

Tawas Area Board Gives Its Approval

New School Budget Up $322,377

A $2,820,860 operational budget, up $322,377 over actual expenditures during the 1978-79 term, was approved Monday night by Tawas Area Board of Education.

Supt. Allan Dighera said the 1979-80 budget was, at best, an educated guess during these inflationary times.

"In this instance, it is a two to three-year guess since the operational millage was voted in June of 1978 and covers the years 1978 through 1980," he stated. "This fixes our income over that period of time."

Dighera said, "the budget is a tight one and leaves us little flexibility. The board of education, administration and staff are committed to operating the schools within the economic constraints placed upon it, based upon the wishes of citizens of Tawas Area School District."

He said the budget as presented would not change significantly except for minor adjustments during the course of the year. "Its primary purpose is to serve as a guide and a tool to help us during the year and to project our future needs as they pertain to our financial picture."

The budget is to be financed from local revenue totaling $2,515,659, state revenue of $99,860 and federal revenue of $99,441.

Due to passage of an amendment to the Headlee limitation, increased property valuation in the district has benefited this school district's revenue. This school district's valuation increase was slightly below the 7.7 Headlee factor.

State transportation funds have been reduced from $133,366 to $127,900, while special education funds have increased from $13,169 to $27,160.

The major portion of federal funds comes under Title One, which was increased from actual receipts of $50,000 last year to $56,736 budgeted for this term.

Out of each dollar received in revenue, 89 cents comes from the local area, seven cents from the state and four cents from the federal government.

A breakdown of expenditures shows that for each dollar budgeted, 72 cents goes for salaries, eight cents for employee benefits, four cents for utilities and fuel, four cents for supplies and materials, three cents for capital outlay, two cents for purchased services, two cents for repairs and maintenance, one cent for insurance.

Elementary instruction expense under the new budget is $573,392, as compared to $572,146 last term; junior high school instructional expense is budgeted at $275,719, as compared to $251,719 under the previous budget; high school instructional expense is $731,996, as compared to $697,040 under the previous year's budget.

Other instructional expenses include vocational, $35,680; special education, $114,298; community education, $5,273; administration, $96,576; fiscal services, $297,864; operation and maintenance, $269,128; transportation, $243,345; community services, $2,947.

Now crippled with arthritis, he is now the house pet of the McCready children and probably dreams about all those cats and squirrels which he could not chase while guiding the judge to the county building. HUD Approves Elderly Housing

A 44-unit high rise building to provide housing for elderly at East Tawas, costing $1,562,700, has been approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, according to an announcement by Cong. Robert Davis.

Application for the unit had been made September 30, 1977, by the East Tawas Housing Commission. The original application was for 51 units.

Carl Helmer, director of the East Tawas Housing Commission, said Tuesday morning that HUD had committed $240,640 for the annual cost of the project.

Helmer said the new building would be located at 113 Church Street, directly north of the present high rise housing unit at the corner of Bay and Church Streets.

The 44 one bedroom units are to provide housing for the elderly and rent is based on 25 percent of the income of the individual involved.

Fourth Friday Count Shows 45-Student Drop at Tawas A.

Annual fourth Friday enrollment count has assured that Tawas Area High School will remain in the class C school rating for athletic competition in basketball and track.

According to figures announced Monday night, the high school's count on September 28 was 679, slightly below the 687 figure for class B enrollment schools.

This school district showed a net loss of 45 students from the previous year which, coupled with enrollment decreases in past years and anticipated lower class numbers in the future, should have a profound effect on classroom needs.

The school had a grand total of 1,712 students, as compared to 1,757 in 1978-79.

High school enrollment showed little change from last year. There were 160 eighth graders moving up to the freshman class, last year's freshman class of 147 grew to 158 as sophomores this year, the 166-member 10th grade of last year expanded to 168 this year as juniors and the 164 students in the 11th grade of last year grew to 193 in the senior class for 1979-80.

Last term, there were 164 seniors and after this year's exceptionally large class, the 12th grade is expected to return to an enrollment of 170 or less.

The lower elementary grades, kindergarten through third grade, showed a slight decrease in enrollment, from 429 in 1978-79 to 414 this term. There are 117 pupils in the kindergarten, 94 in first grade, 91 in second grade, 107 in third grade and five in special education.

The upper elementary grades grew from 325 last year to 442 this term, with 124 in the fourth grade, 103 in the third grade, 104 in the sixth grade and 11 special education students.

A slight decrease was noted in the junior high school, 304 students last year as compared to 277 this term. Grade seven numbers 137 students, there are 135 eighth graders and five students in a dual role, alternating between junior high classes and the ninth grade.

East Tawas Man Died in Collision

Robert C. Decker, 51, East Tawas, was killed Wednesday in a collision with a semitruck loaded with pulpwood on US-23 near the Baldwin Resort Road intersection.

Dallas C. Harmon, 42, Mikado, driver of the truck, told investigating officers that the oncoming car crossed over the center line in his path and he swerved his vehicle in an attempt to avoid a collision.

Decker was dead at the scene. The pulpwood truck rolled on its side in the ditch.

JAMES H. BRICKLEY, lieutenant governor of the State of Michigan, will be attending a community forum at the Holland House Thursday from 8:00 to 9:30 a. m. He was first elected lieutenant governor in 1970, served from 1975 until 1978 as president of Eastern Michigan University and was elected again lieutenant governor in 1978 with Gov. William G. Milliken.

TA Debt Service Tax Levy Drawing Too Much Money

On recommendation of the school auditor, Tawas Area School is to apply to the Municipal Finance Commission for permission to retain approximately $23,000 remaining in the debt retirement fund and transfer it to a building and site fund.

The above amount represents an excess of funds received under the one-half mill levy for retirement of 1955 school bonds voted for construction of the junior and senior high school. The bond issue is to be retired July 1, 1980.

The auditor suggested that the board of education give consideration to asking the people to renew the one-half mill levy to finance maintenance of buildings.

In other business Monday night, the board approved a medical leave of absence requested by Patricia Harvey of the secretarial staff. The leave is to be effective November 2 through August 1980.

The superintendent reported that this school district appears to be in line for a $96,175 energy grant to replace windows at the high school. Confirmation of the grant is expected later this month.

Surgical Unit Still Questioned

Approval granted by the Michigan Department of Public Health to Tawas Hospital to expand the facility's operating suite has been questioned by the East Central Michigan Health Systems Agency, Incorporated.

To further discuss the feasibility of the expanded service, the health systems agency has requested a hearing.

The Michigan Department of Public Health has scheduled a public hearing on this matter for Wednesday, October 17, 10:00 a. m., Baker-Online West Building, Room 3B, 3500 North Logan, Lansing.

East Central Michigan Health Systems Agency, Incorporated, withheld its approval for the hospital's request for a certificate of need for expansion, stating that there is no evidence that less costly alternatives to the expansion have been considered and that correction of code deficiencies could be accomplished through remodeling at less cost.

The HSA also declared that the hospital has not operated the facility more than a part-time basis and that recruitment to attract additional physicians to the area has not been documented.

Davison Is Contractor for Branch

Davison and Son Builders, Tawas City, has been awarded a contract to construct the new Hale branch of Peoples State Bank of East Tawas.

The new office, to be located at the northeast corner of the intersection of Esmond Road and M-65, is to be of colonial design containing 1,300 square feet of floor space.

