

Iosco Jammed for Labor Day

Michigan residents enjoyed perfect weather conditions for the last big week-end of summer by jamming highways and resort areas throughout the state. Traffic on highways leading through Iosco County was the heaviest of the summer season over the three-day Labor Day week-end.

Boating and camping facilities of the area reported exceptionally high usage with docking facilities on Tawas Bay being jammed with boats over the holiday. The Michigan Waterways Commission Dock at East Tawas had its busiest week-end of the summer.

Iosco County Sheriff's Department, too, had its busiest week-end of the summer and 30 persons were booked in at the county jail for a variety of complaints.

The jail's log book indicated there were 42 written complaints, 136 investigations and 19 traffic accidents reported.

Two persons were injured Monday in a single car crash on Putnam Road, Plainfield Township. A car driven by Randolph W. Erickson, 20, Tawas City, failed to negotiate a curve. Injured and treated at Tawas Hospital were two passengers, Michael Nelson, 21, and Joseph L. Schaaf, 19.

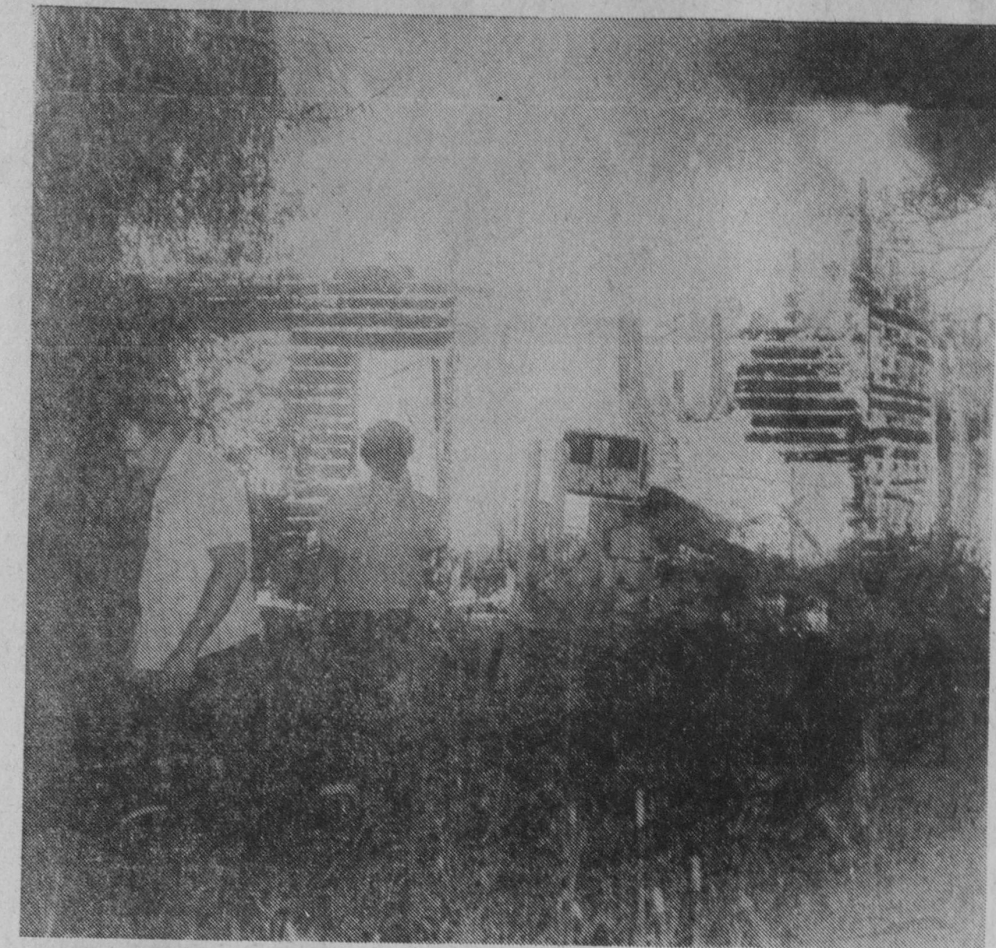

Three motorcyclists were injured in crashes Sunday. Robert W. Hannah, 27, Southgate, lost control of his machine in Huron National Forest, Oscoda Township, and struck a tree; Richard L. Steele, 28, Tecumseh, flipped his motorcycle into a ditch on Plank Road; Gary A. Stuckey, 30, Saginaw, and Richard L. Jenkins, 37, Wyandotte, were treated at Tawas Hospital after the motorcycle which Stuckey was operating hit a tree in Grant Township.

Injured in motorcycle crashes Saturday were Deborah S. Stacey, 12, and Tammy Van-Auken, 14, both of Whittemore. The motorcycle which they were riding hit a stump on a private trail; Clark Beach, 29, Saginaw, and Beverly J. Jewell, 27, Saginaw, were treated at Tawas Hospital after Beach's motorcycle flipped into a ditch along M-65, Plainfield Township; Clinton Robinson, 45, Wayne, was injured and treated at Tawas Hospital after his motorcycle flipped over on a sand trail in Oscoda Township.

Four persons were injured Saturday in a two-car crash on Plank Road. Drivers of the vehicles were Daniel R. Reinhardt, 23, Bay City, and Eugene L. Martin, 28, Hale. Passengers injured in the Martin vehicle were William F. Denstedt, 17, and Debra Denstedt, 22, both of Hale.

Accidents investigated earlier in the week were as follows: Eileen Thompson, 16, Oscoda, was struck by a motorcycle Wednesday while walking east on Water Street, Oscoda Township. She was treated at Wurtsmith Air Force Base Hospital. Operator of the motorcycle was Kenneth J. Kibble, 17, Oscoda.

John R. Domerese, 23, Oscoda, was injured Thursday and treated at Tawas Hospital when his motorcycle hit a stump in a wooded area of Oscoda Township.

ARSONISTS torched this old farm house on McArdle Road Monday night and, about one-half hour later, firemen were called to another unoccupied house in Alabaster Township which was on fire. Both of the structures burned to the ground. Anyone with information concerning persons responsible for setting the fires should contact either the sheriff's department or Michigan State Police.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Arsonists Torched Two Old Farm Houses in Area

Local law enforcement authorities are investigating the intentional torching of two old unoccupied houses in the Tawas area Monday night, September 3.

At 9:27 o'clock, Tawas City Fire Department was called to the intersection of McArdle Road and Miller Road in Tawas Township where an old house owned by Florence Wideman, Bay Port, was in flames.

The house had been vacant for years and had no electrical service. Investigating Iosco County Sheriff's Department officers said that arson could be the only cause of the blaze.

Neighbors noticed what first was believed to be a campfire on the property and later investigated when the fire grew in intensity. A quantity of hay owned by William Katterman was stored in a barn on the property. Rollie Gackstetter, a neighbor, assisted Katterman in preventing flames from reaching the barn until firemen arrived.

