

County Commences Suit to Recover Missing Files

Suit has been filed in circuit court seeking a mandatory order for the return of all records, files and data pertaining to the Iosco County veterans' counselor's office.

In addition, the suit asks the court to restrain Sidney Teague, former county veterans' counselor, from destroying or in any way harming files, records and data formerly in his office.

Although Teague presently is vacationing in Florida and out of the court's jurisdiction, it is expected that Judge Allan C. Miller will set a hearing date on action instigated last week by the county seeking permanent return of the records.

Ronald Tyler, legal counsel for the board of commissioners, said that an attempt would be made to serve the court's notice on Teague in Florida.

Teague resigned as veterans' counselor in December and, when the new appointee took over management of the office, he found that files of veterans' cases, both those in progress and those closed, were not in the file cabinets.

According to Tyler, Teague refused to return the files, claiming that information contained in the records was not county property under the right of privacy act. Tyler contends, however, that as a private individual, Teague has no authority to claim county records.

In his petition to the courts, Tyler contends that the veterans' counselor position is an arm of the county and that Teague was paid a salary from the county general fund.

The petition states that the present veterans' counselor, Robert H. Brown, who was appointed January 1, is unable to adequately serve that office because of the lack of records.

Tyler's petition contends that Brown contacted Teague and requested that he return the records, but that Teague responded that he would not release the records except to each individual veteran, after receiving a written request from that veteran. Brown further indicated that Teague was contemplating burning and destroying the records.

Tyler stated in the petition that he contacted Teague and demanded the records, but the former veterans' counselor advised him that he had already burned the files and that they were not now available. According to the petition, Brown does not believe the records were burned and that the county would suffer irreparable harm if the documents were destroyed.

IN EARLY JANUARY, Sidney Teague, right, retiring veterans' counselor, was presented with a certificate of appreciation by John Webb, chairman of the county board of commissioners. The county now has started suit to recover records removed from the office.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Rush River Mouth Plans for Application

Facing a March 15 deadline to file an application for federal-state funding to assist with river mouth development, Tawas City Parks and Recreation Board Thursday reviewed a number of options proposed by John M. Beckett, Ann Arbor planning consultant.

The Ann Arbor firm was hired through a state grant program to conduct a shoreline survey and update the city's parks and recreation plan.

A public survey conducted as part of this study during the past two months indicated that great interest was held for development of the river mouth and improvement of recreational facilities at the city park with respect to water-oriented activities.

Assurances have been received from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources that funds will be provided this year to complete work on improvements to the fishing pier at the city park and it was the general feeling of the parks and recreation board that major attention should be placed on river mouth development.

Six different plans for development of city-owned property at the river mouth were reviewed by the parks and recreation board and City Mgr. Lowell Thomas.

All called for some form of erosion protection at the east side of the river mouth on property purchased by the city from the Lubaway family. The manner in which that property would be used after construction of a breakwall is to be given major consideration before a final application is submitted in March.

Options considered in plans submitted for review include construction of boat launching facilities with a paved parking lot, use of the property for camping; or establishment of a combination park with green area, limited parking for vehicles with major emphasis on facilities for recreational fishing.

Because of the fact that the city's present boat launching facilities on property leased from the Detroit and Mackinac Railway upstream from the river mouth could be improved and expanded without any great outlay of money, the parks and recreation board tended to favor development of the river mouth property with a green area, limited vehicular parking facilities and recreational fishing opportunities.

The general feeling of parks and recreation board members was that valuable shoreline property should not be utilized for additional tourist camping and that such public or private facilities could be located at inland points still within easy reach of the bay.

It was also felt that establishment of a new state boat launching ramp at East Tawas, coupled with present private ramps on Tawas Point and a private ramp on the west side of the river mouth may make it unnecessary to construct additional ramping facilities at the river mouth.

Beckett pointed out that the river mouth is actually the first opportunity for motorists traveling along US-23 to see Lake Huron and he stressed the need for properly developing the property to take advantage of the beauties of Tawas Bay.

