Baker Files for Recount of Aug. 5 Primary Ballots

Alfred Baker of Hale, who was defeated by only one vote for the Republican nomination of Fifth District county commissioner in the August 5 primary election, filed an official petition Monday with Iosco County Clerk D. Keith Papas asking a recount of ballots in five precincts.

Named specifically for recount were Precinct Two of Plainfield Township, Precincts One and Two of Grant Township and Precincts Two and Five of Oscoda Township.

A total fee of $50 was paid by the defeated candidate, $10 for each precinct. Last year, the state established fee for recounting ballots was $5 per precinct.

Baker lost to John Webb, incumbent county commissioner, in each of the above named precincts. All precincts used paper ballots, with the exception of Plainfield Township, which utilizes voting machines.

Election night tallies gave Webb 20-15 and 16-7 margins in the two Oscoda Township precincts, plus margins of 45-43 and 39-24 in the two Grant Township precincts. The Second Precinct of Plainfield Township gave Webb a 68-60 margin.

Baker won in the First Precinct of Plainfield Township, 97-61, and Webb held a one-vote margin, 18-17, in absent voter ballots. Baker was a 42-39 winner in Reno Township.

During a check of all poll books following the election, the Iosco County Canvassing Board found no change in this tight race which gave Webb the victory. No date has been set as yet when the canvassing board is to open sealed metal boxes in the two townships for the recount of paper ballots and inspection of the paper print out in the one machine precinct.

In the event there is no change from the election night total, Baker said Monday that he would be a "sticker" candidate for county commissioner in the November general election.

This would result in a three-way race between Webb and Baker, Republicans, against Robert Pember, Democratic nominee for the Fifth District commission seat. Pember received 236 votes in the primary election to win the nomination for that party.

In 1978, Webb was re-elected to the commission seat when he defeated Pember, 1,035-846, winning in five of the district's eight precincts. Pember won in Precinct Two of Oscoda Township and the two precincts of Grant Township.

For Treatment Facility

OK Land Transfer to Tawas Plating

Authorization to deed additional city property to Tawas Plating Company was given Monday night by the Tawas City Council.

When the firm located here 25 years ago, the city provided land for its plant near the wastewater treatment plant. When Industrial Avenue was later constructed, the route cut through remaining city-owned land at an angle and left several small unusable triangles of property.

The old 40-foot right-of-way is to be expanded to 66 feet in width and land remaining which is contiguous to Tawas Plating Company's site is to be deeded to the firm. Tawas Plating Company is planning a $350,000 facility to treat industrial wastewater before it enters the municipal system. The facility is to be located on the east side of the plant.

An arrangement is to be made to provide access to

Bopp-Busch Manufacturing Company's metal building on the north side of Industrial Avenue.

In other business, the council is to study a list of names recommended by the commercial improvement committee for appointment to the new downtown development authority. That new board is to be composed of eight members and the mayor. Five of the members must have an interest in property within the district.

The city manager reported on his attendance at a recent meeting called by the county board of commissioners to discuss solid waste and landfill problems. He said it was the unanimous opinion of representatives of local units that they should work with the commission to develop a financing plan for the landfill and to study alternatives to solid waste problems.

Acting on a letter from East

Michigan Tourist Association, the council is to urge the county board of commissioners to continue its support of EMTA at the current financial level.

Approval was given to the city manager to serve on the training advisory committee of the Michigan Municipal League.

The council adopted ordinance No. 203 which establishes an office service district along M-55. The change does not affect property owned by the Tawas United Methodist Church, which remains in the residential category.

The city manager reported that plans are to be received this week for extending a service road into the new industrial park.

Due to the current concern by Tawas Lake property owners over the water level in that lake, the city has asked to be represented on a new committee being formed to study the problem.

'JAKE' MONTGOMERY

Montgomery is New DPW Chief

Formal resignation of William Smith as superintendent of public works at East Tawas was accepted Monday night by the city council.

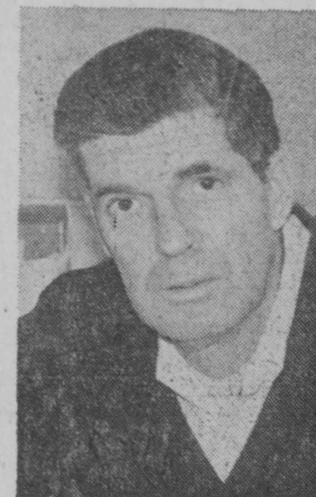

Named to succeed Smith was Jacob Montgomery, who had been filling the position on an temporary basis for the past 10 days and submitted his resignation Monday night as a member of the city council.

Named to fill Montgomery's Third Ward alderman post until the next election was Norman Klenow.

Smith is presently at Saginaw Veterans Hospital undergoing an eight-week treatment period or a serious illness. His resignation was based on health reasons.

Smith became assistant superintendent in September 1976, which enabled him to work under Paul Soper, long-time superintendent until his retirement on December 31, 1976.

East Tawas Firemen Study Use of Pocket Alert Pagers

East Tawas Fire Department is currently evaluating a new alerting system for its volunteer members.

Fire Chief Wilfred Rapp told members of the city council Monday night that it appeared the $8,500 required to purchase individual pocket paging and alerting radio systems for members would actually result in a saving of money over the current telephone alerting system.

Rapp said that dispatching could be handled either through the state police or the sheriff's department. He said that use of the one-way radio receiver alert system would avert occasions when volunteer firemen do not hear the siren. It would also eliminate the five-minute time lag required to notify firemen by telephone.

Mayor Robert Bolen felt that the department should continue to evaluate the system and make a recommendation for the council's consideration when it starts its new fiscal year in October.

In other business, Donald Wortman of the Ann Arbor architectural firm of Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May, Incorporated, was present to discuss the need for updating the city's zoning ordinance.

The firm is presently developing a new zoning ordinance for Baldwin Township. Cost of updating the city's ordinance would be $3,000 and is to be given consideration in October.

City Clerk Clyde Soper reported on the recent Tawas Lake hearing which had 45 property owners in attendance. He said it was the unanimous consensus of those present that some form of management program should be undertaken for the lake.

In order to establish such a program, Soper said that state statutes require that a special lake board be created. He also reported that his investigation indicated that Dow Chemical Company was not interested in, nor had the equipment to remove materials from the lake for commercial processing. He said that this should "lay to rest" the rumor that the chemical firm was interested in the lake.

Coun. Eugene Fernette reported on the extension of the library quarters into the council chamber. A wall was constructed along the west end of the council room for library expansion. The project has cost $990 to date, with lighting and heating still to be accomplished.

Central Paving to Perform TC Street Work This Week

Central Paving Company of West Branch is scheduled to start work this week on Tawas City's road construction program for 1980.

City Mgr. Lowell Thomas reported Monday night that this program of plant mix asphalt paving would be completed by Friday.

Included in the work will be

2,830 feet on Margo Street, from behind the Hobby Lot to Grove; 537 feet on Nanette Street, from US-23 to Grove, 541 feet on Elms Avenue, from US-23 to Grove.

