

Reno Looking for Certified Assessor

Iosco County Board of Commissioners Wednesday established a rate of $4.50 per parcel for appraisal service to local units of government provided by the county tax equalization department.

This rate had been recommended by John Rose, county tax equalization director, who said the rate represented the actual cost for the work.

Rose's department had charged $3.50 per parcel in 1977 for such work, but the cost has increased during the past three years.

This action was taken when it was learned that Reno Township was in need of a certified assessing officer and may be interested in having the county contract for the work.

The state tax commission notified Reno Township recently that James P. Mielock, who was elected supervisor last November, was not a state certified appraiser and that the township would either need to obtain a certified person, contract for the work or the state tax commission would perform the work, possibly contracting it out to a private firm. Rose said that the last instance where the state tax commission invoked this regulation against a unit without a certified assessor, the unit paid $22 per parcel for the work.

The tax equalization director reported that his department had appraised all new construction in the county during the past year, including that in Reno Township.

During the past year, the county tax equalization department has made a complete reappraisal of much of this county, including Reno Township. Members of the board of commissioners wondered if this work could be utilized for Reno Township, but Rose pointed out that appraisal cards had not been verified as yet and that it would take too long to do so as the township assessment rolls must be ready for meetings of the board of review.

No action has been taken as yet by the Reno Township Board concerning how it is going to handle its assessment work, which was to have been completed January 1.

Difference of Opinion With Board

TA School Superintendent Resigns

Resignation of Dr. Robert A. Halle, superintendent of Tawas Area Schools for the past four years, was accepted Monday night by the board of education.

In a formal statement to the board, Halle's resignation is effective as of June 30. He indicated he was not relinquishing rights granted to him by the state tenure act.

The resignation, accepted unanimously by the board of education, ends considerable community speculation over the superintendent's future here since the board began work on an evaluation of Halle's performance.

That evaluation, which was not made public following last week's executive meeting, apparently was adopted by a four to three roll call vote.

In his letter, the superintendent said that his resignation was "due to differences of opinion between members of the board of education and myself, which are related to my job performance . . . my resignation is being submitted with mixed emotions, for my family and I have come to know many fine people in the community and do enjoy living here."

Halle said he submitted his resignation with a great deal of pride "as it pertains to my job performance of the last four years. Along with being proud of having provided much of the leadership for the accomplishments and improvements that have been made in the school district, I feel that my efforts and actions have been based on serving the best interests of the students, the school district and the community."

Accomplishments pointed out by the superintendent include returning of students to a full school day, the addition to the Tawas City Elementary Unit to allow the district to "make further improvements in the over-all education program."

"There is also an excellent possibility that the coming school year will once again find the school district with an accredited high school," he stated.

In addition to resolving space problems, Halle said that finances of the school district have been effectively managed, confirmed by audit reports of the last three years. The district, he said, has also operated on a minimal millage levy with the rate being approved for two more years, with a two-year projected balanced budget having been presented to the board. Employee contracts are also settled for the next two years, he pointed out.

"The school district is now in the most stable position it has been in for several years. Although I would in no way attempt to assume full credit for all the accomplishments of the last four years, I was directly involved with them and provided much of the leadership for them to occur," he stated.

Stating he did not feel that his resignation was in the best interest of the school district, he believed that further steps were needed to develop a more comprehensive educational program and to make more effective utilization of the available school district resources.

In selecting and working with another superintendent, Halle advised the board to "select a person that you think will work successfully with both present and future board members; determine beforehand if you desire a caretaker type superintendent or an educational leader. Do not settle for one if you desire the other."

He also believed the board of education should make its expectations known before hiring a superintendent. "If you are striving for excellence in every area of the job performance, you should let the candidates know beforehand how much less you will or will not accept."

He also stated that if the board expects progress and changes for the school district, "then you may also have to expect resistance from those who will be affected, even though the change might be in the best interest of students, the school district and the community."

Halle also asked the board to lend as much moral and visible support as it can to the person selected as the superintendent. "If the person is really going to do the job as defined by the state school code, board policies and job description, your active support will be absolutely necessary."

Halle said he had no reservations about discussing publicly the board's evaluation of his job performance. "I am not going to do this because I do not feel it would be in the best interest of the school district." He said that if the board felt such a public review was necessary, he would welcome the opportunity.

He closed his remarks by stating that he enjoyed being the superintendent "and have appreciated working on behalf of the board, the students, the staff and the community. I would hope that the school district will continue to grow and improve its educational program."

Adults Can Toot Their Own Horns

An interesting idea is being suggested this week to former members of Tawas Area High School bands or, for that matter, any area resident with previous band experience.

Dust off those trombones, cornets, tubas and clarinets and organize one or more German-type "oompa" bands. With a little enthusiasm, the results could be rather exciting.