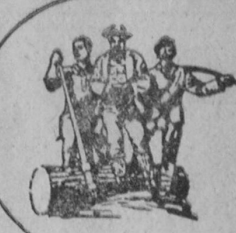

Plans for future development of US-23 are unknown at this time and any upstream facilities to permit entry of watercraft of any size would depend upon replacement of the present US-23 bridge. Beckett presented a number of plans which showed how the US-23 route could be altered at that point, including

Voters to Decide On

Baldwin Township Hall Proposal

Public notice is given this week by Baldwin Township that a special election is to be held Tuesday, April 8, submitting a township hall bonding proposition to voters.

The township proposes to borrow an amount not in excess of $290,000 and issue its general obligation unlimited tax bonds to acquire, furnish and equip an existing building and site for use as a township hall.

Frieda Rempert, township clerk, officially gives notice to township voters that March 10 is the last day for receiving registrations for the special election. The complete notice is printed on page 2 of this section.

This proposal has been under consideration for several months and a petition by citizens asked the township board for a voter referendum on the question.

Proposed location of the new township hall is the building formerly occupied by Michigan Consolidated Gas Company in Baldwin Centre.

This modern brick structure was constructed in the early 1970s to house the gas company's offices, sales department and maintenance division. Following reorganization of the utility's northern division, these quarters were no longer needed.

An unofficial poll of the township board in January indicated that three members were in favor of the purchase and two were opposed.

Those in favor felt that it would be an excellent opportunity to acquire a building at a reasonable cost which would fit needs of the growing township for many years to come.

Township officials opposing the purchase have pointed out that Baldwin presently does not have any full-time employees and have questioned the need for such a large structure.

The final decision on the proposal will be made by voters on April 8.

17 Booked Through Jail Last Week

Seventeen persons were booked through the Iosco County Jail last week on a variety of offenses.

Officers investigated 12 property damage accidents, six personal injury accidents, one incident of transporting open intoxicants, six burglaries, nine larcenies, seven malicious destruction complaints and two warrant arrests.

Other complaints included one arrest for assault and battery, one arrest for resisting and obstructing an officer, one threatening phone call, two runaway complaints, two relays of blood and two bad check complaints.

Kathy Barbier, 25, West Branch, was treated at Tawas Hospital early Sunday morning after she lost control of a pickup truck on Tawas Beach Road, crossed the center line and crashed into an unoccupied cabin. The cabin was completely demolished and the East Tawas Fire Department was called to the scene when a natural gas line was broken.

William T. Herman, 20, East Tawas, was injured early Saturday morning and treated at Tawas Hospital for injuries received when he fell off a snowmobile on Tawas Bay.

John W. Cano, 19, Tawas City, was treated at Tawas Hospital Saturday when his motorcycle flipped over while racing on Sand Lake.

Evelyn J. Pilat, 55, Hale, was treated at the Hale Medical Center Friday when she lost control of her car while northbound on M-65. Officers said the highway was slippery.

Breakings and enterings were reported by Romeo and Sons, Tawas City; Leo H. Kessler, Hale; James W. Nichols, Whittemore.

William Allen of Tawas City reported the theft of a horse. The fence around Allen's property had been cut and the thieves apparently used a dish filled with grain to lure the horse through the opening. The horse was led along M-55 to a point where it was loaded on a vehicle.

Controversy Erupts Over Fixed Base Operator at Iosco Airport

Controversy over proposed leasing of airport hangar quarters to a fixed base operator erupted Wednesday at a meeting of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners.

The principal controversy centers around the manner in which the lease was drawn, rental to be charged for the quarters and who is responsible for paying liability insurance to hold the county harmless for operation of a private business.

Com. James Stech, chairman of the county's aeronautics committee, presented the proposal to the commission, stating that the lease had originally been prepared by Ronald Tyler, the commission's legal counsel.

Legal counsel for the fixed base operator, Thomas Marsh, later made a number of changes in the document.