While Tawas City firemen were at the scene of this blaze, a second call was received in Alabaster Township. East Tawas Fire Department, which has a mutual fire protection agreement with Tawas City, sent its units in answer to the call.

An unoccupied house on a curve near the intersection of US-23 and Alabaster Road was completely engulfed in flames when fire trucks arrived. Firemen devoted their attention to protecting a cable owned by Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

This house, owned at one time by Emil Christenson, had been damaged by arsonists several years ago. The structure was completely destroyed Monday night.

Michigan State Police from East Tawas are investigating the fire in Alabaster Township. Information from residents who may have seen cars or individuals at either house prior to the fire would be appreciated by the two law enforcement agencies.

Iosco Assured of Four New Buses for Transit System

Iosco County will get six new buses for a transit system to go into operation later this year, but all will not be delivered at the same time according to a report Friday from State Sen. Mitch Irwin.

Senator Irwin's office reported that a letter from John Woodford, director of transportation for the state, indicated that this county would receive four new buses for its new transit authority.

Two old buses will also be used, with the provision that those units would be replaced within four months. The state has made provisions to pay any increased maintenance cost incurred by the county during the four-month period.

Iosco County Board of Commissioners recently expressed concern that the state was not living up to its agreement to provide six new buses for the county's transportation system. It was reported a month ago that the state had agreed to provide only three new buses and the county was to utilize three older units.

The county expressed extreme dissatisfaction with this arrangement as the former bus system operating here had been discontinued due to high maintenance costs for the older units.

During a recent visit to the county building, Senator Irwin met with the board of commissioners and said he would attempt to help this county obtain the six new buses promised by the state.

Word that the department of transportation had agreed to furnish four new buses, with the assurance that two additional new buses would be received within four months, was confirmed by Joseph Fox of Tawas City, a representative of the Michigan Association of Counties.

Tawas City Applies for Critical Bridge Funding

Application for state and federal funds to aid in the replacement of two old bridges was approved Tuesday night by the Tawas City Council. The meeting was delayed one night due to the Labor Day holiday.

According to information submitted by City Mgr. Lowell Thomas, approximately $10,000,000 will be available in this state from 1979 through 1982 in a critical bridge program.

Tawas City hopes to participate in this program in order to replace a bridge constructed in 1912 spanning Dead Creek on Sixth Avenue and another old bridge crossing the Tawas River at Whittemore Street. Both bridges have weight restrictions due to old age and truck traffic is prohibited over each structure.

Thomas told councilmen that, if approved for funding, the city would be eligible to receive from 75 to 80 percent of the total cost of replacement.

Edmands Engineering Company has estimated that replacement of the Sixth Avenue bridge would cost $134,000, while the replacement cost of the Whittemore Street Bridge has been estimated at $204,000.

Thomas emphasized that the above costs were based on the state formula for bridge replacement and did not take into consideration the type of materials to be used, either concrete, steel or wood.

Public hearings were also held Tuesday night on vacation of Maple and Spruce Streets near Tawas Hospital and vacation of an alley in Porterfield's Addition.

Collected $3,941 Monday in Jerry Lewis MD Telethon

Mrs. Ralph Bogart, co-chairman with Opal Ferrebee of Oscoda of the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon, reports a collection of $3,941.18 in fish bowls placed at Oscoda Township Hall and Tawas Area Chamber of Commerce office in Tawas City.

Pledges phoned in amounted to over $14,000 for the Labor Day drive to support the annual collection event in the Tawas and Oscoda areas.

SEVERAL THOUSAND VISITORS jammed the Iosco County area for the traditional Labor Day weekend. City parks in Tawas City and East Tawas were busy and the East Tawas City Park campground displayed its usual "no vacancy" sign. Swimmers, boaters and fishermen enjoyed unusually fine weather, the top picture showing the beach at the Tawas City Park and the lower picture showing a few of the boats at the Michigan Waterways Commission Dock. School bells were ringing today (Wednesday) to end the vacation season.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Hearing Monday on Suit Brought by Councilmen

A suit seeking a writ of mandamus and injunction prohibiting a recall election, brought by five members of the Tawas City Council, is to be heard next Monday by Circuit Judge David S. DeWitt of Midland.

The hearing is scheduled to start at 9:00 a. m. in Iosco Circuit Court. Judge DeWitt replaces Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller, who disqualified himself from hearing the case.

Seeking the injunction are James Lansky, Jerry Cotter, Donald Hayes, Hugo Jack Keiser and Charles Landon. Named as respondents are the county clerk, the city clerk and the county's special elections commission.

Attorneys for the five councilmen claim there were misrepresentations in the procuring of signatures on petitions and question the sufficiency of petition wording for a recall election to be held October 2.

Recall petitions were circulated by Allied Taxpayers and filed prior to the August 7 primary election. The petitions had been certified by City Clerk Rachel Sue McCready, accepted by County Clerk D. Keith Pappas and a recall election was set by the county's special elections commission.

In their suit, the five councilmen claim that petitions were interchanged with other petitions concerning a possible ward system for Tawas City, which were circulated among Tawas City residents, "so as to create confusion regarding the nature of circulators' complaints against the five councilmen."

It is claimed that this has resulted in the signers' confusion as to what was actually being signed and for what reason the petitions were signed.

It is also claimed that certain of the signatures are invalid and that circulators of the recall petitions falsely certified petitions contrary to the certificate of circulator affixed to the recall petitions.

One of the major claims in the suit is that the recall petitions do not contain reasons, either in terms of sufficiency or clarity so as to comply with relevant Michigan statutes or case law.

The reason for the recall, as stated at the top of each petition, was: "We are dissatisfied with his decision and recommendations."

The five councilmen named in the recall claim that their personal, as well as professional, reputations have been damaged by the abuse of the general recall process. They also claim that their state and federal constitutional rights have been violated.

Two of the councilmen, Cotter and Landon, were among six candidates renominated by voters for the general election. Hayes, a council appointee, is a candidate in the November election to fill a two-year vacancy, while Lansky and Keiser have two years remaining on their four-year terms.

New board members named were Rex Spell, Tony Russo, Karen Otwell, Lu Ann Kuss and Ruth Armstrong. Cochairmen are Stuart Hutchings and Charles Palmer.

Editorial—

Michigan's Indian fishermen and state authorities should reach some compromise on gill net fishing in Lakes Michigan and Superior before blood is shed in the current dispute over fishing rights.

Despite the fact that the federal court has refused to give consideration to Michigan's plea that unlimited gill netting by Indian commercial fishermen would soon exterminate the fishery resource, some common sense is required by all concerned.

By now, the courts should know that these Indians are not fishing for food for themselves, but are taking up to 25,000 pounds per day and shipping lake trout and whitefish to commercial markets around the country. This corner doubts if those fishermen are even receiving adequate compensation for those fish.

What is disturbing, however, is that a multimillion-dollar sport fishery paid for by sport license money, is rapidly being destroyed. In addition, other non-Indian commercial fishermen are being forced out of business and retaliation can be expected.