This area could use a little extra zip in its business district and parks during the summer months, or for such special events as the Perchville-USA Festival during the winter. One or more small band groups could provide just such a vehicle, as well as adding much fun for the participants.

There are a number of present-day bandsmen in school whose parents participated in band when they were in school. Perhaps even a "German band" could be formed from one family.

Thomas Merschel, East Tawas businessman and a bandsman during his high school days, thinks the idea has merit and would be interested in hearing from other adults interested in such a group. He plans to contact some of his former classmates to get things rolling.

Gene Salamony, band director at Tawas Area High School, thinks it would be a splendid idea to get adults interested in forming such groups and has volunteered his help to get things rolling. He said, too, that he would help during practice sessions.

It would be a good project for businessmen's associations of the community as well as the Tawas Chamber of Commerce. If the program gets off the ground, some help may be needed in purchasing music.

With community enthusiasm, such a program could develop into one of the best outlets for fun ever devised, as well as developing a community attraction of home-grown talent which could not be equaled.

Persons interested may contact either of the above two men or this newspaper and a meeting will be arranged to get something going.

Council Hears Legislative Review

TC Assessor Seeks Pay Adjustment

A request to bring the salary paid by Tawas City in line with what he receives from East Tawas was requested Monday night by Ronald Turner, tax assessor for the two communities.

Turner told Tawas City Council members that he was requesting a seven percent increase in pay from East Tawas bringing the salary paid by that community to $7,500. He asked Tawas City to boost his pay to that figure from the present salary of $4,566, giving him a combined salary of $15,000.

The city assessor said he had accepted the present 60-40 percent salary split between East Tawas three years ago before realizing that assessing work in each community was about equal.

He said the old salary was based on the fact that there were 1,700 property descriptions in East Tawas and 1,300 descriptions in Tawas City. It is expected that the new state equalized valuation of real property for Tawas City will be $13,600,000, while the valuation of East Tawas will be $19,000,000.

However, Turner pointed out there was the same amount of state-mandated paper work for each community. He also pointed out that industrial appraisals and work involved with preparing two different tax rolls for each industrial district in Tawas City more than balanced out the higher residential appraisals at East Tawas, which does not have any industry.

Tawas City adopted six different industrial development and rehabilitation zones during the past year which provides industrial exemptions on property taxes for the improvements over a 12-year period. A special tax roll is required for each zone to show the improvements.

Turner emphasized that his request amounted to an adjustment in salary as the figure adopted three years ago was too low. He said he could perform the work for less money if the city did not wish to have a full time assessor, or the city could have a three-year contract with an annual increase of eight percent.

The request was taken under advisement by the council, some of whom felt the proposal was higher than that allowed under presidential guidelines.

Turner also reviewed new state legislation with the council. He said that guidelines were coming down from Lansing concerning mandated compliance with the Headlee amendment to the constitution. (See COUNCIL, page 2.)

Council Controversy Erupts Over Mayor's Statement Concerning Sham

Controversy over a two-page statement by Mayor Herbert Cholger relative to the city manager situation, condensed into a radio report earlier in the day, erupted into another verbal battle between the mayor and Tawas City Council Monday night.

Although the topic was incidental to the actual agenda called for in the special meeting, councilmen were highly critical of the radio report which quoted the mayor.

At issue with the council was the following statement: "I wonder if we have been living with a predetermined decision by the majority of the council on the selection of Rachel McCready for city manager and that the hiring of Donald Oakes is merely a sham to be financed by the people of our city."

Mayor Cholger said he did not wish to discuss the matter further, but said he had the right to express his opinion on such matters. He also expressed the opinion that the radio report had taken his statement out of context.

Donald Hayes, Charles Landon, Jerry Cotter, Hugo Keiser and James Lansky, councilmen, thought otherwise and pointed out that Oakes had been retained by a unanimous decision of the mayor and council to assist in finding a new city manager. Unable to attend the meeting because of a previous business commitment was Coun. Robert N. Rollin.

Discussion between the council and the mayor did not touch on another subject suggested by the mayor—rehiring of former City

Mgr. Reginald Bublitz. Although the mayor said he had contacted Bublitz a number of times concerning the possibility of his rehiring, a close friend of the former city manager on the council said he had been with him socially only two days previous to the meeting and the matter was not even mentioned.

In his prepared statement read at the meeting, Mayor Cholger said the job of the council was to satisfy the obligation of the city in the most practical manner and keeping in mind the cost to the taxpayers.

"The city could be managed by any one of the applicants, but the choice of any applicant with management qualifications and in possession of a required water and sewage disposal operators license would save our city $15,000 to $20,000 per year; that is the amount of money it would cost over the manager's salary, making a total cost of approximately $35,000 to $40,000 if we were required to have two people in those capacities."