In addition to the above, Court Street paralleling the Detroit and Mackinac Railway tracks is to receive an extensive face lifting. Included will be 500 feet from First Street to the county building parking lot; 335 feet from First Street to Wheeler Street and 1,066 feet from North Street to M-55.

Court Street receives considerable traffic and the new blacktop is expected to improve travel over that alternate route to US-23. All of the paving is 22 feet in width.

'Be Neighborly,' Advises Council

Members of the Tawas City Council expressed the opinion Monday night that a neighborhood dispute over the parking of commercial vehicles in a residential zone should be resolved by the participants before the city takes action on a zoning ordinance violation.

Two weeks ago, Richard Yanna of Tenth Avenue complained that noise of trucks owned by Edward Brenner of First Street had interrupted his sleep during the early morning hours.

City Mgr. Lowell Thomas said then there may be a potential zoning violation involved in operating a business out of a home, but he has only given consideration to violations which have taken place since he became city manager.

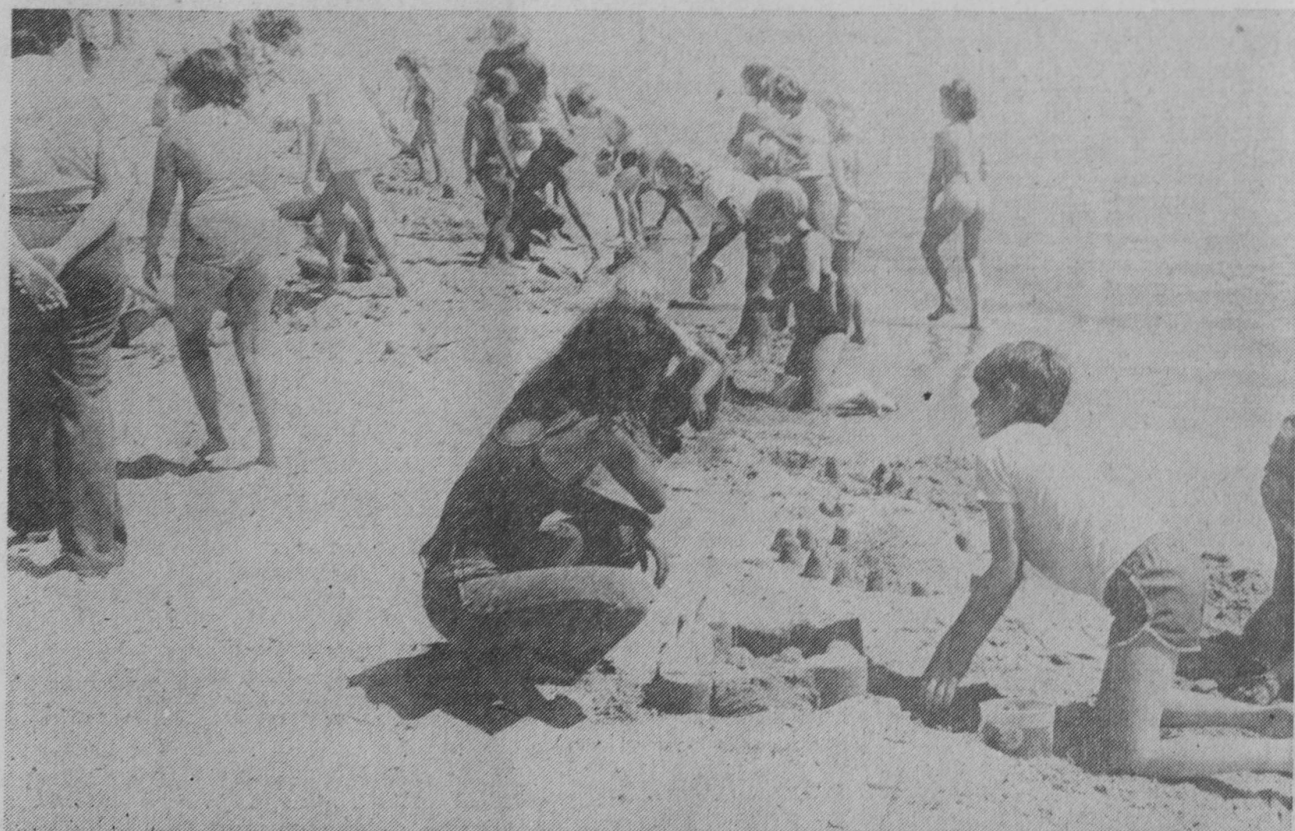

Thomas told councilmen Monday night that his concern was that he had not tried to "undo everything that had been permitted before I came here."

The city manager pointed out that the mere fact that trucks are being parked along a street does not constitute a zoning violation, but he pointed out that special permission is required to operate a business in a residential zone. He said that no permit had been issued to Brenner as the city had received no application for one.

The city manager indicated that Brenner, who operates a tree trimming business, may have trouble complying with the zoning ordinance, which prohibits commercial vehicles in a residential area.

Council members expressed the opinion that cooperation should be shown in the matter among neighbors, inasmuch as there either is a zoning violation or a nonconforming use of property.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON was fun time for kids of the Tawas during the annual sand castle contest held at the East Tawas City Park beach. Sponsored by Tawas Bay Artists, the program proved to be an immense success. Some of

PROGRESS on the final phase of reconstruction of the fishing pier at the Tawas City Park is shown here. A wooden railing has been constructed along the dock, with support posts for a new lighting system. The project, financed through a cooperative program between the state and city, is to include two blacktop sidewalks along the outer edge of the dock, benches and picnic tables.—Tawas Herald Photo.

An Unreasonable Award by Jury

A Wayne County circuit judge has ordered the City of Hamtramck to fork over 1.7-million-dollars to an 18-year-old man for injuries suffered five years ago when he was shot in the back by a police officer.

In addition, the seven-member jury also awarded $150,000 to the young man's mother and father for mental anguish. Only last month, the young man was awarded $400,000 in an out-of-court settlement with the city and police department resulting from the shooting.

The young man's right arm has been paralyzed and he has suffered emotional problems since the shooting, according to a report in a Detroit newspaper. He was hospitalized three weeks and has required extensive rehabilitation and therapy since then.

What led to the shooting was the fact that the young man—then 13 years old—had stolen a zodiac sticker worth 89 cents and an employee of a neighbor-

Volunteer firemen are among the most public-spirited citizens of any community and should be praised for their good work, rather than to be criticized when someone disagrees with the action of one member.

Some comment should be made, however, concerning the manner in which some volunteers drive their private vehicles to reach the scene of a fire.

State law provides that firemen who equip their cars with prescribed blinker lights and sirens have the right-of-way over other traffic, just the same as the fire truck, police car or any emergency vehicle.

While the law gives emergency vehicles the right-of-way, it does not automatically relieve the driver—or the municipality involved—from responsibility in the case of an accident.

What brought this to our attention was a fire in the editor's neighborhood Saturday evening. Drivers of the fire trucks used reasonable caution while turning the corner at Ninth Avenue and Fourth Street and reached the scene promptly.