The building will be of brick veneer construction with two drive-in windows, along with four teller stations on the interior. There will be a parking lot for 12 cars.

Present plans call for construction to be completed before Christmas.

Police Officers Claim Iosco Not Treating Them Fairly

Iosco County Police Officers Association has been formally certified for arbitration by a state mediator. Since the sheriff's deputies are forbidden to strike by state law, Act 312 allows arbitration by a third party of police contracts when negotiations come to a stand still.

After numerous bargaining attempts and three mediation sessions, sheriff's department employees and the Iosco County Board of Commissioners were unable to come to agreement on contract language or a wage package. The employees are members of the Police Officers Association of Michigan.

Local Association president, Mark DeBeau, stated, "We are not going to subsidize mismanagement and the squandering of public money. We don't feel that wasting money on such programs as bailing out the medical care facility, unnecessary expansion of the county airport or purchase of a costly county computer should take precedence over law enforcement in Iosco County."

"Cuts in the sheriff's department budget, the purchase of small patrol vehicles and failure of the board of commissioners to bargain fairly with sheriff's department employees is not, in our opinion, in the best interest of citizens of Iosco County. It is about time the public started letting the commissioners know how they felt on the matter," DeBeau stated.

Sheriff's department employees have been working without a contract since January 1 of this year.

Millage Rollback Has Cut Deeply Into Hale Budget

The rollback in operational millage mandated by the Headlee amendment to the state constitution, coupled with a drop in enrollment, has resulted in a $108,000 reduction in Hale Area School's 1979-80 operational budget.

A budget of $1,487,742 was adopted Monday night by the board of education. The preliminary budget prepared earlier this year had anticipated expenditures of $1,487,742.

Peter Holley, Hale Area School's new superintendent, said Tuesday morning that increased property valuation in the district resulted in a rollback from 24 mills to a new tax rate of 22.4 mills.

Hale Area School does not receive any state aid membership funds and its state transportation money has been cut from $85,000 to $68,000 due to a 78-student drop in enrollment.

The preliminary budget had been prepared by Supt. Wayne Case, who moved to a new position elsewhere, and this is Holley's first experience in over-all school budgeting after being promoted to superintendent from elementary school principal.

Holley felt that the school could live with the lower budget, although it will mean a cut in capital outlay budgeting which had been anticipated for maintenance and updating at the elementary unit.

"This is my first budget and I guess I am being very conservative," said Holley. He said he had used the previous superintendent's estimates for classroom materials and supplies used by classroom teachers.

Holley said that some maintenance would be needed on buildings this year and that replacement of a boiler in the elementary unit had been anticipated. Unless some major emergency develops in maintenance, he expects that funds will be available for some minor work.

He pointed out to the board of education that roof replacement on the elementary school buildings could be anticipated and that plans should be made for financing.

The fourth Friday count at the school this year is 371 students in elementary grades and 372 in the high school for a total enrollment of 743. The 78-student reduction from last year had not been anticipated because past projections had indicated a slight increase this term.

In other business, the board of education accepted bids on two surplus vehicles and agreed to take new bids on a pickup truck and a bus.

The transportation director reported that two buses which had been "red lined" by state police and have not been in use this term had undergone minor repairs necessary and were ready for reinspection.

Farmers and Merchants State Bank was the successful bidder on the purchase of $310,000 in tax anticipation notes. The bank submitted an interest rate of 6.40 percent. Peoples State Bank submitted an interest rate of 6.73 percent.

Ramona Eger presented a report on Title One activities. Reports from department directors and teachers are to be a regular monthly feature of board of education meetings.

The superintendent reported that he was using the services of an attorney for advice on contractual wording, but the attorney was not involved in contract negotiations. The administration is currently involved in negotiating a contract with non-certified personnel.

county zones will require 24-hour advance reservations.

Retired Nurse Still Serving

Lillian Brinkman has been retired for 12 years. Yet, she still gets occasional opportunities to apply some of the bedside manner that she acquired in her career as a registered nurse.

Mrs. Brinkman does not administer shots or take temperatures anymore. But as a resident of the Provincial House skilled nursing facility in Tawas City, she does find that she can use her training in dealing with the ill when visiting other residents of the nursing home.

"You know you can help some patients just by talking to them," Mrs. Brinkman says. "So, I make sure that I talk to certain patients who seem to be in especially poor health or do not get any visitors."

Mrs. Brinkman moved to Provincial House one year ago this month, after a bout with some serious health problems herself. Since coming to the nursing home, she has kept busy participating in activities—both those offered in the facility and favorite hobbies that she likes to engage in on her own.

"We have what we call a word game every week and I like that," she says. A group of residents gathers in the facility's dining room and, continues Mrs. Brinkman, "we use different letters of the alphabet to play word games. It keeps your mind alert."

Arts and crafts is another area of interest to Mrs. Brinkman. Besides attending regularly scheduled craft sessions in the facility's activities room, she works on her own knitting and crewel work projects.

Weekly meetings for inspirational singing are also a favorite of Mrs. Brinkman. And while she is not able to attend Sunday services at her own church in Oscoda, Mrs. Brinkman enjoys listening to morning and afternoon religious programs on the radio every Sunday.

"I figure after that I have had enough church for the day," she says.

Mrs. Brinkman's son, Peter, lives in Oscoda with his wife, Barbara, and they visit her often at Provincial House. She also has one other son, six grandchildren and seven great grandchildren, many of whom are married and living in other states.

Quota Club Made Fashion Show Plans

Iosco County Quota Club members finalized plans for the fashion show at the noon meeting October 8. Plans call for fashions and models from six business firms in the area to participate October 22 at the Holland House.

Proceeds from the event will go to support the club's principal service project, the hearing clinic at Tawas Hospital.

Karen Featheringill was welcomed to membership and Marion Killingbeck was appointed chairman of the December activities. The Christmas party is slated for December 3 at Lakewood Shores Beach Club.

Leader Dogs are 'Eyes' of the Blind

Area business places are reminded that state law recognizes that Leader Dogs are the "eyes" of blind persons and that entry into any public building or business place by a blind person and his guide dog is permissible by statute.

Jane Astala, a blind person from Tawas City, reported Monday that she and her Leader Dog were denied entry into a place of business last week, contrary to state law.

EVERY one loves and admires a horse. Next to the dog he is the most faithful and intelligent of our four-footed friends. The easy way to draw a picture of a horse is to start with a triangle, as you see here in the picture.

Volunteers Needed for New Church

Under construction since early summer, the new Wilber United Methodist Church is nearing completion. Exterior work is progressing nicely, the building has been painted and the congregation is planning to finish the interior this month, if possible.

A spokesman for the congregation said that volunteer help was now needed to finish the interior walls. Financing is available for insulation and dry wall.

The congregation would appreciate any pledges or donations for electrical and plumbing work as members hope to have the building completed enough to move into soon.

In early January, the 92-year-old church building was destroyed by fire and services have been held each Sunday since then in the Wilber Township Hall. Services are held each Sunday at 11:00 a. m. and the Rev. Clifford DeVore extends an invitation to anyone who wishes to attend.

Snaggers Learn Fishing Laws

Iosco County Probate Court has instituted a new policy governing youthful offenders of state fishing laws, particularly in regard to snagging violations. Juveniles now appearing in probate court on fish snagging violations are given a preliminary hearing and placed on "tentative" probation for a specific period of time, during which they are enrolled in a special course at Tawas Area School.