The mayor suggested that to do the best possible job for the city and to get the most from tax money, that priority consideration be given to the applicant for manager who has the sewage operator's license as well as manager qualifications.

He said that the former city manager is available to be back on the job and "is the one person who has the necessary qualifications for city management, plus holding a water and sewage disposal operator's license, which could save the city $15,000 to $20,000 a year."

Cholger pointed out that Bublitz "voluntarily left the job because he felt the need to do so at the time. He was not removed by any vote of the council showing a lack of confidence in his ability" and the mayor felt that there was no obstacle or objection to putting Bublitz back on the job under contract.

"I would like to believe," said the mayor in his statement, "that all of us, as elected officials, have the good of the city at heart and hopefully are capable of keeping personal or political ambitions out of city business."

According to discussion on salary policies of the city earlier in the meeting, Bublitz has received accumulated sick leave and vacation pay since his resignation in November amounting to $5,031.42. It was reported that final payment had been made on the above and that Bublitz had applied for unemployment compensation last week.

This information was included on a discussion of sick leave and vacation policy for hourly and salaried employees. Although the council questioned the fact that most salaried persons usually do not receive sick leave, the present policy of providing one day of sick leave per month, accumulative up to 45 days, had been adopted previously by the council and that any change in the future would have no bearing on employees hired under the policy.

Pull This Handle to Report a Fire in Tawas --- Woops!

Personnel of Tawas Hospital were being instructed Tuesday morning in the proper method of turning in a fire alarm through the use of emergency pull boxes located throughout the building.

The reader has already guessed it. An alarm was accidentally activated during the instruction and a fire call was made to the sheriff's department, which handles the fire siren and dispatching for the Tawas City Volunteer Fire Department.

A return call from the hospital notified the sheriff's department that there was no fire and trucks were stopped before making a false run. Only the uninformed press showed up at the scene.

Leukemia research helped us find treatments to keep cancers from spreading. Treatments that kill traces of disease so they won't threaten a patient's life. For thousands of people who'll beat cancer this year, these new approaches will make the difference. In a very real way, they'll have children like Jennifer to thank for their lives.

tion adopted by voters last November. He said that considerable confusion exists at present among all cities concerning establishment of local tax millage rates for the coming year.

His work will be increased, he said, by the fact that the Headlee amendment requires establishment of appraisal cards for all personal property. All personal property must be audited and itemized on the cards, which will require his attendance at two state workshops.

Turner also briefly reviewed a new state act establishing exemptions permitted for new and renoated commercial property. He said practically the same guidelines apply to commercial districts as were adopted under previous guidelines for industrial, with the exception that local units have the power to establish commercial districts without approval of the state. In each case, a community can adopt industrial or commercial districts totaling not more than five percent of the community's valuation in either category.

The assessor also touched on the change in residential assessing which permits a homeowner to completely remodel the interior of a house, as well as installing a new roof or siding, without an increase in state valuation.

He must now completely reappraise 69 homes in the community to indicate those improvements showing, in the event the house is later sold, that improvements were made under terms of the new act. If this is not done, the additional valuation would turn up in the county's annual sales study which would increase the valuation and subsequent assessment of all residential property.

Turner said he would make information available to the council concerning the new assessment laws, emphasizing that a great number of residents probably were not aware of the fact that houses can be remodeled without the addition of a garage and the state equalized valuation cannot increase, if the owner first applies for a permit.

Ehrnst-Klinger Marriage Vows Said at ET Church

St. Joseph's Church, East Tawas, was the scene of the double ring ceremony Saturday, February 24, uniting in marriage the former Ann M. Klinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Klinger of East Tawas, and Bruce M. Ehrnst of Flint, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ehrnst of Tawas City.

The Rev. Fr. Francis Murphy performed the 2 o'clock rites, which were followed by a reception for 75 guests at the Holland House. Thomas Smolinski was vocalist. White gladioli and white carnations graced the altar.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in a blousant bridal gown of luster knit. Dainty imported re-embroidered Venice lace trimmed its sheer yoke and see-through fitted sleeve cuffs. A picturesque hat, encircled with lace motifs and veiling, complemented her gown and she carried a bouquet of white roses, babies breath and Stephanotis.

Wearing ice mint knit gowns, fashioned with bloused waists and lace trimmed necklines, were Judy Smolinski, maid of honor; Carol Resseque, Diane Reitler, Linda Ehrnst and Mrs. Joel Young, bridesmaids. They carried bouquets of white roses, babies breath and Stephanotis.

Gary Ehrnst served as best man. Carl Klinger, Thomas Meyer, James Schmidt of East Tawas and Andrew Weighandt of Flushing were groomsmen.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Klinger chose a Primrose street length dress and burgundy accessories. Brown accessories enhanced Mrs. Ehrnst's beige street length dress. White orchid corsages complemented their ensembles.