During discussion on the matter, Com. Carlton Merschel said the proposed lease came as a surprise to him as it had never been discussed previously by the commission. He pointed out that the county airport was "not 100 percent owned by the county" as federal and state funds were used in its construction. He said that the Federal Aeronautics Administration and the state should have a definite interest in the proceedings.

Merschel questioned the $40 per month lease fee to be charged to the operator, which provided that any improvements to the property could be deducted from the fee. He also questioned the fact that the lease provided for the county to pay for the liability insurance for the operator.

He said that this could become a serious problem for the county as a court of law could hold the county responsible for any workmanship on aircraft performed by the operator. He felt that the operator should be responsible for his own workmanship and the county should be held harmless.

Airport Mgr. W. C. Roach told the commission that maintenance work is already being performed on aircraft at the airport and Merschel felt this should be stopped until the matter of liability is straightened out.

Merschel told the commission that he was astounded that the proposed lease with changes had not been submitted to Tyler for review prior to presentation to the commission.

Following heated discussion, the proposed lease is to be reviewed by legal counsel before any further action is taken.

Tyler Recommends Halt to Crocker Drain Proceedings

On recommendation of its legal counsel, Iosco County and its drain commissioner have stopped further proceedings concerning the Crocker Drain in Baldwin Township.

This action by the county board of commissioners followed receipt of a letter from Ronald Tyler, legal counsel, to Harry Krueger, county drain commissioner.

Tyler's letter indicated that he had reviewed documentation of the drain and he noted serious irregularities by the previous drain commissioner which "made the entire proceedings illegal."

Among the irregularities cited by Tyler was that the affidavit of the person circulating a petition, dated August 14, 1974, contained a fraudulent signature. The person whose name was on the petition states that he did not circulate the petition and Tyler said in his letter that it was obvious by comparison of signatures that it had been forged.

Tyler recommended that present proceedings be discontinued, and, if a drain is desired, a new application be submitted to the drain commissioner and that proceedings be initiated from the beginning.

In other commission business, authorization was given to pay Edward Sterling $372 for work of remodeling Annex No. 1 to provide space for the marine agent of the Cooperative Extension Service.

The commission approved attorney fees of $330 as the county's share in litigation with the Michigan Townships Association concerning the latter's suit against the secretary of interior and 30 counties of Michigan over a federal court injunction freezing the disbursement of federal funds from forest lands.

Approval of payment of $375 to H and R Appliance for a dishwasher at the county jail, plus payment of $232.43 to Gary Ulman, plumber, for installation of a garbage disposal at the jail, was authorized.

Use of the county building by Tawas Bay Artists for the annual arts and crafts show on August 2-3 was approved.

Brian Norton's 11-point total was high for the Braves. Malmo and M. Johnson hit in double figures behind Lier for Gladwin with 13 and 10 points, respectively.

rerouting of the river bed, to provide additional land for recreational development, both public and private.

Beckett stressed the fact that private development was important in any undertaking and provisions are to be made in planning to coordinate improvements in the private sector.

The Ann Arbor planner also discussed the need for identifying and development of the center of town, citing several land use zones which had already been established over the years and which could well fit into the redevelopment plans.

Preliminary plans being developed by Beckett are to be presented in the near future for consideration of the parks and recreation board, the city planning commission and the city council.

City Manager Happy Survey Response Called Excellent

Response to Tawas City's recent recreational survey was termed excellent by the Tawas City Parks and Recreation Board, City Mgr. Lowell Thomas and John M. Beckett, Ann Arbor planner who has been retained to conduct a recreational inventory and update the city's recreational plan.

Beckett is currently in the process of preparing a pre-application for federal-state funding to aid the city in development of the river mouth and shoreline of Tawas Bay.

Public input concerning the thoughts and desires of local residents toward present and future facilities and activities was an essential part of the current study.

"The state should be overjoyed that the citizen response to this survey," said Beckett. A total of 126 questionnaires were returned by residents representing approximately 20 percent of the households in the city. An additional 23 were received from nonresidents for a total of 149 responses.

In general, response to the survey indicates a strong interest among residents in the city's recreational programs.

