

DESPITE A DISCORDANT NOTE played by someone who apparently wanted a free Christmas tree and lights, residents of the Tawas dedicated new lights in the Tawas City Park Saturday evening with a sing-along of carols and a visit from Santa Claus. The department of public works replaced the missing tree and lights prior to the ceremony. Santa Claus arrived riding a fire truck, much to the delight of children who braved the cold weather. A brass quartet composed of members of Tawas Area High School Band (below) performed a number of Christmas selections. Turn to page 6 for more pictures.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Council OK's Contract With Fire Hall Architect

Two preliminary steps toward eventual construction of a new fire hall were taken Monday night by the Tawas City Council when authorization was given to make application for Farm Home Administration funding and acceptance of a contract with an architectural consultant.

City Mgr. Lowell Thomas said he was in the process of completing an application for a five percent loan through FmHA to finance the project authorized by voters in November. The loan to be financed through a bond issue would be for $175,000, although actual construction cost of the building would be from $125,000 to $140,000. A bank is to be named as the depository for funds once bonds are sold.

Under terms of FmHA financing, the services of an architect are required and the council accepted a contract with Samuel Dorchen at a $10,000 fee, plus up to $4,000 for inspection service.

Both prefabricated building manufacturers and standard contractors are to be invited to submit proposals on the project. In other business, the council accepted a land exchange proposal with Tawas Plating, Incorporated, which turns over to that firm a number of small city-owned parcels along Industrial Avenue in exchange for another parcel which widens the right-of-way at a needed point.

Thomas announced that the city attorney is to commence legal action against Forward Tire and Auto Center for operating a major auto repair business without a proper permit. Legal action has commenced against Stanley Stasik, owner of property west of the US-23 bridge, because of a sign on the property advertising travel trailer and boat trailer storage.

The city manager said that the planning commission had denied a zoning variance and such storage was illegal in a B-2 zoning district.

The city manager said that preliminary discussion had commenced with the architect in regard to a proposed information center at the mouth of the Tawas River. Although the state department of transportation is not expected to participate, Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission has indicated that $48,000 had been earmarked for the first phase of constructing a Gateway Park and an additional $32,000 could be available for an information center.

The city manager reported that final payment had been made on the city purchase of the Hughes property for an expanded industrial park. The property purchase was originally transacted in 1978. The parcel actually comprises 37½ acres rather than 40 acres, due to a right-of-way owned by Consumers Power Company and

City Council Wants Ban on Postal Parking Enforced

Tawas City Council apparently has some "second thoughts" after removal of parking in front of the Tawas City post office.

On recommendation of the sheriff's department, parking slots in front of the post office and one parking slot to the west, all along US-23, were removed as a means of providing clear vision to motorists entering US-23 from the post office parking lot.

Coun. James Lansky said Monday night that enforcement of the parking prohibition was not being enforced and that persons wishing to use the postal drop box along the curb could not do so because of cars parked there.

Coun. Hugo Keiser, who was opposed to removing the parking, said that the parking lot had become congested with cars since the removal, causing still another problem. The sheriff's department was requested to enforce the no parking zone in front of the post office.

land owned by the Detroit and Mackinac Railway. The council adopted a revised vacation and holiday policy for city employees as part of a comprehensive personnel policy developed by the city manager in recent months. Other sections of the policy were reviewed and the council is to give consideration to adoption of the entire package at a later date. The council is to hold a joint meeting with the planning commission Thursday night.

Second reading was held on an amendment to the zoning ordinance and the council adopted Ordinance No. 206 which rezones a portion of Tawas Industries, Incorporated, property in Wheeler's Addition from industrial to B-1 business. At the request of City Clerk Rachel Sue McCreedy, the council and city manager met with her in executive session under terms of Section 8A of the Open Meetings Act.

He also believes that hours for operation of election polls should be identical, regardless of time zones in the country, in order to prevent the situation where unofficial projections are made over television as to the outcome of an election in one part of the country when polls are not yet closed in another part of the nation.

In regard to Michigan's election system, Soper expressed the opinion that formation of an absent voter counting precinct was an excellent idea adopted by the state, but he felt that provisions should be made to permit the board to count absent voter ballots starting one

State Law Enforcement Urged

City Upset Over Salmon Snaggers

Rather than adopting an ordinance prohibiting snagging of fish in the Tawas River, the Tawas City Council asked the Iosco County Sheriff's Department to take whatever steps it deemed practical to enforce a state conservation law in regard to the foul hooking of fish. The sheriff's department provides police services to the city under contract and was urged by the council to cooperate as closely as possible with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources in enforcing the state law.

Board of directors of Tawas Chamber of Commerce had suggested adoption of a city ordinance to curb the illegal fishing activity. Coun. Donald Hayes told the council that the snagging situation had reached the point this fall in the Tawas River where legitimate fishermen would not return. Dep. Mark DeBeauvoir, information liaison officer for the sheriff's department, stated that enforcement of state conservation laws was primarily the responsibility of the DNR, although the sheriff's department cooperates in the enforcement of conservation laws. Deputy DeBeauvoir said there were a number of problems entailed in enforcing state law in regard to foul hooking of fish. He said that there would be many objections from parents should there be a wholesale arrest of young violators. He said that strict enforcement would require sending out an officer in plain clothes, that some fishermen keep a knife handy to cut the line when the presence of an officer is known and fish required as evidence must be stored for several weeks, in some instances, before the case comes to trial in district court. The deputy said that a fisherman could not be arrested for merely possessing a weighted snagging hook. He said, too, that matter was a law enforcement priority for the city. Coun. Robert Pawloski and Hugo Keiser felt that issuance of citations would help to curb the problem; Coun. John (Joe) Martin believed that posting of signs warning fishermen that the state law prohibits snagging would be of help, although he admitted that such signs probably would be vandalized or removed. Pawloski pointed out that practically all the land along the Tawas River is privately owned and he was surprised that there had been only a few complaints of trespassing. Keiser said that both the chamber of commerce and the city had requested the state to stop planting coho salmon in the river a number of years ago and replace those fish with larger plants of brown and steelhead trout. He wondered if the chamber of commerce board of directors had given further thought to the request. It was also mentioned that Tawas Hospital's emergency department had been kept busy during the past season removing weighted hooks from fishermen who were accidentally snagged along the river. Councilmen came to the conclusion that there was no real solution to the problem of illegal snagging, but asked the sheriff's department to use its judgment in enforcing state law in a cooperative effort with the DNR.

State Classifies Snow Removal Responsibilities

Municipalities around the state with state road maintenance contracts were reminded this week that snow removal responsibilities fall into three categories: State, municipal and private. City Mgr. Lowell Thomas told the Tawas City Council Monday night that a policy defining responsibility for snow hauling from state trunk lines had been adopted last year by the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation. Because of the extremely light fall of snow here during the 1979-80 winter, the new regulation caused little excitement.