Following a trip in Northern Michigan and Canada, the newlyweds will reside at 1002 Hammond, Flint, where the bridegroom is employed with Fisher Body. The bride was employed at the East Tawas secretary of state's office.

Two showers, hosted by her attendants, relatives and friends, honored the bride.

Trout Derby Prize List Ready Soon

Prizes for the third annual Brown Trout Derby on Tawas Bay, April 7 through May 13, are to be announced this week by the Tawas Area Chamber of Commerce.

The fishing derby, which includes lake trout, will offer more prizes than last year to make the program even more attractive to fishermen.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources advises that the state is planting 100,000 more lake trout in Tawas Bay this spring and will have the number on the brown trout available for planting after it has completed its hatchery count.

The largest brown trout caught in the 1978 derby was one weighing 15 pounds, 14 ounces, and the King Salmon Derby in the fall saw the winning fish weighing 18 pounds, seven ounces.

Tawas Bay is a natural habitat for the Browns and the chamber of commerce feels there will be some larger fish this year.

Two Injured in Iosco Crashes

Two persons were injured in automobile crashes on Iosco County highways last week, according to a report Monday by the Iosco County Sheriff's Department.

Larry A. Augsbury, 23, Flint, was treated for injuries at Tawas Hospital following a crash Saturday on M-65, Burleigh Township. Augsbury was northbound and fell asleep at the wheel. His vehicle hit a snowbank and rolled over several times.

George A. Ounan, 21, Oscoda, was injured Friday on US-23 at Oscoda when his southbound vehicle skidded out of control on the icy highway. He was treated at Wurtsmith Air Force Base Hospital.

THE pieces will make an animal that lives in the land of ice and snow. Carefully cut out the pieces and try to fit them together to see if you recognize the animal.

mittent resurfacing and guardrail upgrading on 24 miles of M-55 from Henderson Lake Road, Logan Township, Ogemaw County, east to the M-55 bridge over the Tawas River in Tawas City.

The announcement Friday from Lansing said that work was scheduled for completion in September.

People Can Now Enroll For Medical Insurance

People eligible for, but who do not have, Medicare medical insurance protection can enroll for it now through April 2, a social security spokesperson said recently.

Those eligible to sign up during the 1979 general enrollment period include people 65 and over and disabled people who have Medicare hospital insurance but failed to sign up when they were first eligible, or who once had this protection but cancelled it.

Protection will start July 1, 1979, for those who sign up during this time.

People who sign up during the general enrollment period may pay a premium higher than the basic premium if there was a period of 12 months or more during which they were eligible for medical insurance but did not have it.

Even so, the representative said, medical insurance represents a real bargain because the Federal Government pays over 2/3 of the total medical insurance premium out of general revenues.

Medical insurance helps pay the cost of doctor bills and for other services and supplies not covered by Medicare hospital insurance.

Full information about Medicare can be obtained at any social security office. The people there will help those who want medical insurance sign up for this protection. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory.

Medicare Insurance Deductible Increased

The Medicare hospital insurance deductible—the cost of covered services in each benefit period not paid by Medicare—has been increased to $160 for benefit periods beginning in 1979 from the 1978 figure of $144, a social security spokesperson said recently.

The deductible is intended to be roughly equal to the cost of one day of care in a hospital. The increase was necessary, the representative said, because of the continually rising cost of medical care.

The deductible is the only amount a Medicare patient is responsible for during the first 60 days of hospital care in a benefit period for covered services.

The increase in the deductible also affects other 1979 per-day costs under hospital insurance.

• From the 61st through the 90th day of hospital care in a benefit period, hospital insurance pays for all covered services except for $40 a day (up from $36).

• For each reserve day (there are 60 during a person's lifetime) hospital insurance will pay for all covered services except for $80 a day (up from $72).

• For the 21st through the 100th day of care in a skilled

Q. I started getting social security retirement payments last year. I also worked part time, and plan to continue working this year. What's the amount a person can earn this year without losing benefits?

A. If you are 65-72, or will reach 65 before the end of the year, you can earn $4,500 in 1979 and get full social security benefits. If you are under 65, you can earn $3,480 in 1979 without losing any benefits. If your earnings go over the annual amount, $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings above the limit. (For people in their first year of retirement, a monthly test also applies. Details are available at any social security office.)

Hale Defeated by S-S Central, but Edged Hillman

Hale split a pair of games last week, losing a nonconference game February 20 to Standish-Sterling, 69-60, but winning a North Star League game Friday night in overtime against visiting Hillman, 69-65.

The Eagles fell behind the Panthers, 16-8, in the first quarter but gained ground in the second quarter when each team scored 14 points.