Following the truck down Ninth Avenue was a string of cars, presumably a majority of them curiosity seekers, which always causes a problem in a small town using a fire siren in combination with telephones to notify firemen.

One volunteer fireman, whose car was not equipped with the prescribed blinker lights and siren and apparently one of the last volunteers to be notified by telephone, threw caution and common sense aside by driving in the wrong lane of the narrow street, passed the line of cars and then skidded through the intersection without stopping.

Had there been an accident, the volunteer fireman and the municipality would have been at fault. Motorists are required to give the right-of-way to emergency vehicles but, in this case, there is a deep ditch on each side of Ninth Avenue which prevented cars from pulling off the road. Drivers of the cars could not have known, however, that the private car passing them was an emergency vehicle—it was not equipped with the required warning devices.

Drivers of all emergency vehicles—ambulances, police and firemen—should use caution when traveling along the highways, and motorists, too, should display some common sense, particularly in giving volunteer firemen plenty of room.

There have been accidents here in the past involving emergency vehicles and, in practically every instance, the cause could be traced to the driver of the emergency vehicle, who did not use proper caution.

Kirby-Robarts Vows Said at Assembly of God Church

Arrangements of white gladioli and pink carnations formed the floral background in East Tawas Assembly of God Church for the marriage Saturday, August 16, of Sharon Rose Robarts and Larry Dale Kirby.

The Rev. Edward J. Fairbanks performed the 1 o'clock double ring ceremony and Alan Lickfelt, vocalist, was accompanied by Mrs. Alden Phelps, organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Robarts of Whittemore and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mercer Braun of Trenton, New Jersey.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of polyester chiffon over taffeta featuring embroidered English net with V-shaped yoke and mock turtle ruffled neckline. Complementing the gown was a waist length train and picture hat trimmed in silk flowers and veiling down the back. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink and white roses, lilies, delphiniums and babies breath.

The attendants wore mint green dotted Swiss gowns with Empire waistlines and sweetheart necklines with lace edging. They carried white lace fans adorned with pink and green silk flowers. The flower girl was attired in pink print voile and carried a basket of white and pink silk rosebuds.

Michael Roberts of Silver Springs, Maryland, served as best man and groomsmen was Richard Bow of Freeland. Ringbearer was Stephen Braun and ushers, Philip Nelson of Mt. Clemens and Philip Fairbanks.

Mrs. Robarts greeted guests at a reception that followed in the fellowship hall in a violet print dress and Mrs. Braun wore light blue. White orchid corsages enhanced their attire.

Following a one week trip to Upper Michigan, the couple will reside at 1242 Townshipline Road, Phoenixville, Pennsylvania, where the bridegroom is a student at Valley Forge Christian College.

A graduate of Valley Forge, the bride was honored at showers hosted by Women's Ministries Organization and by Mrs. Robert Felske.

Daniels - Suszko Marriage Solemnized at Standish

Lugene Paula Suszko and Lynn Donald Daniels exchanged marriage vows Saturday, August 16, at St. John the Baptist Catholic Church, Standish. The Rev. Fr. Emmett Marceau performed the 2 o'clock ceremony for the children of Mr. and Mrs. William Suszko of Standish and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Daniels of Whittemore.

The bride's attire featured a white organza gown trimmed with silk Venice lace, bishop sleeves trimmed with a Venice motif, a Queen Anne neckline and a semicathedral train.

Valerie Suszko of Standish, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Other bridesmaids included Louann Suszko of Standish, Sharon Daniels of Sterling, Anne Daniels and Carol Daniels of Whittemore, Lorene Spencer of Skidway and Kay Tung of Columbia, Missouri. Leslie Cameron and April Stein of Standish were flower girls. Dawn Stein and Jessica Spencer were program girls. The attendants were attired in ivory peasant dresses.

Rodney Daniels of Whittemore, brother of the bridegroom, performed duties as best man. Other groomsmen were Wallace Daniels of Whittemore, David Suszko and Mark Osier of Standish, Carl Daniels and Victor Daniels Jr. of Sterling and Dennis Kusey of West Branch. SSI Payments Made To Disabled Children

Supplemental security income (SSI) payments can be made to disabled or blind children as well as to adults, a social security spokesperson said recently.

SSI is a Federal program that provides a basic cash income to people 65 or older, or blind, or disabled, who do not have much income and do not own much in the way of property.

There is no age limit for SSI payments to persons who are disabled or blind. Young children can qualify as well as people who are beyond 65.

For a child under 18 to be eligible, he or she must have an impairment comparable in severity to one which would prevent an adult from working for a year or more. Blindness is defined as central visual acuity of 20/200 or less in the better eye with use of a corrective lens or restriction of the visual field to 20 degrees or less.

In addition to meeting the disability requirements, a child must also meet the income and resources tests to get payments. The parents' income and resources count toward the child's eligibility after certain allowances are made.

Generally SSI payments cannot be made to a person living in a public institution. But people living in a publicly operated community residence serving no more than 16 people may be eligible.

The maximum SSI payment for an individual is $238 a month, but this amount is reduced if a person lives with someone else or has income above a certain limit.

A child cannot receive SSI payments and take part in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program. The parents of a child eligible for both programs can choose the one that best fits the family.

For more information about SSI payments, contact any social security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory.

Apply for your social security number several weeks before you will need it.

Ballooning and Cricket are 'Special' to Newest Doctors

Two medical specialists opening their new offices Monday in the Medical Arts Building at Tawas Hospital had an extremely busy day.

William Loop, MD-PhD and a specialist in internal medicine, and Syed M. Hasan, MD-FRCS, a specialist in urologic surgery, moved into their suite of offices before work has been completed on the new structure.

Loop, 33, comes here after completing his residency at the University of Wisconsin. Born at Warsaw, Indiana, he completed undergraduate work at Hanover College and completed degree work at the University of Cincinnati. He spent a year working with the Environmental Protection Agency studying the effects of lead on the central nervous system before moving on to his residency in internal medicine at the University of Wisconsin.

He and his wife, Valerie, are residents of Tawas Point.

Hasan is a native of Pakistan and came to this country five years ago. He specialized in surgery in England and is a Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons of England and Edinburgh.

He completed surgical residency at Boston University and urology residency at the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

He and his wife, Shehrazad, are parents of two children, a son, Jafar, seven years of age, and a daughter, Shano, three years of age.

Loop is interested in sailing and flying, having received a private pilot's license at the age of 18 years. He likes to fly hot air balloons and hang gliders, but believes those hobbies would be rather limited in this area. He is of the opinion the AuSable River country would be perfect for gliding.

With his background in England, Hasan said his favorite sport was cricket, but he would have difficulty even finding a wicket here and plans to enjoy cross-country skiing here during the winter.

HISTORY: surprising stories of how things began

THE 'ONLY WAY TO FIGHT A WAR'

It was during the summer of 1914. The world was at war. And all over the world, men with adventure in their blood and patriotism in their hearts were looking skyward.