According to a reminder letter dated December 8, "The Department of Transportation is responsible for the snow which naturally falls within the traveled portion of the roadway; the municipalities are responsible for the snow in all parking lanes, sidewalks and for any other snow contributions from adjacent property." To simplify the determination of proportionate cost sharing, it was determined that a 50-50 share basis would be equitable in practically all cases. The municipal contract states that on each occasion of snow pickup, written authorization of the district maintenance engineer is required. "If you feel that a sufficient amount of snow accumulation has developed to restrict the normal operation of the trunk line, please call the district office. The written authorization for the work can follow at a later date," stated the letter signed by Karl R. Rock, district maintenance engineer. The letter states that any municipality has the option to prohibit the depositing of snow on the right-of-way from adjacent property, or accept it as a service and bill the private property owner for its removal.

The state will not participate in the cost of hauling snow which has been deposited from adjacent property and charges for hauling private snow must be separated from the total snow hauling charges.

THE ABOVE SIGN warns motorists that the bridge is out on Whittemore Street, following demolition of the old structure last week. Great Lakes Contractors of Warren is now driving piling into the bottom of the river to carry a new wooden bridge, expected to be completed some time next spring. In the meantime, motorists and pedestrians must use alternate routes to cross the Tawas River and on Sixth Avenue where a bridge over Dead Creek has also been removed and is being replaced with a new wooden span.—Tawas Herald Photo.

East Tawas Clerk Suggests Sunday Presidential Ballot

In a letter to the Michigan Election Commission suggesting several changes to anticipated election laws, City Clerk Clyde Soper of East Tawas recommended that a national effort be made to hold presidential elections on the Sunday following the first Monday in November.

The city clerk said that several countries hold national elections on Sunday, resulting in a much improved turn-out of voters. "Anyone can find time on a Sunday to cast his ballot," he stated.

He also believes that hours for operation of election polls should be identical, regardless of time zones in the country, in order to prevent the situation where unofficial projections are made over television as to the outcome of an election in one part of the country when polls are not yet closed in another part of the nation.

In regard to Michigan's election system, Soper expressed the opinion that formation of an absent voter counting precinct was an excellent idea adopted by the state, but he felt that provisions should be made to permit the board to count absent voter ballots starting one

Goodman Honored

EDWARD GOODMAN, former president of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway, was honored recently by having the Ann Arbor Railroad's former ferry yard at Ann Arbor renamed and dedicated in his name. Goodman retired last spring as administrator of Michigan Department of Transportation's freight division. Goodman was instrumental in the reorganization of rail freight service in Michigan following the 1976 abandonment of the Ann Arbor and Penn Central rail lines. The Ann Arbor yard has been in use since 1878.

East Tawas Council Hears Fire Response Complaint

A Baldwin Township couple, Leonard and Olive Buchanan, viewed and is to be considered complained to the East Tawas Council Monday night over an alleged slow response time of the volunteer fire department. Mrs. Buchanan claimed that she called the department seven times during a recent fire at their home and received no answer. She then telephoned the state police post, which notified the department.

Members of the city council pointed out that the fire department's telephone system had been checked by the telephone company and no problem could be found. Councilmen did point out, however, that the department had made numerous runs to the Buchanan residence in answer to fire calls.

Baldwin Township, which contracts for fire service with the city, has taken steps to adopt the city's fire control ordinance by reference. This would permit inspection of wood burning equipment by the city building inspector. Councilmen suggested that the heating equipment in the Buchanan residence be inspected by the county building department and Mr. Buchanan said he would welcome such an inspection.

In other matters, the annual audit of city business was reviewed and is to be considered for adoption at the next meeting. Further consideration is to be given by the council to use CETA workers for a sidewalk construction program next summer. The council has shown some hesitancy toward adoption of a program using CETA labor because of an accident involving a CETA employee which increased the cost of workmen's compensation paid by the city. City Clerk Clyde Soper said the incident resulted when the CETA employee, working on tree trimming, saved a tree limb off upon which he was standing. The employee was injured when he fell to the ground.

Bus Rides Termed Success

Iosco Transit Authority carried 580 passengers during its special "Shop the Tawas" day Saturday, in cooperation with participating merchants. Seventy-five percent of the passengers were senior citizens, children and handicapped persons. Stanley Brockenbrough, ITC manager, termed the promotion a success.

All Legislative Restraints Should be Reasonable

It seems strange how we Americans can go off the deep end so often in matters pertaining to protecting the environment or even to guard against the potential injury of occupants of motor vehicles in a crash.

Some actions promoted by "professional" protectors in the past have been unreasonable and it should have been good news to the pocketbooks of the general public when congress turned a deaf ear to Ralph Nader's proposal to require automobile manufacturers to provide an air bag system to protect passengers in motor vehicles.

Another example is the costly emission control systems which have been mandated for motor vehicles, particularly during this era of crisis in the shortage of gasoline. It is not unreasonable to mandate emission control systems for cars destined to be operated in California, but those systems are not necessary in most parts of the country.

Automobile manufacturers are spending millions of dollars to research ways to get more miles out of each gallon of gasoline — something which should have been done long ago—but there would be a dramatic increase in fuel economy if the emission control devices were removed.

On the local scene, it looked as though a park project at the mouth of the Tawas River was going to be scratched by the refusal of United States Fish and Wildlife Service to approve a federal permit because it objected to the filling of any submerged land.

The proposed project had been approved by the state after careful, extensive review. The United States Army Corps of Engineers approved the project, but only after Dr. Howard Tanner, DNR director, wrote a letter stating: "We believe that, despite specific agency goals, all public agencies must work toward solutions that will benefit the public we serve and still not threaten the resources. This project is clearly in the public interest and will not threaten nor degrade valuable resources."

Another example of the millions of dollars in public funds being wasted on unreasonable mandates to "protect" the environment would be the clay-lined pit in Oscoda County to bury cattle contaminated with a minute quantity of PBB.

But this is only the start—someone has estimated that Iosco County would have to spend in the neighborhood of one million dollars to develop a sanitary landfill to meet mandated requirements of the state. The estimated cost may be too high, but that is not the point. It is unreasonable to spend that kind of money on a dump when it would be more practical to control toxic substances at the place of manufacture. The public at large should not have to bear the cost for manufactured chemical waste.

In Iosco County's case, this corner doubts if a public agency can operate a sanitary landfill any more efficiently or at less cost to the taxpayer than the current private contractor. Only recently, the county board of commissioners considered turning the operational expense of the landfill back to the townships and cities because money is just not available.

The principal problem, however, is that mandated regulations for landfills are continually being changed and the cost of operating a landfill, even in a rural county, is going out of sight.

Man has made many mistakes in the past and the environment must be protected, but controls must be approached with reason. If that is not done and more federal-state mandates are promoted by "professional" protectors, the entire economy of this county faces collapse and there would be no money nor any need for environmental protection.

