Dr. Leslie A. Lambert, a veteran general practitioner with many years of public health service, was one of 26 physicians honored Saturday for practicing 50 or more years in Michigan.

gates of the Michigan State Medical Society at Kalamazoo.

Sixty-four physicians were recognized in the state for reaching the 50-year mark.

Lambert came to Michigan in 1929 after graduating from Loma Linda University, Los Angeles, California. He interned at Hurley Hospital, Flint, the year that facility was converted from a cottage hospital to a high rise building.

Receiving his state certification, he took up residency at the Battle Creek Sanitarium in the field of neurology. He then began a long career in public health, establishing the Genesee County Health Department. He then served Flint as health officer for a year and spent one year in Idaho to help establish a health department in that state.

Lambert then returned to Flint where he was engaged in private practice. He was elected Genesee County coroner as a Republican, was also engaged in public health work and spent a year at John Hopkins University where he received a master degree in public health.

In September 1942, he entered military service, remaining 3 1/2 years and retired with the rank of major. At the end of the war, he resumed his practice at Flint.

He established his summer residence in Iosco County at that time and decided to change his practice to East Tawas, coming here in 1949.

He remained in general practice here and helped to open Tawas Hospital at the time of the 1953 tornado. He is the only physician remaining here who was engaged

Alabaster Has Two Proposals

Alabaster Township voters will decide Monday, May 14, on tax limitation millage for fire protection and garbage pickup services to that township.

Two propositions to be offered to voters include:

Proposition A: For three-quarters of one mill (75 cents on each $1,000) on each dollar of assessed valuation of all property in the township for the purpose of providing additional funds for fire protection to the township;

Proposition B: For three-quarters of one mill on each dollar of the assessed valuation of all property in the township for the purpose of providing curb pickup service on garbage and trash.

Both millages would be voted for an indefinite period, but only levied when funds are needed. Should either the garbage pickup fund or fire protection fund balance indicate an available amount necessary to meet the budget for each fund, the tax would not be levied for that fund.

A new contract is being negotiated with the City of Tawas City for fire protection based on valuation, population and number of fires. The new contract will place Alabaster Township's cost at approximately $8,252 per year, which could be met by the three-quarter-mill proposal.

Garbage pickup service to a home owner with an assessed valuation of $10,000 would cost $7.50 per year in taxes, compared to $54 annually, based on the current private cost of $4.50 per month with a private contractor.

Alabaster electors are urged to vote in this important election. Absent voter ballots may be obtained from the township clerk, Betty Hammond, at 2323 South Douglas Drive.

Renovation - Improvement at Lumbermen's Monument

Bids are to be let this month on a three-year renovation-construction project at Lumbermen's Monument in Huron National Forest, according to a report Friday from the Tawas Ranger District.

Ross S. Frid of the district office of Huron-Manistee National Forest, Cadillac, said that the actual work would start later this year with a completion date for the entire project in 1981.

Included will be relocation of roads, new landscaping of the grounds, expansion of parking, improvements to the picnic area and construction of a new visitor information center.

The new center will contain 2,000

East Tawas Council Gets New Budget for Study

A tax levy of 14.5 mills to finance a 1979-80 general operating fund of $385,390.35 is being studied by the East Tawas Council.

The tentative budget was presented at Monday night's regular meeting. City Clerk Clyde Soper said the tax levy was the same rate spread during the current year, which includes 11.28 mills for general operation.

In other business, Mrs. Thofiel DeMaet of the Iosco Commission on Aging was in attendance at the meeting and the council authorized use of a 160-foot by 200-foot parcel of city owned land on Lincoln Street for a senior citizen center.

The parcel of land, included in the site purchased for the new water storage facility, would be leased on a long term basis. It was reported that local funds of $25,000 would be required to receive matching money for a construction grant.

The bid of S&W Ford, Oscoda, was accepted to install a new engine in the 1977 police car.

The council adopted a resolution stating that road, water and sewer service would be installed before the city sells lots in Eastland No. 2 Subdivision, permitting Spicer Engineering to develop plans for the property.

The council and city officials are to give consideration to reasonable control of garage sales within the city. It was felt that a garage sale once a year was sufficient for any individual.

square feet of floor space and will be of log construction. It will include an office, toilets and a reception area containing 1,200 feet of display space.

The building is to contain displays interpreting the past and present logging industry with particular emphasis on the history of the AuSable River during the days when it was a major waterway for driving white pine logs to mills.

Frid said that a private contractor would develop and assemble displays for the visitor center, as well as outdoor displays. Three different outdoor display areas are to be included in the project, including one on a bluff overlooking

TC Council's Land Purchase Touches Off New Controversy

Tawas City Council voted five to two Monday night to purchase the Adamek property adjacent to the city hall touching off a new controversy.

The action came over the objection of Mayor Herbert Cholger and Coun. Robert N. Rollin, who voted "no" on the question. In favor of the purchase were Coun. Charles Landon, James Lansky, Donald Hayes, Hugo Keiser and Jerry Cotter.

No actual use for the property was specified in the action, although mentioned in discussion was additional off-street parking and possibly for one "opening" for an access route along the river.

The matter came up Monday night after it was briefly discussed at a special meeting last week. The property had originally been considered for expansion of the city hall grounds and an option to purchase was obtained by the city. The option was later renewed and was to expire Monday.

About a month ago, the matter was discussed during an executive meeting of the council when it was suggested that businessmen of the "500" block may wish to purchase the property for off-street parking purposes.

Councilman Rollin contacted a number of property owners in the block and it was his opinion that they were not interested in a special assessment district to purchase the property. Rollin also felt that the $65,000 price tag for the lot was excessive and it was his opinion that when the referendum on the city hall complex lost last November, the matter of purchasing the property should have died.

Mayor Cholger said he was opposed to the purchase as a more valuable asset to the block would be for the city to use the $65,000 to purchase an easement along the river from Whittemore Street west. He felt that such an access route would be of benefit to the entire block.

Coun. Hugo Keiser, who said last week that he was one property owner who had not been contacted in the recent survey, pointed out that the city council had authorized purchasing the property last June, but nothing was done to follow through on the authorization. He believed the city should control the property for city hall parking as well as taking the first step to provide an access drive through the business area.

Councilman Landon expressed the opinion that the consolidation issue with East Tawas was the major reason the city hall complex proposal was defeated by voters last November. That proposal lost by 11 votes.

A motion to drop the option entered by Rollin received no support. Cotter then moved that the city exercise its option, the action received a second from Keiser and was adopted by a five to two vote.

Both Mayor Cholger and Councilman Rollin, along with supporters in the audience, indicated that court action could be expected over the matter.

The city manager is to study methods of financing the purchase.

County to Drag Feet on Compliance

Iosco County plans to drag its feet on planning any new sanitary landfill program until the Michigan Department of Natural Resources prescribes regulations concerning local implementation of the 1978 Solid Waste Management Act.

Dumps in neighboring Arenac County have been ordered closed by the DNR until such time as state regulations are met.

At the present time, Iosco County contracts with Multi-County Landfill for providing this service. According to one DNR official last year, this was the only landfill in the county which met then existing requirements.

This county's sanitary landfill plan, prepared last year at a cost of $5,500, has been in state hands for more than a year, but it is entirely possible the new act will have elements which would void certain parts of that plan.

In addition, the state legislature has not appropriated funds to implement the act until terms of the Headlee Amendment to the state constitution, which requires such funding for state mandated programs.

An ad hoc committee appointed to study landfill alternatives for the county reported Wednesday to the county board of commissioners that the law requires counties to submit waste disposal plans to the state by May 11.

Final rules concerning the act are not due from the DNR until July 11 and the committee is in limbo as to what type of soils should be considered for recommendation of a future landfill location.

Carlton Merschel, a member of the county board of commissioners, said Wednesday that new guidelines may require a clay lined pit for a sanitary landfill. He said that such a proposition would be expensive and thought the idea was "dumb," inasmuch as such a pit would produce problems for future generations.

"I have no qualms about dragging our feet until the DNR makes up its mind concerning regulations and the legislature makes a decision on providing funds to implement the act," said Merschel.

Three Burglaries Were Investigated

Three breakings and enterings and a larceny were investigated last week by Iosco County Sheriff's Department.

Thieves entered the second story of the Jerry D. McFarlin residence at Whittemore and made off with a 12 gauge shotgun, a rifle and a hot plate. Also stolen from a garage was a quantity of tools, tires, wheels, a radial saw and an air compressor.

Other burglaries included a mobile home owned by Leonard Cook on M-65, Whittemore, and a summer home owned by Harry C. Evedland, Grant Township.

Roger Tomlinson of East Tawas reported the larceny of a bicycle.

Irene Lapere of Townline Road, Tawas City, told officers that upon her return home from shopping, she found that dogs had killed 40 of her chickens.

Council Approves Fire Agreement

Approval of a new 10-year fire protection contract with Alabaster and Tawas Townships was adopted Monday night by the Tawas City Council.

Although it has indicated approval for at least one year, Tawas Township officials and residents are studying the feasibility of establishing a fire department to serve that unit.

In reviewing the contract with councilmen, City Mgr. Lowell Thomas said that the cost to each unit would be based on 50 percent population, 40 percent valuation and 10 percent on fire occurrence.

Total budget for the fire department during 1979-80 is $40,149. Using the above formula, Tawas Township's share would be $13,736 and Alabaster would be assessed $8,252. The share of the cost to be paid by Tawas City would be $18,461.

Thomas said that a regional fire committee has been adopted composed of supervisors from each township, a councilman, the fire chief and the city manager. Meetings are to be held in October,

Juvenile Cited for Lawn Spree

A 16-year-old juvenile has been cited into Iosco Probate Court after admitting that he used a pickup truck to damage the lawn of Tawas Area High School Friday night.

Investigating Iosco County Sheriff's Department officers spotted his mud-spattered truck on the day of the incident and later checked tire tracks and soil samples on the truck with those found in the school lawn.

Damage was estimated at around $250.

AuSable Couple's Garden Produces Unusual 'Crop'

An AuSable Township couple has the most unusual garden in this county, harvesting two crops annually. Two harvest seasons are not uncommon in warmer climates, but this second crop was "sown" 100 or more years ago.

Guy Shellenbarger of 205 West Mill Street is noted for his green thumb; he will have no trouble finding customers for the sweet corn which he harvests from his five-acre patch later this summer.

His wife, Marguerite (Maggie), starts her harvest as soon as the ground is plowed in the spring. That amazing second crop springs from the earth, but nature has nothing to do with it. Mrs. Shellenbarger reaps an annual crop of history.

