

Baldwin Voters Approve B, Reject C

Baldwin Township voters approved one millage proposal and defeated another in Tuesday's special township election coinciding with the state primary.

Voters approved Proposal B to raise six-tenths of a mill for garbage collection for an indefinite period, 124-108. The proposal lost in the first and third precincts, but was given a 51-28 margin in the second precinct.

Proposal C to raise six-tenths of a mill for township roads was defeated, 124-110. The proposal lost in both the first and third precincts, but voters of the second precinct voted favorably, 44-35.

Announce Programs for Memorial Observances

Veterans organizations of the Tawasites will join with others across the land during the annual Memorial Day observance Monday, May 26. Programs honoring the nation's war dead are to be preceded by a parade in each community.

Tawas City's program will be under auspices of Jesse C. Hodder Post No. 189, American Legion, and veterans are to assemble at the American Legion Hall on North Street at 8:00 a. m. The parade is to depart on its route to Lake Street at 8:30 a. m.

Marching in the parade will be Tawas Area High School Band, a color guard from Wurt-smith Air Force Base, a firing squad and boy scouts.

Sheriff George Westcott will be honorary officer of the day.

Wilbur C. Roach will serve as officer of the day and John N. Brugger will have charge of the firing squad.

The program at the cemetery will include reading the list of deceased veterans by Thomas Pockrandt, post commander. The Rev. Carroll Symons will deliver the invocation and benediction.

Marchers are to stop at the Mathews Street bridge to honor navy dead. Earl Davis, post chaplain, will cast a wreath on the river at the bridge ceremony and will place a wreath on the memorial planter at the cemetery.

The program at East Tawas starts with a parade at 10:30 a. m. Veterans are to assemble in front of the Federal Building. Participating will be Audie

Johnson Post No. 211, American Legion; Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary; boy scouts; cub scouts; girl scouts, and Tawas Area High School Band.

W. C. Anderson is to serve as parade marshal.

Marchers are to proceed to the Michigan Waterways Commission Dock to salute the naval dead, then return to the Federal Building to board cars for the trip to Veterans Cemetery.

The Rev. Daryl E. Burt, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, is to be guest speaker.

Following the program will be a social hour at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall.

All veterans of the two communities are urged to participate in these two programs.

New Waste Water Treatment Permit Could Prove Costly

In making application for renewal of its permit to operate a sewage treatment plant, the Tawas City Council approved adoption of a resolution admitting the plant is polluting public waters because of the lack of secondary waste treatment.

This admission by the city was practically the same as required last year by the state when local officials worked feverishly to obtain a renewal in order to comply with state and federal EPA mandates. Without the admission, the city would not have received federal funds to aid in engineering for secondary waste water treatment.

Under provisions of the new three-year permit, the city will have to meet a number of new requirements for operation of the plant. In addition to providing a full time operator by October 1 as stipulated previously, the permit also requires pre-treatment of industrial waste by October 1, plus adoption of a master plan by April 1981 to identify nondomestic uses of the waste collection system.

In addition, the city must submit a draft of a sewer use ordinance before April 1982.

These provisions are expected to raise the cost of operation substantially.

In other business at Monday night's council meeting, permission was granted to use the city boat ramp and parking area on Ninth Avenue for the 24th annual Tawas River Canoe Race to be held June 15. The event is sponsored by Tawas Chamber of Commerce.

Appearing before the council was Arthur Krass, who asked the city to give first priority to use of the launching ramp on that day. The city manager said that all efforts would be made to accommodate the sponsor, but he and councilmen believed that arrangements could be worked out whereby the ramp could also be used by fishermen.

Krass also asked the council to adopt a resolution urging the forest service to consider improvements to ski trails in the national forest. A resolution from the council is to ask that high priority be given to ski trail improvements.

A report from the city assessor indicated that the total amount of new construction during 1979 amounted to $324,100, which included $103,500 for commercial and $220,600 for residential. New personal property tax revenue is expected to be $11,000.

Besides the general fund, part of the remaining budget would be financed through local taxation. Included would be 3.20 mills for municipal streets fund, 2.80 mills for local improvement fund and 1.20 mills for debt service fund.

The remainder of the budget would be financed through state and federal revenues.

Following discussion at the two work sessions, councilmen were agreed on adoption of the

River Mouth-Industrial Park May Take Local Financing

Council Adopts 1980-81 Budget

A $1,103,191 operational budget for 1980-81 was adopted Monday night by the Tawas City Council following a public hearing for citizen input. The budget includes a general fund expenditure of $347,853, an increase of $18,000 over the projected expenditures for the current year which ends June 30.

Despite the slight increase, the total property tax levy is to remain at 16.45 mills, the same as adopted for 1979-80. The total levy includes 9.25 mills for the general fund.

Two special work sessions had been held by the council during recent weeks to inspect the city manager's tentative budget and the council shifted a number of priorities in that budget, but did not change the bottom line of total expenditures.

Funds established by the new budget include:

Municipal streets fund, $52,615; local streets fund, $116,990; major streets fund, $55,738; local improvement and capital purchase fund, $73,985; federal revenue sharing fund, $78,330; equipment fund, $45,218; industrial park development fund, $2,900; debt service fund, $49,760; water operation and maintenance fund, $137,568; water replacement fund, $5,000; water improvement fund, $19,500; water bond and interest fund, $23,434; sewer operation and maintenance, $83,300; sewer improvement fund, $11,000.

Besides the general fund, part of the remaining budget would be financed through local taxation. Included would be 3.20 mills for municipal streets fund, 2.80 mills for local improvement fund and 1.20 mills for debt service fund.

The remainder of the budget would be financed through state and federal revenues.

Following discussion at the two work sessions, councilmen were agreed on adoption of the final budget as presented during Monday night's hearing. This was a departure from past years when last minute changes were made in priorities.