A taxpayer,
 Thomas St. James

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Taxpayer:
 A thought with no cheer for this season of the year.

We received our Christmas tax package the other day and I hope all of you who voted against Proposal D all smiled and are happy. A Merry Christmas to you, I hope you liked the present, for the state has many more for you and they will get bigger every year.

We had a chance to have a say in how our money was to be spent, but we are like lambs and like to be led to the slaughter house, singing all the way. We have lost the power to think for ourselves and believe what people tell us. Wake up and think. Let's listen to ourselves once in a while, you'll be surprised how smart you are if you would only think.

Me, I am sad because that hard earned money saved to make my loved ones happy this Christmas will now go to the state, and we all know how efficiently they spend it.

Government is by the people, so we—the people—should start to think of how much they are thinking of us when they talk and plan these programs that spend our money. Please do something about this school tax, it's unfair to the property owner.

A taxpayer,
 Thomas St. James

Women's Aglow Schedules Speaker on December 20

Women's Aglow Fellowship will meet Saturday, December 20, 9:00 a. m., at the Masonic Temple in Oscoda. All area women, regardless of church affiliation, are invited to attend. Susan Boucard, Northern Michigan area board president of Women's Aglow Fellowship International, will be the speaker.

Mrs. Boucard is the director for the women's group in her church and also teaches various Bible studies. She has served as secretary-treasurer for Women's Aglow in Cheboygan and has served as vice president of leadership training for the Northern Michigan area board. She assumed the position as president on August 22.

While attending high school in the Detroit area, where she was born and raised, she became involved with drugs and alcohol. During her high school junior year, she met Jesus Christ as her Savior and Lord. Her life was turned around and she began in another direction.

Women who have fallen away from God and attending church or women who do not know Christ are won to Him through the healing love and care Jesus gives. They are then encouraged to meet with their pastor or priest to help them in their new life with Christ.

Women's Aglow, an international organization, has chapters all over the world, fostering fellowship among women to encourage each woman to be a member of and to participate in the activities of a local church, to help them recognize their role and relationships according to the Scriptures, through hearing God's word and by hearing testimonies of guest speakers.

In difficult days ahead in a world faced with inflation and rumors of wars, Christ is the only peace, the God of Salvation. As one nation under God, the group asks all to pray for spiritual peace and unity this precious Christmas.

Disability Changes Are Effective Now

Many important changes in the social security disability insurance and supplemental security income (SSI) disability programs take effect this month (December) a social security spokesperson said recently.

Many of the changes are intended to encourage people who receive social security or SSI disability payments to return to work. The changes are:

- If a person who is still disabled becomes unable to work within a year after his or her benefits were stopped because of work, payments can be automatically reinstated. A new application is not necessary, but the person must notify social security.
- If a worker starts receiving social security benefits within 5 years after they stopped and he or she had Medicare before, Medicare can begin immediately. The person will not have to serve another 24-month waiting period.
- This provision also applies to disabled widows and widowers and adults disabled before age 22 whose benefits start again within 7 years.
- A person who did not complete the 24-month waiting period during the first period of disability can count the months he or she did get benefits toward the waiting period in the second period of disability.
- Impairment related work expenses can be deducted from a person's earnings in deciding whether he or she is able to do substantial gainful work even if these expenses also apply to daily living needs. Expenses for such things as medical devices and equipment, attendant care, required drugs, and services are included. These deductions also apply in figuring the amount of the SSI payment.

Disabled widows and widowers are now eligible for a trial work period which permits them to test their ability to work and still get benefits.

Social security will pay a reasonable charge for any medical reports it needs and requests.

Another change applying to those getting SSI payments because of disability will become effective in January 1981. Under the old law, SSI payments stopped if a person was found to have earnings high enough to represent substantial gainful work. As a result, he or she was often ineligible for Medicaid and social services.

Under a 3-year experiment, all of these benefits may continue even though a person's earnings are high enough to represent substantial gainful work. As the person's earnings increase, however, the amount of the SSI payment will decrease. But, eligibility for Medicaid and social services may continue if a disabled or blind person could not work without this help and does not earn enough to pay for similar help.

More information about these changes in the social security disability insurance and SSI disability programs can be obtained at any social security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory.

questions and answers

Q. I have been receiving SSI disability payments for about a year and a half. Is there any way I can try to work part time without losing my payments and Medicaid protection?

A. Until now, cash benefits—and usually Medicaid and social services—stopped once an SSI beneficiary's earnings represented significant gainful work. In 1980, this figure was $300 or more a month, ($417 if blind). Under a 3-year experimental program starting January 1981, all these benefits may continue.

As the amount of your earnings increases, the amount of your cash payments will decrease until they are gradually phased out, but Medicaid and social services may continue if you cannot work without this assistance and do not earn enough to pay for similar help.

Q. After receiving disability benefits for several years, I returned to work in 1978 and the benefits stopped. Unfortunately, I have had to stop working because my condition has worsened. I know my disability payments will begin again without a waiting period, but what about Medicare?

A. There is no waiting period for reentitlement to Medicare if a worker's disability benefits begin within 5 years of the date they ended, 7 years for a disabled widow, widower, or adult disabled before 22. If, during the first period of disability, a person did not complete the 24-month Medicare waiting period, any months for which he or she did receive disability benefits count toward meeting the 24-month requirement in the second period of disability.

Weather Wisdom

The lowest temperature ever recorded on Earth was -126.9°F (-88.26°C), at Vostok, Antarctica, on August 24, 1960.

The thermometer was invented in 1593 by Galileo. The more accurate mercury thermometer like those used today was developed by Gabriel Fahrenheit in 1714.

A barometer helps us predict the weather by measuring air pressure on the earth's surface. A rapidly falling barometer signals a coming storm while a rising barometer indicates fair weather.

According to A-T-O Inc.'s Thermometer Corporation of America, the temperature at the center of the sun is believed to be 27 million degrees Fahrenheit (15 million degrees Celsius).

KING CRAB ENTREE READY IN MINUTES

Fettucini a la King Crab is a sumptuous supper dish that is quickly and easily prepared. It combines one of the most popular Italian pastas with tender morsels of King crab from Alaska.

The long, flat fettucini noodles are cooked al dente (just tender, but firm), then tossed with a buttery-rich mixture of Alaska King crab and grated Parmesan cheese, laced with a hint of lemon and garlic. Complete your menu with a crusty loaf of French or Italian bread and a salad of crisp greens.

Alaska King crab is a favorite choice of busy cooks who like to create impressive meals without spending long hours in the kitchen. This choice seafood is completely cooked and cleaned during processing, requiring only chilling for cold dishes, or a gentle heating through for dishes that are to be served hot.