Each year during the past 15 years that the couple has owned the property, Mrs. Shellenbarger could be found walking through the plowed field during the spring and between rows of corn later in the summer. When the field dries and can be plowed in a week or two, she will be found walking slowly between the furrows with her eyes intently studying the soil.

The sharp eyes of Mrs. Shellenbarger have spotted historical artifacts by the hundreds in her garden—from valuable Indian trade beans and coins of the days when French, English and American trading posts were located at AuSable, to children's toys, coins, buttons, bottles, clay pipes and iron tools used during the lumbering days.

The five-acre plot of land comprising the Shellenbarger garden is located along what was the bank of the original channel of the AuSable River. When they purchased the property, the ground broken for a garden probably had never before been plowed. A portion of it had been a horse pasture during the lumbering days and along the street was a string of 14 houses known as "Red Row," furnishing housing for transient employees of the Loud Lumber Company.

Like most of AuSable City, the frame houses were wiped from the face of the earth during the fire of 1911.

As a girl in AuSable, Mrs. Shellenbarger and her mother had found buttons and other household articles when they searched the "commons" area of the former city of several thousand, but she really was not prepared for what the garden plot was to yield in her later life.

When the ground was first plowed in 1964, she accidentally spotted the head of a small china doll which had been lost by a child some 70 or 80 years earlier. She now has 20 dolls with china heads and a large collection of broken doll parts.

Her sharp eyes then found coins, buttons, wedding bands, cap guns (See TREASURE, page 2.)

MARGUERITE SHELLENBARGER, AuSable Township, is shown here with a small portion of the collection of historical artifacts which she has uncovered during the past 15 years. The displays occupy one corner of her dining room and she has shown them at numerous club meetings in the area.—Tawas Herald Photo.

and iron toys—presumably all lost or discarded years earlier by children living in Red Row.

The former hay field has turned up Indian trade beads by the hundreds and that has been a particularly valuable historical find. Exact location of fur trading posts at AuSable have never been pinpointed but, judging from the number of trade beads found, the Shellenbarger garden could either have been the long lost site or it could have been an Indian burial ground. The garden has produced coins by the hundreds, including one 1837 token from the Bank of Quebec with a beaver on the obverse side. Michigan became a state that year and a fur trader or a later fisherman lost it along the river bank.

Flint arrow heads and several different metal hair ornaments worn by Indians have been found in the garden, along with items from later eras including a collection of 16 clay pipe heads, brass keys, wedding bands, bottle stoppers and hundreds of marbles used by children.

Her husband, originally from Hale, is an avid amateur historian and has assembled a large collection of iron tools used by lumbermen—all found in the garden. Mrs. Shellenbarger strayed from her favorite ground last fall to uncover a log marking hammer in the old commons area of AuSable. It has been tentatively identified as one owned by the Penoyer Brothers Lumber Company.

Other areas of AuSable and Oscoda have turned up some historical artifacts, but nothing like the Shellenbarger garden. The collection continues to grow each year and Mrs. Shellenbarger has made several displays which she has shown at various club meetings in the area.

The historical treasure trove in the garden produces something new and interesting each year and the Shellenbargers will have their eyes open during the plowing season.

in practice at the time the hospital opened.

In 1956, Lambert was certified to practice in California, accepting a position with the department of mental health of that state. He served as physician-psychiatrist at Mendocino State Hospital, Ukiah, California, for five years and then retired.

He and his wife, Oda M., returned to the Tawas area, and upon the death of Dr. Earl Hasty, was asked to take over the position of director of District Health Department No. 2, comprising the Counties of Isosco, Ogemaw, Alcona and Oscoda. He remained in that position for three years, but continued to serve in the capacity of consultant to the Michigan Department of Social Services, serving six counties in Northeastern Michigan.

Now 76 years of age, he retired two years ago. He has been an active member of Tawas Kiwanis throughout his residence here.

He continues an active life in gardening, arts and crafts, ceramics, lapidary, leather craft and says he is "interested in the general scene of politics, such as it is." His wife accompanied him to the banquet Saturday night at Kalamazoo. They were seated with two other physicians who reached the 50-year mark, Dr. Clifford Caldwell and Dr. Harold Hiscock of Flint, who were interns with Lambert 50 years ago at Hurley Hospital. Hiscock owns a cottage in Alabaster Township.

Citizens Question Action

Personnel Discussion Called 'Inappropriate'

City Mgr. Lowell Thomas told a delegation of concerned citizens Monday night that it would be most inappropriate to discuss reasons why a 70-year-old employee at the cemetery was not rehired.

Thomas said, too, that administration of city operation was a responsibility delegated to the city manager by charter, that his door was open to the former city employee to discuss the matter, but that "he would not violate the employee's right on a private personnel matter" by dealing with an ad hoc committee.

Mrs. Barry Schley read a letter to the council stating that members may not be aware of the situation that exists in the city. "Henry Lake, who has been a part-time employee at Tawas City Memory Gardens Cemetery for the past 14 years, recently learned that his services there would no longer be required. He has no idea why this has happened to him and he is extremely upset."

The letter stated the committee had contacted some city officials, including the city manager, but could gain no satisfaction.

"It is possible that Henry is no longer needed because a younger man might be able to do the work more efficiently. Is the city that concerned about paying a few dollars of the taxpayers money at the expense of one of our senior citizens? To Henry this job is more than a paycheck, it is his life. Are we that uncaring and money conscious at any cost?"

The committee felt that the answer to the above question was "no" and felt something should be done to get Lake back on the job.

Mrs. Alvin Cholger said that a retired city employee had been rehired by the city to replace Lake.

Mrs. M. V. Braman expressed the opinion that the entire cemetery crew was dissatisfied, stating workers had taken a $1 cut in hourly pay. She felt that consideration should be given to rehiring Lake.

City Manager Thomas said he appreciated the concern being shown, but that he would not divulge any information. He told citizens that they were not doing a favor to the former employee.

Coun. Donald Hayes said he knew nothing about the situation, but pointed out that it was really not a matter for the council to consider and that interested citizens should meet with the city manager.

Mayor Herbert Cholger said he could understand why the citizens were before the council, but he felt that nothing could be resolved as personnel matters were the responsibility of the city manager.

State Officials Declare War on Arson

LANSING—Michigan officials are declaring war on the nation's most costly crime; but unfortunately, except for the few dedicated police and fire officials, not many seem to care.

Arson—"it should burn you up." In Michigan alone, more than 40-million dollars in proven arsons go up in smoke every year, about $5 for each man, woman or child in the state. And that is only for provable arsons since all too many go undetected.

Michigan Arson Committee, comprised of government officials, adjuster and insurance groups and police and fire officers, has initiated a public awareness program to help focus attention on arson.

"Arson is now considered a major crime," declared Capt. William Rucinski, the state police captain who chairs the state-wide anti-arson group as well as being the state fire marshal, "and this helps. But, because arson is often a difficult crime to prove and few persons are willing to step forward and tell authorities about an arson, proving and prosecuting persons who deliberately set fires are often big problems."

There are several other problems connected with successful prosecution of arson felons, Rucinski said. Few police and fire department officers are adequately trained in arson detection and often local arson strike forces are left with the dregs of their budget needs to do an adequate job.

To help stimulate action against arsonists, Michigan Arson Control Committee has been paying out rewards of up to $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and/or conviction of anyone on arson charges. Persons knowing of such arsons are asked to write to: Box 23, Holt, Michigan 48842, or call collect (517) 322-0469, Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.

Arson is not only costly, but it is an insidious crime causing increased property damage rates on insurance policies, inflated property taxes to support expanded fire and police department activities, property damage or destruction for which there is no replacement, and, the worse problem of all, the loss of life or serious injury often of innocent children.

The varsity split the decisions in two games with Alcona. Tawas won the first game, 13-12, behind the pitching of Joyce Hatcher. Pam Larson had a game winning double in the seventh inning. Jan Johnson had three doubles in the game.

The second game went to Alcona, 12-2. Alcona stunned Tawas with nine runs in the first inning. The excellent team hitting in the first game was lacking so Tawas was never able to recover from the first inning deficit.

In track, the Bravettes defeated Ogemaw, 73-50, but lost to Gladwin, 173-50, and lost to Pinconning, 70-53.

Young Urges Easing of Restrictions

SAGINAW—State Sen. Robert Young, Saginaw, has urged Governor Milliken to order the Michigan Department of Natural Resources to stop closing local dump sites until the rules implementing the state's new solid waste management act have been promulgated and approved.

The act, passed last year, establishes new minimum requirements as to where landfill operations can be located and the type of soil that can be used. In addition, it requires counties to submit waste disposal plans to the state by May 11 of this year. Due to the legislature's hesitancy to appropriate funds to implement the act this year, however, and the lack of final rules detailing the law's requirements, many counties have not yet begun drafting their county-wide disposal plans.

The final rules are due July 11 but the Department of Natural Resources has begun closing local dump sites, in the meantime, under temporary emergency rules. Approval of the final rules is not expected until January 1980.

In a letter hand-delivered to the governor, Senator Young said local dump sites should be allowed to remain open, however, so that residents will have disposal sites available to them during the time that the permanent rules are being promulgated and while counties are developing their disposal plans.

"What is happening in many rural areas of the state is that the DNR is closing the local dumps with no alternative disposal method available," Senator Young pointed out. "In fact, in Arenac County, in my district, all of the sites have been ordered closed."

"Many of the current sites have been operating for many years and there have been minimal problems," he noted. "I feel we should allow the continued operation of the current sites until an alternative site and/or method of disposal is arrived at in each county. At that time, the local dump sites could be phased out with little, if any, difficulty."

Senator Young said the problem of a lack of disposal sites could be compounded even further if a bill, relieving counties of the responsibility of formulating county-wide disposal plans until the permanent rules have been promulgated, is approved.

"This means local units whose dumps have already been shut down will be in limbo for quite some time before a county site is located and approved," he explained.

Senator Young said the issue of "mandated costs," under the Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment which requires the state to back up with state dollars all state-mandated programs, must also be clarified.

"The intent of this act is commendable but I do not feel that we should rush headlong into closing the dump sites before we have viable alternative disposal methods available," he emphasized.