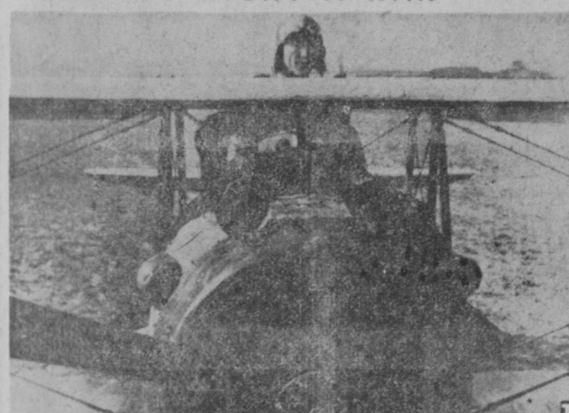

They were signing up for the burgeoning flying services. It was, as one young volunteer put it, "the only way to fight a war—up there above the mud and the mist in the everlasting sunshine."

The saga of the men and the flying machines of World War I is graphically told in a new, beautifully and profusely illustrated book, Knights of the Air, written by Ezra Bowen and the editors of Time-Life Books.

This first of a series of books on "The Epic of Flight" notes that while World War I pilots had "many shared characteristics, they were a varied lot."

Of the Americans, it's observed that Eddie Rickenbacker, a champion auto racer, "seemed to know how to fly the moment he put his hands on the controls. His equally celebrated squadron commander, Raoul Lufbery, was at first so clumsy that his instructors almost rejected him."

And of Canadian Billy Bishop, it was said that he flew with such joyful disregard that an awed comrade described him as "incapable of fear."

The high regard and reverence pilots felt for one another, no matter which side they fought on, prevailed. After the death of a flier, enemy planes might fly over his grave dropping flowers and notes of regret.

It was a risky business, too. "Many young fliers," it's related, "never made it home. The statistics were appalling. The average life expectancy for a new airman on the Western Front was about three to six weeks."

The book talks not only about the men but also about the planes they flew. The aviators' cynical, if cavalier, view of their planes is reflected in the last verse of a song popular in the Royal Flying Corps mess: Take the cylinder out of my kidneys. The connecting rod out of my brain, my brain. From the small of my back take the camshaft And assemble the engine again.

A free brochure about the series, The Epic of Flight, is available by writing M.J. Frere, Time-Life Books, Alexandria, Virginia 22314.

PERFECT WEATHER Saturday afternoon drew the largest field of contestants in the history of the annual sand castle contest sponsored by Tawas Bay Artists. A sudden change in wind direction splashed away some of the work by youngsters, but it was all in fun and judging was not hampered. First place winners included Sarah Phillips, five to six years of age; Brad DeWyse, center, seven through nine years of age, and Thomas Nelkie, 10 through 12-year-old group. The picture at lower right shows Beatrice Charters, left, conferring with Marilyn Jurczyk, committee member. Gail Blury, registrar, is seated at the table. Steven Hammond, below, was not a first place winner but his "drizzle castle" was a masterpiece.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Flower Show

EAST TAWAS Garden Club's biennial flower show held Thursday did not attract as large an entry list as in 1978, but quality of exhibits was high. Theme for this year's show was "The Best from Isosco Gardens." Mrs. Everett Wolfen, right, was awarded the best of show ribbon for her entry pictured at center. Iosco County Road Asphalt Paving Contract Awarded

Iosco County Road Commission awarded a $260,000 contract August 11 to Central Paving Company of West Branch for a major asphalt paving program. Included in the project is 3.6 miles on Rollway Road, from M-65 to Jose Lake Road; two miles on Prescott Road, from M-65 to Putnam Road and from County Line Road to Mill Station Road; on South Branch Road from Kokosing Road to Liberty; on Esmond Road, from Hale High School east one mile; Long Lake Road; Tawas Point Road, from Jerry's Resort to Baldwin Resort Road; old US-23 in AuSable Township, from the bridge to the industrial park. About one-half of the work was completed last week. The road commission also awarded a contract to G. and L. Construction Company for $108,000 to build a new bridge across the East Branch of the AuGres River on Alabaster Road, one-quarter mile east of Sand Lake Road. Six bids were received on the project.

This bridge is to be constructed of prestressed concrete box beams with a span of 70 feet. In addition to the above projects, road commission crews have applied 20 miles of seal coat on primary roads in the county. Included are four miles in Plainfield Township, one mile on Miller Road from Plank to Bischoff, Mill Station Road, F-41, Johnson Road, Shellenbarger Road, three streets in AuSable, one mile on AuSable Point Road, and on Sand Lake Road from M-55 to Saginaw Street at Sand Lake.

$400,000 Grant to Iosco County

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) announced last week that it had approved a $400,000 Small Cities Block Grant program for Iosco County. The program is to continue until funds are expended or within a period of 18 months. John Webb, chairman of the county board of commissioners, said the program would provide low interest loans to people presently residing in substandard housing. The program would provide money only for repairing residences and the interest on loans, along with the length of time for repayment, would be based on the applicant's income. Webb said that money repaid through the loans would be used to perpetuate the local home improvement program.

Harvest Days Fence Show

The second annual Harvest Days Fence Show is being organized by the Tawas Bay Artists for Saturday and Sunday, 10:00 a. m.-4:00 p. m., August 30-31, at the Art Gallery. Committees headed by Rupert Charters, Philip Imbronone, Joan and Herbert Blust, Marilyn Jurczyk, Connie Dreher and Virginia Imbronone are getting together to plan a new theme to this popular show. This gallery and outdoor show is a last of the season presentation before the club goes into its fall and winter schedule. The bake table along with preserves will be an additional feature. The friends and the general public are cordially invited to participate and enjoy.

When Steel 'Logs' Replaced Saw Logs on

The TAWAS RIVER

EXPERT RIVERMEN like those pictured above at an 1880 sorting gap on Tawas Lake would have had difficulty riding the "logs" floating in the Tawas River in 1947. The calked boots worn by the men would have been useless for the "logs" floating in the river nearly 70 years later were steel pipes bound for the intake of the then new Saginaw-Midland water pumping station at Whitestone Point.

The Tawas River was one of the first streams in this region to provide an effective industrial waterway for log transportation in the mid-nineteenth century and its primary use continued along that line for nearly 50 years.

At the end of the white pine era, the stream—billed by one recent canoe paddling promotion as the "shortest river in the world"—fell into general disuse and was neglected; "abused" would be a more descriptive term.

This story concerns one of the most unusual industrial uses of the river long after the heyday of the lumbermen—as a waterway for floating huge steel pipes—but a brief historical background is necessary in order to appreciate the fact that the stream once had a sufficient volume of water to be used for industrial purposes.

According to an old rule of thumb ruling by the state supreme court, a navigable stream is one upon which a saw log floated or was driven during the lumbering era. That the Tawas River falls into that category will soon be apparent.

When the Whittemores hacked out their original settlement on Tawas Bay in 1854, the Tawas River was the focal point in the 10 or more acre clearing. One of the first jobs for the settlers was to clear the stream of fallen timber and snags which had collected at its entrance into Tawas Bay since the last time nature had "flushed" the river with a major spring flood.