The local improvement and capital purchase fund has approximately $45,000 earmarked to match allocations from the state and federal governments for possible projects at the mouth of the Tawas River and development of the industrial park.

City Mgr. Lowell Thomas told councilmen that chances of obtaining federal money for river mouth improvement were practically nil due to the cutback in funds to the United States Army Corps of Engineers.

Thomas said he had met with corps officials earlier in the day and learned that the river mouth would not qualify for erosion control funds, which are aimed primarily at protecting municipally-owned buildings endangered by beach erosion.

Following adoption of one extensive long-range project for river mouth development earlier in the year, the parks and recreation board and its planning consultant have tailored those plans to such an extent that development could well be accomplished through local funding.

Further tailoring of the plans may still be in the offing to enable the community to start the first phase of the project, probably the most important aspect of the entire program.

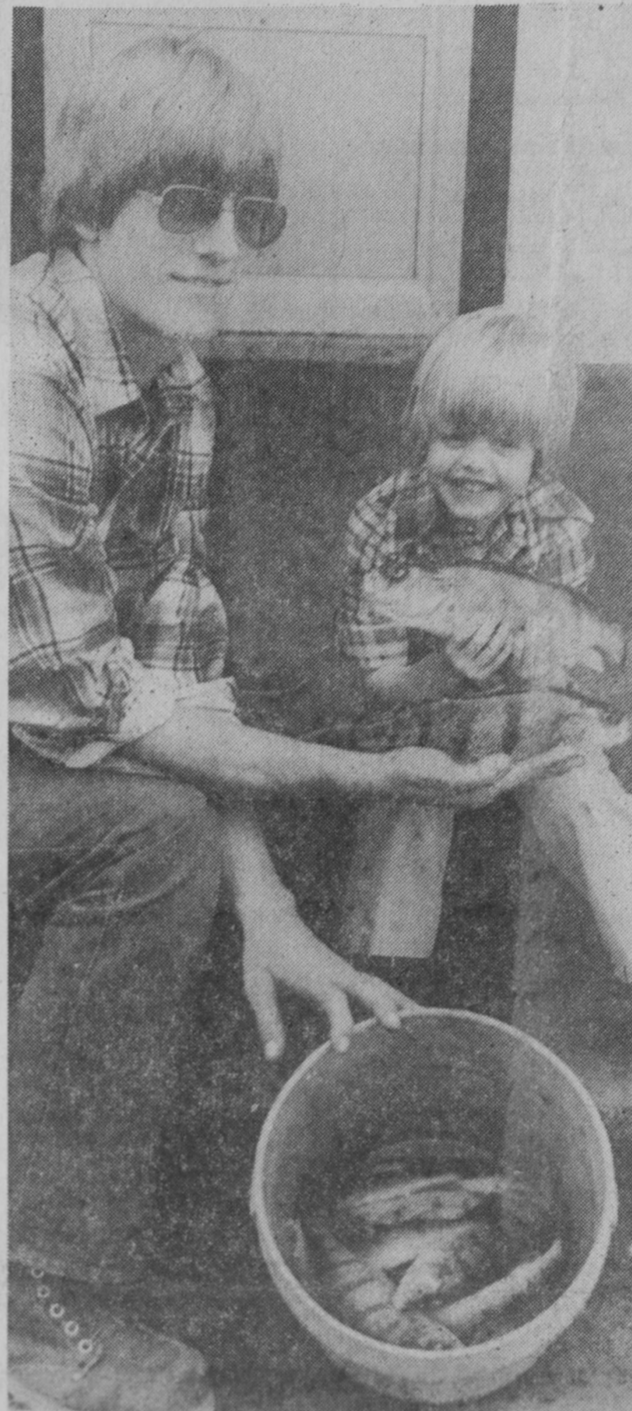

Cost of a rock revetment at the outer edge of city property on the east side of the river mouth has been estimated at a little over $75,000. Filling and engineering costs would bring the total to around $205,000, but it is believed this figure could be reduced substantially by use of sand from the lake bottom for fill purposes and possible construction of the revetment in two stages.

On advice of a hydraulic engineer, all sheet steel piling which had been intended along the east river channel has been removed from the plans. Although cost of the piling was a major factor, the engineer pointed out that wave action in the narrow channel would make it practically impossible for a small boat to enter the bay because of wave action.

The Iosco County Parks and Recreation Commission has earmarked $35,000 for this project and the city is to ask for an extension of time on this matching money. The city has expended nearly $100,000 to purchase two parcels of property at the river mouth in recent years to provide public access to Tawas Bay and it is generally felt this could be considered matching money.

Dr. John D. LeClair appeared at the public hearing and encouraged the council to tailor back its plans even further in order that some progress might be shown at the river mouth and on development of the industrial park. It was his opinion that the projects were vital to the economy of the community and that the city could demonstrate its interest in the projects for possible outside funding through starting work using local funds.

It is expected that further revision of river mouth plans for construction on a phased basis will be a subject of future meetings of the parks and recreation board, which meets the third Thursday of each month, 4:00 p. m., at the city hall.

Expect Iosco Jobless Rate to Increase During April

Although unemployment figures were unavailable earlier this week, Michigan Employment Security Commission at Alpena expects the jobless rate to show an increase when tabulations are finalized this week for the month of April.

The unemployment rate for Iosco-Alcona Counties reached 16.7 percent in January and the rate increased to 17.4 percent in March.

The unemployment rate was 15.9 percent in Iosco County during March, with 1,525 persons unemployed, 8,074 persons employed and a total labor force of 9,600 persons.

A MESOC spokesman for the Alpena office said Monday that employment figures for this area were not following the usual seasonal upswing this spring due to the depressed building trades industry, layoffs in gypsum industry employment and layoffs in industrial plants which provide small parts for the automotive field.

Drain Foes Intervene in Arenac Suit

Citizens Against the AuGres River Intercounty Drain, Incorporated, has filed suit in Arenac County Circuit Court seeking to intervene in a case brought by four property owners against the Augmented Board of the proposed AuGres River County Drain.