THREE STUDENTS from Tawas Area High School received certificates for attending the second annual SMASH awards conference held Thursday evening, Friday and Saturday morning at Sugar Loaf Mountain Resort near Traverse City. The students were among 60 from across the state invited to attend because of their interest and activities at the local level to promote highway safety. The students participated in discussions concerning highway safety and heard from State Rep. Connie Binsfeld on legislation concerning safety. SMASH (Students of Michigan Attaining Safer Highways) is a highway safety education group sponsored by the Office of Highway Safety Planning, a division of

Tree Lover Turns Lumberjack

For a lover of trees, one of the most disagreeable chores in life is to take a saw in hand and cut down the product of nature's handiwork—especially when the tree is ornamental to the owner's yard. When the tree happens to be a white pine—the state tree of Michigan—the loss is compounded. It is that way for Russell Vance of Tawas Lake Road, East Tawas, who was forced to cut a stand of about 20 white pine trees on his two lots during the past three weeks in order to protect his own home and neighboring property from damage. All of this came about this year due to the wet spring and the fact that ground water in that area has been extremely high for more than a year due to the blockage of drainage. The root system of a pine tree tends to spread along the surface of the ground, particularly in places where the soil is moist. As a result, maturing trees have a weak root system and offer little support during a storm with a wind of extreme velocity.

SURVEYING his back yard after falling 20 white and Norway pine trees is Russell Vance of Tawas Lake Road, East Tawas. A tree lover at heart, Vance was forced to cut the trees due to dangerous conditions around his home.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Last month, the area experienced such a storm and one of Vance's prized white pines was uprooted. It lodged against another pine and endangered the roof of a neighbor's house. After much work, the tree was removed without any material damage to the property.

Because of wet soil conditions, Vance had little choice but to remove all of his white pines and a few Norway pines in order to protect his home from future wind damage. The decision was not an easy one as the trees were approximately 65 years old and the moisture-laden soil had promoted rapid growth, the trees standing about 100 feet tall and measuring 30 or more inches across the butt.

As a result of prevailing storm winds, the trees leaned toward Vance's house and considerable study was required before he began the actual work of cutting the giants in order that one would not accidentally crush the roof of his house.

SLAYER IS GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

ENRAGED MAN KILLS FOUR AT HOUSE PARTY

SECOND WATER CARNIVAL IS HUGE SUCCESS

THE JUDGE SAID 'LIFE' AND HE MEANT IT!

Forty-five years ago, one court meted lightning-fast justice to a person convicted of a major crime of violence. The niceties of sanity hearings and lengthy pretrial investigation, insofar as this rural court was concerned, would come in the future.

A perfect example is recorded in the journal of Iosco County Circuit Court where, on July 5, 1934, A. J. Wood was sentenced to life imprisonment on one count of murder and then received a 40 to 50-year term on a second count.

In handing down the sentence, only four days after Wood had walked down the railroad tracks from East Tawas to turn himself in at the county jail in Tawas City, Judge Herman Dehnke was making certain that Wood remained in prison for the rest of his natural life.

Although the action was immediately criticized by the state commissioner of paroles and pardons, it is not surprising that the wheels of justice turned so fast in this instance. One of the four victims slain by the 53-year-old East Tawas resident was the very man who would, if he had been alive, placed Wood behind bars—Sheriff Charles C. Miller.

The quadruple murder was the most shocking crime in the history of the county. There are many residents who still remember the terror which gripped the community that early Sunday morning 45 years ago, when a series of shotgun blasts, followed later by handgun firing and more shotgun blasts, awakened the sleeping community. Seemingly, the evening started innocently enough when a number of young couples got together for a hamburger fry on the Lake Huron shore above East Tawas in honor of two visiting physicians and their wives, who docked their yacht, Heather Bell, here while enroute to a Mackinac Island vacation.

Dr. Robert Hart, one of the visitors, was a friend of Dr. Stanley Somers, 31, of East Tawas, who called local friends and arranged the get-together.

Besides the visiting physicians and their wives, the local party included Somers and his wife; their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Janson, along with five other couples. All of the young couples were in their mid-30s and the men were either professionals or businessmen.

A sudden rain squall broke up the outdoor party around 12:30 a. m. and the party was invited to the Janson home, a snug bungalow on West State Street at the corner of Ogemaw Street. After a short time, several of the couples went to their homes and the remainder of the party continued to play the radio, dance and have a good time.

THIS HOUSE on West State Street at East Tawas was the scene of a quadruple murder 45 years ago. The slayer was given a life sentence plus a term of 40 to 50 years when convicted in circuit court only four days later and was on his way to Southern Michigan Prison the next day to spend the rest of his life.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Wood, who lived with his son-in-law and daughter, the Jansons, was awakened by the blare of music from the radio. He dressed and walked into the kitchen—armed with a 12-gauge, sawed off pump action shotgun.

A report in the July 6, 1934, issue of The Tawas Herald said that Wood, in terrible anger, cried: "Get out of here or I will shoot all of you." He then went through the living room and out on the lawn, warning others to leave or keep still.

Wood encountered Doctor Somers on the porch and shot him through the abdomen. Somers walked a few steps and fell into the living room. The terrified guests tried to flee.

Wood returned to the living room and rapidly fired two shots at Lloyd Hayes, which mangled both of his arms at the wrist. One guest ran into the bathroom and closed the door. Wood turned the gun on the door and tried to blow the lock off, but the trapped man escaped through the bathroom window, despite being wounded in the arm and side with the shot which had penetrated the door.

Hearing the screams of her husband, who had gone outside the house and fallen on the lawn, Mrs. Hayes went through the window from her place of safety with the Janson children in a bedroom where she had fled. She ran back into the house and through the kitchen in search of her husband. She, too, was met with a charge of shot from the lethal sawed off shotgun.

Terrified, the Jansons ran from the house and hid near the garage. Wood followed and, seeing his son-in-law, asked the whereabouts of his daughter. When told she was in the garage, Wood started in that direction, but Mrs. Janson had made her escape to the home of a neighbor.

The shooting brought to the scene Sheriff Miller, who was called by a witness after he had seen Somers falling to the ground. The sheriff was accompanied by his wife, who went to the nearby Somers home.

A veteran of combat in France during World War I, Miller had operated an electrical shop at East Tawas before being elected sheriff in 1930. Although small in stature, he was to gain a reputation for his bravery during the capture of several desperados, but with scant information as to what had actually taken place, coupled with darkness on a stormy night, the 38-year-old peace officer was walking alone into a death trap.

Getting out of his car, Sheriff Miller went around to the garage at the rear of the house and was met with gunfire from Wood. The sheriff emptied his service revolver in the direction of his assailant and then backed into the garage.

Wood rushed in and fired the sawed off shotgun at close range, Sheriff Miller falling mortally wounded.

Practically the entire community had been awakened by the gunfire, but no one approached the house on West State Street until much later. Sheriff Miller was not found until after an hour of search.

In the meantime, Wood returned to the house and finished dressing. He took the Janson children to the home of a neighbor and then walked to Tawas City. There was no one at the jail except a 17-year-old baby sitter, who telephoned to East Tawas and Mrs. Miller and Deputy Sheriff Clarence Fowler returned to the jail. They found Wood waiting on the front porch of the jail, where he offered no resistance.

When questioned the next day by state police and Pros. Atty. John Stewart, the killing of Sheriff Miller was the only one over which Wood expressed regret, according to a report in the July 6 issue of The Tawas Herald.

Four days after that night of terror for the community, Wood was arraigned before Judge Dehnke and confessed to the four murders. The judge found Wood guilty in the second degree for the murder of Hayes and sentenced him to life imprisonment. He received a second term of 40 to 50 years for the killing of Mrs. Hayes. Charges against Wood in the murder of Somers and Sheriff Miller were held in abeyance.

In sentencing Wood, Judge Dehnke said that life imprisonment meant an average of 12 years under the then current parole regulations. "In giving the extra 40 to 50 years, he wished to make sure that Wood remained in prison for the remainder of his natural life," said the Herald's report.

In attempting to sort out the reasons for the night of terror, people who knew Wood told the Herald that he was a quiet man, who used neither liquor nor tobacco and "he was very much opposed to drinking by others." He likewise objected to parties and dancing and "the modern way of bringing up children." He said that he had been awakened by the noise of the radio and said he saw what he thought was a fight on the lawn, going out with his gun intending to stop it.

On Friday, July 6, 1934, five days after the shooting, Wood was taken to Southern Michigan Prison, Jackson, by Deputy Sheriffs Fowler and John Dyer. There he remained for the rest of his natural life.

The day after passing sentence, Judge Dehnke received a telegram scolding him for criticizing the commission of paroles and pardons concerning its interpretation of life sentences to mean 12 to 15 years.

In a lengthy statement, Judge Dehnke pointed out that what he had said in court "has been said many times before and was not at all original with me. It was in substance that, in practice, a life sentence all too frequently works (See SHERIFF MILLER, page 8.)

THE GASOLINE RIP-OFF

Because of conflicting reports in the national press, citizens of this country are becoming more and more confused and disenchanted over the gasoline and energy problem.

But what must be investigated to the fullest limit is the charge last week by the federal energy department that seven major oil companies overcharged customers nearly 1.7-billion dollars during the five-year period after the 1973 Arab oil embargo.

It is claimed that the companies violated federal price controls on crude oil by charging $12 per barrel instead of $4 to $5.

If overcharges are confirmed in federal court, that money should be returned to customers through a general rollback on gas pump prices to the general public.

Because of the importance of petroleum to this country, congress should stop talking of removing price controls on crude oil, especially since publication of profits received by oil companies last year. The general public would not benefit from any windfall tax charged to oil companies through decontrol, unless there was a general rollback in federal income taxes.

It has been suggested in congress that the federal government should take over the business of purchasing crude oil from foreign countries and then set a standard price to be charged to processors. In view of the serious problem this country has with energy, this may be the proper alternative to price gouging by the oil companies.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

(Read Psalm 34)
"O taste and see that the Lord is good." (Psalm 34:8)

Living together as a family has its difficulties. Such can be expected when personalities with different interests and temperaments try to get along under one roof. As one of our friends said, "I know God has a sense of humor. Look at the situations He puts us in."

Two of our children are married and our youngest will be going away to college next fall so our home will be quieter. Looking back over the past 25 years, we can see so clearly that the best of those times occurred when we interrupted our everyday schedules and did things together as a family. Vacations, camping out, family picnics, week-end baseball excursions—all these added to the strength of our family unit. With these activities came the realization that we were tasting some of the Lord's good times.

The revelation of God's love found in our together experiences has been the basis for developing our love and understanding of one another. Those good times also serve as a wellspring to draw on when we are confronted with typical family crisis situations. Those experiences bind us together.

PRAYER

Dear Lord, we are grateful for Your goodness that we have seen and tasted. We pray that we may always make the effort to have good times together as a family. Amen.