The state attorney general should appeal recent federal court orders permitting a takeover of the fishery in northern waters of the Great Lakes, seeking an injunction against gill net fishing until the matter is resolved in the courts.

This action may be too late to save the fishery, but something must be done and quickly. The Great Lakes fishery is important to all Michigan residents.

Hollis Mooney Died Sept. 3

(Read I Corinthians 13)
"How hard it is to find a capable wife (husband)! She (he) is worth far more than jewels! (Proverbs 31:10 TEV)

Last summer, our family took a hike through the Rocky Mountains in Colorado. After several hours of walking, we came to a rushing stream. There we saw a white-haired couple with bright smiles on their faces. The woman rested on a rock by the stream. Her husband almost slipped in as he dipped a tin cup into the cold water. He handed it to his wife as though she were the most important person in the world.

It was just a little act but this man was meeting his wife's need in a joyful way. It helped me to think of all the creative ways husbands and wives can show love to each other. Sometimes, this occurs as we try something new together or listen to each other. Sometimes, it is a kiss or a surprise love note hid in the loved one's pocket. Sometimes, it is a prayer together when we feel close in spirit.

When the marriage is rich and full, it is easier to reach out in loving service to others.

PRAYER
Heavenly Father, thank You for Your precious plan of marriage. Every day help us to remember that we are designed to be Your vessels of love. Touch those who are hurting in their marriages. Through Christ Jesus. Amen.

Clements - Moss Marriage Solemnized at East Tawas

St. Joseph's Church, East Tawas, was the scene of the double ring ceremony Saturday, September 1, uniting in marriage the former Mari Lynn Moss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moss of East Tawas, and Robert M. Clements, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Clements of Tawas City.

The Rev. Fr. Francis Murphy performed the noon ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the church's social center for 120 guests from Grand Rapids, St. Joseph, Manistee, Fremont, Oscoda, Birmingham, Maysville and Okemos. Mrs. James Vane, organist, accompanied Ann Brothers, vocalist.

The bride descended the aisle on the arm of her father in a white organza gown featuring Empire waist and bishop sleeves. Venice lace, tiny flowers and seed pearls adorned the bodice and Queen Anne neckline. Venice lace trim enhanced her skirt and edged the chapel length train. Securing her fingertip veil was a Juliet cap of matching lace and she carried a bouquet of white roses, blue Stephanotis and babies breath.

Catherine Moss, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Anne Dunham was bridesmaid. They wore powder blue crepe gowns, with Empire waistlines and matching blue jackets. Their bouquets were comprised of blue carnations and babies breath.

Serving as best man was James Caldwell of Lansing with John Moss, brother of the bride, groomsmen. Ushering guests was Jeryl Clements of Tawas City, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father in a Chantilly lace trimmed gown of polyester organza with an attached chapel train. Matching lace designed the veil and she carried a bouquet of carnations and babies breath.

Joy Ori was maid of honor with Carrie Perkola, bridesmaid. Serving as junior bridesmaid was Deanna Nichols. Flower girl was Robyn Nichols. Miss Ori and Miss Perkola wore light blue crepe dresses with matching lace jackets and the junior attendants were attired in light blue voile with lace trim.

Helen Hertzler to Show Oil-Watercolor Paintings

Helen Hertzler will present her oil and watercolor paintings Friday and Saturday, September 7-8, 1:00-5:00 p. m., at the gallery of Tawas Bay Artists.

Mrs. Hertzler has been a resident of East Tawas for over 36 years and taught music and art in the public school system. She started many young people's interest in art and some of her students have continued in painting.

She and Paula Peterson founded Tawas Bay Artists and are still active in the art group, holding life memberships. Both ladies were instrumental in the establishment of the waterfront show. Through the backing of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce, they started the young organization on its way to its present popularity.

In addition to her formal art education, Mrs. Hertzler has added to her painting education with extension courses at the University of Michigan, water-

vits, Larry Oighton and Arthur Hartman. She is chairman of gallery sitters, serves on the hanging committee for exhibitions and is recording secretary.

Tawas Bay Artists invite the friends and art lovers to meet Mrs. Hertzler and view her paintings.

Hale Eagles Open Season Friday Night

Despite losing four key players from last year's squad, Hale Area Eagles have only one way to go in this year's football season and, according to Coach Vern Reed, "that is to improve on the team's record of one win and eight losses last year. That could be a tall order for the Eagles in the tough North Star League, for Hale will be without the services of Daryn

Bernard, Randy Louks and Gary Wood, all conference selections in 1978 who graduated last spring. Todd Peters, another 1979 graduate, received honorable mention for all conference. Reed and Assistant Coach Don Dorcey are enthusiastic about the 10 returning starters from last year's squad and two other returning letter winners, but admit their over-all team speed could prove to be a problem this fall as the Eagles will be outweighed by most opposing clubs. "Our returnees are still quite inexperienced despite what appears to be a veteran squad on paper," reports Coach Reed. "We will have good balance, though, and the boys turned out for the start of practice in excellent physical condition, many of them working out on the weight lifting machine during the summer." The key to the Eagles' triple option wishbone offense will be the coach's son, Vern Reed III, who is a good passer and has some good receivers in Ends Tim Lesneski, 175-pound end, and Mark Turnbull, 150-pound

Religious Organization Pioneered Iosco's Inland Resort Business

THIS PHOTOGRAPH of the Kokosing Resort Hotel, established by the Christian Outing Grounds Association, was snapped around 1907 and shows guests posing on the lawn between the lagoon and the hotel. The hotel stood until 1938 when it was destroyed by fire.

The pioneer development of inland lake resort property in Iosco County was recorded on November 10, 1906, in the county register of deeds office by an organization known as the Christian Outing Grounds Association.

That first plat on the northeasterly side of Long Lake, Plainfield Township, comprised 638 lots and was prepared by Mason L. Brown and Company, civil engineers, Detroit. A first addition to the plat was recorded in 1910.

This unique development first gained attention in the February 23, 1906, issue of The Tawas Herald when it was announced that the Christian Outing Grounds Association, with headquarters at Toledo, Ohio, had purchased a large tract of land at Long Lake.

Of particular importance was the fact that the grounds were located on the Rose City branch of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway, which provided a transportation link with the outside world. This was essential for there were no roads of any consequence into this region.

The association promoted the building of a summer resort and assembly grounds for the Christian Church, which was headquartered at Toledo.

"The promoters are well-known members of that denomination and plans are now made for the erection of a large hotel and assembly hall early in the spring and it is expected that at least 1,000 families will spend the coming summer there," reported the Herald.

Two weeks later, the Herald reported that it had interviewed N. M. Cray of Toledo, secretary of the association, who was in Tawas City and on his way home from a visit to the lake.

"Mr. Cray speaks in the highest terms of the success of these new resort grounds and says that the sale of lots is most satisfactory," said the newspaper.

He showed the Herald man the plans for "the handsome new hotel which will be built by the association as soon as the weather will permit."