A hearing on a motion to intervene is to be held June 27 at the Arenac County Courthouse. Opponents of the drain are all landowners of Arenac, are affected by the AuGres Watershed and would be bound by any judgment in the original action brought by Herbert Heinrich, Earl Shillair, Harold Schutte and Alvin Selle.

The new motion states that the applicants believe the proposed AuGres River Intercounty Drain is unnecessary to the public health, that applicants' rights are not being adequately preserved by the defendants in this cause, the Augmented Board of Proposed AuGres River Intercounty Drain, is a public corporation.

It is also claimed that the proposed apportionment, stipulated to in court in May 1975, was fraudulent, illegal and confiscatory as to the applicants; that the actions taken by the augmented board were not based upon proper legal procedures; that petitioners would suffer irreparable damages and loss or confiscation of their property rights without due process of law if not allowed to intervene.

In its motion, attorneys for Citizens Against the AuGres River Intercounty Drain argue that the stipulation entered in this cause on May 1, 1975, violates state law because the statute provides that only the drainage board can apportion costs between the counties and other public corporations. Each county must bear an equal share of the cost until a determination is made by the drainage board, states the petition.

The apportionment of benefits for the AuGres River project established by the augmented board in 1975 gave 91 percent for Arenac County, six percent for Iosco County and three percent for Ogemaw County.

Boundary Commission Gives Notice on Hearings

Official notification is given this week by the State Boundary Commission that it will conduct two public hearings June 13 on the proposed annexation of properties in Tawas and Alabaster Townships by the City of Tawas City.

Public notices are printed on page 5, section two, of this week's issue of The Tawas Herald.

The public hearing relating to territory in Tawas Township is to be held at 10:00 a. m. and the hearing concerning Alabaster Township is to be held at 1:00 p. m. Both hearings are to be held in the county board of commissioners room of the Iosco County Building.

Considerable controversy is expected to arise over the proposed annexation proposals as township officials have indicated they would oppose any annexation thoughts of the city.

Public input by citizens and officials of the townships and city is necessary in order for the boundary commission to reach any conclusions or to make any determination. The commission has the option to deny the petitions, approve them as submitted or approve with boundary adjustments.

City Mgr. Lowell Thomas told members of the city council Monday night that he was "up to his ears" with the work of (See HEARING, page 5.)

East Tawas May Go With Baldwin Planner

In response to the East Tawas Planning Commission's request for professional help in bringing the city zoning ordinance up to date, the city council suggested Monday night that the commission evaluate the zoning ordinance being prepared for Baldwin Township in terms of desirability of having the same organization develop one for the city.

In other business, the council recognized certain problems connected with trying to develop a tree planting program on a cost sharing basis, but felt this policy should be continued for the current year.

A request from Eugene Cuny to alleviate drainage problems at his home caused by service installations in the area was turned over to City Supt. William Smith for a recommendation.

An appeal by Robert Eppert on behalf of Big Brothers and Big Sisters and a request that a solicitation permit be waived for a funding drive resulted in action by the council waiving the permit.

Gary Nelkie, representing Tawas Chamber of Commerce, announced that the Tawas River Canoe Race would be held Sunday, June 15. He requested resolutions giving recognition to the race and the river.

Nelkie also expressed concern over the low priority given to winter sports facilities and activities by local forest service officials. The council suggested that Nelkie work with the city clerk in preparation of the resolutions.

Daughters of 1812 Held Convention

Following the banquet was a desertation given on flags of the United States from 1497 to the present time. A number of replicas added interest.

CETA Program Benefits YMCA Camp Nissokone

A reforestation program involving cutting and clearing an old plantation and planting some 20,000 red pine at Camp Nissokone near Oscoda is the site of a CETA special project.

The Title VI project, one of many in the Region 7B Employment and Training Consortium area, was funded for $45,053 under the Comprehensive Employment Training Act.

Camp Nissokone, owned by YMCA of Metropolitan Detroit, is comprised of 168 acres with approximately a mile of shore line on VanEtan Lake. During the summer months, the camp will serve over 3,000 youths as well as provide camping facilities and outdoor education programs for local groups.

The reforestation program will also include select cutting of an additional 16 acres of red pine, planted over 50 years ago and left unmanaged.

"We have received the valuable assistance of the Soil Conservation Service and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources' forestry division, which has enabled us to practice and ensure sound land management techniques," said Charlton Lee, resident camp manager.

The eight CETA participants in the Camp Nissokone project are receiving training in the use of tools, forestry management, construction experience and inter-personal teamwork relationship. Equally important are the individuals' opportunities for developing a positive self-image and on-the-job confidence, said Lee.

Usable materials from the cutting of mature trees are processed on camp property and used to construct corrals, fences and other projects at the camp.

DAR Chapter Won National Award

Installation of officers and news of another national award featured the sixth annual meeting of River Aux Sables Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at their May luncheon in the West Branch home of Mrs. Lloyd Wiegierink.

Mrs. Wiegierink, as retiring regent, also presided over the business meeting and election of officers.

Elected were Mrs. Homer D. Roberts, Hale, regent; Mrs. Lyle W. Adams, Tawas City, vice regent; Mrs. Robert E. Murphy, Greenbush, chaplain; Mrs. Ervin J. Wilee, East Tawas, recording secretary; Mrs. T. H. Benson, Hale, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Frederick C. Nash, AuGres, treasurer; Mrs. Worthy T. Boyd, Hale, registrar; Mrs. Adolph G. Sie-land, Fairview, historian, and Mrs. Lyndon E. Fogelson, South Branch, librarian.

Mrs. Boyd, who is also state registrar of the Michigan DAR and was a delegate to the 89th congress of the National Society DAR in Washington, D. C., April 17-21, reported that the chapter has received the Gold Honor Roll Award for the fourth consecutive year. The prestigious award is given only to chapters which satisfactorily complete a varied program of patriotic, historical and educational work in their communities and on the state and national level, and maintain a steady increase-in membership.