Trees

Vance said he had picked the two lots on Tawas Lake Road for his future home 23 years ago because of the large number of young trees concentrated there. He built his home in the summer of 1956 so as not to disturb the trees, not realizing that there would be future problems once the trees began to mature.

Vance first noticed the trees in the early 1940s when they were little more than fuzzy saplings. He thinned the stand several years ago, but never realized that one day he would be forced to remove all of the trees.

The stand of trees in that residential area is scattered over a number of acres, the majority of which are second growth white pine. Within a few years, the trees would have reached the same maturity as the towering giants of yesterday, which covered this region prior to the 1890s and provided the magnetic lure to bring lumbermen here during the days when white pine was king.

Using a chain saw, Vance "bucked" the fallen giants into 12-foot logs. He paused in his work last week to say that the logs would be cut into lumber at a local mill.

In these days of conservation and reforestation projects, it is seldom one has the opportunity to watch as a towering white pine tree crashes to the ground. That is one historic occasion that Vance wishes he could have missed, but an emergency dictated otherwise.

Both teams were tied with seven points each, but East Jordan had four consolation points to three for the Cardinals. The team championship was not decided until the last point was played in the singles final.

Finals were played indoors at the West Branch Tennis Club due to rain.

Trounced Standish-Sterling Central

Whittemore-Prescott Area High School girls' softball team burned the base paths May 1 in a 22-0 victory over Standish-Sterling Central on the losers' home field. The game was called in the fifth inning due to the 10-run rule.

Joy Ori, winning pitcher, gave up only one hit. Lisa Thompson, relief pitcher in the fourth inning, was just as stingy and allowed only one hit.

The Cardinal girls had excellent fielding and sharp batting eyes.

OFFICE OF INFORMATION, 379TH BOMBARDMENT WING (H) (SAC), WURTSMITH AFB, MI 48753

Small Business Week Being Observed

The week of May 13-19 has been designated as Small Business Week. In celebration, the contracting office at Wurtsmith Air Force Base is holding an open house.

In his proclamation, President Carter emphasized that small business has been the economic backbone of American life since the earliest colonial days. Of the 13.9 million businesses in the United States today, more than 13.4 million of them are small, including three-million farms. Together, they provide employment for over half the business labor force and account for more than 40 percent of the gross business product.

The contracting office's open house (not to be confused with the Community Awareness Day, May 19) will be held Friday, May 18, from 10:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. Small business persons are invited to visit the office, which is located in Building 4004 (just inside of the main gate). Technical personnel will be on hand to answer any questions on doing business with the government. In addition, a representative from the Small Business Administration will be present to answer questions and provide informative literature.

Contracting office officials recommend that persons having questions regarding construction and services visit the office between 10:00 a. m. and noon and that persons having questions on the selling of supplies visit the office between 1:00-5:00 p. m.

Persons who are unable to attend the open house, but who would like assistance or advice pertaining to doing business with the government, may contact Roy L. Lemons, small business specialist, Monday through Friday from 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. at 739-6482.

Traffic Safety

"Four airmen were killed in a one-car accident on Sand Lake Road. . ."

That was the story at Wurtsmith Air Force Base two years ago. In 1977, Wurtsmith set a Strategic Air Command record with a total of six traffic fatalities.

In an effort to keep such statistics from ever again appearing, Col. Jesse S. Hocker, wing commander, announced Safety Campaign '79 recently at the Wing Safety Council.

The campaign, which will run through Memorial Day (May 28), will emphasize voluntary seat belt use by all people driving on Wurtsmith, as well as their passengers. The ultimate goal is to have an injury and fatality-free Memorial Day week-end.

Proceedings of the Iosco Board of Commissioners

April 4, 1979

A regular meeting of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners held in the county building at Tawas City, Michigan, on April 4, 1979.

Meeting called to order at 9:35 a. m. by Chairman Webb and the roll called.

Present: George (District 2), Merschel (District 3), Ulman (District 4), Webb (District 5).

Absent: Stech (District 1) (Commissioner Stech arrived at approximately 10:00 a. m.)

In a brief discussion with board members concerning an increase in salary for the Co-operative Extension family aide worker from $3.50 to $3.70 per hour, as set forth in a "Memorandum of Agreement" between the Michigan Department of Social Services and the Iosco County Co-operative Extension Service, the clerk requested a resolution authorizing the increase; whereupon the matter was referred to the administrative committee.

Chairman Webb thereupon reviewed the agenda for the day, the business to be considered and assignments to committees.

The communications received by the clerk's office were referred directly to the chairman for assignment to committees.

Commissioner Ulman reported in reference to a survey she conducted with county building department heads concerning the telephone system and the placement of telephones in connection with the county building expansion and alteration project. Following a discussion of the matter, it was moved by George and supported by Merschel that the building grounds committee be authorized to contract with Michigan Bell Telephone Company for any changes or additional service required. Motion carried.

Committees were ordered to their respective duties at 9:55 a. m., the board to stand in recess until 3:00 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION

Upon call to order at 3:40 p. m., all commissioners being present, E. James Barry, Tawas Area educator and member of the county parks and recreation commission, addressed the board in reference to two federally funded projects being considered - through the D. N. R. and the county parks commission - and applications that have been submitted for B. O. R. funds: For acquisition of land to expand the East Tawas City Park; to acquire property in AuSable Township at the south side of the river mouth; to acquire property and construct a boat launch ramp at Sand Lake in Grant Township; and to acquire property at the river mouth in Tawas City. He further reported that the Consumers Power Company, the county parks commission and the forest service have been negotiating for land on which to construct a boat launch ramp on the AuSable River, and commented briefly on enforcement of rules prohibiting camping in unauthorized areas and the attendant litter problems. Barry also commented on the basic transport study being conducted for the county airport expansion project, indicating that letters have been sent to various business people and potential users of the airport to determine potential use.

Upon motion by Merschel, supported by Stech and prevailing, the minutes of the March 21, 1979, board of commissioners meeting were approved as drafted and presented by the clerk.

Commissioner Merschel presented and moved adoption of the following resolutions:

Your building and grounds committee recommends that the manual presented herewith, entitled "Manual for Care and Maintenance of Iosco County Building and Grounds", dated April 4, 1979, be accepted as board policy.

Supported by Ulman and carried. Your building and grounds committee recommends that Roger Samuels be named head custodian, effective immediately.

Supported by Ulman and carried. Your building and grounds committee recommends that the head custodian's salary be set at $4.00 per hour and other custodian's be set at $3.75 per hour, effective with the pay period beginning April 9, 1979; further provided, that a custodian helper's wage rate be set at $3.00 per hour.

Supported by Stech and carried. Commissioner Stech presented and moved adoption of the following resolutions:

Your health, public safety and airport committee recommends that the contract between the City of Tawas City, the Iosco County Board of Commissioners and the Iosco County Sheriff, for the purpose of providing two additional full-time deputy sheriffs to Tawas City and 24 hour protection for the city, be approved by the county board of commissioners; and further, that the chairman of the board be authorized to sign the contract.

Supported by Merschel and carried. Your health, public safety and airport committee recommends that the bid of $1,000 by Charles E. Linneman for sheriff's patrol car No. FRB63CL39889F, a 1978 Ford LTD, be accepted.

Supported by Merschel and carried. Commissioner Ulman presented a resolution for distribution of courtesy copies of county plat books, which was supported by Stech, and, following a period of discussion, the motion and support were withdrawn for reconsideration of the matter.

Continuing, Ulman presented and moved adoption of the following resolutions:

Your administrative committee recommends that Roger Jackson be appointed to fill the vacancy on the Iosco County Planning Commission occasioned by the resignation of Leo Gartland, for the remainder of the term expiring 12/31/80.

Supported by Merschel and, following a period of discussion, carried. Your administrative committee recommends that Chairman John Webb be authorized to sign an agreement with Region 7-B Employment and Training Consortium providing for them to take over the county CETA administrative responsibility in conjunction with the local 7-B office responsibility.

Supported by George and carried. Your administrative committee recommends that the attached fee schedule for electrical, plumbing and building permits and the attendant inspections be approved.

Supported by George and carried. Your administrative committee recommends that the extension family aide working out of the county Co-operative Extension Service be increased from $3.50 to $3.70 per hour, retroactive to January 1, 1979, in accordance with the contract with the Michigan Department of Social Services.

Supported by Merschel and carried. Finance Chairman George presented and moved adoption of the following resolution, motion being supported by Stech and carried.

Your finance committee recommends that travel expense vouchers for A. J. Aulerich and Henry Conley in the amounts of $13.47 and $27.54, respectively, be approved for payment from road commission funds.

The following report of minutes of the statutory finance committee meeting of March 23, 1979, was presented by Finance Chairman George, whereupon he moved its acceptance, motion being supported by Merschel and carried.

Supported by George and carried. Your administrative committee recommends that equalization Director John Rose be authorized to purchase a new electric typewriter for a sum not exceeding $650, including two trade-ins, subject to final approval by the administrative committee of bids received.

Honorable Board of Commissioners:

Whereas, the minutes of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners do not presently receive wide circulation in Oscoda, AuSable and Wilber Townships, where over 50% of the county's population resides, the finance committee recommends acceptance of the February 26, 1979 bid submitted by the News-Press Publishing Company, Inc. to publish the minutes in both the Iosco County News and the Oscoda Press at a cost of $5.00 per folio, with publication to begin with the minutes of the April meetings, and that the policy of publishing in two newspapers be reviewed in 12 months.

Supported by Stech and carried. Your finance committee recommends that the voucher submitted by Prosecutor Stephen H. Naegele for the sum of $1,250 for friend of the court legal assistance be denied, inasmuch as Mr. Naegele is a full-time county prosecutor and is paid a salary as such.

Your finance committee recommends that funds available for legal assistance to the friend of the court (i. e., cooperative reimbursement funds) be used only to retain attorneys not under full-time employment with the County of Iosco.

Supported by Stech and carried. Chairman Webb raised the matter of appointments to the Iosco Transit Corporation and read a proposed resolution. Following a discussion of the matter, Commissioner Merschel presented and moved adoption of the following resolution, motion being supported by George and carried.

Your roads and bridges committee recommends that John Webb, David George and Wayne Case be appointed as directors to the Iosco Transit Corporation for a two year term expiring at the annual meeting in 1981.

Commissioner Ulman presented and moved adoption of the following resolution, motion being supported by George, and carried.

Your administrative committee recommends that Kenneth Salisbury be reimbursed for travel expenses when attending East Central Michigan Planning and Development Regional Commission meetings.