Using only hand tools, oxen, horses and much sweat by men, more than a year was required for that chore, but the stream was soon improved some five miles to its source at Tawas Lake. Improvements were also made in Dead Creek which enters the main stream just west of the original town clearing and on Cold Creek, which joins the stream below Tawas Lake.

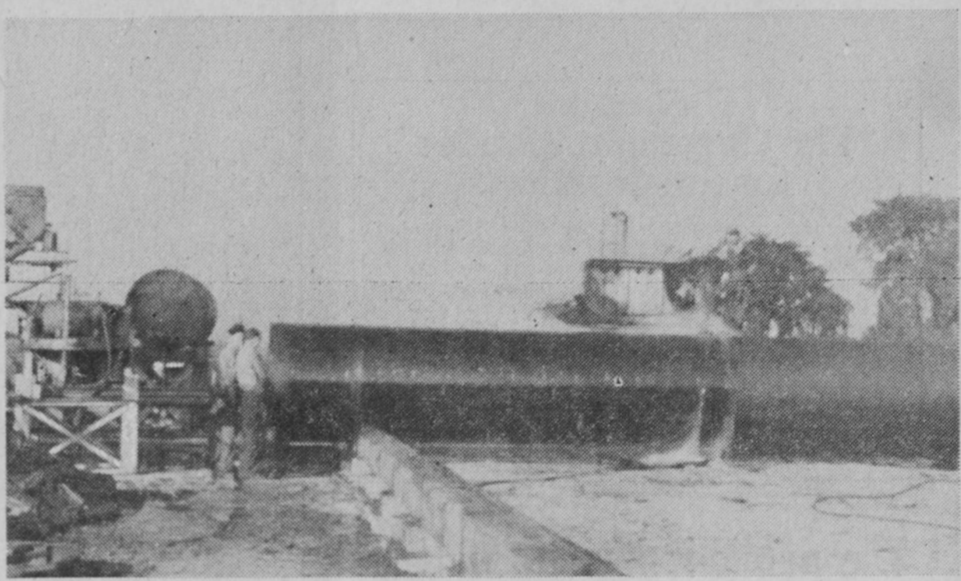

These improvements were necessary as the Tawas River was to provide the major means of transporting white pine logs from the forests of Tawas, Baldwin and Wilber Townships to the Whittemore mill, situated on an isthmus of land between the river and Tawas Bay just west of today's Mathews Street.

The importance of the stream in the early lumbering day era can be gained by studying old maps of the region. Streams entering Tawas Lake from present-day Baldwin, Wilber and AuSable Townships were considered part of the Tawas River and so designated on one map of the 1870s.

Silver Creek and Gordon Creek, along with Buck Creek and three other unnamed streams, formed the major waterway of the Upper Tawas River emptying into the north end of Tawas Lake. Silver Creek's source was at Spencer's Mill on Island Lake.

Gray Creek, Sims Creek and Kunze Creek (known originally as another Dead Creek), flowed directly into Tawas Lake, while Indian Creek and Loud Creek joined to flow into Silver Creek (later through the State Ditch) and was termed on the 1870 map as the East Branch of the Tawas River.

This network of small streams provided the major means of transporting white pine logs to mills of Tawas City and East Tawas for nearly three decades.

Lumbermen made use of practically every trickle of water for log transportation by constructing a series of sluice dams at key locations. Gates of the dams were closed during early March to catch the spring run-off of melting snow and rain and opened only when backwaters had sufficient volume to "float" logs to the main stream.

Poking around in valleys of the Huron National Forest and farmland of Wilber Township, evidence of those early sluice dams may still be discerned by the practiced eye, Arthur Leitz, retired conservation officer, for one; to the unknowing eye, however, it would seem to be impossible to float a log in what today appears to be a dry stream bed.

In the 1870s, Tawas Lake was not the weed and silt-choked body of water that it is today and a cause of concern to residential property owners, who see it as a "dying lake." Then, the lake was deep enough to float a steam tug used to tow logs from the north end to the upper mouth of the Tawas River, where logs were floated downstream. The specially constructed tugboat was fitted out with a hinged smokestack, which permitted its passage under bridges on its way downstream to Tawas Bay at the end of the logging season.

Numerous improvements were made to the lower river with sluices cut through to Tawas Bay at two or more points; log holding booms were constructed behind the present-day Tawas City post office to serve the Whittemore mill and a large boom at the mouth of the river to hold logs for C. D. Hale's mill. A small railroad, with cars powered by horses and oxen, brought logs from a boom enclosure at the mouth of Dead Creek upstream to the Whittemore mill.

All of the above improvements and activities of the lumbering era had fallen into disrepair, rotted beyond recognition and remembered by only a few older people in 1947 when the Tawas River was again used to float "logs" in an industrial operation.

The old time river driver—and there were still a few around in 1947, William Struthers of Tawas City, an expert driver of the AuSable River in his early days, for one—would have had difficulty in keeping his footing or setting calked boots in these "logs."

Replacing white pine as articles to be floated in the Tawas River's last industrial use were huge steel pipes forming the intake for the Saginaw - Midland Water System, which was then constructing its pumping station at Whitestone Point.

The Great Lakes Dredge and Dock Company had charge of constructing an installation at the West Tawas Yard of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company, where the pipes were unloaded from rail cars and then prepared for the trip into Saginaw Bay.

Included in the installation at the railroad yard were welding and coating racks, storage and unloading areas, along with a basin dredged in the river for launching the pipes.

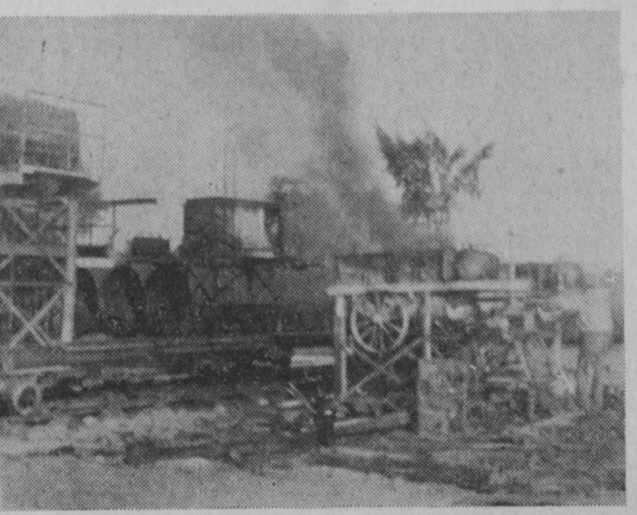

The pipes arrived here in 40-foot lengths and were aligned on racks to be welded into 120-foot sections. The pipes received a rust resistant coating inside and out and ends were sealed with watertight bulkheads.

After initial preparation, the 120-foot sections—longer than anything the river had seen during its lumbering heyday—were launched and floated downstream to the river mouth, then taken into tow by a tugboat and moved to the water intake project below Alabaster.

When the $11,000,000 installation at Whitestone Point and (See STEEL 'LOGS,' page 6.)