A scientific sampling based on every 30th name on the city's voter registration had 37 responses representing 110 people in households.

Based on a point system, highest priorities in this sampling were given to a bicycle trail, lake swimming, boat launching, shore pier, followed by festivals or concerts, baseball, fitness programs, arts and crafts, picnic shelter, play area, lighted tennis courts, tennis courts, picnicking, natural ice rink, organized games, league sports, scouting activities and nature trail.

A random survey based on publication of a questionnaire in The Tawas Herald, setting up five dropoff points around the city for return of questionnaires, had 40 responses representing 124 people in households.

Results of that survey placed boat launching, lake swimming, festivals or concerts, arts and crafts, shore and pier development as the top priorities, followed by natural ice rink, tennis courts, play area, softball, lighted tennis courts, picnicking, bicycle trail, indoor swimming, picnic shelter, shoreline trail-boardwalk, nature trail, performance area-stage and league sports.

Combining points in each category in the above two surveys lists river mouth development-boat launching, lake swimming improvements, festivals or concerts, shore-pier development as the top priorities.

Surveys of special interest groups, including the Tawas City Business Association, selected high school students and senior citizens, had varied priorities.

Beckett told parks and recreation board members Thursday afternoon that response to the recreational survey would help put together a meaningful plan for the city. He said that Ann Arbor had recently conducted a similar survey and there were only 94 responses to the questionnaire. "I am tickled pink with the response in this community," he stated.

HIGH SCHOOL biology students had charge of an instructional program Thursday which saw seventh and eighth grade life science students participating in the laboratory dissection of fetal pigs during the study of the digestive processes among mammals. Edward J. Barry, seventh grade life science instructor, said his class had just completed a textbook section on mammals and he believed instruction of the junior high school students was capably handled by their high school peers. "The older students really had to know what they were doing," said Barry. Helping to coordinate the instruction was Michael Gekeler, high school biology instructor.—Tawas Herald Photos.

UNITED STATES FOREST SERVICE

Diamond Anniversary

THE UNITED STATES FOREST SERVICE observes its diamond anniversary during 1980. Among those responsible for its creation 75 years ago were Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States, and John Muir, a noted conservationist, who were leaders in establishment of a national parks system.

The end result of efforts by two of the great conservationists in United States history—Theodore Roosevelt and John Muir—will mark its diamond jubilee in 1980.

It was President Roosevelt who signed a law in 1905 establishing the United States Forest Service and it was Muir—explorer, naturalist and writer—whose campaigning for forest conservation culminated in the setting aside of forest reserves.

Special events planned in 1980 to celebrate the forest service's 75th anniversary will mark the great contributions of those and other men, who played prominent roles in the history of the department.

For example, a proclamation by President Roosevelt on February 11, 1909, established the Huron National Forest in Michigan. The idea for this forest was initiated by George A. Loud of AuSable, a lumberman who served this district at the time in congress.

Other names to be recalled during this special year of recognition would include such local luminaries as William B. Piper, second supervisor of Huron National Forest, in whose memory a pine plantation has been named, along with R. G. Schreck, forest supervisor at the time Lumbermen's Monument was dedicated on the bank of the AuSable River in Iosco County.

Such local men as Harry Goodale of Tawas City, probably the oldest living former forest ranger in the country; the late Frank Wilkusi, who spent most of his adult life in the planting, preservation and management of this forest, and countless others—forest service personnel and members of the Civilian Conservation Corps—stand high on the list of those to be recognized for this great conservation achievement.

Conservation and forest management came at a time in this country's history when practically the entire stand of white pine in the Great Lakes States clear to Maine had been slaughtered for all time by the work of man. Forests of the Western United States were just then being fully exploited and, except for a few visionaries like Muir, little thought was being given to the needs of future generations.

One of the first tasks of the fledgling forest service was to instill the realization among timber operators and all Americans—with particular emphasis right here in Iosco County—that unless brush and forest fires were stopped, the work of replanting a forest would be to no avail.