Bravettes Won Three Games

Tawas Bravettes won three softball games last week, taking two games from Whittemore-Prescott Thursday and then won the predistrict game with Roscommon.

The Bravettes jumped off to a 7-1 lead by the fourth inning in the game with Roscommon. The two teams exchanged runs in the late innings, but Tawas maintained a margin throughout the game and won, 10-6.

Eight fielding errors by Tawas kept Roscommon in the running, but Laurel Minard turned in a fine pitching performance as she gave up only four hits.

D. Nelkie led batters with three hits, followed by C. Stephan, C. Lauwers and Minard with two hits each.

The Bravettes registered winning scores of 13-3 and 9-8 over the Cardinals.

The big story in the first game was Joy Ori's pitching as she struck out 14 Tawas batters, but also gave up 19 walks. The free passes combined with key hitting by Tawas resulted in a lopsided score.

Lauwers was top hitter for Tawas with a single, a double and a triple, while Kari Allen had a single and two doubles.

The second game was close in the late innings. The Cardinals had an 8-2 lead going into the fifth when Tawas scored two runs, then pushed four more runs over in the sixth to tie the game.

In the bottom of the seventh, Nikki Painter drew a lead off walk. She was replaced by Shelley Blust, pinch runner, who stole second base. Becky Wojahn followed with a perfect bunt single and a throwing error allowed the game-winning run to cross home plate.

Hatcher had a single, double and a triple, while Stephan had four singles.

Governor of the State of Michigan

Executive Declaration

in Observance of

May 25 - 31, 1980

MICHIGAN KIWANIS WEEK

The well-being of Michigan's young citizens depends upon the guidance and understanding of a responsible adult population working hand in hand for a better tomorrow.

Kiwanis International has announced its major emphasis in 1979-80 will be to build together. Its theme is "Right Start - Hand in Hand with Youth."

The Michigan District of Kiwanis has adopted a theme of "Accent on Youth" through such programs as Choices About Drugs and Drinking, Circle K and Key Clubs, the hospital coloring book program, the encouragement of programs for good health and exercise, and the recruitment of young people in Kiwanis Clubs.

Therefore, I, William G. Milliken, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby declare May 25 - 31, 1980, as Michigan Kiwanis Week, and urge our citizens to acquaint themselves with its "Accent on Youth" program and with the needs of our youth, and to avail themselves of the special opportunities provided by the Kiwanis Clubs in their communities to work hand in hand with youth, recognizing that it is by precept and example that we are best able to develop a more intelligent, active and involved citizenship.

Given under my hand on this thirtieth day of May in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred eighty and of the Commonwealth one hundred forty-fourth.

William G. Milliken
GOVERNOR

EDITOR

Why are the Hale Schools needing more millage? Seems to me they are acting like they have plenty, why give them more to waste! The elementary seems to have all they need and more. They bought a new typewriter for $1,300.00 and a new copy machine for $35,000.00 (Yes, that price is right.) None of the old machines broke down. They were and are in good working order and just sitting. They are not even for sale.

They have the money to put a classroom teacher in the library, at full pay plus benefits. They also have the money to pay a new teacher to take over the classroom teacher's class, also full pay plus benefits, then they are putting the library person to work as an aid also at her regular pay and benefits.

Then, let's add the thousands of dollars the lawyers cost the school at the hearing. (That showed a teacher who is considerate of children, answers their questions and allows them to sharpen their pencils if they need to get their work done. Oh Yes! - She has a messy shelf.)

No, I don't think they need any more money. They are spending what they have on their own wants and pleasures, not what the students need.

Sincerely,
Shirley Adams

DOUBLE DUTY CHICKEN SALAD

Sandwich or salad? Chicken Salad Supreme can be either.

If there's one thing chicken salad has in spades, it's versatility. If your luncheon partner dotes on sandwiches while you worship salads, this recipe will satisfy both with no waste and little effort.

That's because it's designed around a can of Swanson Chunk Chicken which handily provides the right amount for two. What's more, since the chicken is ready to use, it's quick to prepare.

CHICKEN SALAD SUPREME

- 1 can (5 ounces) Swanson Chunk White Chicken
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- 1/4 c. chopped green pepper
- 3 Tbsp. mayonnaise
- 1 Tbsp. ketchup
- 1 tsp. sweet pickle relish

In bowl, combine ingredients; chill. Serve as a salad on crisp salad greens or as a sandwich filling. Makes about 1-1/2 cups, 2 servings.

A TELEVISION CREW is at work this week at East Tawas, but the "production" is not expected to reach network presentation. Actually, the crew is making a television survey of sewer mains in the city to perform maintenance work and also to look for places where ground water seeps into the mains as part of an area wide grant from federal-state funds to upgrade waste treatment facilities.—Tawas Herald Photo.

erty amounted to $219,000. The council accepted a second easement from Consumers Power Company and appropriated $100 as payment. The easement crosses power company property in the city's industrial park and is needed for construction of sewer main to the proposed future sewage treatment facility.

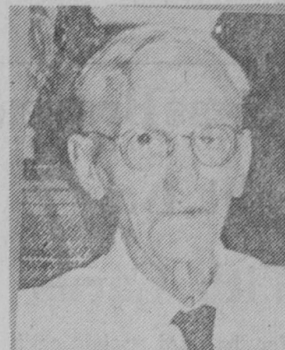

On recommendation of the engineering consultant, the bid of Guthrie Construction Company was accepted to complete the final phase of work on the city park fishing pier. The city's share of the cooperative program with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources is $19,000. A "no" vote was cast by Coun. Donald Hayes, who said that Rogers City was not satisfied with the work performed by the contractor.

The council adopted a resolution requesting a parade permit for the Memorial Day program. Such a permit is required by the Michigan Department of Transportation as one lane of US-23 would be closed for one hour.