FETTUCINI A LA KING CRAB

- 12 to 16 ounces frozen Alaska King crab meat
- 1/2 cup butter
- Juice of 1/2 lemon
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 2 tablespoons minced parsley
- 1 pound fettucini noodles, cooked and drained

Thaw, drain and slice crab. Melt butter over low heat. Add crab, lemon and garlic and heat gently. Add crab mixture, Parmesan cheese and parsley to hot fettucini noodles. Toss until noodles are thoroughly coated. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Lighting of the Yule log is a long-standing Christmas custom

Of the many Christmas traditions that have survived through the ages, one of the most ancient is the ceremonial lighting of the Yule log on Christmas eve.

It is a tradition that is more strongly rooted in European culture than in our own, yet it is not uncommon for an American family to gather round the hearth on Christmas eve, sipping eggnog and watching the flames dance.

Ancient tradition

This ceremony dates back to the time of the Saxons and Goths, as well as the early Germanic tribes, who burned such a log at their festival of the winter solstice.

The log was often a stump or root of a tree that had been obtained from one's own land or a neighboring wood, and which was brought into the house not before sundown on Christmas eve.

With the entire household gathered in front of the fireplace, the log was lighted with a piece of wood that had carefully been saved from the previous year's Yule log.

Should the log not ignite on the first attempt, superstition held that ill luck would follow.

To further ward off ill fortune in the coming year, the log had to burn for at least 12 hours. A portion of the extinguished log was then saved for the following Christmas, often stored in the house as a protection against lightning.

The ashes of the Yule log were later mixed with the earth at the base of the fruit trees on the land, with the belief that this would make them more fruitful.

Perhaps the most interesting abstraction of the Yule log tradition exists in France today, where the French Christmas cake, a bûche de Noël, is one of the most obvious symbols of the holiday season.

It is actually a chocolate roll covered with chocolate icing, meant to resemble a log of wood.

BAKE A BATCH OF CHRISTMAS COOKIE FAVORITES

Christmas is cookie time. Mounds of luscious cookies emerge from ovens all over the world to grace this joyful season, and children of all ages look forward to them eagerly.

Traditional Christmas favorites include gingerbread men, buttery spritz cookies decorated with red and green sugar, crunchy pfeffernisse dusted with powdered sugar, and scrumptious leckerli.

You might also want to include non-traditional delectables such as chocolate or butter-scotch chip cookies, and peanut butter cookies. Yummm.

Savory, Oven-Baked 'Porcupines'

An appetite-awakening dish, which begins as meat balls but emerges from the oven resembling porcupines, combines ground beef with rice and seasonings.

Satisfying rice, often served as a background for meat, poultry or seafood, shows its versatility in these "Porcupines" by popping up like porcupine spines during the baking. Youngsters may be amused; adults are likely to admire the generous servings.

PORCUPINES EN CASSEROLE

- 1 pound lean ground beef
- 1/2 cup uncooked rice
- 1/2 cup each finely chopped onions, celery, and green pepper
- 1 egg
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon each pepper and garlic powder
- 1 can (10-3/4 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/4 cup tomato catsup
- 1/3 cup pasteurized process cheese spread or grated Cheddar cheese

Combine beef, rice, onions, celery, green pepper, egg, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, 1-1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, and garlic powder. Form into 1-1/2-inch balls (about 18). Place in a lightly greased shallow 2-1/2-quart casserole. Combine soup, water, catsup, and remaining salt and pepper. Bring to a boil. Pour over meat balls. Cover and bake at 350° for 1 hour. Remove from oven and stir in cheese spread. Makes 6 servings.

The Great American Forest

MONEY DOES GROW ON TREES AND VICE VERSA

The great American forest means trees for tomorrow and tomorrow and all the tomorrows after that. This article is part of a series written by the American Forest Institute to help keep people better informed on how important our forests are.

The next time you see a forest you might like to consider how wonderfully versatile it is.

It provides all Americans with useful wood and paper products, recreation, natural beauty, protection for watersheds and wildlife.

It goes even farther, making these less obvious, but no less important, contributions to the country's economic well-being:

Jobs—millions of workers in the woods, in the factories that turn wood and fiber into thousands of essential products, and on the stake in increasing the productivity of the commercial forests.

Taxes—billions of dollars a year, going to support schools, hospitals, public safety, countless other vital public services.

International trade—wood products we export help strengthen the American dollar and improve the nation's balance of payments.

Inflation deterrent—the more productive the forest, the more likely that the forest has been able to cope nation's supply of wood and paper products will be adequate to meet sharply increasing demands—and will be available at reasonable prices. Thus, a productive commercial forest, growing trees for today and tomorrow, becomes a significant inflation fighter.

Every American has a stake in increasing the productivity of the commercial forests. (Commercial forest, as defined by the U.S. Forest Service, is all forestland—whether owned by individuals, government or the forest industry—that is capable of, and potentially available for, growing repeated crops of trees for harvest. It includes land in National Parks or Wilderness areas.)

So far, the commercial forest has been able to cope with all the demands made on it. We can't expect it to continue to provide its benefits automatically.

If wood supply is to keep up with the predicted doubling of demand in this nation over the next 50 years, expenditures for replanting and regeneration will have to be substantially increased. The greatest potential for improvement is on publicly held land.

The nation needs to establish policies and take actions to encourage productivity—not only in the National Forests but in other forests as well.

For a free booklet on America's forests, write American Forest Institute, P.O. Box 37430, Washington, D.C. 20013 for "The Great American Forest."

OH Falcons Top Braves in Opener

Tawas Braves completed only 19 of 61 shots Friday night and fell before the Ogemaw Heights Falcons, 58-46, in a low-scoring game. It was the Braves' opening game in the Northeastern Michigan Conference and the team now has an over-all record of one win and two losses.

Although Jon Dunn meshed 21 points during the night, he was the lone Tawas player to hit in double figures and that told the story of the game as Tawas fell behind the Falcons, 16-10, at the end of the first quarter. The Braves remained within striking distance throughout the game, but 23 turnovers hurt Tawas' cause.

Rob Washburn hit the hoops for 22 points to lead the winners and Lon Thompson added 12 points for the Falcons. Dunn had 15 rebounds and Bill Dalbec had seven for Tawas, while Joe Girard and Thompson had nine and six rebounds, respectively, to pace the winners.

TA Wrestlers Hale Eagles Paced by McMurray to Atlanta

Tawas wrestlers under new coach, Nate Rowell, lost to Oscoda, Onaway and Essexville Garber in matches held December 5 at Oscoda.

The Braves fell before the Owls, 66-12; lost to Onaway, 45-28, and were defeated by Essexville Garber, 42-36.

In the three meets, Craig McMurray won two matches by pins and took the third match by a forfeit. The senior matman competed in the 198-pound class.

Todd Bird and Bob Amyx split decisions in two matches with Essexville Garber, while Tony Dighera split in two matches with Onaway.