AN EXTENSIVE operation for preparing the pipes was located at the West Tawas yard of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway in Tawas City. After processing, a water-tight bulkhead was affixed to each end of the pipe. Launched and floated under the US-23 bridge into Tawas Bay, a tugboat towed the long sections to Whitestone Point.—Tawas Herald Photos.

(Read Luke 4:16-21)

"Jesus said, 'He has sent me to proclaim release to the captives and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty those who are oppressed.'" (Luke 4:18 RSV)

While serving as an exchange minister at Soochow University in Taipei, Taiwan, I was asked to lecture on the role of religion in society for the students and faculty of the sociology department. After the lecture, a student asked me if religion was anything more than an escape from the problems of life.

I had today's Scripture in mind when I attempted to explain to him and the other students that the kind of religion that Jesus came to offer was not an escape but a liberating force.

It also occurred to me to remind him of Martin Luther King Jr., who is internationally known as one who found in the religion of Jesus the inspiration to lead his people in the struggle to liberate themselves from the oppressive forces of racism. This experience taught me that we should take more seriously the power of Christ to liberate us from whatever problems or forces are oppressing us or bogging us down. We must present Christ to others not as an escape, but as one who can free us from all that oppresses us.

PRAYER

Dear Lord, give us the courage to free ourselves from those things holding us captive and to share our victory with others. Amen.

What am I doing to bring freedom to the oppressed?—Raymond K. DeHainaut (Taiwan)

Christian Science Lecturer at East Tawas August 24

"The Bible has been the chart of life for millions. Its light can show us our place in God's tender plan," says a Christian Science lecturer, Robert W. Jeffery of Franklin, Michigan. First Church of Christ, Scientist, East Tawas, is sponsoring this free public lecture on Sunday, August 24, 3:30 p. m., in East Tawas Community Building. In his lecture entitled, "Christ—The Light Shining in Darkness," Jeffery illustrates how the Biblical accounts of Christ Jesus' life and works point the way to useful, fulfilling and progressive lives.

He draws parallels between mankind's need for direction and guidance and the mariner's reliance on the stars to guide his ship: "Just as the navigator knows he cannot follow lights attached to his own ship or lights drifting in the water alongside of the ship, even so we find the Christ, our spiritual beacon, neither in mere self-generated positive thinking, nor in floating human theories, opinions and philosophical reasoning. Like the starlight the navigator uses, the Christ light comes from a fixed, describable, eternal source. It is the truth of being that God, in His great love for man, is sending forth for all of us to see and understand—to comfort, guide and heal us."

The lecturer relates instances showing that both children and adults can find healing through letting God direct their thoughts and lives. Jeffery resigned his position in engineering management for a large manufacturing firm to enter the public healing practice of Christian Science. Recently, he was elected to The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, a capacity which takes him to many cities to explain his church's well-known and long-held commitment to Christian healing. He is also an authorized teacher of Christian Science.

Mrs. Alma Hollenbeck, second reader, will introduce Jeffery next Sunday.

Penny Pincher Fair Sept. 13

How to fight inflation—and have fun doing it—will be the focus of a Penny Pinchers' Fair Saturday, September 13, at the East Tawas Community Building. Sponsored by Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service in Iosco County, the 10:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. drop-in program will feature displays, exhibits, demonstrations and mini-classes focused on saving.

A number of local people have already agreed to share their special skills. Among them is Margaret Shinaver of National City, who will show samples of clothing articles she has recycled. Barbara Abbott of East Tawas has agreed to demonstrate cheese-making talents and Billie Minard of Whitney Township will have examples of toys and games for kids that can be made at home.

Several topics have been suggested for which resource people are still needed. They include rug making, slip covering and/or upholstering furniture, growing herbs and raising goats. The Cooperative Extension office would like to learn of anyone willing to share those skills or others which contribute to a penny pinching life style.

Suggestions for additional topics to be covered are welcome, too. Anyone with ideas or a desire to become involved in the Penny Pinchers' Fair may phone the Cooperative Extension office, 362-3449.

Extension Workshop Concerns Stepfamilies

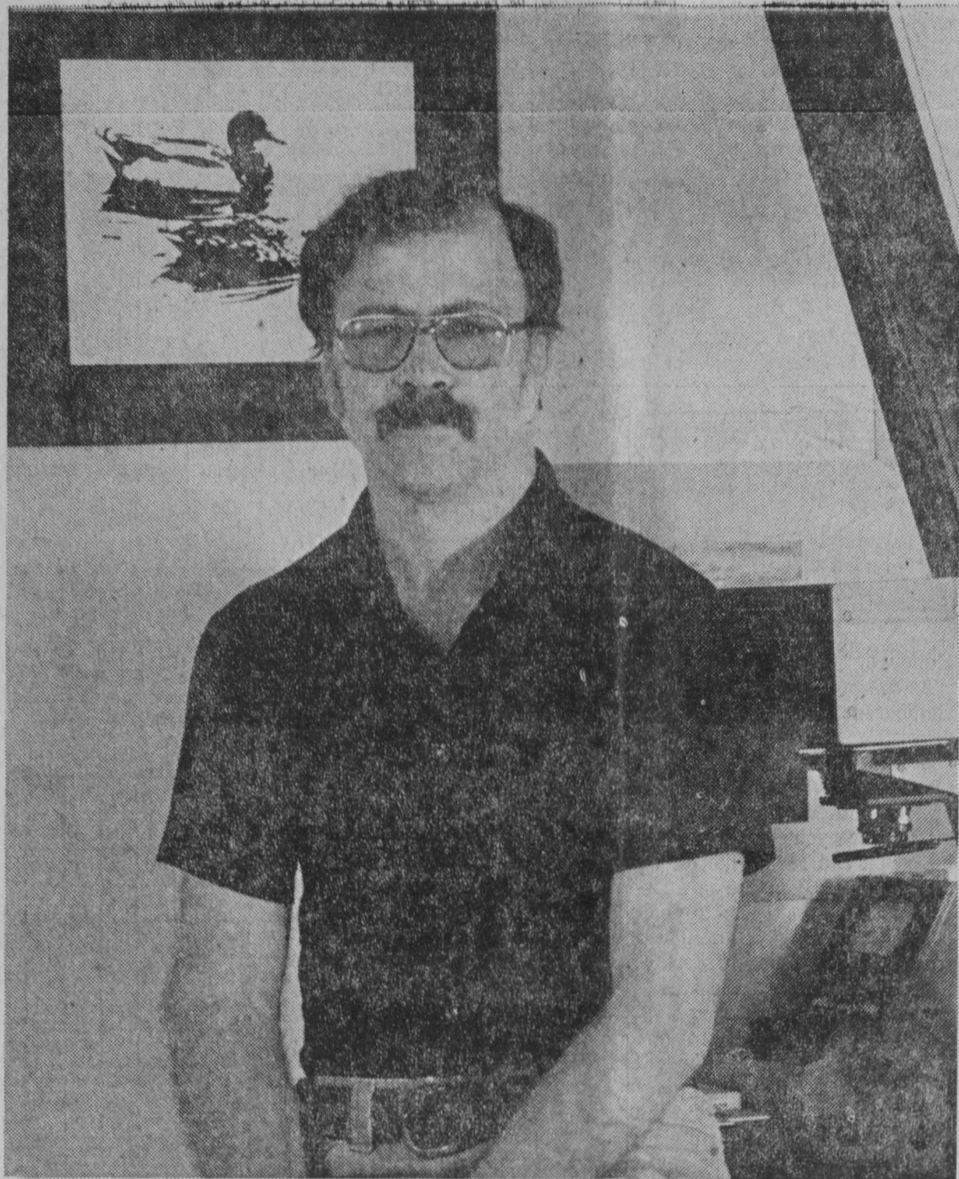

A workshop for professionals and others who work with stepfamilies is offered Friday-Saturday, September 19-20, in Alpena by Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service and the circuit court.