Although no records exist of any fires which destroyed much mature timber in this vicinity prior to 1890, numerous slash fires followed lumbering operations and repeated burning was responsible for a scarcity here of timber except jack pine. In the 12 years between 1915 and 1927, an average of 5,396 acres of Huron National Forest was burned annually.

The forest service's expanded efforts toward prevention of fires since that time saved the first pine plantations established in the Huron at Seven Mile Hill in the spring of 1910, followed by the Buck Creek plantation and many others since that time. One of those who remembers those years is Goodale, who was a ranger from 1910 until 1917.

This region, which over a period of four decades provided several billion feet of white pine lumber to satisfy the hunger of numerous sawmills in the area and helped to build the heartland of America with its lumber products, has witnessed a rebirth of its forest—although not to the extent originally provided by nature.

Today, thousands of acres of formerly worthless burned over land are covered by maturing stands of Norway, white and other species of pine trees—thanks to the efforts of past and present personnel of the United States Forest Service.

In addition to the value received through careful management of this vast forest reserve, the benefits to be gained by the general public have, and always will remain to be an immeasurable asset to the nation.

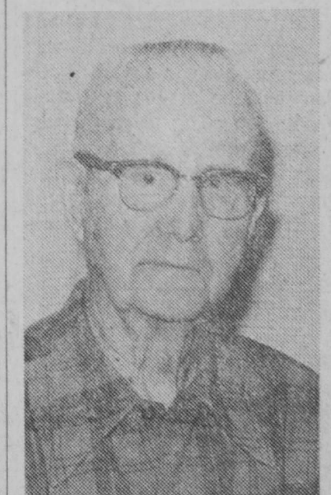

That portion of the Huron National Forest in Iosco County is visited annually by more than 100,000 pleasure seekers, who must ever remain alert to the fact that a match dropped carelessly in the brush, the uncontrolled use of fragile forest areas through unauthorized use of motorized vehicles and even acts of wanton vandalism can destroy the work of three generations.

The Smokey Bear symbol has provided a great contribution to prevention of forest fires over the years and a newer member of the forest service team, Woody Owl, is expected to provide an important contribution during the diamond jubilee.

Literature being distributed throughout the country features Woody Owl and promotes the planting of 75,000,000 more trees in 1980 than were planted in 1979.

Calvin Norton, Tawas District ranger, said last week that plans for this program to encourage public participation in planting trees in the Huron National Forest would be announced in the next issue of FOREST. (See FOREST, page 6.)

BELIEVED to be the oldest former employee of the United States Forest Service is Harry Goodale of Tawas City, who became a ranger in 1910, one year after establishment of Huron National Forest.

INTRODUCING the bill establishing the Huron National Forest was Cong. George A. Loud of AuSable, son of a pioneer lumberman.

PEOPLE OF TODAY can take pride in the major accomplishment of transforming a former burned over and barren sand plains into a national forest. All must be ever on the alert to prevent over use of the fragile soil and to protect the growing forest from being damaged by fire.

RCA Cited Needs in Conservation

Two years ago, the nation's major conservation problems were identified through the Resources Conservation Act (RCA) survey. They were identified as follows: Improve water quality, conserve water, improve fish and wildlife, reduce upstream flood damages, conserve energy and solve other related resource problems. Comments on solving these resource problems are being requested from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) and the Soil Conservation Service (SCS).

The Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) cost sharing program, technical assistance from the Soil Conservation Service and Cooperative Extension's soil testing and educational programs are three of 34 USDA programs available nationally, which are used in Iosco County. Which of these programs do you use? Do you want a continuation of these types of programs as they are, would you like changes or do you have some new ideas? "It is very important that the USDA know what you like and dislike," says Harold Cholger, chairman of the Iosco County ASC Committee. "From this RCA survey and public input, a new national conservation policy will be formed."

More information is available for review at the county ASCS or SCS offices in the Federal Building, East Tawas. Comments received will be compiled and will be presented to the congress and to the president for use in developing a national policy on soil and water conservation. All comments must be signed and postmarked by March 28 in order to be considered. Mail comments to: USDA Response and Analysis Center, c/o Box 271, East Tawas, Michigan 48730.