Braves Defeat Eagles, 48-46

Tawas Braves came from behind December 9 to turn back the visiting Hale Eagles, 48-46. Tawas outscored Hale, 17-9, in the final quarter.

Hale's scoring aces, Tom Saunders and Ken Jansen, meshed 16 and 12 points, respectively, to give Tawas a tussle during the night and the Eagles led, 27-19, at intermission.

The second half was a turn around as the Braves outscored Hale, 11-10, in the third quarter, then tied the game and went ahead in the fourth quarter with a 17-9 margin.

Jay Grabow topped Tawas scorers with 15 points, followed by Ed Harris' nine points and Jon Dunn's seven. Dunn was the top rebounder with eight, but Ken Jansen of Hale had game honors with 10.

Led by Rod Loeffler's 15 points, the Junior Braves defeated the Hale junior varsity, 40-37. Tawas jumped off to a 12-5 lead in the first quarter, but Hale closed the gap with a 17-12 margin.

Hale continued to shine in the third quarter as the Junior Eagles went ahead on a 10-7 count, but Tawas came back to win in the final quarter with a nine to five edge.

Eric Groff was second high scorer with 11 points and had nine rebounds.

Tawas freshmen won over Alcona December 8 by a 65-25 margin. Joe Boik had 21 points and 20 rebounds to lead the way and Bruce Nelkie flipped in 15 points and pulled 11 rebounds off the backboards.

An excellent man-to-man defense with strong rebounding enabled Tawas to overcome an early Alcona lead, the losers holding a 7-4 margin with four minutes remaining in the first quarter. Tawas outscored Alcona, 30-4, during the rest of the half.

The eighth grade won a pair of games Thursday night over visiting Ogemaw Heights, the "A" team taking its game, 34-31, and the "B" team turning in a 29-19 victory.

Landfill Proposal Studied

Two representatives of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources accompanied the Iosco County Board of Commissioners Wednesday on an inspection of a potential site for a new sanitary landfill. The 150-acre site is located on Sand Lake Road just south of the Iosco County Road Commission Garage on M-55 and has been offered to the county under a lease arrangement with National Gypsum Company.

Richard Harris, who manages the gypsum company operations here, said the site formerly comprised the gypsum quarry east of Sand Lake Road. Quarrying operations have been moved to the west side of the road and the old site is no longer in use.

EXPLAINING topography and geology of the proposed site is R. M. Harris, manager of the gypsum company's facility.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Potential use of the property as a sanitary landfill depends on information gained from a hydrological survey to be conducted to determine the potential effect on ground water. A public hearing would be required to permit property owners to submit testimony should the county elect to use the property. It is believed that very few property owners would be involved as most of the land is surrounded on three sides by the gypsum company.

Elizabeth Mursch and John Alford of the DNR told county commissioners that an answer to a permit application could be given within 120 days of receipt of plans and the hydrological survey.

A 40-acre site probably would be considered in the initial application because of bonding requirements.

In the meantime, the county is committed to a regional concept for landfill planning currently being undertaken by East Central Michigan Planning and Development Region. The site could be used as a potential landfill site if anything develops on a regional basis.

The county is presently under a one year contract with Multi-County Landfill on Monument Road to provide landfill service to the county.

Provision of this service is financed through federal revenue sharing funds received by the county.

Discuss Tourist Information Center

Michigan Department of Transportation officials indicated Thursday that Tawas City's proposed Gateway Park at the mouth of the Tawas River would be an ideal site for a highway information center for tourists, but seriously doubted if the highway department could participate financially for many years to come.

One of the principal reasons for nonparticipation is the present status of the economy—the department has had to delete a number of projects from its plans due to a reduction in funds, but, more importantly, a major change would be necessary in regard to information center locations.

During a meeting Thursday morning with city officials, Larry Beckon, administrator of the department of transportation's management section, pointed out that department policy at present was geared to locating information centers along I-75. He believed that Tawas City's information center probably would be completed before one being planned north of Flint on I-75 would be accomplished due to the current lack of funds. Both Beckon and Jack Burton, who has charge of roadside development for the department, expressed interest in the project and believed the site had considerable merit for an interpretive information center.

"You are taking advantage of a great natural area," said Beckon. The two men believed, however, that such a center located in a park would be considered to be within the jurisdiction of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, but did not rule out the possibility that the department of transportation could change its philosophy at some future time.

On the other hand, Roger Rehberg of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Development and Planning Commission, said he was most enthused with the idea for the center. He pointed out that Upper Great Lakes had approved a $48,000 grant for the first phase of the project and he would attempt to secure $32,000 to help finance the information center in the project's second

A gallery of photographs showing all but one judge who have served the Iosco Circuit Court is thought to be unique in Michigan.

Portraits on display in the circuit courtroom of the Iosco County Building cover a range of 120 years and the likenesses seemingly convey the feeling that the judicial thoughts and experiences of these past judges somehow have an effect on present decisions and deliberations.

Upon the first page of a journal in the county clerk's office it is written that a term of the Circuit Court for the County of Iosco was commenced at the courthouse in Tawas City on Tuesday, May 17, 1859. The circuit judge failed to arrive by passenger boat and no business was transacted until the following August 9.

That court was held in a room over the Whittemore store, located just east of today's Coyle's Restaurant. Judge W. F. Woodworth presided and the first case tried was that of Amos Miner versus Archibald Phillips. Only the likeness of Judge Woodworth is missing from the court photographic gallery.

The next session was held August 1, 1860, and presiding over proceedings was Judge James Birney. A portrait of this distinguished looking jurist, with flowing side whiskers, is included in the gallery and the collection is unbroken from that point to the present day.

Seven of the 10 portraits presently on display once hung in the second story courtroom of the old Iosco County Courthouse, an imposing frame structure of white pine which stood for 84 years until replaced by the present county building. When the new building was opened in 1954, it was thought that the ornately framed portraits of the judges would not fit into the building's modern decor and they were relegated to a basement storeroom.

Following the Iosco County centennial observance in 1957, the committee in charge had a surplus in its treasury from proceeds of the celebration and it was thought that an excellent way to utilize this money for posterity would be to provide a picture gallery of past judges for the circuit courtroom.

Spearheading the move were Harris Barkman, centennial committee member and now president of the Iosco County Historical Society, and the late E. H. (Bert) Stickney of Osoda, publicity chairman for the centennial.

Several of the old portraits had been damaged by watermarks; others showed a deterioration of chemicals in the photographic paper and all had a layer of dust and grime accumulated through the years. The committee decided that copies should be made of the pictures and framed in limed oak to fit the decor of the modern courtroom.

The monumental task of copying, retouching the pictures and framing was handed to Harvey Watson, East Tawas commercial photographer, who spent six months on the project. After removing the pictures from their heavy frames and giving them a careful cleaning, Watson copied and recopied each picture several times. Between each step he painstakingly retouched each negative and print.