Elaine Horigian-Smith, MA, and Connie Stephenson, MSW, AGSW, will conduct the workshop. Mrs. Horigian-Smith is a licensed clinical psychologist currently practicing in voluntary and private clinics in Oakland County and Miss Stephenson has a private practice of clinical social work and coordinates a private outpatient mental health facility in Birmingham. Both are members of the Stepfamily Association of America, Incorporated, in California.

Topics in the Friday evening and Saturday sessions will include dealing with exspouses, in-laws, legal arrangements, divided loyalties for adults and children, and stepchildren. Aspects of stepparenting to be addressed will be anger and resentment, coping with loss, reasonable and unreasonable expectations, redefining roles and how to foster a healthy self image.

For a brochure describing the workshop, contact the MSU Cooperative Extension Service in Iosco County, 362-3449.

Borhman Presents One Person Show August 22-23

William Borhman, a new member of Tawas Bay Artists, will present a one person show in photography on Friday and Saturday, August 22-23, 1:00-5:00 p. m., at the Art Gallery.

Developing an interest in photography during his stay in Thailand while in service, he recognized the one time opportunity to photograph a different way of life and an interesting people in a land of vivid contrasts. Borhman has remained faithful to his first choice of camera. With no formal training in his field, he learned through trial and error. He has developed a fine sense in his approach to beautiful and different photographs. His treatment of a variety of subjects in creative colors, abstracts and nudes is outstanding.

To further his craft's perfection, he has set up his own darkroom and does all his own black and white and color processing. He believes that taking a photograph is only half the challenge and the other half is in the darkroom. In the recent Tawas Bay Art Show, he was awarded first place in photography.

The public is invited to view the works of Borhman at the open house.

LOOKING BACKWARD— Final Phase of TA Pay-As-You-Go Plan

15 Years Ago—

August 25, 1965—A plan to accelerate the final phase of Tawas Area School's pay-as-you-go five-year classroom construction plan is being considered. Because of an additional 65-75 elementary and junior high school students expected on opening day, coupled with fewer students in the lower grades, it is proposed to construct five additional classrooms at the high school for a junior high school wing. Seventh graders would be moved from the Tawas City Elementary Unit to the new quarters.

Matt Haglund and Robert (Barney) Dillon of East Tawas won second place in two final races Sunday and sailed off with the world's championship of the National One Design Racing Association held on Tawas Bay.

Because of anticipated need of spending all available money on classrooms, action has been tabled on constructing restrooms at the athletic field. A complete master plan of the school property is to be obtained before any permanent structures are built on the property.

25 Years Ago—

August 25, 1955—Peter W. Beckett of East Tawas announced the opening of his new trailer park on M-55 in Tawas City. At present, there are 24 lots available for trailer owners.

Effective August 1, Alabaster Township entered into an agreement with Tawas City and Tawas Township for fire protection.

Building September 1-2. Entries are open to both amateurs and professionals. Mrs. Herbert Hertzler, chairman, said that no awards would be given.

Jack Parker, Saginaw reporter-war correspondent, formerly of East Tawas, has been chosen as commentator for a special five-week presentation, "Crusade in Europe," over WNEM-TV, Bay City.

35 Years Ago—

August 24, 1945—Ground was broken this week for a new city garage located at Tawas City's Union Square, Ninth Avenue and Fourth Street. The property was dedicated in 1867 as a public square by C. H. Whittemore and George B. Mathews, founders of the city. Across the corner from the square, a parcel of land was dedicated as a city market. Intended as the center of the city by the founders, transportation facilities, business and industry in the following years decided otherwise and grew up along the water front. With no business activities around it so that its original purpose could be realized, the property has not been used for any particular purpose for 78 years.

Superintendents of schools this term in Iosco County include A. E. Giddings, Tawas

City Public Schools; C. J. Creaser, East Tawas Public Schools; Cecil Scott, Oscoda Public Schools; Rex Milligan, Hale Public Schools; A. W. VanPetten, Burleigh Rural Agricultural School. In the parochial schools at Tawas City, St. Joseph School will open under Sister Domitilla, and Raymond Berner will again teach at Emmanuel Lutheran School.

The Hale Park on the south side of Loon Lake is being cleaned up this week and new tables and other improvements made. Located three miles west of Hale, this place is open free to the public.

Arthur F. Cowan, realtor, is offering the Alfred Boomer home in Tawas City for quick sale at $5,000.

For heroism in action against the Japanese on Northern Luzon, Cpl. Ernest O. Wegner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Wegner of Tawas City, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

Cpl. Robert Roach of Tawas City is one of six enlisted men assigned since activation in May 1942 to a 500-bed station hospital, which had been in Italy and France and before the Japanese surrender, had been assigned to Pacific duty.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor:
 As the people of the Tawas slumbered Sunday, August 3, a very sick person (or persons) chose to play havoc, in that they absconded with a number of local American flags.
 Whoever you are—and we hope you can read, though we doubt it since you are obviously demented, we'd like to point out that the flag you removed from the Fraternal Order of Eagles once draped the casket of one of our charter members. The flag was given to the Eagles by a loved one so that it might fly in his memory.
 May you be reminded that the story of the origin of our national flag parallels the story of the origin of our country. Who gives you the right to steal something as precious as our flag; a flag allowed to fly thanks to the bloodshed of so many?
 Our flag has "... witnessed a great history, has floated on high, the symbol of great events, of a great plan of life worked out by a great people..."
 If you have an ounce of decency, you will return the FOE flag, which flew in tribute to our departed, beloved brother Eagle! You "stealth" in the quiet of the night, so may you "returneth" in the quiet of the night!

WHEN IS A GLASS FULL?
 Have Someone Fill a Glass as Full of Water as it can be filled without running it over.
 Then very carefully stuff dropping coins and pins into the glass. You'll be surprised at how many the glass will hold before the water will come over the brim.
 THIS will show that a full glass can be made fuller. The more pins and coins of different kinds you use, the better the trick will be. Don't forget to be careful when you drop the objects into the glass.

Steel 'Logs'

pipeline were completed, Midland and Saginaw were supplied with pure, sparkling water from Saginaw Bay and Lake Huron. Playing no small part in that immense operation was the old Tawas River, which was soon forgotten and is still looking for some improvements to be made at its entry into Tawas Bay.