TWO PERSONS were injured Saturday night and treated at Tawas Hospital when this car driven by Robert H. Corrión, 38, Beaverton, crashed into a van parked in front of Peoples State Bank, Tawas City. Corrión told officers he was trying to light a cigarette and his car crashed into the legally parked vehicle. Investigating Iosco County Sheriff's Department officers had to use Jaws of Life equipment in order to remove the driver's wife, Marlene, from the wreckage.—Tawas Herald Photo.

RESOLUTION TO ABANDON A PUBLIC ROAD

On a motion duly made by Commissioner Aulerich, supported by Commissioner Conley, and unanimously carried, it was moved to adopt the following resolution:

WHEREAS, a petition bearing the signatures of freeholders of Grant Township, Iosco County, Michigan has been filed with the Board of County Road Commissioners of Iosco County, Michigan asking that a portion and/or portions of roads be absolutely abandoned and discontinued, said roads being described as follows:

That part of Sunkissed Street beginning 200 feet southerly of the North boundary line of the recorded plat of "Palm Beach" (at the North Line of Lot 5, Block 3) and all of South Street beginning at its intersection of Sunkissed Street and extending to the Easterly line of Easy Street, a distance of 270 feet, according to the recorded plat thereof as recorded in Liber 3, Page 8 of Plats, Office of the Register of Deeds, Iosco County Building, Tawas City, Michigan 48763.

WHEREAS, the Board examined the area and noted that the roads served no useful purpose, were not suitable for public access and that abandonment was in the best interest of the public;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the above mentioned sections of said roads be and are hereby absolutely abandoned and discontinued;

EXCEPT, upon the condition that the title to all public utilities and drains and all appurtenances thereto, now in, over or under said right-of-way is reserved to and shall remain in the respective owners thereof together with the easements and continued rights to occupy said roads for public utility or drainage purposes with the present or additional facilities and to operate, maintain, repair, replace, or remove the same, to the same effect and in the same manner as if said roads had remained a public way.

I hereby certify the above is a true and correct copy of a resolution unanimously adopted by the Board of Iosco County Road Commissioners at a meeting held February 18, 1980.

ACT Program Aid to Career Planning

During the first week of December, all juniors at Tawas Area High School had the opportunity to participate in a career guidance and educational planning program, the ACT Career Planning Program. This program was designed to help young adults make better decisions about their educational and career plans. Thomas Pinski, counselor at Tawas Area High School, points out that national studies reflect that 11th grade students rank help with career planning as their most important need. Yet, in many school settings this need, currently, is not being addressed. It is in response to this need that Tawas Area High School instituted the opportunity to participate in the career planning program. The program is being funded through a special grant award to Region 7B CETA. Tawas, Oscoda and Hale Area High Schools were involved in the program.

Participating students completed the career planning program assessment instrument which measures the student's career related interests, experiences, abilities and plans. The information is developed into a report for each student to help them relate this information about themselves to career options and the world of work.

The results will be reviewed with both students and their parents on Monday, March 3, and Monday, March 10, 7:30 p.m., in the commons at Tawas Area High School. All students who participated in the program are strongly urged to attend either session. Those parents unable to attend are asked to call the counseling office at the high school at 362-6127 to make other arrangements.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:
Your editorial of February 20 re. annexation gives the impression in the last paragraph that those projects listed are still on the "back burner."

You surely know that my time and effort since I have come to Tawas City, as well as the decisions of the Council, have clearly demonstrated that sewer system modernization, downtown and commercial development, bridges, river mouth and shoreline improvement are first priority items. I respect your concerns about annexation, but please do not give our citizens the impression that the city feels annexation is more important than those projects. On the contrary, annexation is important to help stabilize the tax base which pays for those projects—projects which enhance the townships as well as the city.

Very truly yours,
Lowell Thomas
City Manager

MINUTES

SPECIAL JOINT MEETING CITY COUNCIL & PLANNING COMMISSION
February 14, 1980
A special joint meeting of the City Council and Planning Commission of the City of Tawas City was called to order by Mayor Westcott at 7:30 PM at City Hall.