Supported by Ulman and carried. Your administrative committee recommends that the Reverend Royce Wolden and David O'Farrell be appointed to a one year term on the Iosco Transit Corporation, with the term to expire at the 1980 annual meeting.

Supported by Ulman and carried. Your finance committee recommends that the 1979 Iosco County budget be amended to include money from a CETA Title VI project, a total of $17,332.19. This money is to be placed in the Co-operative Extension budget, and from this money, we authorize payment of wages to the CETA help in the Co-operative Extension office per contract on file in the county clerk's office.

Supported by Ulman and carried. Chairman Webb referred to a purchasing agreement received from the State of Michigan, covering purchases made through the state, and discussed the matter briefly.

Continuing, Webb referred to sealed bids that were obtained by the sheriff's department for the lease of a four-wheel-drive vehicle for the marine safety division and read the specifications providing for a 24 month/38,000 miles lease. Commissioner Stech thereupon opened and read the following bids: (All bids include full maintenance and tires)

Inglis Ford and Mercury Sales, Inc., of Tawas City - Ford Bronco, $265.05 per month
Zubek Motor Sales, of Tawas City - Plymouth Trailduster, $310.15 per month
McIntosh-McKay Chevrolet and Cadillac of Baldwin Center - Chevrolet Blazer, $240.00 per month
S & W Ford-Mercury, Inc., of Oscoda - Ford Bronco, $234.00 per month

It was moved by Stech and supported by Merschel that the bids be accepted and referred to the sheriff for his recommendation. Following a period of discussion concerning the benefits and disadvantages of leasing versus purchase of vehicles, motion carried.

At 12:20 p. m., it was moved by George and supported by Stech to adjourn until 9:30 a. m. on April 18, 1979. Motion carried.

April 11, 1979
A regular meeting of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners held in the county building at Tawas City on April 11, 1979, pursuant to adjournment April 4, 1979.

Present: Stech (District 1), George (District 2), Merschel (District 3), Ulman (District 4) and Webb (District 5).

Absent: None.
County Sheriff George Westcott addressed the board to report that he received a state bid of $5,840.10 on a 1979 Chrysler (to replace a patrol vehicle that was recently destroyed in a collision) and that the order must be placed by April 20th; further reporting that the bid received on a Chevrolet patrol vehicle was $6,450. Matter referred to Commissioner Stech for the drafting of a resolution.

Commissioner Merschel presented and moved adoption of the following resolution, motion being supported by Stech and carried.

Your community services committee recommends that Lowell Thomas, city manager of City of Tawas City, be appointed as alternate representative to the East Central Michigan Planning and Development Regional Commission, effective immediately.

Commissioner Ulman presented and moved adoption of the following resolution:

Your administrative committee recommends that 16 county plat books be issued to the sheriff's department.

Supported by George and carried.

JOHN D. WEBB, JR.

April 18, 1979
A regular meeting of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners held at the county building in Tawas City on April 18, 1979, pursuant to adjournment April 11, 1979.

Meeting called to order at 9:50 a. m. by Chairman Webb and the roll called.

Present: Stech (District 1), George (District 2), Merschel (District 3), Ulman (District 4), and Webb (District 5).

Absent: None.
Chairman Webb reviewed and discussed the agenda for the day, the business to be considered, and committee assignments.

Supported by Merschel and, following a discussion wherein Commissioner Stech expressed his feeling that bids should be obtained locally, carried.

Commissioner Stech presented and moved adoption of the following resolution, motion being supported by Merschel and carried.

Your health, public safety and airport committee recommends that Sheriff Westcott be authorized to order a Chrysler automobile from the State of Michigan as a replacement for the car destroyed in an accident in the Upper Peninsula.

In a discussion concerning the publication of board minutes and the bids that were submitted by The Tawas Herald and the News-Press Publishing Company, there was some controversy as to the meaning of low bid, it being argued by some that the greater circulation of the combined Iosco County News and Oscoda Press constitutes a lower bid for the number of people served. Commissioner Stech argued that The Tawas Herald is not a newspaper of general circulation, as it is not generally circulated in the Oscoda-AuSable area, thereupon moving to suspend rule 13 of the Rules of Order; the motion dying for lack of support.

Following further discussion wherein it was argued by some commissioners that the board must comply with rule 13, which provides for the award to be made to the low bidder, Commissioner Ulman was assigned to confer with Attorney Ronald Tyler on the matter and report back to the board next week.

A brief recess was ordered by the chairman at 11:40 a. m.

Upon call to order at 11:55 a. m., finance Chairman George presented and moved adoption of the following resolutions:

Your administrative committee recommends that Kenneth Salisbury be reimbursed for travel expenses when attending East Central Michigan Planning and Development Regional Commission meetings.

Supported by Ulman and carried. Your administrative committee recommends that the Reverend Royce Wolden and David O'Farrell be appointed to a one year term on the Iosco Transit Corporation, with the term to expire at the 1980 annual meeting.

Supported by Ulman and carried. Your finance committee recommends that the 1979 Iosco County budget be amended to include money from a CETA Title VI project, a total of $17,332.19. Supported by Ulman and carried. Chairman Webb referred to a purchasing agreement received from the State of Michigan, covering purchases made through the state, and discussed the matter briefly.

Continuing, Webb referred to sealed bids that were obtained by the sheriff's department for the lease of a four-wheel-drive vehicle for the marine safety division and read the specifications providing for a 24 month/38,000 miles lease. It was moved by Stech and supported by Merschel that the bids be accepted and referred to the sheriff for his recommendation. Following a period of discussion concerning the benefits and disadvantages of leasing versus purchase of vehicles, motion carried.

At 12:20 p. m., it was moved by George and supported by Stech to adjourn until 9:30 a. m. on April 18, 1979. Motion carried.

JOHN D. WEBB, JR.
Chairman
D. KEITH PAPAS
Clerk

In a discussion initiated by Chairman Webb concerning the publishing of the commissioners' salary and per diem compensation in the board minutes: Webb questioned why they should be singled out and not other elected officials; George commented that salaries and other compensation for other county officials are never published; and Ulman remarked that she doesn't see the need of publishing their per diem from month to month - that other boards don't publish it in their minutes - that it is unfair. The clerk responded that the entire budget was formerly published in the minutes, but that the practice was discontinued by order of the board, to curtail publishing costs.

Tawas Herald Co-Publisher Nels Thornton further remarked that they publish the salaries of all county officials annually when they are established, as a news story.

Mr. Nels Thornton, co-publisher and managing editor of The Tawas Herald, thereupon addressed the board in reference to the action taken on April 4, 1979, in accepting the bid of the News-Press Publishing Company of $5.00 per folio for the publication of board minutes in both the Iosco County News and the Oscoda Press, rather than the low bid of $4.60 submitted by The Tawas Herald, reading a letter drafted by Tawas Herald Editor and Co-Publisher Neil Thornton indicating that The Tawas Herald is a legal newspaper with a general circulation in the county; that the board's action eliminates competition, which could result in substantial cost increases; and asking that the board review its rule 13 of Rules of Order, under which the competitive bids were submitted.

In discussion of the matter, Commissioner Stech maintained that the board does not have to accept the low bid, but the one in the best interest of the county, contending that The Tawas Herald is relatively unknown in the Oscoda area; whereas Commissioner George expressed his position that they "can't change the ground rules in mid stream" and should comply with the rules in effect for the present.

A brief recess was ordered by the chairman at 10:20 a. m.

Upon call to order at 10:30 a. m., Iosco County Road Commissioners Ralph T. White, Henry M. Conley and Arthur J. Aulerich, together with Engineer-Manager James L. Delahanty, appeared before the board to present the road commission 1978 annual report. Mr. Delahanty furnished copies of the report to the county commissioners and reviewed and explained it in detail, answering questions of the commissioners concerning the report, the bridge replacement program and local road projects slated for this year.

At 12:05 p. m., the board recessed for lunch on order of the chairman, to stand in recess until 3:00 p. m. for committee work.

AFTERNOON SESSION
Upon call to order at 3:15 p. m., Tax Equalization Director John Rose appeared before the board to present the 1979 Iosco County Equalization Report. Following a brief discussion, wherein Chairman Webb indicated that the proposed report was reviewed by board members last week, it was moved by Ulman and supported by George that the report be adopted. Motion carried.

Commissioner Stech reported in reference to the four-wheel-drive vehicle for marine safety, for which bids were obtained by the sheriff and opened at the last board meeting, indicating that Undersheriff Basil O'Dell has applied to McIntosh-McKay Chevrolet-Cadillac for a 1-year extension for the vehicle presently on lease, which will give the board time to investigate the pros and cons of leasing versus purchasing.

Commissioner George proposed that the sheriff's department be required to submit their total car needs for the forthcoming year well in advance of budget preparation time, so that they can thoroughly investigate state and local bids and accurately budget for the anticipated expenditure.

Commissioner Stech reported in reference to a fly-by stop of aircraft at the county airport on June 14, sponsored by the Michigan Aeronautics Commission Association to commemorate their fiftieth anniversary, at which time they will present a commemorative plaque to local officials to display in the airport office building.

Commissioner Ulman presented and moved adoption of the following resolutions:

Your administrative committee recommends that the resolution adopted April 4, 1979, relative to the publishing of the board of commissioners' minutes of meeting, be rescinded. This is necessary because that action was taken inadvertently without due regard to the board of commissioners' rule 13, as amended March 6, 1974, which was submitted as specifications for bidding. It is further recommended, whereas the bid of The Tawas Herald met all specifications of said rule 13, as amended, and was the lowest bid submitted, at $4.60 per folio, said bid be accepted and the award made to The Tawas Herald for the publication of the board minutes for a period of 12 months beginning with the April 1979 minutes.

Supported by Merschel and carried on the following roll call: Ayes: George, Merschel, Ulman and Webb. Nays: Stech.

Your administrative committee recommends that six county plat books be issued to each of the 14 local governmental units, with Iosco County volunteer firemen each to receive one copy.

Motion was supported by Stech, and, following a period of discussion, it was moved by George and supported by Merschel to table the resolution until the next meeting. Motion carried.