A request from Robert Clayton for installation of a street light on Tenth Avenue, which dead ends at Dead Creek was approved by the council.

A recommendation from the sheriff's department to remove parking in front of the post office is to be on the agenda for the council's next meeting.

Good Employment Record Under IFE

A report from Assessor Ronald Turner to the city council Monday night indicated that industrial facilities exemption as approved by the council and Michigan State Tax Commission amounts to $1,013,122, with a total assessed valuation of $506,600.

The assessed valuation represents 3.31 percent of the city's total state equalized valuation and $259,599 remains for possible industrial exemptions, staying within the five percent maximum on equalized valuation permitted by the state.

This industrial exemption program is intended primarily to encourage industrial expansion and the seven districts approved by the city and state should have created 67 new jobs.

Despite the fact that two jobs have actually been lost rather than creation of new ones, Turner pointed out that "our program and employment situation is in excellent shape compared to other units of the state with like programs and some communities without programs, but trying to get them started."

Turner said he believed that the employment record of the industries participating in the city's IFE program compares favorably, not only with like programs across the state, but also the other industries in this area.

"I feel that even though the program has not provided the 67 new jobs at this time, it has maintained an almost status quo at a time of critical unemployment throughout the state and country. Some of this, I am sure, can be attributed to the IFE program and the fact that it has enabled local industries to compete with down state industry for business and contracts," said Turner.

On his recommendation, the council voted to continue the program with no changes at this time. Turner said he would continue to monitor the progress and report findings to the council.

Industries with exemption certificates include Bopp-Busch Manufacturing Company (four), Tawas Plating Company, Tawas Industries, Incorporated, and Baylock Manufacturing Company.

MEMBERS of Tawas Hospital Auxiliary and volunteers were honored at a tea Thursday during the annual observance of National Hospital Week. This dedicated group of citizens make a material contribution to the hospital the year around through many patient-oriented programs. The program Thursday started with vocal selections by Lee Cater, shown in front of the audience in the top photo. At left, Jane Churchill, president of the auxiliary and volunteer coordinator, is shown receiving an engraved watch band for her selection as auxiliary member of the year. Eleanor Loekner, who was not present, received the service award for volunteers. Amateur baseball opened another season the second Sunday in May, just as it has each year since organization of the Northeastern Michigan Baseball League nearly 65 years ago. But, unlike the days of an earlier era when fans jammed wooden grandstands in the Tawas or bleachers at Alabaster, Oscoda and other communities of Iosco County, only a handful of fans attended the home opener of the sole surviving NEM team from this county—the Tawas City Independents.

"While people of today probably have a greater variety of interests—more things to do on a Sunday afternoon than watching local sand lot games—in the old days, about the only entertainment on a Sunday afternoon was to go out to the ball park."

This was the explanation given 15 years ago by the late "Art" Dillon of East Tawas. Ask any old-timer in the area to name whom he thinks was one of the most aggressive competitors in the history of baseball here and Dillon's name would be at the top of the list.

Dillon was of the opinion in 1965 that the brand of baseball played at that time, or even 15-20 years earlier, was vastly different than during the period ranging from the 1930s to the early 1900s.

While this argument is often heard concerning professional baseball and, generally speaking, it is believed that some of today's pros are better ball-players than their earlier counterparts, the reverse could well be true in comparing teams in the Northeastern Michigan League.

The late Hazen S. "Kiki" Cuyler of Harrisville, during his professional playing days, once told Dillon that he believed baseball as played in the early days of the NEM was probably as "fast" as many minor leagues. A National League star for many years, Cuyler was in a good position to know for he got his start by playing sandlot baseball in this region.

Dillon had no argument 15 years ago, nor would he have one if he was alive today, with his statement that the teams of his day enjoyed better support and larger crowds. "We could always guarantee an outside team a gate from $250 to $500, all at 25 cents a head, when we played at the old D&M Diamond," Dillon recalled in a Herald interview on June 2, 1965. The grandstand would be filled and cars would be lined clear around the field and out on Tawas Beach Road.

And, when East Tawas and Tawas City met on the baseball

THE LATE ARTHUR DILLON of East Tawas is shown here looking at a picture of the 1910 baseball team which won the state baseball championship. Dillon was a fierce field—at least three times a season—those were the days when Dillon and members of both teams could be expected to play their very best.

When interviewed, Dillon recalled that he could "still hear Mrs. Mark and Mrs. Nelem standing in back of first base—they had boys on the opposing teams and were real baseball fans." Mrs. Mark once swung her umbrella and struck an overly vocal East Tawas fan, who was using language which she thought was too abusive; it was not unusual for a base runner to be tripped during a crucial play by one of the fans lining basepaths at the D&M Diamond.

Dillon's baseball days started in 1907, when he was a member of the East Tawas High School team. In 1965, he could still rattle off the lineup of the 1910 team which beat Eastern High School of Bay City for the state title. That East Tawas team included Bill Smith, pitcher; Ernest Dillon, catcher; John Anderson, first base; Tom Sullivan, shortstop; Frank Hewson, third base; Seymour Wright, left field; Alva Wood, center field; Leo Kunze, left field; Art Dillon, second base. His cousin, Charles Dillon, was also a member of that team.

After high school, Dillon played independent baseball for East Tawas until an eye injury sent him to the sidelines in 1928.

"There were so many good players I never could begin to name them all," Dillon recalled in 1965. "But, as far as naming a few pitchers, there was Vic Marzinski, who struck out 21 Al-pena batters in one game with his fast ball; Felix Stepanski, a real good pitcher and I remember I was playing with Tawas City during an exhibition game against a Bay City team when he 'threw out' his arm.

Then, there was George Kobs, among the best, and the Tawas City battery of Byron and Atee Mark, which was tops in my book."