The Eagles were down by only four points in the third quarter when a Hale defender drew a technical foul for hitting a ball out of the net. Standish-Sterling converted the free throw and came back with a quick bucket to take a commanding lead.

The Eagles were outscored by the winners, 19-15, in the third quarter and 20-13 in the fourth quarter.

Vern Reed III had 12 points to pace the losers and Jurek had 19 points to top the Panthers.

Hale took an 18-14 lead over Hillman in the first quarter of Friday night's game, but the visitors came back with an 18-12 second quarter margin to take the lead. It was much the same in the second half as Hale went ahead on a 20-16 third quarter score, but Hillman came up with a 10-8 fourth quarter advantage as Jay Johnston tied the game, 58-58, with a bucket at the buzzer.

The Eagles found the extra period to their liking and scored 11 points to seven for the losers.

Hale had four players scoring in double figures, paced by 17 points for Ed Seward. Cummings was top scorer for the visitors. Gary Wood had 19 rebounds to lead Hale.

Hale won both ends of Hillman's trip when the Little Eagles defeated Hillman's junior varsity, 61-50. Scoring for Hale were Dan Dear and Jeff Dillon with 12 points each and Tom Sanders with 18. John Lyons topped the losers with 15.

Action this week saw the Eagles playing Tuesday night at Alcona and the team travels Friday night to take on the conference leading Mio Thunderbolts.

Some Answers About Absent Voter Ballots

Anticipating inquiries about absent voter ballots, City Clerk Rachel Sue McCready submits the following explanation:

Any resident who is registered as an elector on or before March 5, but is unable to attend the polls on April 2 for the Special Election (in East Tawas-Spring Election), may apply to the city clerk in person or by mail for an absent voter ballot. Forms are available at city hall, but application can be a simple written request for absent voter ballot, signed by the registered elector, showing one of the following statutory grounds:

- I am physically unable to attend the polls without the assistance of another.
- I cannot attend the polls because of the tenets of my religion.
- I cannot attend the polls because I am to be an election precinct inspector in another precinct.
- I am 60 years of age or more.
- I expect to be absent from the city in which I reside during the entire period the polls are open for voting.
- I cannot attend the polls because I will be confined in jail awaiting arraignment or trial.

If the absent voter wishes ballots to be mailed to him, he should specify the address where he will receive them.

Applications will be accepted by the city clerk up to 2:00 p. m. on Saturday, March 31.

After marking absent voter ballots, they may be brought to the clerk's office, city hall, or mailed in envelopes provided with the ballots, so as to be received before closing of the polls on election day, April 2. If delivered personally by the absent voter, it must be before the opening of the polls.

A registered elector may also make the above-described application prior to 4:00 p. m. on election day if disabled or absent due to sickness or death in the family occurring after the March 31 deadline. In this case, the clerk will deliver a ballot to the applicant (in the hospital, for example), or to a person named by applicant in the application.

Tawas City voters are reminded that the voting place is the Tawas City Elementary School Gymnasium, Eighth Avenue and Second Street. Polls will be open from 7:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m. on Monday, April 2.

WOODEN WATERWORKS

One of the lesser known auxiliary industries of the white pine era in the Tawas area was that of the American Pipe Company, organized in May 1880 with a capital of $20,000.

This firm had only a brief existence here, but its product was of a long lasting quality—in fact, it was still being used at East Tawas nearly 60 years later and some of it is still around and viewed as a curiosity!

Organized at Detroit, the firm operated its plant at East Tawas from the spring of 1880 until the winter of 1882. Original incorporators included W. C. Andrews, N. Edson, H. B. and George P. Smith, the latter being one of the original founders of East Tawas and associated with practically every worthwhile public enterprise during the community's early history.

When considering the manufacture of water and steam pipe in the 1880s, one would naturally envision a foundry for casting iron pipe—complete with huge furnaces to smelt iron ore, black smoke belching from tall chimneys and sweating men lading molten metal.

There may have been sweating men and black smoke, but there was no foundry involved as the American Pipe Company at East Tawas utilized the area's principal resource of that era—white pine logs, the finest and straightest obtainable from this region's vast forests.