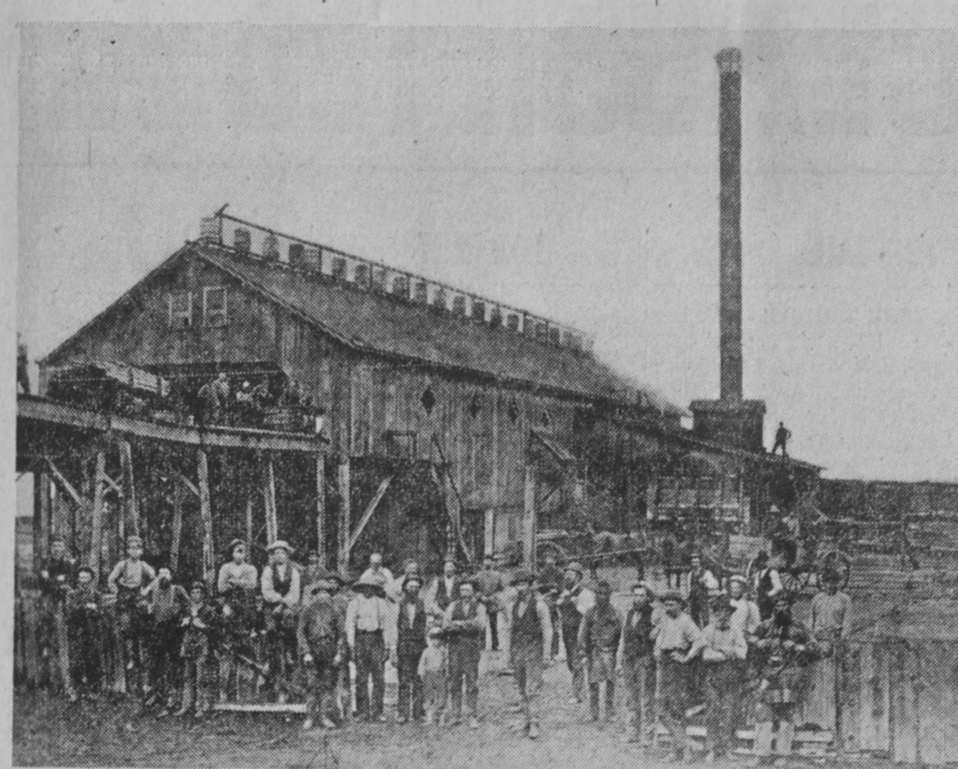

Until recent times, the river seemingly had no value other than for now long-forgotten industrial operations, as a stream to receive the affluent from two wastewater treatment plants, or as a receptacle for the disposal of a community's garbage and unwanted junk.

All of that ended within the past two or three decades when citizens finally realized that this neglected stream was a natural asset and two work bees by the Tawas City Businessmen's Association in the 1950-60 era, followed by a CETA project two years ago, cleared the streams of castoff junk, tires, old bottles and even bedsprings, which had been accumulating for a century.

Now in an era of environmental enlightenment, the Tawas River awaits the handwork of man to improve and nurture its usefulness and natural beauty for the enjoyment of all. Plans are in the making for constructing secondary treatment facilities at wastewater disposal plants, which will rid the stream of much of its present pollution.

Up to the present time, the "healing" process has been at the hands of the local area, past and present; further improvement at the mouth of the river may or may not be the responsibility of the local community but, at some point in time, it will become a reality.

PINE LOGS floated down the Tawas River for more than three decades and a good share of them were sawn into lumber at the Whittemore mill in Tawas City. Logs were taken out of the river at the rear of the mill, sent through the saws and then piled into lumber on docks along the shore to await shipment by lake carriers.

In the meantime, more and more citizens are learning of the natural beauties and rich historical background of the river, something which several generations of Tawas kids have known, the river having provided a major source of entertainment for small fry during the summer months.

Suit Commenced Over Estate Claim

Suit has been commenced in Iosco Circuit Court by the estate of William Hensell Marfleet versus Beulah Putnam and Irah Ostrander.

Marie D. Sweeney, personal representative of the estate, claims that the two defendants, who had been appointed agents to assist Marfleet in caring for himself and his estate, had not made an accounting or turned over assets to the estate.

Marfleet died March 30, 1979, as the result of a long illness and was unable to care for his own estate during a substantial period prior to his death.

The estate claims that Marfleet, a resident of Hale, was "possessed of substantial personal and real assets, including bank checking, savings and safe deposit contents, furniture and household goods, antiques, precious metals, coins, cash kept at his home and other personal effects" at his residence located at 108 West Esmond Road.

A second count of negligence claims that "defendants had a duty to care for and preserve the defendant's assets for the benefit of himself and his heirs; that defendants have breached that duty by permitting the waste, dissipation and distribution of said assets."

In addition to asking the court to award damages in excess of $10,000 the estate asked that the defendants be ordered to "make an accounting of any and all assets and to turn over all such assets to plaintiff estate."

D&M and County Named Defendants

A three-count complaint entered in Iosco County Circuit Court seeks damages in excess of $10,000 for each count. The suit involves a train-car collision at the Turtle-Kitchen Road intersection in Sherman Township.

Richard G. Jordan of Sherman Township is plaintiff. Named as codefendants were the Detroit and Mackinac Railway and the County of Iosco.

Jordan was a passenger in a car which struck a train of 94 cars and two locomotives at 1:30 a. m. on March 22, 1979. Jordan sustained extensive fractures to the right hip, knee and other injuries. It is claimed the injuries were of a permanent nature, resulting in a loss of wages as well as medical expenses.

The complaint against the railroad claims that state law was violated in that the crossing was not equipped with electronic marking signals, that the railroad had not provided a clear and unobstructed view of the intersection and that it failed to maintain a flagman at the crossing as there were no flashers or crossing gates.

The suit also claims that the county failed to adequately and properly maintain lighting at the intersection with the railroad tracks and failed to adequately warn motorists to be on guard against an approaching train.

AFTER THE STORMS...

A note of thanks to our customers.

Disaster struck Michigan.

Four separate storms with winds of up to 80 miles per hour rocked the Consumers Power Company service area between July 15 and July 20. More than 250,000 of our customers were without electric power at some time during the week. The storms brought down some 2,100 spans of high-voltage wire, damaged almost 200 utility poles, burned out some 275 transformers and affected more than 10,000 secondary and service wires.

To deal with the storms, line and tree-trimming crews moved around the state from one damaged area to another and put in exhausting hours in each. Crewmen worked with only 4 or 5 hours rest. Some slept on cots in meeting rooms and school auditoriums. Meals were fast, clean clothes a luxury.

There was much to do. In some cases, a single repair restored power to many customers, but in other areas, restoration work was a lengthy, almost house-to-house effort.

Even now, with power flowing again to all our customers, the cleanup is continuing. Temporary connections must be made permanent and the diversion of Company crews to that effort will mean delays of up to four weeks for new customers awaiting service.

To our new customers — and to all our customers affected by the Week of Storms — we express sincere gratitude for your patience and cooperation. Efficient, reliable service is what our business is about — especially in times of trouble.

The Week of Storms was one of those times.