Finance Chairman George presented and moved adoption of the following resolutions:

Honorable Board of Commissioners: Whereas, the Oscoda Area School District is a recipient of impact aid funds, in lieu of tax payments, from the federal government for school operating purposes; and

Whereas, the governor of the State of Michigan is proposing legislation be adopted to deduct said federal aid payments from anticipated state aid membership allocations; and

Whereas, the governor's proposal will remove over $1,000,000 in state aid from an area with an average annual income of $8,200 (This, substantially below Michigan's average family income) and will result in the loss of over 100 jobs in a county which has a 14% to 16% unemployment rate; this aid and the resulting jobs being transferred to the more affluent areas of the state;

Therefore, Be It Resolved, that the Iosco County Board of Commissioners join the Oscoda Area Schools Board of Education in opposing the governor's proposal, and request that all of Michigan's state representatives and senators oppose any legislation that would deduct federal impact payments from the state aid membership allocations.

Supported by Stech and, following a period of discussion, carried. Your finance committee recommends that the attached travel expense voucher for CETA Program Administrator Nancy Wade in the amount of $113.39 be approved for payment from CETA funds.

Supported by Merschel and carried. Your finance committee recommends that after review, the chairman of the board of commissioners and the county clerk be authorized to approve per diem compensation for meetings through today and April's salary for the board of commissioners.

Chairman Webb, in reviewing the business to be acted upon today, raised the matter of a proposed agreement with Plainfield Township for the county to administer and enforce the state construction code in the township; it being the consensus of board members that the agreement should be approved.

Commissioner Ulman thereupon presented and moved adoption of the following resolution, motion being supported by George and carried.

Your administrative committee recommends that Chairman Webb be authorized to sign the contract with Plainfield Township to provide county enforcement of the State Construction Code for building permits issued on or after May 1, 1979.

In a discussion among board members concerning a request by the building and safety inspection department administrator for approval to hire an electrical inspector at a specified salary, as well as a salary increase for himself, Commissioner Stech voiced his opinion that the administrator is not in line for a raise at this time.

The clerk directed attention to a resolution adopted April 11, 1979, authorizing payment of wages to two CETA employees working for the Co-operative Extension Service under a Title IV project, requesting clarification as to the rate they are to be paid, as the amount stated in the contract appears to be an error. Following a brief discussion, Chairman Webb indicated the matter would be deferred for action at the next meeting.

The board recessed at 4:10 p. m. for committee work on order of the chairman, to stand in recess until 4:30 p. m.

Upon call to order at 4:45 p. m., the communications were read by the clerk and referred to committees.

Continuing, the clerk directed attention to a discrepancy in the contracts with sheriff's department and county building employees relating to the time life insurance coverage becomes effective after employment, indicating that the agreement with the life insurance company provides for coverage to become effective on the first day of the month following the month in which the employee completes his probationary period.

The clerk further provided each of the commissioners with a copy of a report covering budget expenditures for each department for the quarter ended March 31, 1979.

Board members entered into a brief discussion concerning the request by Region 7-B for a copy of the county's affirmative action plan, as to what it means and what is required.

Finance Chairman George presented and moved adoption of the following resolution:

Your administrative committee recommends that the building department be authorized to hire an electrical inspector with a master electrician's license, for an annual salary not to exceed $12,500.

Motion was supported by Ulman, and, following a period of discussion, it was moved by Stech to amend the resolution to indicate an annual salary not to exceed $12,250; the motion failing to receive support. The original question was thereupon called and carried on the following roll call: Ayes: George, Merschel, Ulman and Webb. Nays: Stech.

Following a proposal by Chairman Webb that the board adjourn subject to the call of the chair, with 24 hours notice, Commissioner Stech advanced the opinion that the board doesn't need as many meetings as it has and that it seems they spend a lot of time at the county building without accomplishing a great deal. The matter was discussed at some length.

At 5:10 p. m., it was moved by George and supported by Stech that the meeting be adjourned subject to the call of the chair, contingent upon 24 hours notice to the commissioners and the news media. Motion carried unanimously.

MARY GUTZI AND CURTIS J. ARMSTRONG will play leading roles Saturday, May 12, 8:00 p. m., in the Oscoda Area High School Auditorium, when the curtain goes up to provide an evening of total fun and merriment for theatregoers on hand to enjoy the Meadow Brook Theatre's touring production of the hilarious farce, "The Adventures of Scapin." John Ulmer, director, has adapted Moliere's famous farce which deals with classic comic situations—mistaken identities, stolen children, doomed young lovers and a conning servant who makes it all happen. In this case, the servant is Scapin, one of the most lovable liars in theatrical history. To tell the story of his adventures would be to spoil a most delightful theatre experience. Tickets may be purchased at Gilbert's Rexall Drugs in Oscoda and Baldwin Centre. The visit of this Meadow Brook production is sponsored by Blue Snow Arts Council and is made possible through the Michigan Council for the arts.

LOOKING BACKWARD—

Pick Board Directors for Tawas IDC

15 Years Ago—

May 6, 1964—Named directors of the newly formed Tawas Area Industrial Development Corporation were Richard Harwood, Gordon Huck, Cecil Lamb, Clarence McKenzie, Henry Oates, Floyd Schaaf Jr., George Tuttle, Donald Watson and Stuart H. White. Enough money was obtained at the first regular session to finance cost of the organization. Pres. Ralph Western of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce said that the chamber would assist the new organization in any way possible.

City participation in financing dredging of the Tawas River mouth was authorized by the city council. At present, the channel is nearly filled with sand due to low water conditions in the Great Lakes.

Marshall Wood, formerly of Okemos, has purchased Bargaintown at the south Tawas City limits from Stanley Lane.

Inducted into the local chapter of the National Honor Society were Thomas Huck, Joanne Juhl, Pamela Jordan, Herbert Humphrey, John Roach and Caroline Rice.

Due to increasing costs, controlled operation of the East Tawas dump goes into effect next week. The dump is to be open three days a week. Hiring a caretaker and erection of a gate and fence was authorized by the council. The caretaker is to be paid $1.50 an hour and is to receive salvage rights. Nonresidents using the disposal grounds are to pay a fee of 25 cents per car or $1 for a truck.

25 Years Ago—

May 7, 1954—Sgt. Joseph Chaput, commander of the Michigan State Police Post at East Tawas, is driving the "new look" in state police transportation. Instead of the traditional black paint job, the new Chevrolet car delivered to the post this week is painted royal blue.

Mills Wilbur of the Michigan Department of Public Instruction has recommended the Neumann-Reinke site as the location for the proposed new junior and senior high school. He was here Tuesday to make a field inspection of the fair-ground-nursery site, the Neumann-Reinke property and other potential school sites. Wilbur told the board not to be discouraged by the result of one election. He pointed out that it was unusual in school districts throughout the state to have a program endorsed by the electorate in one election.

High scholastic honors at the Burleigh Rural Agricultural School at Whittemore during the 1953-54 school year were won by Daniel G. Miller, valedictorian, and Richard J. Aulerich, salutatorian.

Tawas Area High School junior-senior banquet was held at the Masonic Temple. Steven Peterson was toastmaster.

Pitted, scarred or shattered automobile windows have been reported from coast to coast and the unexplained damage has been variously attributed to radioactive dust, the work of vandals or airborne industrial waste chemicals.

35 Years Ago—

May 5, 1944—Neil Libka and his sister, Linda, are valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively, of the 6-member graduating class at Tawas City High School.

Frank L. Humberger, supervisor of music at Troy, Ohio, has been named as the new band director at Tawas High School.

A research professor at Carnegie Institute of Technology has declared that gasoline can be made from carbohydrates, bountifully supplied in plants like wood, sugar cane, potatoes and many others, in a quick imitation of a process which took nature millions of years. After an 18-year investigation into the use of Louisiana dry sugar cane for making gasoline and lubricants, the professor states that the relatively cheap and simple process would assure a supply of fuel on which modern civilization is based, after the depletion of coal and oil stocks supplied by nature. Some experts believe that present production of 230-million tons of crude oil annually will consume the United States' known oil reserves in about 15 years.

NATIVE AMERICAN CRAFTS were demonstrated by Susan Nahgahgwon of Oscoda, an American Indian, who has won awards for her outstanding basket weaving. She is shown weaving a basket from strips of black ash. Aromatic sweet grass adds a final touch to her work. Mrs. Nahgahgwon has instructed her daughters and granddaughters in this art, just as she received similar instruction from her grandmother.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Sheriff Miller

put into an average of 12 to 15 years and to render such a possibility in the case then before the court as unlikely as possible, I thought it best to state the sentence in the second case in the intermediate form.

"I believe that even you," Judge Dehnke told the commission of paroles and pardons, "will agree that merely as a protection to the lives of others and disregarding the element of punishment entirely, it was necessary to assure, if possible, that this particular offender be confined permanently. In fact, he himself acknowledged this as the only possible course to be taken."

Judge Dehnke served his distinguished career on the Iosco County bench until his retirement in 1959. Elected to succeed him was a young attorney who, as a boy, had remained home with his two brothers while his father and mother went to East Tawas in answer to an urgent telephone call—Allan C. Miller, son of Sheriff Charles C. Miller.

Mental Health Board Meeting

Ausable Valley Community Mental Health Services Board will hold its next regular board meeting on Monday, May 14, 7:30 p. m., at the community center in Mio, room A, behind the Courthouse Annex.

Area coverage of this board consists of the Counties of Iosco, Ogemaw and Oscoda.

Warm Weather... Kids... Birthday Parties!

Any day's a good day for a children's party. Any number can come, even one child. No matter how many... a mother's imagination is taxed for ideas to keep them entertained. Turning lunch into a party can be done with simple little touches that require no fuss or bother. An ordinary soup lunch can become beguiling... when funny faces appear on the soup... when individual treats are personalized and when clowns are made of marshmallows!

Coconut Clowns

To make each clown, place one scoop of chocolate ice cream on a "ruff" of shredded coconut on serving plate. Top with inverted cracker ice cream cone set at an angle for hat. Use miniature marshmallows to make eyes, nose and mouth.

Funny Face Soup

- 1 can condensed tomato soup
- 1 can condensed cream of chicken soup
- 2 cans of milk or water
- Dry cereal

Blend soups and milk or water in saucepan. Heat; stir now and then. Do not boil. Make faces on surface of soup with cereal. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Cake Cones

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Make batter for cupcakes as directed on any cake mix package. Pour scant 1/4 cup of batter into flat-bottomed waffle ice cream cones, filling scant 1/2 full. If cups are more than scant 1/2 full batter will run over top of cone. Bake 15 to 18 minutes. When cool, frost with any flavor frosting mix. Decorate with candies, etc., or top with scoop of ice cream. Makes about 30 medium cones.

Marshmallow Peppermint Sundaes

- 1 cup marshmallow whip
- 1/4 cup peppermint stick candy
- 2 tablespoons cream
- Vanilla or chocolate ice cream

Crush peppermint candy finely. Stir most of it into marshmallow whip. Add cream and mix well. Pour over ice cream. Sprinkle rest of crushed candy on top. Makes 4 sundaes.