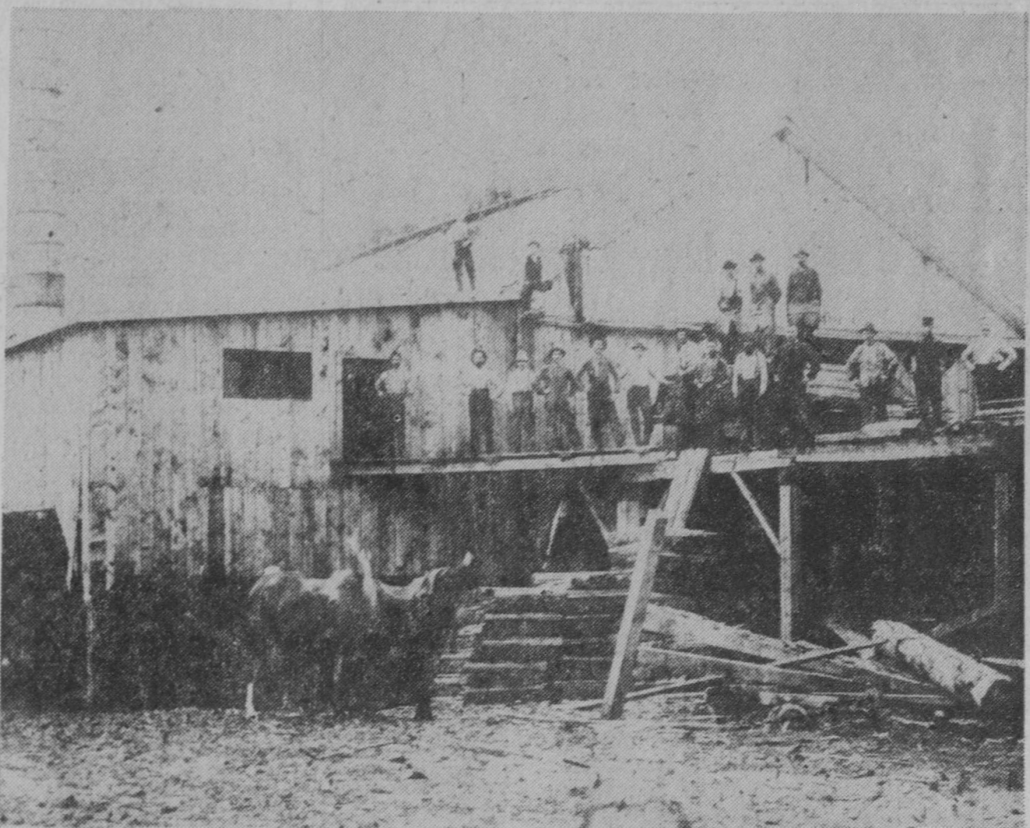

The East Tawas firm manufactured wooden water, steam and gas pipes using the "celebrated" Wyckhoff patent, utilizing the mill and equipment of the East Tawas Salt and Lumber Company, located in the general area of the east end of today's city park. Specialized equipment was purchased and installed in one section of the mill.

The first process in making a wooden pipe was to cut out of a log a solid cylinder of wood. This was accomplished through use of a tubular auger, consisting of a bit utilizing a series of planes in a circular frame. Out of this cylinder, another was taken and so on down, the result being that each outside section had a smooth surface and each succeeding hollow wooden cylinder was of reduced size.

After cutting, the pipe was pitched inside and out with coal tar asphalt and then banded with hoop iron. Joints were fitted with special lathes and tests were conducted for strength and soundness, based on the use intended for the pipe—water, gas or steam, each with different specifications.

About 50 men were required for the business here and the demand for wooden pipe greatly exceeded the capacity of the plant. Part of the firm's output is believed to have been utilized in East Tawas' original water system and for the pipeline constructed in 1881 between East Tawas and Oscoda, which conveyed salt brine to mills along the AuSable River for the manufacture of salt.

The salt brine pipeline between those two points had a nine-inch depth of three feet and the cost of that undertaking was in the neighborhood of $80,000. Enough brine was pumped from East Tawas to manufacture 1,000 barrels of salt daily at AuSable-Oscoda for a period of nearly 10 years.

George P. Smith, one of the principal owners of the East Tawas Salt and Lumber Company, was also associated with the Michigan Pipe Company at Bay City. In the winter of 1883, the American Pipe Company of East Tawas was consolidated with the Michigan Pipe Company and the business was transferred to Bay City.

In the late 1890s, lumber mills at AuSable-Oscoda began to fade from the lumbering picture with the depletion of the local stock of white pine and the more than 12-mile pipeline connecting East Tawas with AuSable River mills was no longer needed. A portion of the wooden pipeline was removed and reused for an expansion of the East Tawas water system.

A note in the Iosco County Gazette for 1882 stated that "all of the remaining machinery of the American Pipe Company used at this point last season in the manufacture of the Wyckhoff patent water, gas and steam pipe casing was shipped on the barge, Essex, to Bay City last Saturday, at which place the manufacture of these celebrated pipes will continue."

The Bay City firm, originally known as the Northwestern Gas and Water Pipe Company in 1871, continued in business at Bay City for many more years. This item appeared in the February 26, 1909, issue of The Tawas Herald:

"The Michigan Pipe Company of Bay City last week landed the largest order for piping ever given in the world. The order is for 74 miles of wooden pipe and it will require 2,500,000 feet of white pine timber, 1,000 tons of steel bands and 1,000 tons of asphalt pitch to manufacture. It will keep the factory running night and day for four months and require 250 of the largest railroad cars to transport the finished product."