The building measured 116 by 40 feet with a 14-foot veranda extending around three sides. Of three story design with a basement, the lower portion was of concrete blocks and the two upper floors were shingled, "making a most handsome appearance."

The first floor held the main lobby, measuring 34 by 64 feet; a ladies' "parlor;" the association offices; four sleeping rooms and a large banquet hall.

The upper floors were used for sleeping rooms, each of which opened into a main hall extending the entire length of the building. The structure's 33 by 47-foot dining hall was located in the basement, along with a kitchen and a pantry.

"Work will be commenced just as soon as the frost is out of the ground and it is expected that the hotel will be ready for business by July 1. A large number of cottages will be built as soon as the weather will permit. Everything indicates that Long Lake will be a busy place during the coming summer."

The Herald's prediction came true and Long Lake, indeed, was a busy place during that summer of 1906. The Christian Outing Grounds Association's beautiful new hotel was completed and in use and cottages were erected by members.

A year later, the Herald noted that the "Christian Outing Grounds Association had just issued a handsomely illustrated prospectus of its resort, 'Kokosing,' on Long Lake. This year will see great improvements made at this resort which is now starting its second season and the indications are that it is destined to become one of the most popular of Michigan's many beautiful resorts."

The development of Kokosing Subdivision preceded by a year the construction of the first summer homes in Tawas City, although the Detroit and Mackinac Railway had developed its Tawas Beach Park some years earlier with cottages available for rent.

"P. B. Martin and Doctor Myers of Springfield, Ohio, were in Tawas City several days during the past week and purchased the Wallace Brown and Benjamin Sawyer places on the bay shore near 'The Elms'. We are informed on good authority that the gentlemen will at once erect thereon two handsome summer homes for the use of their families," reported the Herald on May 3, 1907.

"The prospects are that this spring will see a number of other summer homes built here as parties from other points have been making inquiries for desirable sites and will visit our city in the near future," commented the Herald.

The resort development in Tawas City, along with that a few years later at Sand Lake, differed from the Long Lake project, however, in that the Kokosing Subdivision was aimed principally at bringing Ohio families to this region for religious instruction as well as recreational enjoyment.

The original Kokosing plat designated 10 different parks, one of which was set aside for outdoor worship services. Some of the lots contained in the original plat were only 36 feet in width—adequate for the erection of a small cottage, but certainly complicating construction in later years when the association was no longer in existence.

Development of the Christian Outing Grounds Association's Kokosing Subdivision added materially to the economic business at nearby Hale Lake (now shortened to Hale). Stores bustled with activity with the influx of Ohio residents, with considerable horse and wagon traffic between the established crossroads village and the new resort.

"John J. Love is proprietor of the Hale livery barn, having purchased the same from Charles Glendennin last Friday. John promises to keep everything in first class shape and give prompt attention to business at all times. 'Chub' Sutherby is assisting him at the barn," reported the Herald on June 14, 1907.

Long Lake, which had been called Ellake for a number of years later due to conflicting post offices with the same name, then reverting to its original name in 1924, actually had grown up as the result of early lumbering activities in Iosco County and two stores had operated there for years.

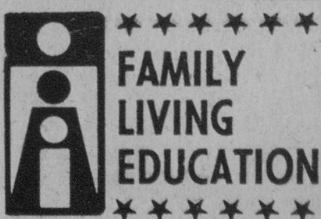

Passenger and freight train service had been established there in 1893 by the D&M and a depot was constructed about 1905. A pool hall was a popular meeting place for menfolk of the surrounding territory.

A school was opened at Long Lake around the turn of the century and four different buildings were used, the last two schools being destroyed by fire. There was a Methodist Church to (See KOKOSING, page 6.)

BACK-TO-SCHOOL CLOTHING FOR KIDS

(Part two of three parts)
Recycling previously worn garments is one way parents can cut costs as they prepare children for the return to school, according to Isabel Jones, extension clothing specialist for the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service.

Children will enjoy wearing hand-me-downs if they are recycled before being passed along and they will probably be more likely to feel good about wearing hand-me-downs if they are personalized. Adding appliques, trims, fashion zippers and pockets or embroidering a child's name on a garment will help make the clothes more characteristic of his or her personality.

To avoid washing problems, be sure the fabric or trims added require the same care as the original garment. Remember to preshrink all fabrics and trims before applying to clothing.

Restyling garments involves shortening or lengthening sleeves, changing a waistline or neckline or decreasing fullness in pant legs or skirts. Adding contrasting cuffs and collars is another quick way to give older clothing a fresh new look. Adult garments that are no longer worn, yet are still in good condition, may be used as fabric to make entirely new garments for small children. Simply disassemble the original garment and cut out the child garment using a pattern guide.

Recycling or restyling clothing takes time, some imagination and creativity, but does not require spending a large amount of money for fashionable results.

Earnings for Many Approaching Limit

This is the time of year when the earnings of many working people who receive social security benefits are approaching the point where their benefits may be affected, a social security representative said recently.

Once a person's earnings exceed the annual limit, $1 in benefits is generally withheld for each $2 of earnings. The 1979 annual limits are $3,480 for people under 65 and $4,500 for people 65 or over.

Many people getting benefits plan to earn no more than the limit but for one reason or another, their earnings exceed it and they have to repay benefits that were incorrectly paid. That is the reason, the spokesperson said, people should take a little time to review their earnings for the first part of 1979 and make sure of where they stand.

One thing people should keep in mind is that gross earnings, not just take home pay, count towards the annual limit. Remembering this point will keep many people from going over the limit.

Another important point is that it is when wages are earned, not paid, that decides whether they should be counted. For example, wages earned late in 1979, but not paid until 1980, count toward the 1979 annual limit. By the same token, wages earned late in 1978 but not paid until 1979, do not count toward the 1979 limit.

More information about how earnings affect social security benefits can be found in the leaflet, If you work after you retire. Copies can be obtained at any social security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory.

Q. Our daughter recently became eligible for Medicare because she has permanent kidney failure. We know Medicare will cover her dialysis and other major services. What services are not covered?

A. Some of the services Medicare does not cover are ambulance or other transportation costs to a facility for routine outpatient maintenance dialysis; dialysis aides' services to assist in home dialysis, except under certain conditions; inpatient hospital and skilled nursing facility costs when the stay is solely for maintenance dialysis; and lodging costs when an outpatient dialysis facility is not near your home. For detailed information, ask for a copy of Medicare coverage of kidney dialysis and kidney transplant services—A supplement to Your Medicare Handbook at any social security office.

Q. My company pension plan pays retirement pensions at age 55. I'm considering retiring when I reach 55 later this year. If I do, how will this affect my social security benefits at age 65?

A. The amount of your social security retirement benefit will be based on your covered earnings over a period of years. If several or more years of no earnings have to be counted, your benefit will be lower than what it would be if you worked until you are 65.

THE SOO LOCKS, with the largest, the Poe locks, at center right.