Edward J. (Jim) Barry, a member of Tawas Area School faculty, volunteered to teach the six-hour course in which the youngsters receive a basic education in Michigan fishing laws, as well as proper fishing techniques.

At the end of the course, the youngster must successfully pass an examination based on information presented in the classroom. Those youngsters passing the course are so certified to the probate judge and, if the offender has no additional violations during his "tentative" probationary period, no official record is made of the original violation.

Should an additional violation occur during probation, the judge could order resumption of the normal court procedures to handle the matter.

Cards Scored Early, but TA Braves Came Back to Win

Whittemore - Prescott Cardinals provided a scare for Tawas Area High School homecoming fans Friday night, but the Braves bounded back to turn in a 21-6 win, their second in league action as against one loss and fourth over-all victory of the season. Fresh from upsetting Ogemaw Heights two weeks ago, the Cardinals turned in a good defensive battle and had the Braves on the ropes during the early going of the game. Minor infractions proved costly to the Cards. The Cards pounced on a Tawas fumble early in the first quarter on the Braves' 17-yard line and Quarterback Todd Horn took to the air twice in seven plays, the last being completed to Bill DeVoe for a five-yard touchdown. The try for extra point failed and the visitors held a 6-0 lead.

The Braves made quick work of erasing that lead, scoring in just seven plays. The touchdown was set up on a spectacular catch by Ken McKenzie, who batted a pass from Jay Grabow away from a Cardinal defender and then caught the ball with the other hand. From the 44-yard line, Tawas moved to score in two plays with Jim Gracik breaking lose for a 38-yard run and a touchdown. John Brockebrough broke the tie with his kick from placement.

An interception by McKenzie on Tawas' 25-yard line set up another touchdown in the second quarter. Six plays later, Tawas had to punt on fourth down after being stopped by the Card defense. The Cardinal defender fumbled the ball and it was recovered by Bob Hester.

Grabow took advantage of this break by passing to Chuck Allen on the 17 and Allen moved to the 11. Gracik moved the ball to the seven-yard line on the next play and Grabow found an opening in the Cardinal defense and scored without a hand touching him with nine minutes, 35 seconds remaining in the quarter. Brockebrough booted the conversion to give Tawas a 14-6 lead.

Following homecoming festivities at intermission before an overflow crowd, the Braves came back in the second half to score a touchdown with six minutes, 36 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

An interception by Gracik set up this score. The Cardinal defense had stopped Tawas' offense dead in its tracks, but Gracik intercepted Horn's pass on the second play from scrimmage. Three plays later, Grabow tossed another aerial and McKenzie made a beautiful catch over his shoulder to score on a 40-yard touchdown play. Brockebrough booted the PAT to give Tawas a 21-6 lead.

Gracik piled up 71 yards in 16 carries to lead the Braves on the ground, followed by Bryant Wilkie's 50 yard in 14 carries. The Braves had 127 yards on the ground and 121 yards in the air with Grabow connecting on four of 10 passes.

Defensively, the Braves were led by Brian Norton, who had 24 tackles during the night. Joe Paitl played an outstanding game with 18 tackles. Tony Mayer forced one turnover when he stole the ball from a Cardinal halfback.

The Cardinals had 118 yards on the ground and Horn completed seven of 21 passes for 97 yards in the air.

Action this week finds the Braves traveling to Pinconning for another Northeastern Michigan Conference game with the always tough Spartans.

Junior Braves Defeated Card JV; Tawas' First Win of Season

Tawas Junior Braves defeated Whittemore-Prescott junior varsity, 14-8, Thursday night on the losers' home field.

Kelly Moffatt scored on the third play of the game on a 65-yard run. The try from placement was missed and Tawas held a 6-0 lead going into the half.

Tawas scored again in the third quarter on the same combination when Moffatt scampered 55 yards. A fake kick and a pass from Bill Dalbec to John Wiese accounted for the two-point conversion.

The Cardinal junior varsity scored with 1½ minutes to go on a five-yard pass play. The two-point conversion also came on a pass.

Moffatt ran for 203 yards in 16 carries. The entire squad played a fine defensive game, led by Jon Dunn, Dave Sterling, Kuri Serschen and Curt Leslie, who intercepted two passes and had nine tackles.

It was the first time the Junior Braves tasted victory during the past two seasons. Last year, the junior varsity lost seven games and this year's team had lost three straight games.

Tawas Girls Lost First NEM Game to Standish-Sterling

Tawas Area School girls varsity basketball team lost its first conference game October 2 at Standish-Sterling Central, 65-51. Tawas had registered 12 consecutive victories, but lost the game after two overtime periods.

The Bravettes jumped off to a 13-6 lead in the first quarter, but the Panther girls roared back to take a 26-15 margin at intermission.

That two-point second quarter proved to be a disaster for the Bravettes, but they sliced Standish-Sterling's lead to 41-38 at the end of the third quarter. The two teams were knotted with 55 points each at the end of regulation time.

The first overtime period saw each team scoring four points, but the Standish-Sterling girls finally pulled out in front of the second overtime, 65-51.

Kari Allen was leading scorer for Tawas with 23 points and had 20 rebounds. Cindy Wood and Joyce Hatcher each had 10 points, while Jan Johnson contributed nine points and Laurel Minard meshed seven. Lori Gracik had one basket.

Johnson had four assists and 10 rebounds, while turning in five steals during the game.

The junior varsity lost to the Standish-Sterling girls, 71-51. Tawas held a 26-20 margin at intermission, but the Panther girls scored 51 points in the second half.

Leading scorer of the night was Jody Chaltraw, who meshed 27 points. The Standish-Sterling squad is undefeated this season.

Scoring for Tawas were Lisa Bielby, 14 points; Kelly Brockebrough and Debbie Allen, eight points each; Kristen Papenfus, seven points.

Bravettes Won Over Oscoda; Non-League Tilt

Tawas Bravettes came from behind to score a 52-51 win Thursday night over Oscoda Area High School girls basketball team.

The Bravettes jumped off to a 16-11 first quarter lead over the visitors, but Oscoda narrowed the margin to 23-22 at intermission.

Oscoda took over the lead in the third quarter, 37-35, but Tawas came back to register its sixth win against two losses.

Laurel Minard was top scorer for Tawas with 18 points, followed by 12 points turned in by Jan Johnson and eight points by Cindy Wood. Kari Allen meshed six points, Joyce Hatcher had four points, Lori Gracik and Diane Nelkie had two points each.

Rhonda Hofacer topped Oscoda with 16 points, followed by 10 points meshed by Julie Muhr.

Allen had 11 rebounds and Minard was tops with six steals.

The Tawas junior varsity defeated Oscoda, 50-39, holding scoring edges in every quarter. Kelly Brockebrough had 16 points to lead the way, followed by Lisa Bielby's 12 points. Others scoring were Debbie Allen, nine points; Linda Nelkie, five points; Lisa Konenski, four points; Kristen Papenfus and Wendy Earl, two points each.

Eagles Upset Posen in Overtime Win, 6-0

Hale and Posen battled to a 0-0 defensive battle tie for four quarters in Friday night's North Star League action before the Eagles won in one overtime, 6-0. Going into the game, Posen had been undefeated in three league games and the loss to Hale, with only one league win, was a first class upset.

The Eagles entered the game shorthanded as both Glen Bell, halfback, and Ken Weyant, tackle, were missing due to injuries. Early in the game, Tom Sanders was lost for the night on a punt return injury.