Wooden water mains continued in service at East Tawas well into the second quarter of the twentieth century.

Finally, on November 25, 1938, this headline appeared in The Tawas Herald: "East Tawas Water Works Project Starts Monday; Will Replace Wood Mains With Iron."

Stated the article: "All wood mains in the East Tawas water system will be replaced with cast iron mains when work which starts in that city next Monday is completed. Replacing the mains will begin on Sawyer and Bay Streets. The estimated cost of the improvement is $49,000 under the WPA project."

"In replacing the old mains, more than 27,000 feet of new cast iron pipe will be laid. This will consist of 800 feet of eight-inch pipe, 6,100 feet of six-inch, 10,000 feet of four-inch and 2,700 feet of two-inch mains."

Thus it was that wooden water mains manufactured from the raw material provided by Michigan forests finally were replaced by cast iron mains.

Some sections of the abandoned wooden water mains were left in the ground during the 1938 replacement project. A major construction project in 1978 saw many of the old wooden mains still in the ground being removed. Most were as sound as the day when originally installed.

Hopefully, a section of wooden water main has been preserved for incorporation into the collection of the Iosco County Historical Museum at East Tawas, as an example of the product of local industry nearly 100 years ago.

State Legislator Warns of Misleading Study Projecting Population Growth

A Northern Michigan representative in the state legislature has expressed concern that a recent study projecting future population growth for this region may not only be misleading, "but it is also very dangerous to the future planning of state government and the local counties involved."

State Rep. D. J. Jacobetti, chairman of the house appropriations committee, said that during his 24 years of service in the Michigan Legislature, "no study of Northern Michigan problems has disturbed me more."

Jacobetti was referring to a study done by the University of Michigan for the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission.

Results of the study were released last summer and received major news coverage throughout the nation. The study predicted that the 44 counties of Northern Michigan would double in population by the year 2000.

One criticism cited by the state representative from Ne-gaunee "was the fact that, while it included many optimistic projections for population growth on a county-by-county basis for the areas of Michigan in UGLRC, the stories failed to include the possibility of error which was not quoted in the releases."

The news stories failed to report that the study actually expects a "fairly high average error for the counties;" that "all counties do not have average errors."

Jacobetti pointed out that the 27 counties of the 11th Congressional District, comprising 12 Northern Lower Peninsula counties and the entire Upper Peninsula, shows that the population of this vast region has only increased from 459,345 in 1910 to 470,845 in 1970. Nine of the 27 counties substantially lost population during this period, some as much as 80 percent.

The veteran legislator points out that present long-term planning by the military indicates there is little likelihood of Wurtsmith Air Force Base at Oscoda and K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base at Marquette being in existence by the year 2000. Therefore, the 11th Congressional District will lose a population of around 23,000 people presently working on the bases, as well as some service industry jobs in the adjacent counties to the bases.

He also pointed out that it is quite apparent that 1970 census figures in the study did not take into consideration several key factors, failing to report the fact that 11,000 people had left Chippewa County due to the closing of Kincheloe Air Force Base.

"We have reports in our files dating back to 1910 of studies similar to UGLRC report," Jacobetti said, "which state there was going to be a great influx of people to Northern Michigan and that it would become one of the great boom areas of the nation. I believe, however, the growth figures of the 11th Congressional District during the past 60 years, which are a negative growth, proves that there is little likelihood of any major population shift to the northern part of Michigan and the Upper Peninsula."

The study has projected a population of 57,295 by the year 2000 for Iosco County, as compared to 24,905 in 1970, 16,505 in 1960 and 9,753 in 1910.

Jacobetti believes that the majority of people moving into Northern Michigan counties and the Upper Peninsula come from down-state metropolitan areas and he forecasts this type of migration will taper off dramatically during the next decade. He also points out that there is fierce competition from southern and southwestern states for new industry, business and people. His forecast for Michigan's total population for the year 2000 will not exceed its 1970 census.

Overly optimistic population studies can create many problems for Northern Michigan, one of which would be for people to buy land wherever possible speculating on the population growth to reap big profits.

New Gamble Store Slated for Tawas

Work is now in progress on remodeling the old Kroger Store building in Tawas City to house a new Gamble Store of Tawas.

The concrete block and brick building was constructed in 1958 by Dr. J. D. LeClair and leased to the Kroger Company from October 23 of that year until January 1978 when the firm moved into its new building leased from the LeClairs directly across US-23 from the old building.