The Link Between the Great Lakes

SAULT STE. MARIE—When ex-salesman - canal builder, Charles T. Harvey, watched the first ship, the Illinois, pass through his crude lock system at Sault Ste. Marie on June 18, 1855, he probably had not the slightest vision of that vital transportation link as it exists today. Although his efforts were legendary, a story of frustration and determination as two locks were dug literally by hand with pick and shovel, his results were modest.

In the first decade of the Soo Locks, average annual cargo through the locks was 120,000 tons with each ship carrying no more than 500-600 tons. Now the system averages around 100-million tons per year—a peak year in 1953 hit 128-million tons. Current cargoes dwarf the early passages. Leviathans, like the 1,000-foot James Barker or sister ship, Mesabi Miner, each carry a maximum cargo of 59,000 tons of iron ore pellets—a single transit of both ships equaling the annual total during the early years.

Obviously, much has changed in the past 128 years. The shipping industry has responded rapidly to transportation demands, building ever larger, more efficient vessels. Little has remained unchanged. A constant in the entire shipping picture, however, has been the significant role the Soo Locks system plays in Great Lakes shipping. Prior to the 1855 opening, commerce between Lake Superior and the lower lakes had been constrained. Cargo had to be transferred to a small rail link for movement around the dangerous Sault rapids. The locks allowed the grain and iron ore of the upper lake to reach lower lake markets more efficiently. Today, the locks do the same thing, moving far greater quantities.

Replacing Harvey's primitive locks are four United States locks and one Canadian lock. They move more tonnage than the combined totals of the Panama and Suez Canals. As the only water connection between Lake Superior and the other Great Lakes, these locks are able to handle 12,000 to 13,000 transits annually to move growing volumes of iron ore, coal, limestone and grain to lower lakes ports. These basic commodities are vital to the entire Great Lakes economy. Nearly every Great Lakes Basin city depends in one way or another on the commodities passing through the Soo.

Operated by the Soo Area Office of the United States Army Corps of Engineers, the four US locks vary considerably in size. The Davis and Sabin locks are 1,350 feet long, 80 feet wide and have a depth of 23 feet. Built before 1920, both locks were designed to handle two ships in a single 21-foot lift, 600 to 700-foot ships being the largest vessels of that era.

The MacArthur lock built in 1943 is 800 feet long, still 80 feet wide, but has a depth of 31 feet. The newest lock, the Poe, constructed in 1968, reflected the increases in beam of contemporary vessels. It measures 1,200 feet in length, 110 feet in width and 32 feet in depth. It can handle the new generation of 1,000-foot vessels with beams up to a maximum of 105 feet.
For ships like the Barker and Mesabi Miner with a 105-foot beam, it is a tight fit with 2½-foot clearance on either side. It is important to note that if this single lock were to become inoperable, traffic to and from Superior would be limited to vessels 75 feet wide or less. Presently, 15 vessels operating in Lake Superior can use only the Poe Lock.
Maximum vessel size has, in fact, been a topic of active discussion in Great Lakes shipping circles. Ships in the 1200-1300-foot range with beams of 130 feet are currently being suggested. Such ships would require, of course, modification of the present Soo Locks as well as the lock systems of the Great Lakes. Since the larger ships could require deeper drafts to take maximum advantage of their increased size, dredging of the connecting channels and harbor areas from their existing 27-foot depths to 32 feet or 36 feet is also a possibility under consideration. Many economic, environmental and social factors will be weighed and measured before any decisions are made. A major study, the Great Lakes Connecting Channels and Harbor Study, being conducted by the Detroit District Office Corps of Engineers will address the many complex issues arising from increased vessel size.

Foresters Resume Efforts to Develop Huron - Manistee Management Plan

Forest Sup. Wayne K. Mann announced recently that the Huron-Manistee National Forests have resumed efforts to develop a comprehensive forest land management plan. The initial planning process, which began in 1975, was halted for several months because of new land management planning regulations, as amended in the National Forest Management Act of 1976.

The former planning process called for development of a lake states area guide, a forest plan and unit plans. As a result of the National Forest Management Act of 1976, the forest is now required to develop a forest-wide detailed plan. According to Mann, the new process calls for more specificity in the forest land management plan. Originally, the unit plans would have addressed specific issues, concerns and opportunities common to that unit, while the forest plan would have addressed the same items on a broader scale.

The new regulations also require the designation of an interdisciplinary team that will be responsible for development of the land management plan. This team was designated in May 1979, with the following disciplines represented: Engineering, forestry, geology, hydrology, landscape architecture and wildlife biology. The team will be headed up by the land management planning staff officer.

Forest Supervisor Mann stressed the fact that information gained from the public during its involvement in the planning process since 1975 will still be utilized to the fullest extent possible in the months ahead. The completion date for the forest plan is scheduled for 1983.

Comments on the draft work plan will be accepted until October 11.

CETA Program Prepares Students

Preparing students for a classroom training program (CRT) that will be operated in various educational institutions by Region 7B Employment and Training Consortium, Harrison, is one of the functions of Edmond Crosby, Region 7B vocational education counselor at Kirtland Community College near Roscommon. The Region 7B staff also includes Jane Kirkby at Delta College and Warner Maul at Mid Michigan Community College.

"The program gives people an opportunity to explore their values; to prepare them for handling stress and value programming so they can assess themselves in their respective problem areas," states Crosby. The enrollees are provided with self-awareness and values clarification exercises during the two-day sessions at Kirtland.

Crosby points out that these people are being prepared for enrollment in the CETA-funded CRT programs being operated at several colleges in the Region 7B area. They also received college readiness skills which included note taking instruction, listening skills, how to take exams, how to prepare for exams, the various forms of college exams and study skills.

Pre-employment skills assessment and training to show them their problem areas and how to improve their employability skills were also included in the program, Crosby added.

New Extension Publications Concern Tourism Activities

Two new cooperative extension service publications are available for people involved in tourism or in winter recreation activities. "How to Advertise in an Energy Crisis" analyzes the types of businesses which will probably suffer from limited gasoline and those which may benefit. It also lists ideas for advertising to minimize the effects of gasoline shortages. While current gas supplies seem to be adequate, future predictions indicate that we should prepare ourselves to cope with periodic shortages. Also, many of the strategies suggested are effective in times of high gasoline prices which we face now and in the foreseeable future.

The second new publication is "Climatic Factors to Consider in Planning a Winter Recreation in Michigan," a reference booklet which would be helpful to anyone planning private or public winter recreation areas. Included in this booklet are data on monthly mean temperatures, monthly mean snowfalls, percentage of years and mean dates of the first six and 12-inch snow depths, average number of days with selected accumulated snow depths and additional climatological data for primary weather stations.

Copies of either bulletin are available by contacting the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service office in Iosco County at 362-3449. There is a small charge for each bulletin.

ORV Enthusiasts Should Cooperate

The United States Forest Service is again asking off-road-vehicle (ORV) enthusiasts to use designated roads and trails rather than cross-country travel that does considerable damage to the resources and environment.

An educational program was initiated this past spring to inform the ORV users where they could and could not ride their vehicles.

