, begun last year, are being expanded to a nation-wide campaign during 1979, Donald R. Ramsey, director of the VA regional office in Chicago, Illinois, said.

The VA director said the agency will extend to all 50 states an awareness program, Operation Boost, which in 1978 focused on 13 states where the GI Bill participation rate was low.

President Carter, in a message on Vietnam area veterans to congress last fall, referred to the comparative success of the GI Bill and called on VA "to seek out veterans who are unaware of the time limit that is fast approaching for many of them."

Free, individualized counseling services will be emphasized in the initial effort, Ramsey said.

In a direct mail campaign, more than one million eligible Vietnam era veterans will receive a new brochure and application inviting them to use vocational and educational counseling services. The first 200,000 of the brochures will be mailed in February.

The current GI Bill participating rate of some 65 percent is well above the levels achieved by veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict.

"While the program expires by law at the end of 1989," Kilcullen said, "I think we can raise that rate even higher with this kind of special emphasis."

Vital to veterans who have been out of the service for a few years is the 10-year time limit on eligibility.

"This means," Kilcullen said, "a veteran who wants to take full advantage of those valuable GI Bill rights must get started well before the 10 years from date of discharge pass."

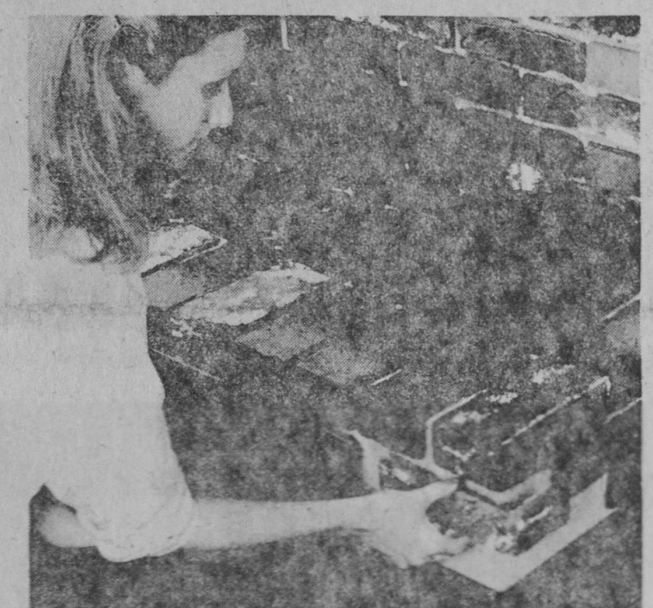

Current legislation provides for monthly payments of $311 to single veterans attending school full-time. Rates for part-time attendance are proportioned and additional allowances are provided for dependents.

Among a host of other financial aid sources for Vietnam era veterans that were not available to earlier generations are payments for tutoring, a work-study allowance and low-interest educational loans, and lengthened eligibility for educationally disadvantaged veterans.

"There is no other program like it," Kilcullen said. "And, it is too valuable to waste. That is why we want to reach those persons who still have time left and make sure they are aware of how the GI Bill can fit their needs."

Evidence of Fraud Sought by General Services Adm.

Anyone with information or leads concerning fraud, corruption or gross mismanagement in the General Services Administration can now dial a toll free hot line directly to the office of the inspector general, Adm. Jay Solomon announced last week.

Solomon said, "GSA made history in late August 1978 by being the first federal agency ever to voluntarily reinstate employees who had been fired because they blew the whistle on abuse or wrongdoing within their agency."

"I have promised anonymity to whistle blowers and a speedy response to their complaints. We have the support of President Carter and his staff. The office of the inspector general is set up to see that those promises are kept."

Anyone wanting to report mismanagement in GSA or with information on fraud or corruption can dial toll free, 800-424-5210 from all 50 states, including Alaska and Hawaii. Persons from the District of Columbia area can dial 566-1780.

A special post office box has been established to insure privacy of mail to the inspector general. Individuals may write to: General Services Administration, Office of Inspector General, Post Office Box 28341, Washington, D. C. 20005.

SPECIAL MEETING-TAWAS CITY COUNCIL
January 29, 1979

Meeting called to order at 7:00 PM at City Hall by Mayor Cholger. Present: Rollin, Cholger, Lansky, Hayes, Keiser, Cotter, Landon. Others: ACM McCready, Supt. Look.

This meeting was called in accord with Section 4.4 of the Charter by the ACM for the purpose of receiving bids on a four-wheel-drive front-end loader for the DPW. Bidding Ordinance, No. 184, provides in Section 2 (a): "Any capital improvement projects or major equipment purchases shall be by competitive bid, if deemed advisable by the City Council."

The following representatives appeared separately before Council to describe their products and bids:

Robert J. Cronk, Conrad Klooster, Inc., Lachne, MI - JD444 Loader - $33,818.25 With options: ROPS cab, work lights, heater, defroster fan, reverse warning alarm.

Phil Moore, Bridgeport Equipment Company, Bridgeport, MI - Case W-14 $33,000.

Chuck Detzler, AIS Construction Equipment Corp., Bridgeport, MI JD444 Loader - $33,428.00 With options: ROPS cab, full light package, heater, defroster fan, reverse warning alarm, engine side shields, No-Spin front differential, 15.5 x 25 8 PR tires.

Availability and speed of service and parts was also considered.

Motion by Hayes seconded by Landon that, on the basis of the opinion of the man who will use the equipment, Supt. Look, the AIS bid on the JD444 be accepted. Roll call vote, unanimous yes, following discussion of how this price will be paid. Consensus was that if monies set aside for certain projects are available now, before needed for those projects, they could be appropriated for this equipment, and when needed for projects could then be borrowed.

Additional discussion with Mr. Detzler led Council to direct ACM to contact John Deere regarding possible recompense for defective backhoe.

Meeting adjourned 10:20.

Now take your pencil and see if you can blot out all the unnecessary lines and base just the picture of the elephant.

Commission Wants Talks on Iosco Airport Expansion

The possibility of closing Wurtsmith Air Force Base could affect Iosco County's chances of getting federal-state matching funds for expansion of the county airport.

This was the word Wednesday to the Iosco County Board of Commissioners from Ronald Tyler, the commission's legal counsel, who met recently with Robert Peckham, an engineer hired by the county to update the airport master plan.

Tyler told commissioners that Peckham was concerned over this county's proposed $582,000 project because, should the base be closed, millions of dollars worth of facilities there could possibly become available for public aviation.

Iosco County authorities were shocked over the engineer's statement, along with his opinion that there was no justification for jet aircraft landings at the county airport. A recent meeting with state aeronautics officials indicated they were interested in Iosco's project.

Tyler is to arrange a meeting with state and federal officials in an effort to clear the air on the matter. Expansion of the runway at the county airport from 3,500 feet to 4,700 feet has been under consideration for a number of years. It is expected that the total $582,000 project would be considerably lower as it is expected that a proposed north-south runway would be eliminated.

An alternative being studied would be to construct a new taxiway, plus lengthening and resurfacing the present runway.

In any event, Tyler said that an environmental impact statement costing about $18,000 would be required to be eligible for funding. Another requirement would be completion of a basic transportation study to justify jet aircraft landings.

Tyler reported that two other counties are attempting to get available airport development funds. One industry has indicated that it would locate a new plant at the nearby industrial park if there is a suitable runway for jet aircraft and fuel available.

The county is currently considering condemnation proceedings against the owner of private property at the west end of the runway for expansion purposes.

A tentative agreement had been reached with the owner, but negotiations came to a grinding halt when the owner demanded a three acre for one acre exchange rather than a two for one exchange under consideration.