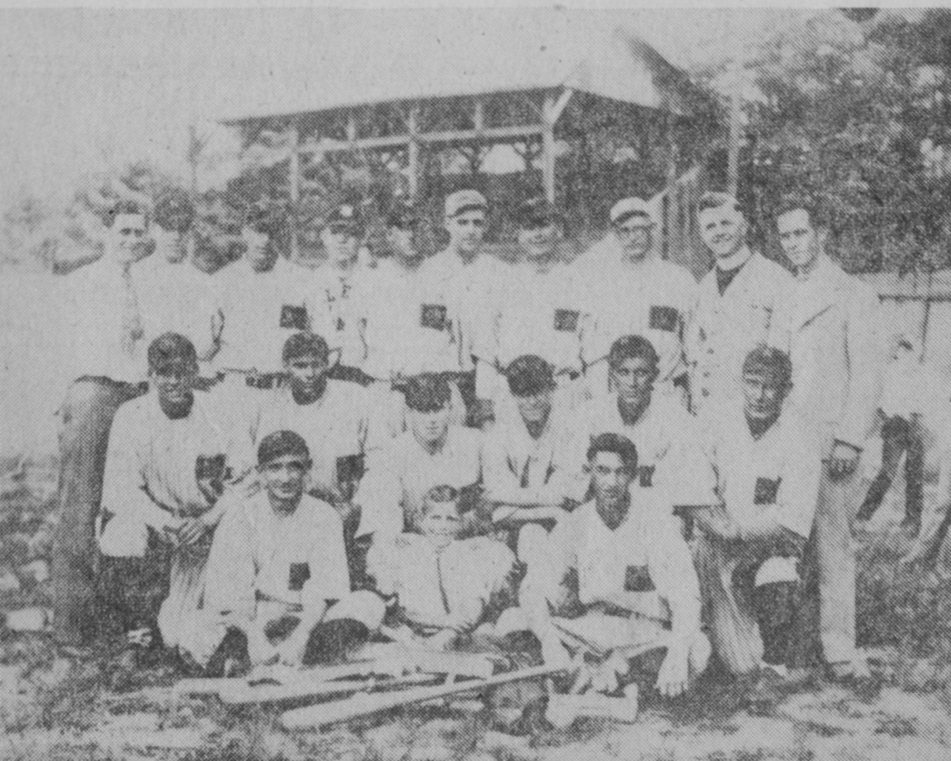

Dillon also believed that Harry Bolen of Alabaster probably had the best arm of any outfielder who ever played in the league. As for his own playing days, Dillon recalled the game when an all-star team from this area met the Cuban Red Sox. Bolen, Jack Johnson and Dillon each turned in a spectacular running catch in the outfield during the same inning.

In another game, he recalled that a fan offered $5 to the first player who reached first base and $25 for the first score. He hunted his way to first, stole second and third and then stole home to collect the money from the fan—Nathan Barkman—waiting at the plate.

After his retirement from active participation in amateur baseball here, Dillon was not one to watch from the sidelines as a fan—he managed independent teams and later was responsible for organizing and managing the American Legion team sponsored by Audie Johnson American Legion Post.

It is fitting at the start of another season to recall some of the baseball exploits of such old-timers as Art Dillon. With gasoline costs zooming higher each year, causing a reduction in the use of automobiles and boats, there may even be a return to such recreational pursuits as watching amateur baseball teams on Sunday afternoons.

Fans attending games at the Tawas City field on North Street at First Avenue might be surprised to find that a new generation of youngsters is playing an excellent brand of baseball—perhaps better than before—and with a little vocal support from the home community at games, the competition could even improve.

A Vote To Break The Teamsters Union-Trucker Combine

by DAVID COHEN

Our Representatives will soon be given the opportunity to cast a vote to reduce inflation, cut red tape, save energy and promote economic competition. It sounds too good to be true. But the first hurdle has already been cleared: a bill to make the trucking industry economically competitive passed the Senate on April 15. The second hurdle—a vote in the House of Representatives—will come up in early June.

Citizens should watch this vote carefully. It will show who in the House of Representatives is willing to stand up to the intense special interest pressure that is being mobilized by the regulated trucking industry and the Teamsters union. The stakes are high. According to the Congressional Budget Office, trucking deregulation could save consumers as much as $8 billion a year.

The American Transportation Association, a trucking interest lobby, has engaged one of the country's largest public relations firms, Hill & Knowlton, to run a million dollar campaign opposing deregulation of the trucking industry. Since 1948 the powerful Trucker-Teamster combine has been successful in blocking attempts to deregulate the industry. This success rate is bolstered by the truckers' generosity to candidates running for Congressional office. In the last two elections alone, trucking interests contributed nearly $900,000 to Congressional candidates. But last month the Senate resisted the pressure. The focus is now on the House of Representatives.

Why would the trucking industry demand continued regulation when most business interests are singing the "End Regulation!" song? Trucking interests find government regulation to be a protective and lucrative arrangement. It is the consumer, however, who ends up paying for it.

In 1935 the Motor Carrier Act was passed to protect the fragmented trucking industry. Trucking companies were going into bankruptcy by the droves. They needed the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) to regulate what truckers could charge, what routes they could travel, and what services they could offer. But what made sense in 1935 doesn't make sense in 1980.

The 1935 law today allows trucking companies to fix prices legally. It also allows truckers to benefit from strict standards established by the ICC which restrict entry of new trucking firms into the business—in effect, limiting competition. Secretary of Transportation Neil Goldschmidt has said that for regulated truckers, "economic regulation means assured profits and minimal competition, and very little enforcement of their service obligations. It's the best of both worlds."

For the consumer it means an increased cost for nearly everything which is transported by truck. Regulatory practices, for example, create a waste of 500 million gallons of fuel a year. Why? Because the ICC's route restrictions are so arbitrary that companies often cannot take direct routes between cities, but must go round-about, adding mileage, wasting fuel, and driving up prices for consumers.