The centennial committee searched the county for a usable picture of one judge, Albert Widdis, but none could be found. Judge Widdis had died in office while vacationing in California and was buried there. He had been involved in numerous controversies with county officials and once jailed members of the board of commissioners and prosecuting attorney for contempt of court.

Several of the supervisors still held office at the time of Judge Widdis' death and had no inclination to add his portrait to the gallery. Although apparently popular with voters as he had been re-elected to office and served from 1914 until 1927, his picture just could not be found locally.

As a last resort, the centennial committee searched through old newspaper files and found his picture in a political advertisement. The likeness from this photo engraving was copied, then retouched by Watson to remove the half-tone dots used in the printing process. The end result was a testimony to Watson's skill as the clarity of Judge Widdis' portrait is comparable to the other likenesses.

Residents of the county were invited to a ceremony at the county building on June 16, 1958, when the portraits were unveiled. The program included a showing of films made during the centennial observance.

"When we present these pictures we do more than honor these men; we pay tribute to our courts as a whole—we pay tribute to the law and the government which gives us our democracy," stated the late Herbert Hertzler, then a member of the Iosco County Bar Association, who served as master of ceremonies for the dedication.

The dedication speaker took particular note of the fact that Barkman had been the leader in the project. "We have here on our walls the portraits of eight men who represent the judiciary of the circuit court for Iosco County for the most part of the past 100 years."

Among the portraits prepared by Watson was one of Judge Herman Dehnke, who commenced a long judicial career in 1927. He did not believe it was proper to hang his picture in the courtroom while he still held office and, upon his retirement at the end of 1959, his portrait was added to the collection.

The newest addition to the photographic gallery is a framed portrait of Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller, which was hung over the jury box upon his retirement earlier this year. This is a color print and it is expected that it, too, will have to be copied sometime in the future to match the other prints and because of the fact that materials used in today's color printing are not as stable as black and white photographs.

On the frame of each portrait is a brass plate listing the name of the judge and his tenure in office. Included in the gallery are: James Birney, 1860-1865; J. G. Sutherland, 1866-1870; T. C. Grier, 1871; S. M. Green, 1872-1874; J. B. Tuttle, 1875-1887; William H. Simpson, 1888-1899; M. J. Connine, 1900-1914; Albert Widdis, 1914-1927; Herman Dehnke, 1927-1959; Al-

(Read Isaiah 40:1-11)

One of the comments I hear often during the Christmas season is this: "It came so fast this year." Of course, it only seems that it came sooner. Feelings are more intense at Christmas than at any other time of the year. The added pressures make us feel that time is out of schedule, that life is out of rhythm. It seems we need a new act of creation to renew everything.

The message of the Gospel is that God has performed a new act of creation. He has sent Jesus Christ. When my life seems to be a wilderness, that is when Christ comes. The passage from Isaiah says it well: "In the wilderness prepare the way of the Lord." When my life is a wilderness and I need Him, God is there creating me anew.

PRAYER

O God, come to us in the chaos of our lives and create our lives anew. Let Your Son be born in us today. Amen.

80 Hale Students Face Expulsion

Eighty Hale Area School students will be expelled after the Christmas-New Year's holiday unless they return with proof of immunization required under terms of state law.
This was the warning Thursday from Dennis Guiser, elementary principal, who explained that parents had been notified of the state requirement for student immunization. Guiser said that free immunization clinics were scheduled at three area locations, including one at Plainfield Township Hall, Hale, from 9:00 to 11:00 a. m. on Tuesday, December 23.
The deadline for returning immunization records to the school is January 5. One more clinic will be held January 6 at the Ogemaw County Building, West Branch, from 10:00 a. m. to 12 o'clock noon and from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m.
"Secretaries and teachers at each school have called parents to notify them of the need for immunization records and we have mailed out letters, but we know there will be some children who will be sent home on January 5," said Guiser.
"The school must comply with state law and the names of those students who return home because of the lack of immunization records will be turned over to the school attendance officer."

Auxiliary Activity Benefits Facility

Proceeds from activities of Iosco County Medical Care Facility Auxiliary have enabled the purchase of a snow blower, kitchen equipment, material to refurbish patio furniture, physical therapy equipment and needed items in various departments at the facility. Some of the projects included a bake sale, rummage sale and a Christmas bazaar in July. The group meets the second Monday of each month to devote time to plan and work on money-making projects and patient oriented activities.

The auxiliary is responsible in part for the Christmas program and patient party. A day was spent in decorating for the holidays.

A Christmas party for members was held at the home of Betty Gabler with pot-luck and gift exchange. Peggy Brinkman will host the January meeting with the annual election of officers.

New members are welcome and may obtain more information by calling Mrs. Gabler, 362-2440, or Ann Rosemund, 362-6480.

Keep your nose tuned to the sweet scents of the season

Any well-tuned nose can identify the smells of the holiday season with no trouble at all.

There's the wonderfully fresh scent of pine and evergreen that fills the crisp air at the local nursery or garden center which, once inside the house, suffuses it.

There's the rich aroma of burning bayberry candles, of hot spiced punch or of fresh gingerbread cookies cooling on a rack—smells that are as familiar as they are heart-warming.

There's the warm, welcoming atmosphere created by a crackling fire, which is sure to take the chill from anyone's spine.

And, on Christmas Day, there are the sweet smells of pies baking or turkeys basting, of cranberries simmering or pota toes roasting, which awaken the nose to the good scents of the season.

GIANT COOKIES ARE EASY GIFT IDEAS

Looking for a new idea for Christmas gifts from your kitchen? Think BIG! Giant teddy bear and wreath cookies will delight everyone. Besides making perfect gifts, they'll be "hot sellers" at church bazaars. They are easy to make with refrigerated slice-and-bake cookie dough and pressurized decorator icing. The simple instructions and diagrams are easy to follow, then decorate as illustrated or use your own ideas.

HOLIDAY COOKIE SHAPES

Materials Needed:

- 1 roll refrigerated sugar (17 oz.) or chocolate chip (16 oz. or 27 oz.) slice-and-bake cookies
- Green tinted sugar
- Red, green, and pink pressurized decorator icing

General Directions:

For easier cutting and shaping, work with part of the dough at a time and refrigerate the rest until needed. Slice cookie dough into 1/4-inch slices. Shape cookies on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 350° F. for 12 to 14 minutes or until light golden brown around edges. (Do not overbake.) Cool on rack. Using decorator icing make cookie sheet 3 to 5 minutes; remove. Cool completely before decorating.

Cookie Shapes:

Holiday Wreath: 1) Use 7 slices for each cookie. 2) Arrange slices, slightly overlapping, to form a circle about 5 1/2 inches in diameter. 3) Sprinkle with green sugar. 4) Bake. Cool. 5) Using decorator icing make bow, holly leaves and decorative edge with leaf tip. Make holly berries and written words with a writing tip.