Hale threatened to score in the first and third quarters when Quarterback Vern Reed III completed passes to Mark Turnbull and Dan Dear, but both of those threats were stopped by key Posen tackles.

Posen knocked on the door four times during the night, the last time coming when the Eagle defense stopped the visitors on the five-yard line to end regulation play.

Hale won the toss of the coin to start the overtime play and elected to go on defense. The Hale squad stopped Posen on two dive plays, then Troy Peters broke up two attempted passes.

The Eagles were more successful in the sudden death overtime. Reed tried two pass plays which were unsuccessful, but on the third play he rolled out left on an option pass, found his receivers covered and scampered 10 yards for the winning touchdown.

Led by Tom Lesneski, who had 42 yards in 14 carries, Hale rushed for 95 yards during the night and Reed had seven completions in 16 tosses, for 85 yards. Dear caught three passes for 43 yards, Tim Lesneski caught two aerals for 11 yards and Turnbull had one reception for 24 yards.

On defense, Matt Husted led the Eagles with eight tackles, Dear and Tom Lesneski each had seven stops, Jeff Dillon had six tackles. Steve Tamplin, Turnbull, Larry Caverly, Scott McDonald and Tim Lesneski were next with five tackles each. McDonald and Chris Millard each had a pass interception and Turnbull recovered a fumble.

Hale's defense sacked the Posen quarterback four times during the night, Husted turning in three, while Brindley and Dear each had one sack.

The Eagles play host Friday night to Atlanta, which is burning up the conference with four straight wins.

Tawas Kiwanis Program Would Involve Kids

Tawas Kiwanis Club is commencing a community service program called Hand in Hand With Youth. Purpose of the program is to involve children in activities which would supplement the role of the family itself in teaching basic beliefs and basic values.

Through the program, Kiwanis members will work with young people on a one-to-one basis, spending time with them and helping them attain proficiency in sports, activities, hobbies and even business and professional procedures.

In some cases, the club will work with groups of young people to achieve the same result, reports Herman A. Bertuleit, club president.

Activities undertaken locally will be part of a Kiwanis-wide program with clubs in countries around the world participating.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

"Hang In There Council Members"—We aren't all against you!

There is an old saying, "United we stand—divided we fall!" The time has come to unite! This constant bickering is not helping the City of Tawas City!

Being in the resort business, I know you have to spend money to make money. We are constantly putting money into our units to upgrade them and so it is with a city.

There are some who would just as soon let Tawas City stay as it has for the last 10 years. We need to get a new image—starting with a new city hall, fire station and library.

It should be right on US-23—not on the back streets! Since the property already has been purchased, why invest in another piece of property?

No wonder East Tawas rejected us! Look how they are expanding. They are on the "map"—but how long will Tawas City stay on the "map"? Cars are passing through daily—they are through our town before they know it!

Maybe we will pay higher taxes—but who isn't paying higher taxes?

The Allied Taxpayers group talks about a "recall of certain council members"—seems to me our Mayor and Bob Rollin are causing all our problems—they are the ones who need to be replaced!

If I've stepped on anyone's toes, I'm sorry! But the Allied Taxpayers don't seem to care who they have hurt!

We have a fine, new city manager—please let him do his job—or we'll lose him also!

As far as Rae McCready—she stepped in when the city needed help—she has done, and is doing a fine job. Why condemn her?

We are all adults—let's act like adults, let's work together for the good of our city. I'm proud to live in Tawas City—and I'll help in any way I can, even if it means higher taxes!

I'm sure there are many others who feel as I do. Please speak up, our city hall needs your verbal support!

Sincerely
Barbara O'Driscoll

Wood Heat Clinic at Hale

A Wood Heating Safety Clinic is slated for Saturday, October 13, 10:00 a. m.-11:00 p. m., at the Plainfield Township Hall, Hale. The program features displays, discussions on installation safety, free coffee and donuts and door prizes. The event is free to the public. Literature will be available. Pine River Lamphrey Treatment

The United States Fish and Wildlife Service announced that a sea lamprey crew will conduct a chemical treatment of the Pine River in Alcona and Iosco Counties. Date of treatment will depend on the water volumes and water chemistry of the river.

Fish and Wildlife Service crew members from Ludington arrived October 3 to set up mobile living quarters and laboratory facilities at Oscoda. The crew of fishery biologists and technicians has experience in sea lamprey control.

The Pine River was last treated in July 1975 and the current effort will be the fourth treatment of the stream since 1966.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TAWAS CITY COUNCIL MEETING MINUTES—September 17, 1979.

Meeting called to order at 7:30 PM at City Hall by Mayor Cholger.

Present: Rollin, Cholger, Lansky, Hayes, Keiser, Cotter. Absent: Landon. Others: Mgr. Thomas, Supt. Look.

Minutes of September 4 meeting approved.

Water Board August 13 minutes received. Park & Recreation Board August 9 minutes accepted.

Postmaster Leonard Hoshbach, with Jim Daley, Supervisor of Postal Operations in East Tawas, attended at invitation of Council to discuss possibility of door-to-door delivery. He listed criteria required to qualify a community for delivery, either curb-line or park & loop systems. With present priority on reducing expenses for the Postal Service, he does not afford much hope for having a new system instituted here, but he repeated information which has long been available, that people can request curb-line delivery under specified circumstances.

Mayor Cholger presented a request that City pave a sidewalk area at the Legion Hall, and John Brugger spoke in favor of blacktopping an access area approximately 70 x 75'. County Commissioner Ulman stated she would investigate possibility of County participation in the cost. Motion by Keiser seconded by Lansky that Manager follow up on the proposal, and report back to Council, carried.

Rollin suggested Council send a card to Councilman Landon, who was recently burned in a stove explosion.

Petition to vacate alleys in Blocks 9 and 10, Porterfield's Addition, referred to Planning Commission for recommendation, on motion by Lansky, seconded by Rollin, and carried.

Manager presented architect's preliminary cost estimates for new Municipal Center. The following preamble and resolution were offered by Councilman Cotter and supported by Councilman Lansky:

WHEREAS, the City Council determines that it is necessary for the public health, safety and welfare of the City to acquire, construct, furnish and equip a public building;

AND WHEREAS, the total cost of the aforesaid building together with all site costs, legal fees and financing costs, has been estimated to be Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000);

AND WHEREAS, the City Council has determined that the said building should be financed by the issuance of general obligation bonds of the City in the amount of not to exceed Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000);

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED THAT:

1. This City Council does hereby determine that the aforesaid building is necessary for the public health, safety and wel-

The principal and interest of said general obligation bonds shall be payable from the general funds of the City, and the City is required by law to levy sufficient ad valorem taxes, if necessary, for the payment thereof upon all taxable property in the City without limitation as to rate or amount.

along Eighth Avenue between Second Street and Dead Creek, motion by Keiser seconded by Rollin that Manager contact petitioner with advice as to possible costs, and if he wishes to pursue the petition, Manager shall obtain engineer's cost estimates pursuant to Ordinance No. 181 and commence the legal proceedings; roll call vote: unanimous yes.

Regarding water service to D & M complex, motion by Lansky seconded by Rollin that Manager's recommendation to Water Board for placement of a 4" compound meter on the line from Lake Street, and no meter placement on the 4" line which serves only a fire hydrant, City to absorb the cost of a compound meter over the cost of regular meter; roll call vote: unanimous yes.