The forest supervisor's order, issued in 1976, is designed to provide for the needs of the ORV user yet protect the resources and provide for the needs of other recreationists as well. It left open 5,000 miles of forest roads, including two-tracks, and 692 miles of trail routes that are signed as open.

According to forest service officials, if a single track trail is not posted open, it is illegal to use any type of motorized vehicle on the trail.

More information regarding ORV use can be obtained by contacting any United States Forest Service office in Cadillac, Baldwin, Manistee, White Cloud, Mio, Tawas or Harrisville.

Early Risers Can View Lunar Eclipse

Early risers tomorrow morning (Thursday, September 6) will have a chance to view a total eclipse of the moon, says University of Michigan Astronomy Prof. Richard G. Teske.

In the brightening dawn, the moon will move totally into the earth's shadow at 6:31 and will become invisible. Shortly afterwards, the moon will set in the west and the sun will rise.

Total eclipses occur whenever the moon crosses the otherwise invisible shadow of the earth, when the sunlight which illuminates the moon is cut off. Sometimes, the moon may take as long as six hours to cross the earth's shadow.

Since the rotation of the earth will carry the Midwestern United States away from the night side into daylight during the progress of the event, Michiganans will see only the beginning phases of the phenomenon.

The university's astronomer points out another September event, the autumnal equinox, when the sun passes the equator on its way southward. This year, the equinox will occur at 11:17 a. m. on September 23. On that date, day and night will be of equal length; thereafter, the nights will be longer than the days until the sun again crosses the equator on its way northward next spring.

WORK is progressing so rapidly on the new parish house of Immaculate Heart of Mary Church that any picture snapped seems to be outdated by the time it is published. This picture was snapped last week, but stone masons were busy later in the week constructing a fireplace chimney and changed the entire exterior appearance of the building. The beautiful new building is located on the site of the former school overlooking Tawas Bay and fronting on Lake Street in Tawas City.—Tawas Herald Photo.

OFFICE OF INFORMATION, 379TH BOMBARDMENT WING (H) (SAC) WURTSMITH AFB, MI 48753

Munitions Man Injured in Explosion

Two munitions maintenance squadron airmen saved the life of a third man August 23 when a flare accidentally ignited and seriously burned him.

A1C Daniel A. Mohid, 20, and SSgt. Robert M. Nelson, 24, were inside the conventional weapons facility when the flare went off. They were performing a routine inspection of the newly arrived shipment of flares.

Upon seeing the flare go off, Amn. Phillip J. Skidmore, 19, who had just walked out of the building, rushed back in. TSgt. Charles R. Miller, 31, who was working in a near-by bay, also ran to give assistance.

Airman Skidmore, seeing that Sergeant Nelson was able to help himself, went to the aid of Airman Mohid. Airman Skidmore took his jacket off and wrapped it around Airman Mohid in an attempt to snuff out the flames. He then used his hands to put out the remaining fire on Airman Mohid's body.

Sergeant Nelson, though receiving some burns, was able to help himself out of the bay where he put out the fire on his person.

While Airman Skidmore was helping Airman Mohid, Sergeant Miller sought to remove the cause of the incident. He pushed the still-burning box outside of the bay, thus preventing it from being involved with other items in the area.

Airman Mohid was listed in serious but stable condition and has been airlifted to the University of Michigan Burn Center at Ann Arbor. Sergeant Nelson, whose condition is listed as satisfactory, was also hospitalized. Sergeant Miller was treated and released.

"It's really something on their parts to risk their lives and to save their counterparts," stated Lt. Col. Bruce L. Burke, munitions maintenance squadron commander, on the actions of Sergeant Miller and Airman Skidmore. "I'm really pleased with their actions and to be associated with people of their caliber," he concluded.

While the munitions receiving bay is isolated from other munitions, a fire protection team stood by the area until an experienced explosive ordnance disposal team arrived that same afternoon and declared the area safe.

Damage to the bay area was minimal, according to base officials, since only the flare burned. The cause of the incident is still under investigation.

WAFB Team Leaves for Competition

During the morning hours of September 10, the Wurtsmith "1979 Giant Sword" team will leave for Ellsworth Air Force Base, South Dakota. The team will be competing in the SAC-wide munitions loading competition September 10-19.

Also being awarded will be a Best in SAC Loading Competition Plaque for permanent retention by the wing and individual awards for the winning team members.

Wurtsmith's load team members this year are Sgt. Rodolfo Gonzales, team chief; SrA Dan Zipperian, number one man; SSgt. Darryl L. Sandell, number two man; Amn. Dennis Banach, number three man, and SrA David Corner, number four man.

serve the community until 1932, when it was discontinued.

The Christian Outing Association purchased its tract on the northeasterly side of the lake for a reported 75 cents per acre, the land having been part of the T. F. Thompson property which reverted back to the state for nonpayment of taxes after removal of the pine timber.

Many of the "cottages" erected by association members were simple tent top affairs and used only during the vacation season. Substantial cottages were erected in later years.

The Christian Outing Grounds Association apparently prospered for a little more than 10 years and, in 1924, a corduroy road was built around the lake. When the association collapsed, and no date or reason has been discovered in Herald files, Ohio people bought lots for $100 each.

One of those persons coming to the Long Lake area around 1906 was John A. Mortenson, who was to operate the Kokosing Resort Hotel and a real estate office at Long Lake for 44 years. He was founder of the Sixty Lakes Club, which utilized the abandoned D&M depot for its headquarters. Mortenson died in 1964.

One of those remembering the resort development at Long Lake from an early day is Carl A. List of Saginaw, who will be 99 years of age on November 25. Born at Frankenmuth, List worked in a general store there before moving to Saginaw.

List first came to Isoco County in 1915 as a wholesale shoe salesman, recalling that he would bring several trunks containing sample footwear on the D&M passenger trains. He displayed his wares at a central location for inspection by area store owners, took orders from local merchants and then mailed the orders off to the factory for filling.

"As many as 200 people would get off the train with their duffle and walk over to the Christian Outing Grounds Association," recalled List, who was visiting with his daughter recently at AuSable Lake.

"I would get here on a Friday night, take orders for shoes, do a little fishing the next day and then take the midnight train home to Saginaw. We had to take a livery wagon to Emery Junction (National City) to catch the southbound train and I can recall some rather interesting trips on that corduroy road."

List became so infatuated with fishing and the pleasant area surrounding Long Lake that he decided to purchase the 28-room Kokosing Resort Hotel, originally constructed in 1906.

It turned out that 1929 was not a particularly good year to enter business because of the financial crash and List and his wife operated the business only until 1933, when he had to give up on paying off the land contract and Mortenson again took over the property.

"I worked harder trying to make that hotel a paying proposition than anything I have ever done in my life," said List.

Lutheran Church services were conducted each Sunday morning on the veranda by visiting pastors and chicken dinners were a standard fare each Sunday afternoon. The unique feature of the hotel, which had a lagoon in front connecting it with Long Lake, was that each room was assigned the use of a rowboat.