Teddy Bear: 1) Use 7 slices for each cookie. 2) Arrange 6 of the slices, edges just touching, as shown. Cut seventh slice in half. Place 2 halves, curved sides out, about 1/8 inch from head on either side for ears. 3) Bake. Cool. 4) Using decorator icing outline ears, arms, feet, vest and facial features with a writing tip.

Former Tawas Residents Tell of Experiences in Spain

Jack Burt, a former Tawas area resident, has been in Spain since August 20 during the construction of new plants by General Motors Corporation. He has charge of installing and programming GM computer systems.

Burt is to be employed in Spain for the next three years and was accompanied there by his wife, Kathy, and son, Dale. Their two older children are attending college in Michigan. Debi is a student at Central Michigan University and Donald at Ferris State College.

A recent letter to Burt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Burt, told of some of their experiences at their new home in Spain.

A group of Burt's fellow GM workers and their wives spent an evening at Cadiz for dinner. "We had a very good dinner with only a few surprises. I ordered fried tomatoes and ended up with what we would call hot tomato sauce. Very good, but not what I expected," wrote Mrs. Burt. "One night, we went to the local pizza place and our 21st wedding anniversary was spent in eating pizza."

She found the television interesting in Spain. "Some of the programs are reruns of state-side programs with the Spanish dubbed in. There are some documentaries and some Spanish movies of a cultural or historical nature, along with news programs."

"Dale tried swimming in the ocean, but does not care much for the salt water. As we went to Gibraltar several weeks ago, we passed an area where salt water was being evaporated. There are great piles of salt near the bridge at Puerto."

"Some of the families have gone crabbing, which sounds interesting and like something I would like to try. Jack does not like the smell of the place where one buys sea food already cooked. I bought some ice and then brought the sea food home—it is so fresh and big."

She said the flowers and plants—canna lilies, geranium, purple morning-glories, calendula, cactus, prickly pear, marigolds, chrysanthemums, sedum, a banana tree, yucca—were interesting but "look nothing like any of those we know. The pines are mostly tall with a flat top of green. Juniper grows very large, has berries the size of big grapes and some are used for hedges."

Mrs. Burt concluded that various activities were provided, including Spanish cooking classes, University of Maryland classes, exercise classes with Spanish women participating, etc.

"Our Spanish is not good enough yet to really understand what is being said. The people at church are very friendly, even though we could not talk much."

An Appetizing Holiday Appetizer — And It's Low Calorie!

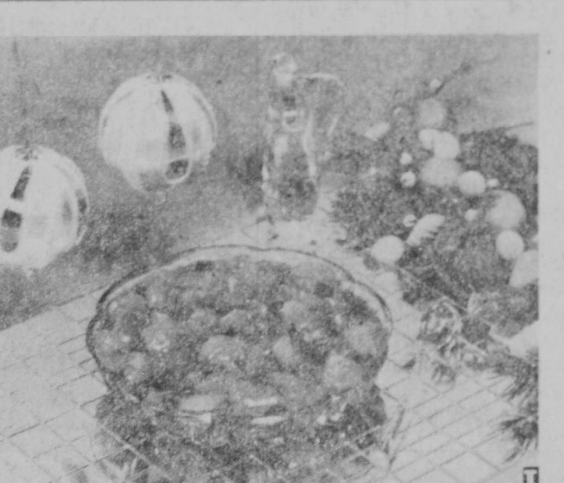

Mushrooms are mushrooming in America's kitchens. And Savory Stuffed Mushrooms are a super way to start off a splendid holiday dinner or buffet.

Surprise your family and guests with this appetizing holiday appetizer that's definitely low calorie. Whole mushrooms (66 calories per pound) are stuffed with fresh vegetables which have been marinated in low-calorie Italian dressing. Mushrooms and vegetables are then topped with a flavorful swirl of Snack Mate pasteurized process cheese spread. For an added festive touch, serve with Triscuit wafers.

- SAVORY STUFFED MUSHROOMS
- 24 medium mushrooms
  - 1/3 cup seeded and finely chopped tomato
  - 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper
  - 2 tablespoons sliced scallions
  - 1/3 cup low-calorie Italian dressing
  - Snack Mate pasteurized process cheese spread
  - Triscuit wafers

Remove stems from mushroom caps; chop stems and mix with tomato, green pepper and scallions. Place mushroom caps and vegetable mixture in a shallow dish. Pour dressing over mushroom caps and vegetable mixture. Cover and refrigerate at least 4 hours or overnight, turning mushroom caps occasionally. Spoon vegetable mixture evenly into mushroom caps. Garnish with Snack Mate pasteurized process cheese spread. Serve with Triscuit wafers. Makes 24 mushroom servings.

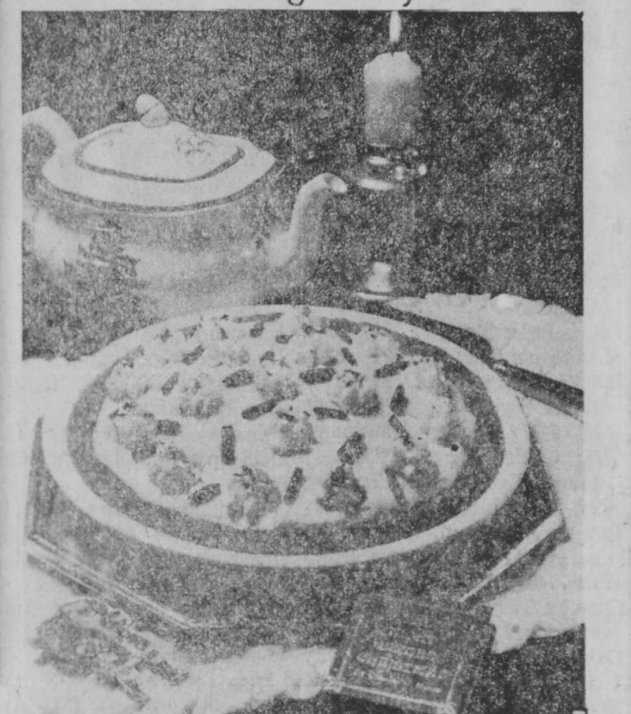

The perfect accent to your festive holiday menu may be a flavorful fruit relish that can be made in advance and refrigerated until time to serve.

Soon family and friends will gather in the warm spirit of kinship that typifies the holiday season. As host or hostess, you'll want everything to be sparkling and aglow with perfection... from the carefully preserved heirloom decorations to the lovingly prepared foods you'll serve.

When you set the menu for the big banquet, plan to dress up your entree—be it pork, ham, duckling, hen or turkey—with a tart 'n' sweet fruit relish, like Peach Chutney.