Present: City Council—Martin, Pawloski, Upson, Westcott, Hayes, Keiser, Lansky. Planning Commission—Blust, Kidder, MacLeod, Moeller, Russo, St. James, Thompson, Walters.
Purpose of the meeting was to discuss whether or not the City should take advantage of available Federal and State Critical Bridge Funds to proceed this year with the replacement of the Whittemore Street Bridge at an estimated local cost of $39,850, in addition to replacement of the Sixth Avenue Bridge at an estimated local cost of $25,520.

Considerable discussion ensued from both members of Council and Planning Commission, on the status of the Whittemore Street Bridge. Most felt it should be retained as a vehicle bridge and rebuilt under the grant program, while two felt it would be most cost-effective to close the bridge to vehicle traffic and use it for pedestrians only.

Members of the audience were invited to express their opinions, which heavily favored retaining the Whittemore Street Bridge for vehicles and rebuilding it. One member of the audience stated that the Sixth Avenue Bridge should not be rebuilt and a new bridge should be placed over Dead Creek at Tenth Avenue.

Chairman Thompson of the Planning Commission called for a vote. Motion was made by Kidder, seconded by Blust, to recommend to the City Council that the City take advantage of the Federal and State Grant to replace both the Whittemore Street and Sixth Avenue bridges. Roll call vote: Yeas—Blust, Kidder, MacLeod, Moeller, Russo, St. James, Thompson; Nays—Walters.

Mayor Westcott called for a vote of the Council. Motion was made by Hayes, seconded by Lansky, that the State Department of Transportation be notified of the City's intention to participate in the Federal Bridge Replacement and Michigan Critical Bridge programs, and plans to accept the grant funds available to proceed immediately to rebuild both the Whittemore Street and Sixth Avenue bridges. Roll call vote: Yeas—Martin, Pawloski, Upson, Westcott, Hayes, Lansky; Nays—Keiser.
Mr. Keiser indicated he was in full support of replacing the Sixth Avenue bridge, but voted no because the motion included the Whittemore Street bridge. Joint meeting adjourned at 8:30 PM.

The diamond jubilee year will also coincide with a major expansion of facilities at Lumbermen's Monument.

A new paved lot is to be constructed there later this year and ground is then to be broken for a new visitor information center, which will feature historical exhibits pertaining to Michigan's white pine lumbering era and the role played by the AuSable River and local communities in that pioneering epic of Michigan.

Stimulation of general public awareness that this nation needs to continue the protection of its environment is an important aspect of this 75th birthday celebration of the forest service and residents of the county are urged to participate in this important undertaking.

15 Years Ago—

Tawas Chamber of Commerce board of directors went on record endorsing a resolution from the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce calling for beverage distributors to use returnable deposit-required type of bottles instead of "throw aways." Work on the Tawas Chamber of Commerce's booth at the Detroit Sportsmen's Show is progressing rapidly and the board of directors was told that the booth would be set up to display March 1. Walter Champion has charge of constructing the display.

THE CURRENT COST OF THE SMITHS' APPLIANCES IS $3230.

THE COST OF THE CURRENT, LESS THAN 25¢ A DAY.

You already know that electricity does a lot of work around your home. What you may not realize is for how little money. On a typical day, the Smith family - father, mother, daughter - uses enough electricity to cook breakfast, lunch and dinner, vacuum the floors, dry their hair, make coffee, listen to the radio and watch TV. All of that use costs them less than a quarter. Compared to the cost of other things in life - like the appliances themselves - it is amazingly low; pocket change. Yes, the cost of your total electric bill has gone up in recent years. But, that's partly because you are using a lot more electricity - you use it to run all those appliances that make your life so much easier. We at Consumers Power Company are working hard to keep reasonably-priced electricity working hard for you. If you do your part by using electricity wisely, we'll all benefit.

ELECTRICITY. It's still a good buy.

YOUR DOG NEEDS VITAMINS, TOO.