Long active as a Saginaw insurance agent, List and three friends in the insurance field have continued to spend several weeks each year fishing at Long Lake. "Boy, how you could catch pike there in the old days," he states.

He now returns to the area each summer to visit at the AuSable Lake cottage owned by his son-in-law and daughter, Paul and Marian Burgbacher of Fostoria, Ohio. Despite his advanced years, he still enjoys fishing on area inland lakes.

The old Kokosing Resort Hotel burned to the ground in 1938 and the only known picture of that historic building is owned by Robert Burgbacher, Paul's brother, also of AuSable Lake.

Vacationers from Ohio are pictured in front of the building, along with an ancient automobile and a horse and wagon. The people are all dressed in the fashions which were popular shortly after the turn of the century when the Christian Outing Grounds Association pioneered its Kokosing Subdivision as the original inland lake resort development in this county.

Descendants of some of those original association members still own property and maintain summer cottages at Long Lake.

end. Both of the boys have good hands and, with some able receivers in the backfield, the Eagles will rely on a passing game to keep the defense honest.

Glen Bell, 180-pound senior fullback, and Lesneski have shown good power in workouts while Ken Weyandt, 170-pound senior tackle, is the strongest player on the team and Troy Sharp, 200-pound center, is the biggest man on the squad.

"Our kids may not match other teams in weight, but we expect them to hold their own in terms of strength," was the opinion of Coach Reed.

Rounding out the returning starters are Troy Peters, 136-pound halfback; Jeff Dillon, 170-pound junior halfback; Tom Sanders, 150-pound junior halfback.

Others who lettered last year include Maynard Smith, 155-pound end, and Ron Chrivia, 145-pound end.

Reed believes Allen Baker, 145-pound senior, will have a good shot at the regular center slot and another senior member of the squad is Fredrik Ul-tvedt, an exchange student.

Three sophomores expected to see action on the squad are Larry Caverly, 180-pound guard; Steve Tamplin, 185-pound guard; Matt Husted, 155-pound guard.

The Eagles were scheduled to scrimmage at home Friday night against Johannesburg and open the season Friday, September 7, playing host to Alcona, always a tough class C team. The following Friday night will see the Eagles playing host to Whittemore-PreScott, another class C team.

Whittemore-Prescott Voters Approve Millage Proposals

Voters of Whittemore-Prescott Area School District approved two tax millage levies by comfortable margins in Monday's special election. Both proposals had been defeated earlier by narrow margins at the annual school election in June.

Six hundred sixty-four ballots were cast in the election and a district first was registered when a voting machine was loaned for school use by Mills Township, Ogemaw County.

Voters approved a 1 1/2-mill special operational tax levy by a margin of 359 "yes" and 301 "no." A proposal to levy one-half mill of taxes to construct a new bus garage was approved 362 "yes" to 294 "no."

Immediately following the annual school election in June, the board of education adopted a resolution changing voting procedures in the district.

Throughout the history of the school district since reorganization, voting had been conducted on a nonregistration basis, the only requirement needed to qualify a person to vote in any school election being 30-day residency in the district prior to the election.

Such a system resulted in confusion at the school election polls as there was no voter registration list by which election inspectors could check qualification of a person applying for a ballot. As a result, a person residing in the district for 30 days could receive a ballot even though he was registered in another district.

Effective with Monday's election, persons desiring to vote were required to register with township or city clerks within the school district.

Tawas School Takes Issue With Breakfast Mandate

Although state officials have notified Tawas Area School that free breakfasts must be served starting this term in the junior and senior high school, local administrators are questioning application of this mandatory provision of the school code here this term.

Provisions of the school breakfast program have proven controversial throughout most of outstate Michigan during the past two years. Many schools have complained that serving breakfasts to some students only adds to the confusion at the start of morning classes.

In Tawas' case, only the junior and senior high school seems to meet the state's criteria for implementing a breakfast program. The state bases its ruling on the 1977 fourth Friday count, which indicates that of the 365 lunches served, 181 were free and reduced lunches in the junior and senior high school. This meets the state required 50 percent participation for the free breakfast program.

Supt. Allan Dighera has challenged the state, however, on using the fourth Friday count of two years ago as local school records indicate that the number of paid lunches increased later in the term when weather becomes colder. The school's three buildings did not qualify last year for the mandated program.

Based upon present wording of state forms for the mandated program, the superintendent said he did not believe that this school would have to serve breakfast this year if the matter was appealed to a court of competent jurisdiction.

Even if the state permits this school district to forego free breakfasts for some students this term, it will not be the case next year as qualifying eligibility percentages for the 1980-81 term are lower than the current term.

"An additional year of planning and education could make our breakfast program a more meaningful experience to our children," said the superintendent in his letter to the state.

Sheriff's Dept. Lists Complaints

Three breakings and enterings, a larceny and two vandalism complaints were investigated last week by Iosco County Sheriff's Department.

Burglaries were reported by Starboard Industries, Incorporated, Plant No. 1, Baldwin Township, a $200 reward is being offered for information leading to arrest and conviction of persons responsible; Ida Wellna, 199 Plank Road, burglary of a garage; Charles Westin, National City, burglary and theft of a chain saw.

Brooks Auto Parts, Tawas City, reported the theft of a motor from a lawnmower.

Vandalism complaints were received from Joseph Poe, damage to a six by eight-foot thermopane window, and Charles Brindley, Hale, a 3 1/2-year-old cow killed by gunfire.

Judge Stops Recall Election

Petition Wording Insufficient

Ruling that wording on petitions circulated by Allied Taxpayers was insufficient to meet state laws, Circuit Judge David S. DeWitt of Midland issued a writ of mandamus Monday ordering cancellation of a recall election in Tawas City on October 2.

She expressed the opinion to the court that citizens needed "protection from excessive spending." She said that property adjacent to the city had been offered at one time for $25,000, the price later rose to $35,000, the state equalized valuation is now $45,000 and the council only recently paid $65,000 for the property for city hall expansion purposes. She asked the court to "save us from bankruptcy."

Judge DeWitt said it was not the court's function to determine the merit of a recall campaign, nor to determine the fitness of individuals holding public office. He said the court's function was to determine if state law had been complied with in regard to sufficiency of wording on the petition.

He indicated that if a specific charge had been made in the wording similar to Mrs. Braman's statement, there would have been sufficient cause to justify a recall election.

"Unfortunately," he said that such a statement had not been made in the petition "and under the law, there is not sufficient grounds to describe action or charges against the councilmen to enable them to defend against the charges."

During the course of the hearing, Judge DeWitt said he had met with attorneys for the plaintiffs and respondents to discuss preliminary questions to be considered at Monday's hearing. He said that only the matter of sufficiency of petitions would be considered and that other issues brought up in the suit were "somewhat more factual than legal."

Attorneys for the five councilmen claimed in their suit that there were misrepresentations in the procuring of signatures on petitions, that petitions were interchanged with other petitions concerning a possible charter vote to return to a ward system so as to confuse signers, that certain of the signatures were invalid and that circulators of the recall petitions falsely certified those petitions contrary to the certificate of circulators.