ICC regulations are also responsible for 16 percent of all trucks on the road running empty—wasting more fuel and further driving up consumer costs. But regulations which restrict trucks from carrying a full load round-trip are the least absurd among the legion of absurdities. The minutiae of ICC regulations have produced the authority for a trucker to haul two-gallon cans of paint but not five-gallon cans; the authority for a trucker to carry instant chicken noodle soup, but not onion or bean soup.

Despite formidable pressure from the Trucker-Teamster combine, the Senate did something right and passed a bill that corrects the problem of price-fixing and entry. The pressure is now on the House side, where the trucking convicts are driving full speed ahead to protect their economic perks.

The truckers' message hasn't changed in 30 years. But today there is a fighting chance that the consumer's voice will be heard. It's up to our Representatives in the House.

With inflation soaring at 18 percent, Congress should be considering the good of the nation as a whole—not sanctifying the turf of the Truckers and Teamsters.

(Read Matthew 7:13-23)

"Not everyone who calls me 'Lord, Lord' will enter the kingdom of Heaven, but only those who do the will of my heavenly Father." (Matthew 7:21 NEB)

My wife and I love gardening but we do not claim to be experts at it. Once, we planted some poppy seeds and waited patiently for them to grow. The plants that grew received our careful attention with regular watering and doses of fertilizer. After a while we became suspicious, and we soon discovered that the seedlings were nothing more than common garden weeds. The poppies were nowhere to be seen.

This experience suggests something to us about false hope. It is easy for us to place our hope in the power of the purse or the authority of position. It is easy to be so busy that we never do anything worthwhile.

But the basis of our true hope is our commitment to Jesus Christ. That hope, proven in service, will never fail us.

PRAYER

Help us, O Christ, to recognize any falseness before You. Direct us to a life of service and fulfillment. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Our service to others is evidence of the hope we have in Christ.—Harold Kilah (Australia)

Stretching Dollars Has High Priority

Stretching those shrinking dollars is a high priority concern for inflation-fighting Michigan residents. This year at College Week, June 16-19, at Michigan State University, participants can explore some ways to cope with the current economic squeeze.

"Inflation is on everyone's mind these days," observes Susan Lambrecht, Iosco County Extension director, "so we are offering even more classes to deal with this subject this year."

Among the classes being offered during the four days of College Week is one on consumer food cooperatives. It will be taught by Ronald Cotterill, assistant professor of agricultural economics at MSU;

Paul Brown, secretary of the Michigan Federation of Food Cooperatives, and David Houseman, coordinator of alternate food delivery systems for the Michigan Office of Services for the Aging.

Discussed will be how a consumer food cooperative can be organized. The class will include a panel of active cooperators to explain how cooperatives work and a tour of a cooperative food store. Emphasis will be on how to distribute monthly orders, as well as the benefits and pitfalls of cooperative action.

College Week is open to everyone. A registration brochure may be obtained from the county Cooperative Extension Service office, phone 362-3449.

Special Interest Groups Powerful

Citizens of this democracy have long looked with cynicism toward some elected and appointed representatives in federal offices and that disdain is reaching a new low—even below that which most Americans held for its government after the Watergate scandal and the trying days of Richard Nixon's second administration.

It has always been a popular belief that many palms were being greased at Washington by special interest groups, but that was always difficult to prove and voters usually forgot the accusations during election time. Crooked politicians have always been around, but the average American has had faith in his government and representatives.

That belief certainly should have been shaken for those persons watching a public television program Thursday night. Special interest groups—hundreds of them in practically every walk of life—are spending millions of dollars to achieve their ends and they are doing it legally. They are buying votes of our legislators by contributing large sums to re-election campaigns and neither the special interest groups nor the legislators are making any bones about it.

Congress makes its own rules and put a ceiling on campaign contributions, along with a measure which requires public reporting of those contributions. As was evidenced by Thursday night's public television report, special interest groups are making a mockery of government through buying influence in this manner.

This corner has always felt—naively, it now seems—that during tough economic times, citizens could pull together to help bring the ship of state back on an even keel. One of the first places usually cut during an economic pinch has been the great "pork barrel"—rivers and harbors appropriations—but members of the house of representatives have thrown sanity and fiscal responsibility out the window by insisting that such programs not be cut in their region.

"We want a balanced budget, but don't cut any of my projects," is what congressmen are saying.

Let's shelve all such projects during a time of national economic crisis—including those right here in our own backyard. Get the national economy back on the track and moving again before considering such spending.

By Attorney General FRANK J. KELLEY

As good weather develops, Michigan consumers can expect to encounter more door-to-door salespersons offering a variety of goods and services. Home improvements, encyclopedias, pots and pans, magazine subscriptions and other merchandise will be readily available. Although there are many honest door-to-door sellers, too often consumers are subjected to high pressure and deceptive sales practices. Customers may also be charged high prices or sold poor products.

Under state and federal law, consumers have a "cooling off" period during which they can cancel the transaction. This period applies to sales of $25 or more contracted in the home, either in person or over the phone. The cooling off period gives a buyer the opportunity to cancel the contract by midnight of the third business day after the sale and receive a full refund of all money paid or property traded in.

The seller is required to notify the consumer that the "cooling off" period exists. The seller must also provide two copies of a notice of cancellation form which contains details for canceling the sale. To cancel a contract, a consumer must notify the seller in writing within the three-day period. However, if the seller has failed to satisfy the legal notice requirements, the contract may be canceled even after the three-day period and a verbal cancellation must be accepted.

There are some exceptions to the "cooling off" period. It does not apply if the consumer requests goods or service without delay because of an emergency. Other incidents in which the cooling off period does not apply include:

1. Sales made after the consumer has visited the seller's business.
2. Sale of insurance by a licensed insurance agent.
3. Sale of services by a licensed real estate broker or salesperson.
4. Sale of agricultural or horticultural equipment and machinery which is demonstrated to the consumer by the seller.