Pink Party Punch

- 1 cup syrup from canned fruit cocktail
- 1/3 cup lemon juice
- 2 to 4 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 cup grenadine syrup
- 2 cups water

Drain syrup from fruit cocktail. Add lemon juice and sugar and stir to dissolve sugar. Blend in grenadine and water. Chill thoroughly. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Chocolate Eclair Boats

- 1 cup water
- 1/2 cup margarine
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 4 eggs
- Chocolate ice cream
- Peppermint stick candy
- Peppermints

Combine water, margarine and salt in a saucepan. Bring to a boil. Add flour all at once and stir till blended and the batter stays in the shape of a ball and clings to the pan in one piece. Remove from heat. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Shape into long rectangles on a well greased cookie sheet, using a tablespoon or spatula to shape the batter. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 375 degrees and bake 20-30 minutes longer or until the eclairs are puffed up and browned. Remove from oven, slit to allow steam to escape and cool on a rack. When ready to serve, cut eclairs in half lengthwise and fill each half with chocolate ice cream. Stick peppermint candy sticks into the ice cream for the smokestacks and place a peppermint on each side. Flags with the guests' names may be stuck into the ice cream also.

Frozen Suckers

- 1 package soft drink powder
- 2/3 cup sugar
- 1 quart water

Dissolve soft drink powder and sugar in water. Pour into ice cube trays, sucker molds or paper cups and freeze until almost firm. Then push sucker stick or paper spoon into center of each cube.

Marshmallow Clowns

Put together marshmallow clowns with toothpicks and two sizes of marshmallows. Use gumdrops for feet, little red cinnamon candies for eyes and decorations. Make hats and mouths of construction papers, as above.

It's the incredible Le Chef Food Processor from Sunbeam.

I love to cook—whenever I can spare the time. But recipes that call for half a day's chopping, pureeing and slicing really intimidated me! Now, with my Sunbeam Le Chef Food Processor, I can do those jobs in seconds. Really! For entertaining, and for everyday dishes too.

What's so special about Sunbeam Le Chef? The motor is surprisingly quiet and powerful. Sunbeam calls it direct drive. I call it incredible. It easily kneads stiff yeast dough without stalling. Its super capacity container lets me prepare enough for a crowd, all at once. The Touch On pulse control instantly regulates action, so I'm less likely to over-process by mistake.

The Sunbeam Le Chef comes with 4 processing blades and discs, for handling each job just right. The multi-purpose blade for minced onions or homemade hamburger, the shredding disc for cheddar cheese or cole slaw. The slicing disc turns out perfect, even slices of vegetables or sausage. I use the mixing blade for cake batter and desserts. There's even a handy spatula and a complete 64-page recipe book included.

Le Chef, the amazing, indispensable food processor for everything from apple pancakes to zucchini. From my favorite appliance company. Who else but Sunbeam.

Herbert Hoover Presidential Library

The historical papers and other memorabilia of our presidents constitute an immensely valuable part of our nation's heritage. Such items are of public interest and the nation has a special responsibility for seeing them properly protected, preserved, and under proper policies—made available for research.

Presidents accumulate thousands of printed items, as well as countless gifts, many of which are of great artistic and commemorative value. It is important that these materials be kept intact and administered together so that scholars and the public can arrive at a better understanding of a president's career and the history of the period in which he lived.

Unfortunately, little planning went into preserving the records of our first thirty presidents. Much has consequently been lost, dispersed, or destroyed.

These were the factors that led Congress, in 1934, to create the institution it called the National Archives, which has since become the National Archives and Records Service of the General Services Administration. This service administers to a nationwide system of depositories where there are preserved and made available all classes of documents that are important to the study of American history. This system includes the five existing Presidential Libraries and the Kennedy Library now being built in Boston.

The Presidential Libraries Act of 1955 gave statutory recognition to the special importance attached to the preservation of papers and other historical materials of the Presidents of the United States, together with the papers of their associates and contemporaries.

The five existing libraries, which are, in effect, branches of the National Archives, have proved to be important centers of research and educational activity both for the geographical areas in which they are situated and for the entire country.

The Roosevelt Library was erected and equipped by a private foundation on 16 acres of Roosevelt's Hyde Park estate. The building and grounds were turned over to the government on July 4, 1940. The museum section of the building was opened to the public on June 30, 1941, and the research section was opened for the use of scholars on May 1, 1946.

The research collections are made up of manuscripts and other documents (more than 21,000,000 pages). In addition, there are nearly 40,000 books, including Roosevelt's personal library of 15,000 volumes; a large collection of photographs and audio-visual material; and his private collection on the U.S. Navy and on the histories of Dutchess County and the Hudson Valley.

The museum, open to the general public, contains extensive displays on the life and career of Franklin Roosevelt, including photographs; objects that he used personally or received as gifts; selected items from his collection on the U.S. Navy; and many of his family letters, speeches, state documents, and official correspondence.

On May 3, 1972, two wings of the original building were dedicated in honor of Eleanor Roosevelt. One wing contains enlarged research facilities; the other contains an exhibition gallery devoted to Mrs. Roosevelt's life and career and an auditorium where films and slides may be shown and meetings, lectures and seminars may be held.

The Harry S. Truman Library was built and furnished by Harry S. Truman Library, Inc. with funds donated by individuals and organizations from all parts of the country. It was dedicated July 6, 1957.

The crescent shaped Indiana limestone building crowns a knoll facing U.S. Highway 24 on land donated by the city of Independence. A one story full basement structure of modern architectural design, the library is 700 feet long, wing to wing, and has 80,000 square feet of floor space. In addition to facilities for the preservation and use of papers and other historical material, the building contains offices for the library staff, a museum, a photographic laboratory and an auditorium that seats 251 persons.

The Truman Library now houses an estimated eight million papers and microfilm copies of research material that bear significantly on the Truman period in history. These items are supplemented by books, photographs, sound recordings and motion pictures.

The Eisenhower Library was built and equipped, without cost to the government, through contributions of friends and admirers to a fund administered by the Eisenhower Presidential Library Commission. It was dedicated on May 1, 1962.

Designed to serve as a research institution, the building is a rectangular structure, two stories in height, of modern architectural design with 55,000 square feet of floor space.

The exterior of the building is Kansas Limestone and provides a contrast to the extensive use of imported marble inside the building. The walls of the lobby and corridors are of book-matched Loreda Chiaro marble from Italy. Floors in the principal public areas are Roman Travertine trimmed with Breche d'Alep and Rouge Fleuri marble from France. Ornamental bronze work in the building reflects the geographic location of the building through the use of a motif based on buffalo heads and bluestem grass.

The library has complete facilities for the preservation and use of historical materials including a research room, offices for the library staff, a photographic laboratory and an auditorium.

Across the street from the library is the museum, also constructed of Kansas limestone, and dedicated in 1954. The museum and the Eisenhower home, complete with contents, were given to the United States by the Eisenhower Foundation in 1966.

Exhibits in the separate wings of the museum are of items associated with General Eisenhower and other members of his family up to and including the Eisenhower presidency and the post-presidential years.

The Eisenhower Family Home, a simple frame structure, was occupied by members of the family from 1898 until 1946. It was given to the Eisenhower Foundation on the condition that it would be preserved without change and would be always open to the public without charge.

The Place of Meditation is the final resting place of Dwight D. Eisenhower and also his firstborn son, Doud Dwight Eisenhower. It was designed to harmonize with the museum and library. Outstanding elements of its interior design are the richly colored windows, the Travertine wall panels and the walnut woodwork.

The Herbert Hoover Presidential Library was built by the associates of Hoover through the Herbert Hoover Birthplace Foundation after the former President named West Branch as the site for the main collection of his papers. He was present at the dedication on August 10, 1962, his 88th birthday.

The development of a memorial at West Branch dates from 1935 when the Hoover sons, Herbert, Jr. and Allan Hoover, restored the cottage in which he was born. The foundation, with help from the state of Iowa, rebuilt the Hoover Blacksmith Shop. On August 10, 1964, the foundation deeded the library, the cottage and the blacksmith shop to the United States. In July, 1971, the grounds and the buildings, except for the library, became part of the Herbert Hoover National Historic Site.

The library is both a museum and a research center. The research center serves as an archives for a large part of Mr. Hoover's papers and some fifty other manuscript collections totaling approximately five million original documents. In addition to its manuscript collections, the library also has a reference library of approximately 20,000 volumes, an extensive photograph collection, film footage, sound recordings and microfilm. All these collections are made available to qualified researchers who have made application through the Director.

...ors a more graphic understanding of Herbert Hoover's life and accomplishments. In addition to the exhibits, special movies are shown in the auditorium in the summer and by special appointment during the rest of the year.

The Lyndon Baines Johnson Library, the largest of the Presidential Libraries and the first to be built on a university campus, is located on a 14 acre knoll on the campus of the University of Texas at the end of a mall stretching from the University tower. A plaza connects the library with Sid Richardson Hall (named for the late Texas oilman and philanthropist) which houses the LBJ School of Public Affairs. Construction cost of the buildings was just under $14 million.

The library represents a three-way partnership uniting the contributions of Lyndon Johnson, whose papers and other materials form the library's collections; the University of Texas, which built and owns the building; and the federal government, which will operate the building in perpetuity.

The library, designed by Gordon Bunshaft, is eight stories tall, made of pale beige Travertine, and is complemented by oak trees, three pools of still water on one side and a fountain in front which sends up a 40 foot stream of water.

The nucleus of the library is 5,000 red leather boxes embossed with a gold presidential seal and containing the 31 million documents that tell the story of the Johnson administration. They are visible behind glass windows on four floors. A metal mural underneath shows LBJ at various stages of his career.

At the head of the staircase leading to the Great Hall is a granite pylon. Each of its four sides bears a quotation from one of Johnson's speeches.

...significant piece of history. There are unique and valuable gifts from heads of state the world over. The most advanced graphic techniques illustrate the Johnson years. There are a million feet of motion picture film, much of which appears on five color television monitors.

Other exhibits include a section on the Great Society, Part I, which features education, health, civil rights and poverty. The Great Society, Part II, centers around consumer affairs, the American environment and the space program. There are also displays associated with the life of Johnson during his boyhood years.

The John Fitzgerald Kennedy Library has been temporarily housed at the Federal Records Center in Waltham, Massachusetts, since 1969. The library will eventually be moved into a new $12 million building now under construction at the end of a Boston harbor peninsula.