Thirteen different individuals had been subpoenaed for Monday's hearing but were not called by attorneys for the plaintiff. The four councilmen indicated following the hearing that other matters pertaining to their suit had not been dropped as yet and they may seek criminal prosecution against three circulators of the petitions.

TC Councilman Burned Seriously in Gas Explosion

Charles Landon, a member of the Tawas City Council, was seriously burned Friday night when a propane gas furnace in a camper exploded in his face near Remus.

Receiving first degree burns to his face, second and third degree burns to his hands, he is being treated at Hurley Medical Center's burn unit at Flint, Room 379.

Landon and his wife were spending the week-end camping at Remus with relatives.

He will remain at Hurley Hospital from 10 days to two weeks. He is a driver for Jefferson Trucking Company.

Gun Safety Program Set at Club Range

Permission to use a school bus to transport youngsters to a gun safety program Saturday was granted Monday night by Tawas Area Board of Education. Full cost of the bus operation is to be borne by Oscoda Sportsmen's Club and Iosco Sportsmen's Club, sponsors.

David Bell, Glennie, a member of Oscoda Sportsmen's Club, said that the program would be held from 7:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Saturday at club grounds on River Road.

Ten instructors certified by the National Rifle Association will be on hand to instruct the youngsters in safe hunting practices, required to obtain a Michigan hunting license.

Slight Enrollment Increase Brings Tawas Area Close to Class B Status

With a slight increase in enrollment, Tawas Area High School is nearing the "magic number" where it could return to its former class B status.

As of Monday, enrollment in the high school numbered 683 students, only four short of the 687 total which would change the school's classification from class C to class B.

Athletic competition in state tournaments would be the only thing affected by any change. With its present enrollment, Tawas would be a large class C district, but only four more students would make it a small class B district.

Entered in class C competition for the first time last spring, Tawas Area Braves won district, regional and quarter-final basketball tournaments before losing in the semifinal at Ann Arbor. In previous years, it had never won a regional basketball tournament.

Supt. Allan Dighera told the board of education Monday night that total enrollment as of Monday was 1,736 students. Last February, the projected enrollment for this fall was 1,682 students, but that figure was revised slightly upward at the end of the school year.

The superintendent's report indicated that there were 423 students in kindergarten through grade three at the East Tawas Elementary Unit, 352 students in grades four through six at the Tawas City Elementary Unit, 278 in the junior high school and 683 in the high students in kindergarten through grade four in each unit.

Prin. Herman Rollin said that he had received no complaints concerning the movement of all having sections of kindergarten through grade three to the East Tawas Elementary Unit, rather than the former arrangement of opening of school was a routine matter with no problems encountered.

Wurtsmith Sergeant Files Suit Against Rd. Commission

In two suits filed last week in Iosco Circuit Court, one seeks a judgment of $3,000,000 against the Iosco County Road Commission.

LaVern Murphy, a sergeant in the United States Air Force assigned to Wurtsmith Air Force Base, was involved in an accident June 23, 1978, in which he swerved his car on F-41 near the intersection of Rea Road to avoid a deer standing on the roadway.

He claims that the curve was dangerous and the vision along the roadway was limited. The suit claims that the roadway was unsafe for vehicles and that the county road commission failed to properly maintain road conditions so as to properly negotiate the curve.

The sergeant claims he sustained severe and permanent injuries due to negligence and wrongful acts of the road commission.

Plainfield Township entered a suit against Hal C. Katterman and Lonnie Forshee, doing business as K and F Transit Mix and Katterman Trucking.

The township claims that the defendants constructed a building at 3540 Putnam Road and illegally posted a building permit which had been issued for use for an adjacent site "in an attempt to mislead the public to believe that they had a right to begin construction."

A temporary order was issued by Judge Allan C. Miller restraining the defendants from further work on the building and a show cause hearing has been set for September 26, 1:30 p. m., to determine if a permanent injunction should be issued.

Tawas Youngster Hurt in Jump from Tractor

A 12-year-old Tawas Township boy, Michael Curry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Curry, was seriously injured September 4 when he jumped from a tractor into the path of an auto on M-55 west of Tawas City.

The youngster was riding on the back of a farm tractor when he jumped into the path of an auto driven by John Dukarski, 41, Saginaw. He was treated at Tawas Hospital and then transferred to St. Luke's Hospital, Saginaw. He is presently convalescing at home.

Four persons were injured in three other accidents last week investigated by Iosco County Sheriff's Department.

TA School Allows AD Extra Time for Sports Scheduling

An additional hour of preparation time has been allowed the athletic director at Tawas Area High School, according to a report Monday night to Tawas Area Board of Education by Supt. Allan Dighera.

The superintendent was allowed to use his discretion in the matter when it was brought to the attention of the board of education two weeks ago. At that time, Dighera said that he had pursued rumors regarding the possible resignation of T. D. Haskin, who had been appointed athletic director a year ago.

The athletic director desired an additional hour of released time to perform duties of scheduling.

The superintendent said Monday night that one of Haskin's classes would be taken by a part-time teacher. The superintendent felt that the additional release time was needed to perform the duties of the athletic director. He said the situation would be restudied for the 1980-81 school year.

In other business, Martha MacLeod was hired as the reading teacher at the Tawas City Elementary Unit. She is a graduate of City College of San Francisco, California, and San Francisco State University.

The board of education's finance and budget committee reported that it planned to hold a hearing on the 1979-80 school budget on October 8. The board of education is to hold a work session on finances September 24.

Under terms of state law, the board authorized a millage levy of 21.25 mills for operation and .50 of a mill for debt retirement.

Official resignation of Dr. Robert Halle as a school teacher in this district was accepted. Following his release as superintendent of schools, he was eligible under the teacher tenure act to become a classroom teacher and was to become fifth grade science teacher. Since then, he has been hired as superintendent of the Kent City School District.

The board approved filling the custodial position of Wilmer Frank, who retired two years ago. Changing work schedules of custodians in the three buildings was authorized.

Included on the agenda for the September 24 meeting is a tour of the East Tawas Elementary Unit by members of the board of education.

Huron Furniture grows with the area in beauty conscious Oscoda

The Oscoda Bank has worked with Huron Furniture every step of the way, providing loans and buying contracts. As Opal Ferrebee puts it, "A small business like ours just couldn't operate without the help of the bank. They go out of their way to give us a hand."

Huron Furniture and Oscoda State Savings Bank cooperate to help make Oscoda as attractive inside as it is out.

In 15 years, Opal Ferrebee and John McArdle have built Huron Furniture into the largest display area for fine furniture and carpeting in northeastern Michigan. Lines such as: Thomsville, Lazy-Boy, Lane, Bassett, Kroehler, Norwalk, Clayton Marcus, Selsy and Burlington are a few name brands of fine furniture and carpeting now being displayed. The present store is twice the size of the original.