Councilman Cotter read following statement and requested it be placed in the minutes of this meeting verbatim, Sept. 17, 1979.

The Concerned-Allied Taxpayers, an organization formed with the pretext of saving money for the Taxpayers, has actually cost additional taxpayer dollars. Who are the Concerned-Allied Taxpayers? Isn't it a fact that Herbert Cholger and Robert N. Rollin are founders, leaders and members in both the Concerned Taxpayers and the Allied Taxpayers?

It is important for the people of Tawas City to be aware that the Concerned-Allied Taxpayers have forced the City to spend about $3,000.00 in unbudgeted City Funds in the past 60 days. If the present rate of expenditures for their benefit continues, the city will be forced to raise taxes by $18,000 to $20,000 to take care of their whims during the next 12 months. These figures do not include the request of the Concerned-Allied Taxpayers for the City to pay their Attorney Fees nor does it cover Council and City Employees time and wages due to harassment by the Concerned-Allied Taxpayers.

Concerned - Allied Taxpayers also cost the Citizens of this County several hundred dollars in tax money due to their illegal actions.

The need for a Firehall, City Offices and Library has been present for many years. The Mayor and Council should lead the City in orderly progress to satisfy the needs of the Community with the least possible expense to the Taxpayers. However, the actions of the Mayor and Councilman Rollin after council action, has been to cloud the true issues and facts to defeat last November's Bond Issue because it did not meet their personal wishes. We believe this action has cost the taxpayers of the City close to $100,000 due to inflationary costs of construction since then.

If there was a shred of some kind of definite positive program, the costs may have been justified, but the real goal of Concerned-Allied Taxpayers appears to be only Confusion and Harassment!

Each and every one of the City Council meetings have been extensively covered by all phases of the news media. It is ignorant and untrue for anyone to state there has been suppression of information concerning Council action.

During the past four years while the City has been under constant bombardment by the Concerned-Allied Taxpayers, all other communities in Northeastern Michigan have made rapid progress in expanding tax bases due to construction of businesses, industry and civic facilities.

While Concerned-Allied Taxpayers did force the resignation of one City Clerk and our previous City Manager, it is now obvious that Concerned-Allied Taxpayers are not only attempting to replace our present City Clerk, but our New City Manager as well.

In view of these facts, we hope the Citizens of Tawas City and Iosco County will not allow this to continue.

Signed: Jerry Cotter, Charles Landon, Don Hayes, Hugo Jack Keiser, James Lansky

Motion by Lansky seconded by Keiser to meet in closed session under provisions of Section 8(d) of the Open Meetings Act; roll call vote: unanimous yes.

Model Ship Exhibit Now Featured at IC Museum

The long awaited model ship exhibit has arrived at the Iosco County Museum and will be ready for display by Thursday, October 11. The ships may be seen during regular museum hours on Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 1:00 to 5:00 p. m. for the next four weeks.

The models, built of fine woods, brass and cloth, are on loan from the Michigan State University Museum. They include the Griffin, built in 1679, the first sailing ship in the Great Lakes; HM Schooner

Nancy, one of the first privately owned trading vessels on the lakes; the USS Niagara, the most famous warship in Great Lakes history, and the USS Michigan, first iron-hulled warship in the United States Navy. Each of the little ships, built on a scale of one-fourth inch to the foot, represents hundreds of hours of labor by Harvey Nissley, 55, of Grosse Ile, a design engineer for Ford Motor Company, who designed them from historical records.

With only minimal publicity

thus far, the ships are already reserved for the entire summer by museums in Northern Michigan, said Richard J. Snider, curator of education for the MSU Museum. He said the ships may become the center of an even larger traveling historical exhibit now in the planning stage.

The background and display cases for the miniature vessels were built by Donald Dickerson, curator of museum exhibits, and Chester A. Trout, chief pre-

The Griffin is the most enigmatic of the four, said Nissley. The 60-foot galley, built just above Niagara Falls for the French explorer, Rene Robert DeLaSalle, on its maiden voyage to Green Bay, Wisconsin, mysteriously sank, laden with furs.

The Nancy was built for fur trade in 1789 for Detroit businessman, John Richardson. Used by the British in the War of 1812, it was destroyed by American gunfire on the Nattawasaga River.

The USS Michigan—not the famous Monitor and Merrimac of the Civil War—was the first iron-hulled warship, Nissley said. Built in Erie, Pennsylvania, in 1842, the 685-ton paddlewheeler was in active duty until 1912. It was a floating museum at Erie until 1949 and was then sold for scrap.

The Niagara was built in 1812 for the war between Great Britain and the United States and carried 100 men and 20 cannons. It played a key role in the United States victory in the Battle of Lake Erie on September 10, 1813, but was declared obsolete after the war.

The warship was restored in 1913 and rebuilt in 1929. She was finally put in a dryland berth at Erie in 1939, where she still rests.

Special trips for students and senior citizens can be arranged for Tuesday and Wednesday only at a reduced rate. Call 362-8911 for additional information and arrangements.

City Manager Discusses

Municipal Center Proposal

How can Tawas City afford a new municipal center with sewage treatment and waterfront improvement costs facing it? "It may be appropriate to suggest that we will be hard-pressed to afford those costs without building a new municipal center," stated City Mgr.

Lowell Thomas last week in a general report to the city council and citizens. The city manager bases his premise on the fact that it is going to be difficult to ask citizens to pay the local share of sewage treatment and waterfront improvement costs without working hard and expending money to expand the city's tax base by attracting commercial and industrial growth. "A new municipal center with improved and modern fire-fighting, library and meeting facilities should be an important element in attracting growth," he declared.

Thomas pointed out that many local residents are on limited incomes "and we will tend to lose economically productive young people to the wealth of economic opportunities elsewhere. If we are to ever have any hope of reversing this situation, we must act now to enhance the image of Tawas City by providing the physical, cultural, commercial and industrial elements vital to economic growth and stability."

Thomas discussed a number of points in his informational paper on the need for a new municipal center, its proposed location, financing and impact on tax rate. Those points are worthy of consideration by voters, who will have the final say on a $500,000 bond issue to finance the project at a special referendum coinciding with the November 6 general election.

Discussing the need for a new municipal center, Thomas said the present 50-year-old city hall is a deteriorating building, costly to maintain, crowded and inadequate for public meetings, with congested and inefficient office space.

"It leaves a negative impression and image to residential, commercial and industrial prospects," he states.

He said the present rented quarters of the library south of the river bridge are small and crowded, with an inconvenient location prohibitive for use by walking children and senior citizens without transportation.

"It has a depressive and non-conducive reading environment, it is a rented facility for sale by the owner, has a negative impression and image," he states. Thomas said that book circulation for the first six months of 1979 dropped 19 percent from the first six months of 1978.

"Tawas City is blessed with a fine volunteer fire department in spite of poor facilities," said Thomas. "We can use additional personnel, however, and we must provide the facilities to assure growth, training and retention of a closely knit group of volunteers."

"We must by all means do what is necessary to avoid the costs and problems of a full-time fire department. Reinforcing the motivation, esprit de corps and cohesiveness of a volunteer staff through adequate facilities is a way of assuring that objective."

He pointed out that the present fire hall has inadequate training and meeting environment, has inefficient-inadequate storage and repair facilities, which are now split between two separate buildings with one building rented and for sale by the owner.