John A. LeClair, who will manage the Gamble Store, left Saturday for a two-week management school. His brother, Thomas LeClair, is in charge of remodeling and Thomas' wife will be involved in the administrative end of the business.

A grand opening for the new store will be held the first week in May. The store will actually open a few weeks before the grand opening.

Tax Break for New Competition?

This corner was of the opinion two years ago—and still holds the same opinion—that the state legislature was opening a real "can of worms" when it gave consideration to adoption of the Commercial Redevelopment Act.

It all depends upon whose bull is being gored. In 1978, the legislature adopted Public Act No. 255 and it is now law. Complete information is now being awaited by local assessing officers on how the provisions are to be administered.

The law provides that commercial enterprises may apply for a property tax exemption which cuts the state equalized valuation by one-half for new construction for a period of 12 years. The law also permits commercial property owners to apply for a tax exemption on restoring obsolete property. This would permit the restored property to remain at the same state equalized valuation if that portion to be restored represents not less than 10 percent of the true cash value of the property.

The act is intended to improve commercial areas and to improve employment. Local and state governmental approval would be required.

This corner was in agreement with a similar act adopted by the state legislature to encourage industrial expansion and renovation, but Public Act No. 255 is stretching the point.

The industrial exemption act was adopted to encourage industry to stay in this state, to help provide additional new jobs and to protect present jobs. Each applicant is accountable in writing to maintain the number of jobs it guarantees under the industrial exemption certificate, or the certificate can be revoked after review by the local assessor.

To provide the same exemption to commercial enterprise—say a restaurant or mercantile store—is another matter entirely. Taken in the sense of the language contained in the two acts, industries are not competing against one another; the same cannot be said for commercial enterprise.

For instance, is it fair for a business to receive a property tax break when established businesses, which happen to be providing jobs, too, are assessed to the hilt?

Such services as police and fire protection, garbage removal, street construction and others are all financed by property taxes. Despite the fact that some additional jobs may be provided by new commerce, should that be at the expense of existing business?

In addition, under the Economic Development Corporation Act No. 338, Public Acts of 1974, low interest bonding is now being made available for construction of new commercial buildings and one such application is being considered locally.

It is fine to provide an incentive to industry to help create and maintain employment for our citizens, but it is another thing to give a tax break to a competing commercial business at the expense of taxpayers, who must foot the bill for the additional services required.

(Read Proverbs 3:5-8)
"Jesus spoke to them, saying, I am the light of the world; he who follows me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life." (John 8:12 RSV)

One warm afternoon in late spring my daughter, Jennifer, and I decided to walk to a friend's house to see some newborn kittens. Jennifer knew a short cut across a large field, so I followed her. As long as I could see the path ahead of us, I felt safe. We were supposed to go to the left up ahead, but where was the path? "It is here, Mom," Jennifer said confidently. "Come on!" At her persuasion, I followed reluctantly. Sure enough, the path was there. It was hidden from view by a massive growth of weeds.

As I chuckled to myself, it came to mind that sometimes we see only the weeds, the tangled vines of fear and uncertainty. Thus, we miss the path. We need to put our trust in the One who leads us; Christ knows what is beyond, and He is our guide through the many difficulties that can hide our path.

Father, we praise and thank You for sending Jesus Christ into the world to lead us through times of distress and uncertainty. Thank You for the abundant life He gives. Amen.

ASC Wheat-Feed Program Began New Registration

Farmers who plan to participate in the 1979 wheat-feed grain program began registering on February 15, according to Harold Cholger, chairperson of the Iosco County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

Cholger said Robert Bergland, secretary of agriculture, has designated February 15 to April 30 as the period for farmers to file intention to participate in 1979 set-aside programs.

He emphasized that farmers must sign-up to be eligible for price support loans, target price and disaster payments for barley, corn and wheat on participating farms and on other normal crop acreage grown on the farm.

Farmers must also sign-up for voluntary diversion payments on corn. However, Cholger said there will be no advance voluntary diversion payment for 1979 crops.

County and community committees attended an area meeting, along with eight other counties, in West Branch, with the State ASC Committee last week, concerning the 1979 farm programs. Those attending were Cholger, Kenneth Blake, Dennis Cholger and John Alda, East Tawas; Frank Bischoff, Tawas City; Thomas Clark, Hale, and Leonard Robinson, Eilert Barnes, Dornace Bellville and Jack Rohn, Whittemore.

Cholger said farmers can get further information and details from the Iosco County ASCS Office, Federal Building, East Tawas.

ANOTHER STEP in the removal of a Tawas City landmark was witnessed Wednesday when Urban Wrecking Company completed removal of the bowl of the Tawas City water tank. After cutting the tank into strips, the last piece was removed Wednesday. Remainder of the 42-year-old tower structure will be razed in the days ahead.—Tawas Herald Photo.