The new building is being designed by I. M. Pei & Partners of New York. The ground breaking was held June 12, with the estimated completion date being set for the fall of 1979. There will be nine floors in the building devoted to the following functions: museum, archival work, research assistance, administration, educational programs and exhibits, and archival storage.

Perhaps the most outstanding aspect of the building will be the seven story glass memorial room on the harbor side of the building. The room will encompass 7,000 square feet which will overlook the harbor on one side and the interior of seven floors of the building on another.

The library will also serve as a memorial to Robert Kennedy, JFK's late brother, who served as his attorney general.

Yukky. Yummy.

Without Fruit-Fresh.

With Fruit-Fresh.

Peaches preserved in ordinary canning syrup for 12 hours.

Fruit-Fresh. You need it for canning, freezing, and fresh fruit.

If you want all the fruit you serve to look and taste its freshest, what you really need is Fruit-Fresh. Because Fruit-Fresh contains a special ingredient that locks in the natural, "just-picked" color and flavor. Which means no more brown, mushy-looking peaches.

Fruit-Fresh is economical, too. A 5-oz. can will preserve up to 75 lbs. of peaches. Here's how: For Canning: simply add Fruit-Fresh to the regular syrup. For Freezing: add Fruit-Fresh to the syrup or dry sugar. For Fresh Fruit: sprinkle Fruit-Fresh on your just-sliced fruit before refrigerating. Sound good? It tastes delicious.

Keeps fruit looking and tasting fresher.

Kids and Sandlot Baseball

by John Ellerbach

When I was a kid, Opening Day meant the start of six glorious months of sandlot baseball. Opening Day also meant six months of agony, wondering at which strategic moment my mother would call me for supper to ruin the game and my budding career.

My best friend, Screwball Scuggs, never had to go to supper. Both of his parents worked. They used to leave him bags of cheese corn and peanut butter and onion sandwiches which Screwball would slug down between innings. Screwball and I were the best ballplayers at Tuttle Park, and everybody was sure that one day we both would make it to the majors.

We used to pattern ourselves after greats like Willie Mays, Ernie Banks and Hank Aaron. "I'm Ernie Banks today," Screwball would tell the gang. For the rest of the game we would address him as "Ernie" and chuckle at the way he could wiggle his fingers on the bat handle like ol' number 14 used to do.

One Opening Day I decided to be Babe Ruth for the entire season. (A typical season contained eight or nine thousand games.) As the "Babe" I knew I had to clout a ton of homers over the fence. The trouble was . . . Tuttle Park had no fence. So we positioned several of the smaller kids deep in the outfield. If the ball sailed over their heads, it was a homer. And actually, most of them considered it an honor to be the fence—an honor comparable to being a tree in the school play.

Opening Day brought a number of challenges. One challenge was to come up with enough junk to mark the bases. We'd use whatever was around at the time: a lost mitten from winter, twigs, rocks or a little sister if somebody had to baby-sit.

Once we used my geography book for a second base. I hated geography so much I let Billy "Sissy" Rogers hit the ball so he could slide into second. He ripped the "Principal Crops of Afghanistan" map to shreds with his spikes. That was one of the high points of my sandlot career.

Sissy Rogers was the kid with all the equipment; he had a complete uniform and always wore it. He was a rotten ballplayer but we had to let him play because he supplied the ball. He also was wise to the fence trick. We'd make him "official right fielder" for both teams until he started to complain and threaten to take his ball home.

Sissy was the only kid in the history of Tuttle Park who owned an uncracked bat and unscuffed ball on Opening Day and an uncracked bat and an unscuffed ball at the end of the season. It was a real blow when Sissy the Supplier moved away after two years. It meant we had to haul out the black friction tape and call "no chips" before every game.

We went three full seasons with the same taped-up ball and two taped-up bats. The bats were so loaded with nails holding cracks that held other nails and cracks together that only the guys past fifth grade could lift them.

Bringing a new ball or bat to a game was an enviable occasion—kind of like a guy getting beamed and not screaming or a guy snagging a hot liner in his bare hand when there weren't enough gloves to go around and not even flinching.

Bringing a new bat to the sandlot meant certain disaster. Even before you could use the bat yourself, somebody on your team said, "Can I use it, huh?" Dad said not to let anybody use it.

"Sure, go ahead."

Crack! Splinters everywhere.

"Sorry I busted it, Babe, but remember we called no chips!" No chips meant I, and nobody else, was out one bat. And three more seasons would go by before I had a chance to get another.

Since the nights still creep up quickly on Opening Day, we changed our clothes at school and headed right for Tuttle Park. We chose sides by putting our feet in a circle and saying, "Ink a-bink a bottle of ink the cork fell out and you stink!" We were poetic as well as athletic.

After calling "no chips", making the bases, arguing about the batting order, positioning the fence and deciding which big league ballplayers to be, we'd settle into the most anticipated game of the year.

I remember one Opening Day game when the score stood 77 to 74. We were behind but had the bases loaded and Babe Ruth was at bat. Last inning. Warren Spahn (Screwball Scuggs) on the mound. He looked worried. The "Babe" had thirteen homers already and the season was very, very young.

I had just won a great screaming match. Screwball had offered Sissy Rogers a handful of cheese corn to lure him off third base. Screwball tagged Sissy and claimed it was the third out. But I had wisely called "time!" before Sissy got the cheese corn. I out-shouted Screwball; he gave in, and his first pitch was on the way . . .

"Johnny!"

My concentration was broken. Mom was calling for supper. If I was late I'd be punished. I knew I had to hit this pitch or nothing . . .

"Johnny, come to supper right away!"

It was a lousy pitch. I popped it up to short right field. This was the end—until I realized who was out there. Right field was the place to banish your worst player. "Stonefingers" Blume was in right field! He was afraid of the ball! He would run away from it. That would give me plenty of time to circle the bases and win the game.

The ball was up in the air a long time—long enough for Screwball to make a dash, a diving catch, and come up smiling.

Opening Days were like that for me. Today, whenever I hear the ump yell "Play ball!" I remember Tuttle Park, where the difference between a sandlot slugger and a major league great is the time it takes to eat supper.

'The Light Side of "Do-It-Yourself"'

by Roger W. Dana

To the poor guy, (and I really mean poor) who can't fix anything around the house, life surely isn't a bowl of cherries; it's a bunch of raisins—raisin' money to have things fixed.

If you're like me, you're that type of guy. I just can't fix anything around the house and there are many guys just like me. I'm just not handy with tools. In a way, I'm a BIG HIT.

*When working with a nail and hammer,
I sometimes use some awful grammar.
It's not because I miss the nail,
I always hit it without fail.
The problem I can't overcome,
The nail I hit is on my thumb!*

I remember a few weeks ago, I tried to fix some plumbing around our house. I was lucky. It was in the basement. Did you ever hear of a swimming pool in the basement? When the professional plumber finally arrived, he asked, "Well, how is it?" "Not so bad," I replied. "While we were waiting for you, I taught my kids how to swim."

When it comes to paint, I ain't. I usually get more paint on me than what I'm trying to paint. After a short start, I decided to call in a professional painter. "What will you charge me to paint my house?" I asked the painter. "One hundred dollars a day," was the reply. "Good grief," I replied, "I wouldn't pay Michelangelo that price." "Well, I'll tell you one thing," declared the painter; "If that guy is taking the job for less, he ain't no member of the union!"

I met a really nice guy who was a carpenter. Wish there were more like him.

*I sure liked this carpenter,
He was the kind we all prefer.
He didn't laugh, showed me respect,
When he fixed my do-it-yourself project.*

What's worse is the fact that behind every unsuccessful do-it-yourselfer man is a woman who keeps reminding him how much more successful her friends' husbands are. Having a wife who can fix things better than you, can be quite a blow to one's ego. Like:

*What can be more embarrassing
And more devoid of fun,
Than watching your wife do a job
You told her couldn't be done.*

Trying to fix your own auto can be even worse. I tire easy even trying to change a tire. Is this you, too?

*When I am forced to change a tire,
I'm hot and bothered, filled with ire.
Unhandy, awkward, such a dolt,
I turn nuts left, right threaded bolt.
The change is made but Oh, despair,
My dog-done spare is out of air!*

The sad part of it is that one thing you get more of for your money these days is repair bills. At fixing things around the house my spouse complains:

*"At fixing things around our house,
You're not much good," complains my spouse.
I'm only good, in fact, a dandy,
When I have my checkbook handy.*

Even if you are pretty good and handy at fixing things around the house you should remember that biting off more than you can chew is a proved way to cut some wisdom teeth.

It's almost like baking in your refrigerator first. And it gives you time to take the children to school, go to the office, attend a meeting or play tennis. We call it the CoolRise Method. Your dough is mixed, kneaded and shaped all at once. Then, left to rise in the refrigerator. You can bake whenever it's convenient... from two to twenty-four hours later.

You can make CoolRise white bread or dinner rolls, oatmeal bread or poppy seed braid, apple cake or rich cherry walnut coffee-cake. Why not start now? With this easy recipe for authentic Italian bread.

You'll need:

4½ to 5½ cups unsifted flour
 1 tablespoon sugar
 1 tablespoon salt
 2 packages Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
 1 tablespoon softened Fleischmann's® Margarine
 1¾ cups very warm tap water (120° F.—130° F.)
 Corn meal
 1 egg white
 1 tablespoon cold water

The fun begins.

In a large bowl, mix 1½ cups flour, sugar, salt and undissolved Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast. Add softened Fleischmann's Margarine.

Gradually add tap water. Beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add ¾ cup flour. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff dough.

Turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic—about 8 to 10 minutes. Cover with plastic wrap, then a towel. Let rest 20 minutes.

Makes 2 loaves.

Divide dough in half. Roll each half into an oblong shape, approximately 15 x 10 inches. Beginning at wide side, roll up tightly; pinch seam to seal. Taper ends by rolling gently back and forth.

Rising on ice.

Place on greased baking sheets sprinkled with corn meal. Brush dough with Planters Peanut Oil. Cover loosely with plastic wrap. Refrigerate 2 to 24 hours.

When ready to bake, remove from refrigerator. Uncover and let stand at room temperature 10 minutes. Make 3 or 4 diagonal cuts on top of each loaf with sharp knife.

Bake at 425° F. for 20 minutes. Remove from oven. Brush with egg white mixed with cold water. Return to oven; bake 5 to 10 minutes longer, until golden brown.

And enjoy... that aroma and taste of fresh-baked... the creative satisfaction of baking from scratch with Fleischmann's Yeast. It's more than a matter