Need for a community hall as part of the proposed new municipal center was stressed by Thomas, who said a publicly-owned meeting facility with kitchen should be readily available for various community and civic groups to hold meetings and activities. He believes, too, the public meeting room could be available to city motels to attract conferences and mini-conventions.

Proposed location of the new municipal center is at the established and known site of city offices, centrally located to all areas and residents of the city. "It is easily located by and accessible to the many nonresidents, out-of-towners and prospective residents who have business to conduct at city hall," said Thomas.

He pointed out that the library would be within safe and easy walking distance of the largest concentration of residential users and that fire trucks would have centralized access to residential, commercial and industrial areas as well as two townships.

"For safety and access purposes, the fire chief prefers the proposed location rather than in the middle of a residential area. It is hazardous for volunteer firemen and fire trucks to speed through residential areas to get to commercial, industrial or township fires when thoroughfares like US-23 and M-55 exist," he stated.

A major point by the city manager concerning the proposed location was that it should encourage "sorely needed commercial growth, improvement and development in the 400 and 500 blocks of Lake Street. "It certainly will not detract from it. The improvement and expansion of our commercial tax base will be of direct benefit to all our taxpaying citizens. As commercial property is improved, its proportionate share of the city's tax base grows and the residential burden is lighter," he pointed out.

The city's efforts to attract valuable commercial development and encourage downtown improvement would be enhanced by a nearby fire-fighting facility; the library location adjacent to the commercial area is convenient for the resident and enhances the value of the commercial area which is dependent upon attracting people," he pointed out.

"The city must not abandon a deteriorating and inadequate commercial shopping area. We must be at the forefront and serve as a catalyst in revitalizing the 400 and 500 blocks of Lake Street to benefit all our citizens. As a community's business area thrives, so does the community," he stated.

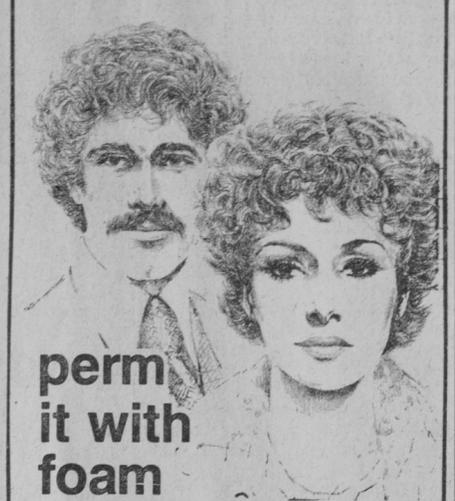

Estimated cost of proposed minimal facilities with 7,825 square feet of floor space is $361,035, which includes $121,875 for the 3,250 square feet of floor space in the fire station, plus $9,360 for furnishings and equipment; $40,625 for the library, 1,250 square feet; city hall comprising 3,325 square feet, includes administration offices, meeting room, conference room, lobby, toilets and kitchen, plus furnishings of $6,300.

Additional costs would include $51,500 for a land contract for site expansion, $11,500 for demolition and rental, legal fees of $5,000, engineering of $8,000 and architectural fees of $29,965, making a grand total of $500,000. The city has been assured by Farmers Home Administration it has kept money set aside to loan for the construction of this facility. Since FmHA money is loaned at five percent interest, and since the city might normally expect to pay at least six to seven percent through conventional bond sales, this would result in a savings of $100,000 to $200,000 over the life of a 40-year loan.

"It is true that more total interest money is paid when the life of the loan is longer, 40 years in this instance," said Thomas. "However, this is a fair and equitable way to pay for municipal capital projects. Since the facility will be used and enjoyed by at least two or three generations, it is appropriate for all generations to share (See DISCUSSION, page 2.)

Many Hands Required in Rafting Logs (above).

Save for brief mention in local press accounts of the day, an important auxiliary business during Michigan's white pine era has received little notice in state historical accounts.

The service provided by tug boat operators has been generally overshadowed in Michigan lumbering history by the more colorful aspect of river drives and general operation of inland lumber camps, but logs could not be delivered to Lake Huron shore sawmills without the aid of a fleet of sturdy steam tugs.

And work of the men employed in the operation of those tug boats was probably no less hazardous than the dramatic words written about the river drivers, for the tiny tugs towing huge rafts of logs across Lake Huron, some containing upward of 2 1/2-million feet of logs, often fell victim to late fall storms.

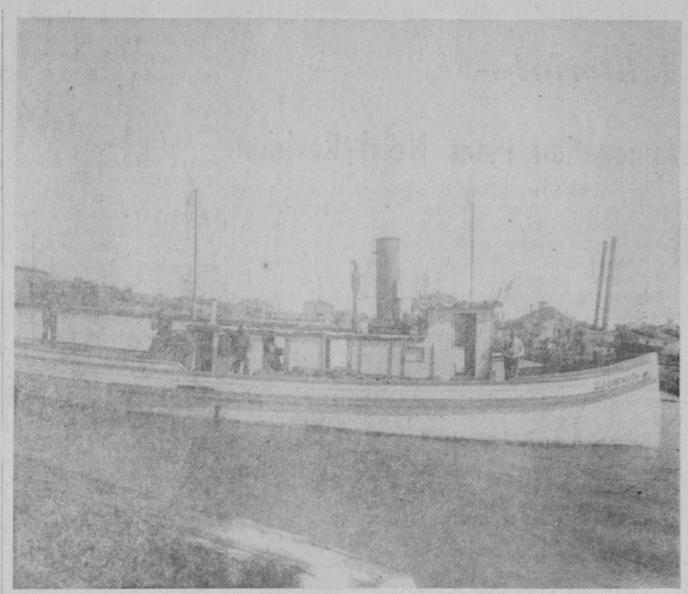

Tawas Bay was an important marshaling area for the rafting of logs as the curving spit of land projecting out into the upper end of Saginaw Bay provided the calm water needed to assemble the rafts. Logs were towed here from the AuSable and AuGres Rivers and chained into huge bracelets, filled with logs floating in the middle, for towing to such distant ports as Buffalo and Tonawanda, New York.

Although a photograph of rafting operations on Tawas Bay had not been uncovered to this date, numerous pictures of tug boats have survived the passage of time and give some insight into this little known business. Some of the best pictures were snapped by A. G. Emery, an East Tawas commercial photographer in the 1890s, whose glass plate negatives have been preserved.

Log towing in Michigan waters over a period of 20 or more years resulted in a number of improvements in rafting techniques. This natural evolution saw development of rafts consisting of a single mass of logs completely surrounded by a boom made up of short timbers of large diameter strung on a chain. To form a boom, the ends of a huge 1 1/2-inch iron chain were passed through the end holes of two logs and then shackled and riveted together, forming a loop which acted as a hinge connecting the logs.

One of the early tug boat operators here was Capt. Charles Cash, whose "Burnside" made its headquarters on the bay in 1878 and, according to an issue of the Isosco County Gazette, "is prepared to promptly fill all orders for towing at reasonable rates."

On May 30, 1878, the Gazette reported that two rafts of logs containing 39 cribs and nearly a million feet of white pine, "were towed up from the AuGres to the boom of S. and C. D. Hale at the mouth of the Tawas River

THIS TUG BOAT is shown in the commercial dock harbor at East Tawas around 1895. The original eight by 10-inch glass plate negative was snapped by A. G. Emery. In the background is the Emery sawmill (no relation to A. G.) which was located east of the present state police post. The tug boat is decorated in a patriotic motif which would indicate the picture was probably snapped during an Independence Day celebration.

on Sunday last by the 'tugs, 'Burnside' and 'Laketon'."