- PEACH CHUTNEY
- 1 can (1 pound 13 ounces) peach halves, drained
  - 1/3 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
  - 1/3 cup seedless raisins
  - 1/3 cup honey
  - 1/2 cup Heinz Apple Cider Vinegar

Tree-Trimming Party Dessert

A wonderful way to share the spirit of Christmas with others is to host a tree-trimming party. After all the popcorn is strung and the last ornament is hung, treat your guests to a creamy spirited dessert. Yule Nog Pie combines the traditional flavors of egg nog, nutmeg, rum and cream in an easy-to-use unflavored gelatine base. Since the pie can be prepared early in the day, then chilled, it gives the hostess plenty of time to get ready for the party. Served with cups of hot tea, both the pie and your party will lift everyone into the Holiday spirit!

- YULE NOG PIE
- 2 envelopes Knox® Unflavored Gelatine
  - 3 tablespoons sugar
  - 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
  - 2-1/2 cups prepared egg nog
  - 3 tablespoons rum
  - 1 cup (1/2 pt.) whipping or heavy cream, whipped
  - 1/4 cup grated semi-sweet chocolate, finely chopped
  - Macaroon Crumb Crust*

In medium saucepan, mix unflavored gelatine, sugar and nutmeg; blend in 1 cup egg nog. Let stand 1 minute. Stir over low heat until gelatine is completely dissolved, about 5 minutes. Stir in remaining egg nog and rum; pour into large bowl and chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Fold in whipped cream and chocolate. Turn into prepared crust and chill until firm. Garnish, if desired, with additional whipped cream and chocolate curls, nuts or fruit. Makes about 8 servings.

East Tawas Applies for Sewer Grant

 December 22, 1965—East Tawas has applied for a federal grant to aid in construction of a new wastewater treatment facility. The present plant was constructed in 1934 to serve a maximum of 1,100 persons and the plant is now overloaded.

Work has started on blasting through 31 feet of limestone for a new addition to the Saginaw-Midland Water Supply's pumping station at Whitestone Point. Engineers estimate that the 192-million gallons of water produced daily through expanded pumping and transmission facilities will serve the Saginaw Valley for 30 years. The present line was designed for 30-year use and became too small in 15 years.

Total enrollment at Tawas Area School is projected to increase from 1,719 to 1,754 by next fall.

City Treas. Ruth Albertson is to be at the city hall each Thursday to assist eligible persons make application for the new homestead tax exemption.

Mrs. Dan F. Cater has completed a 20-year career as an educational secretary in Iosco County.

25 Years Ago—
 December 22, 1955—An expense-paid trip to Bermuda is being offered as a prize for the girl to be named Silver Valley winter sports queen.

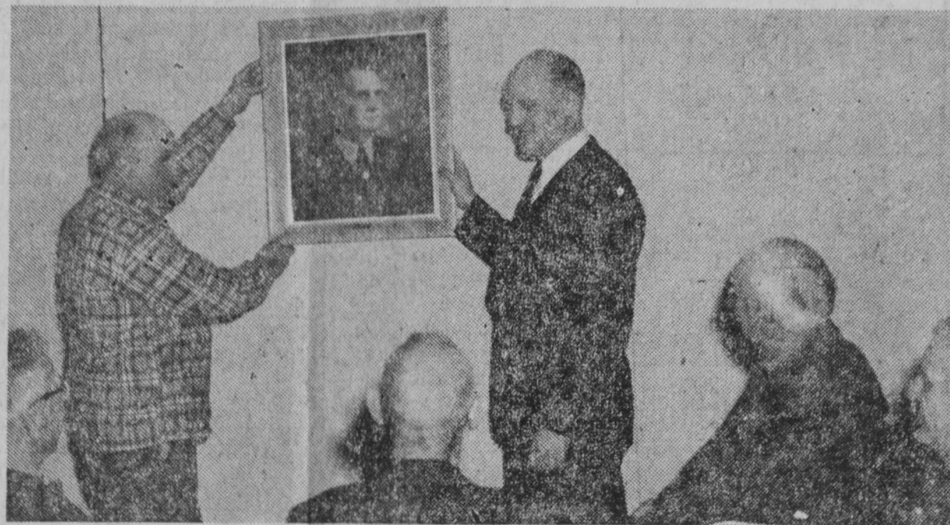

Plainfield Township Rural Agricultural School is seeking suggestions for a new school name.

Orville Leslie and Sons Ford Sales submitted the low bid of $1,148 for furnishing a new three-quarter ton truck for the Tawas City Water Department.

35 Years Ago—
 December 21, 1945—Thomas White of Iosco Frozen Food Locker Plant, East Tawas, announces that four meat cutters are now on duty at the new facility.

A meeting is to be held at the courthouse January 7 for the purpose of receiving and processing applications for charter membership in a new Veterans of Foreign Wars post in Tawas City.

Gallery

lan C. Miller, 1960-1980. When viewing the portraits, it is well to recall the words of Attorney Hertzler during the dedication 22 years ago: "We take our law pretty much for granted. I presume that this is as it should be. When we speak of law, we think of all kinds of regulations, all kinds of taxes and all kinds of limitations on what we can and cannot do. These are laws. What I am referring to now is the law of our land, the law which gives us our democracy, which permits us to be self-governed and guarantees to us equality under the law."

The original seven portraits in their antique frames—highly prized today by collectors and interior decorators—were turned over to the late Joseph Barkman in 1958 and are now on display at the Iosco County Historical Society Museum at East Tawas.

As a footnote, one last effort should be made by the Iosco County Historical Society to locate a picture of the missing judge—W. F. Woodworth—and a logical starting point would be at Bay City. If his portrait were to be located and copied, it would complete the gallery of Iosco County Circuit Court judges.

Discuss

ond phase. Preliminary plans for the project, which has tentatively been approved for an $80,000 grant in state administered Land and Water Conservation Act funds, were outlined by City Mgr. Lowell Thomas.

The city manager said the site at the river mouth was an "incredible resource" which had been neglected for years. He said that plans for the first phase—stabilization of the property through construction of a revetment and reclaiming land along the waterfront—had received approval of the DNR and the United States Army Corps of Engineers.

He said that work on the project would start next spring and he has contacted Farmers Home Administration to determine if the balance of money to be loaned to the city for construction of a new fire hall could be used to help finance this project. The original loan allocation to the city was for $500,000 and $175,000 is being used on the new fire hall.

Thomas said the information center being planned in the second phase took into consideration that this area was only a tankful of gas away from the Tri City area, which is an important consideration because of the cost of gasoline.

Roger Jackson, executive director of Tawas Chamber of Commerce, said the project had support from other chamber organizations along US-23. He also commented that widening shoulders of the highway during the past year had greatly improved the highway and he knew of no better location for an information center to serve tourists on their way north.

The department of transportation was requested to endorse the site as an information center, without participating financially. The request was taken under advisement.