That same year, the AuSable News reported that "the great drive, containing 50,000,000 feet of logs, from the main stream, upper, south and north branches of the AuSable, has arrived down and delivered to the Oscoda Boom Company." A large portion of those logs were floated to Tawas Bay, formed into rafts and towed to distant ports to be manufactured into lumber.

Towing of logs cut in the local area to other ports resulted in some local criticism by the local press. "David Ward of Pontiac had considerable lumbering done on the AuSable last winter," reported the Isosco County Gazette in 1878. "He will have his logs towed to Bay City and manufactured there. This leads us to inquire why it is that the owners of idle mills on the shore will allow Bay City men to so far underbid them as to make it a profitable investment to tow logs to that point for manufacture. We cannot understand how boards can be made for less money at Bay City or Saginaw than here and certainly the work and expense of getting the logs there would represent quite a margin of profit for them."

In August 1878, the Gazette reported "last Thursday, a raft of long timber belonging to Smith and Bliss on Tonawanda, New York, containing 110 cribs, went ashore near Tawas Point during the big wind and rain-storm."

On numerous occasions, tugs were forced to abandon their rafts during storms and both the booms and the logs would then be cast along the coast for several miles. Under favorable conditions, the cost of picking up stranded logs amounted to about 30 cents a thousand board feet.

"The Oscoda Boom Company has delivered 25,548,971 feet of logs in rafts to date to be towed to Tawas and the Saginaw cities," reported the AuSable News on August 28, 1879. Log rafting was a tricky business at the mouth of the AuSable River due to complications provided by violent wave action in Lake Huron.

Other rivers of the region contributed millions of feet of logs annually to rafting operations on Tawas Bay. Reports printed by the Gazette stated in 1879 that the AuGres River Boom Company ran out and rafted to November 1, 57,465,670 feet of logs, with 3,000,000 feet retained in the boom.

Probably the largest raft seen on Lake Huron during the 1890s was one towed from Georgian Bay to Tawas Bay in 1892. It contained 91,700 logs, scaling about 10,000,000 board feet and needed three tugs to handle it.

Two of the most prominent raft towing companies in this region were the Saginaw Bay Towing Company, formed in 1888 for Capt. Benjamin Boutell and P. C. Smith, and the Michigan Log Towing Association, incorporated in 1890 by Saginaw lumbermen interested in Canadian timber.

One of the most noted tug operators in the Saginaw Bay and Tawas Bay areas was Capt. W. C. Davidson, who died at the age of 87 years in September 1931.

Davidson, whose son, W. C. Davidson, later served as city clerk of Tawas City, owned and operated tugs at Bay City, Tawas Bay and Grand Marais. At one time, he owned the ferry boat, "Hattie T. Brown," running between Bay City and Banks.

His tugs, "Challenge," "Tempest" and "Pensaukee," were familiar callers to Tawas Bay as were his tugs, "J. W. Westcott" and "J. W. Ward," following his move to Grand Marais.

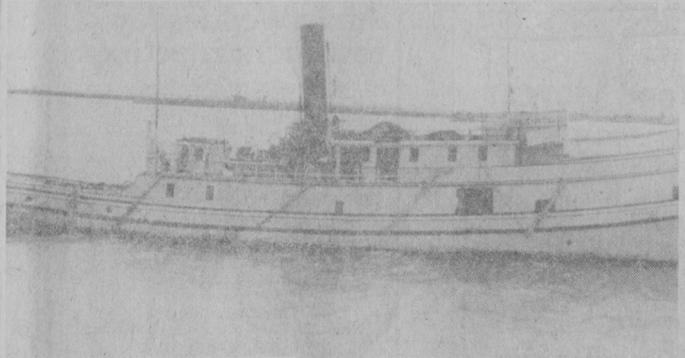

Log raft towing on Lake Huron ended in 1897 when the Canadian government adopted a regulation providing that all logs cut on crown lands should be manufactured within the province. Except for an occasional raft of logs coming down from Lake Superior or going across Georgian Bay, Lake Huron and its connecting waters became the preserves of lake carriers. For years, the Lake Carriers' Association had fought raftsmen concerning the serious danger to navigation provided by rafting operations.

An interesting relic of the lumbering days and possibly a survivor of the 1878 storm which wrecked a raft of long timber on Tawas Point was found several years ago floating on Tawas Bay.

A single log to which two 30-foot-long chains had been attached, once a boom stuck in a huge raft of logs, apparently was rolled free from its bed of sand at the bottom of Tawas Bay during the violent action of a storm.

The partially submerged log and the two chains, which provided a dangerous hazard to small boat operation, was spotted by a United States Coast Guard patrol boat and towed to the coast guard boat house on Tawas Point.

Both of the chains were salvaged by a local collector, who discovered the mark of Smith and Bliss on the rusty links of the heavy iron chain, and one has been donated to the United States Forest Service for display in its new visitor information center to be constructed at Lumbermen's Monument.

THIS TUG was known as the Vigilant and was owned by H. N. Loud Sons' Lumber Company at AuSable-Oscoda. This boat was famous for its powerful towing capacity and was used to move huge rafts of logs from this region to mills of the Saginaw River and long timber to Tonawanda, New York.

Editorial—

Annexation Plans Need Revision

After reviewing preliminary annexation plans, this corner is of the opinion that Tawas City should consider modification of the proposed application to the state boundary commission.

As presented last week to the city council, annexation of land in two adjoining townships seemed to be just too expensive for the city's needs in the immediate future.

Crossing Townline Road at Bay Drive and extending into Alabaster Township for about 1,500 feet is a correct approach, for the city, on petition of property owners, has provided water service to that area for a number of years.

The unoccupied land surrounding the new 40-acre industrial park recently annexed to the city, also seems to be a natural area for annexation as the approximately 160 acres is uninhabited and undeveloped and could provide much needed space for future residential development. The same could be said for the 40-acre parcel west of Fifth Avenue and fronting on M-55.

Although commercial development of the Tawas area has been like a drop of water hitting a revolving whetstone in recent years, spreading out for eight or nine miles along US-23, providing sewer service to the area for annexation suggested below Townline Road would be an expensive project and one to be considered at some distant time, if desired. In addition, it would mean a loss of valuable tax base to neighboring Alabaster Township, which has a limited commercial area.

Although it might eliminate present confusing township lines in that vicinity, it would further complicate the boundaries by lengthening the cumbersome US-23 corridor of the city at its southwestern boundary. In addition, it would mean that two bars located in that area would be included within the city boundary, which might not be justified by state regulations for liquor licensing.

Crossing Dead Creek and annexing property along Meadow Road would not conform with the idea of squaring off the city's western border, but would provide still another confusing bulge into adjoining Tawas Township.

It could well be argued that now is the time to think of the future, justified by the need for water and sewer service should the commercial area continue to develop south along US-23, but a spirit of mutual cooperation between Tawas City and its two neighboring townships should always prevail.

It is to be hoped that the above two suggested exceptions will be given some consideration at the joint meeting on annexation called for October 15.

Equipment Vandalism Is Drain on Your Tax Dollar

LANSING — Public participation with contractors in reducing theft, vandalism or sabotage to road construction equipment is a must if taxpayers are going to stretch their road and bridge building tax appropriations.

The public is needed to be the eyes and ears of the road building industry in order to reduce theft and pilferage on job sites, reports the Michigan Road Builders Association. Most thefts and acts of vandalism occur after working hours and on holidays and week-end.

"If Michigan taxpayers are to keep the lid on rising road maintenance and bridge construction costs, then the industry must appeal to the average citizen to assist in the reporting of theft and vandalism on construction road sites," states MRBA.

Both contractors and the taxpayer pay for this theft and vandalism. The average Michigan road building contractor lost $14,000 to crime—pilferage, vandalism, sabotage, arson and theft in 1978. The taxpayer foots the bill, paying for those losses in future road building projects.

When a citizen refuses to report a theft, vandalism or sabotage, he is being robbed of his personal tax dollars. Critical pieces of equipment stolen from a job site means that tradesmen stand around—at a rate of thousands of dollars per hour.

In my childhood, we lived on a farm without highly mechanized equipment. In those days, neighbors exchanged work. Together they did such tasks as woodcutting, threshing and planting. On one such occasion, a dozen men were enjoying my mother's good cooking in our dining room.

One man made a degrading remark about a man in the neighborhood who did not measure up to community standards. The next man added an uncomplimentary comment. So it went around the table until everyone had added his bit, everyone except my father. Refusing to comment in such a manner, my father said, "But did you ever hear that man whistle? He can whistle the best of anyone I know." Silence reigned. The critics were chastened. The conversation turned to other topics.

City Manager Discusses Proposal

directly in that cost." Over the past 10 years, Tawas City's state equalized valuation has increased an average of eight to nine percent per year, rising from about $6,550,000 in 1970 to $14,600,000 in 1979. "If this trend continues, the actual portion of the millage which is allocated to paying off the new municipal center would be reduced every year. Additionally, the payment itself will be reduced over the years since the amount of the interest payment goes down as the principal payment is reduced.

It is anticipated that payment on the municipal center during the years 1980-1985 would require a tax rate of 2.4 mills, with substantial lowering of the millage rate after that period as the state equalized valuation increases. A concrete example of how this reduction in debt retirement millage works is the Tawas Area High School project of 1955. Millage for payment on the school in the mid-1950s was two to three mills and millage needed for the final payment 25 years later is 0.5 of a mill.

With intensified future efforts on attracting commercial and industrial growth, Thomas believes the city's tax base should increase faster than an average of eight to nine percent per year.

"Our present 16.45 millage rate supports a budget which includes a one-time $50,000 payment on purchase of a portion of the rivermouth property. Since this is the equivalent of 3.5 mills and if all other sources of revenue continue at the present level, there should be no, or very limited, millage increase to support payment of the municipal center," said Thomas.

The cost of constructing appears to be inflating faster than the dollar, said Thomas. "It is easy to see how valuable a building built today will be 10 to 20 years from now. Shall we saddle the next generation with a $500,000 municipal center or one costing $2,300,000?"

Highlights And Sidelights

Bill Would Improve City Bonding

LANSING—House Bill 4461, a bill improving the bonding capability of certain fourth class cities in Northern Michigan, has cleared the Senate Municipalities and Elections Committee, according to its chairman, State Sen. Mitch Irwin, Sault Ste. Marie.

Sponsored by Rep. Tom Alley, West Branch, the bill now moves on to the full senate floor where action is expected in the very near future.

In testifying before the committee, Representative Alley said, "Urgent passage of this bill is necessary. This bill will accomplish two goals. First, in recent years several statutes have seriously eroded the local tax base. Since bonding capacity is based on a percentage of the local tax base, it too has been diminished. This bill would restore the bonding capability of fourth class cities. Second, general obligation 'housing' bonds which are fully supported by federal rent subsidies would be excluded from the city's debt ceiling. This will enable fourth class cities to issue general obligation bonds with improved marketability and at lower interest rates without exceeding their debt ceiling."

According to Irwin, several northern cities will be affected including Au Gres, Bad Axe, Beaverton, Brown City, East Tawas, Harrisville, Lake City, McBain, Niles, Homer, Rose City, St. Clair, Sandusky, Stanton, West Branch, Whittemore and Yale.

Commenting on the bill, Irwin said, "I am pleased that Representative Alley has moved this bill through the legislature this swiftly. It is important that our small Northern Michigan fourth class cities have the same rights as are now available in larger ones. The passage of this bill is important to allow our fourth class cities to be competitive in bonding for economic development activities, especially in the area of housing."

The bill, which cleared the house by a 103 to 0 margin, moves on to a senate calendar and, following passage, must then be signed by the governor before becoming law.

Tawas Braves Football team won over Sterling Friday afternoon, then lost to Alpena Catholic Central Wednesday afternoon. Don Harmon scored the lone touchdown against Sterling and Don Hester booted the extra point to give Tawas a one-point edge. In the 13-0 shutout with Alpena, the Braves were unable to capitalize on a blocked punt by Don Phillips and a long pass from Quarterback John LeClair to Harmon.

The war department is not advertising the details, but it has completed plans for the occupation of Germany when the war is over in Europe. Allies have agreed the occupation would be shared in roughly equal numbers by United States, British and Soviet forces. This will permit the return to the United States of a maximum number of units, freeing thousands of trained men for polishing off the war against Japan.

Dick Wakefield has rejoined the Detroit Tigers after his stint in military service. Before his return, Rudy York was the only hitter enemy pitchers were afraid of in a pinch. They could pass York and settle down to get the next man and have little worry about the men on base getting home. York should get his swings now at the plate for Wakefield is a dangerous batter.

USDA PERMITS USE OF COMMON NAMES FOR NITRITE-FREE MEAT PRODUCTS.

Products traditionally cured with nitrite may be produced without nitrite and, for the first time, labeled by the common or usual names.

Prior to this new United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) regulation, hot dogs without nitrite, for example, would have to be labeled "uncured cooked sausage."

"This labeling practice discouraged producers of nitrite-free products and confused consumers. Processors can now better respond to consumers who prefer clearly labeled nitrite-free products," said Carol Tucker Foreman, assistant secretary of agriculture for food and consumer services. Foreman said strict requirements must be met in the manufacture and storage of these products so that consumers who prefer to purchase uncured products can do so with assurance of their safety.

The regulation provides that the labels on nitrite-free products must carry the word, uncured, as part of the product name (uncured bacon, for example) and the statement, no nitrate or nitrite added.

If no alternative method of preservation such as canning, pickling or drying, is used, the labels must also carry the warning, not preserved—keep refrigerated below 40 degrees Fahrenheit at all times.

In addition, nitrite-free products must be similar in size, flavor, consistency and general appearance to the traditional products.

Foreman explained that regulations under the Federal Meat Inspection Act require certain standards for all meat products sold in interstate commerce. Up to this time, cured meats such as frankfurters, bacon and bologna had to contain nitrite to meet the federal standards. Now, the meat industry is permitted to manufacture uncured products without nitrite and to label them with the names consumers are used to.

"The uncured products must be stored, prepared and refrigerated carefully, just like any other fresh meat," Foreman said. "The department will have available a consumer information publication on how to handle nitrite-free meats safely and is producing public service television and radio announcements with a similar message."

A majority of the 365 commenters favored this no-nitrite proposal when it was published for comment in April 1978.

Consumers can obtain a free copy of the publication on handling nitrite-free meats by writing to United States Department of Agriculture, FSOS Publications, Washington, D. C. 20250.

The amendment was published in the August 21 Federal Register and became effective September 20.