A practice of misleading consumers or failing to honor cancellations can result in a $25,000 fine against the seller under the Michigan Consumer Protection Act.

Complaints should be filed at the following address: Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, Consumer Protection Division, 670 Law Building, 525 West Ottawa Street, Lansing, Michigan 48913

Predict Light Holiday Traffic

Holiday driving in Michigan over the Memorial Day week-end will be the lightest in five years, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) predicts.

Department traffic technicians estimate motorists will log 686-million miles over the four-day holiday week-end, from noon Friday to noon Tuesday. That is five percent less than the 722-million miles driven in Michigan over the 1979 Memorial Day week-end. If the forecast materializes, it will be the lightest Memorial Day week-end traffic since 1975 when 660-million miles were driven in Michigan.

The transportation department is urging the voluntary cooperation of all shippers on the Saginaw River to avoid the Zilwaukee Bridge during peak travel periods.

Detours on state highways over Memorial Day week-end include:

- I-75 (Chrysler) Freeway northbound and southbound ramps to eastbound I-94 (Ford) Freeway in Detroit, closed for bridge repair. Detour is posted.
- Eastbound M-25 (Thomas Street) in Bay City is closed for seven-tenths of a mile between Euclid and Henry Streets for sewer construction. Detour is posted.
- M-36 (Ash Street) in Mason (Ingham County) is closed between Lansing and Jefferson Streets for bridge and road repairs. Detour is posted.
- Northbound M-99 (Logan Street) over the Grand River in Lansing is closed for reconstruction. Traffic is diverted to the southbound bridge.

Michigan Twp. Officers Set Meeting at Alpena

Over 150 township officials from Montmorency, Alpena, Oscoda, Alcona, Ogemaw and Iosco Counties are expected to attend a Michigan Townships Association District meeting Wednesday, May 28, at Alpena Holiday Inn, according to Eugene Thornton, supervisor, Albert Township.

"The district meeting is an important part of every township official's efforts to gain further expertise in the duties of his or her office," Thornton stated. "It is also an excellent opportunity to discuss current issues with state officials," he added.

Included as speakers at the upcoming meeting are Gary Burkberry and Laura Piener of the Office of Intergovernmental Relations, Michigan Department of Management and Budget, who will present an analysis of the various property tax reform proposals facing voters in November.

Also participating will be Wayne McKenna and Joseph Hull from the Division of Emergency Medical Services, Michigan Department of Public Health, who will explain ambulance and rescue service operation rules and statutes.

The newly-formed Michigan

Mobile Home Commission, Department of Commerce, will be represented by Steven Zamara, commission director. The commission's recently developed rules governing on-site requirements of mobile home parks will be discussed, as well as mobile home taxation and valuation assessment issues.

Larry Holcomb of the resource recovery section and Timothy Wright of the waste management planning section, representing the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, will explain financial assistance to townships for planning solid waste management and implementing landfills or resource recovery systems.

Local property assessors will have an opportunity to attend a three hour state certification renewal program, conducted by Barbara Christensen, executive secretary of the state assessors board, department of treasury.

Other programs offered include local government accounting, cash management and public personnel administration.

The Michigan Townships Association (MTA) conducts district meetings annually at 19 sites across the state.

Highlights And Sidelights Kelly Cites New Evidence of Gill Net Menace to State

LANSING—Citing new evidence that fishing stocks in the Great Lakes are in danger of depletion, Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley asked the United States Court of Appeals on May 9 for an order immediately stopping Indian commercial gill net fishing in Northern Lake Huron and portions of Lake Michigan until the pending appeal has been decided.

Kelley asked the appeals court to stay, or set aside, a judgment by Dist. Judge Noel P. Fox. Kelley's request also challenges the rules regulating Indian fishing announced April 28 by the United States Department of Interior's Bureau of Indian Affairs. Those rules permit the extensive use of gill nets by Indian fishermen.

Kelley's action is prompted by:

1. A continued delay, now approaching seven months, on the part of the federal district court in answering a previous request for a stay of Judge Fox's order.

2. Testimony and other evidence offered by fish biologists and other experts during federal court evidentiary hearings last December that fishing stocks in Lake Huron and Lake Michigan will be seriously depleted unless commercial gill netting by Indian fishermen is prohibited.

The attorney general further claims that negotiations between federal authorities, Indians and others does not get at the basic issue—the legal right of the State of Michigan to regulate fishing by all its residents, including Indian commercial fishermen.

In previous motions and appeals, Kelley has maintained that the defendant Indian tribes gave up their unlimited fishing rights and agreed to be subject to state regulation. "The core issue is the state's right to regulate fishing," Kelley summarized from his suit. "And that issue must be decided by the courts not by the federal bureaucracy."

In the meantime, Kelley said in his suit, fish stocks will suffer irreparable harm and depletion unless all commercial gill netting is stopped until the court can resolve the core issues. Kelley further contends that recent regulations promulgated by the department of interior are inappropriate and ineffective, if not void altogether.

Specifically, the attorney general contends that the department of interior does not have the authority to regulate Indian fishing outside the reservation. The new regulations also violate the Coastal Zone Management Act which specifies that federal and state officials regulate coastal waters like the Great Lakes.

The new regulations are particularly ineffective because they allow excessive amounts of fish to be taken, thus endangering a vital resource, Kelley said.

A COOPERATIVE construction program with property owners in replacing damaged sidewalks was started last week by the City of Tawas City. One of the first projects was replacement of sidewalk on the east side of Whittemore Street, using the city's crew. The picture above shows damaged sidewalk being removed from in front of Huron Auto Parts. James Fowler was contracted for this work by the property owner. Fowler's great grandfather, C. H. Fowler, was the pioneer contractor in concrete sidewalk construction in this community about 70 years ago and he constructed several bridges, including the one over Dead Creek on Sixth Avenue which is to be replaced this year.—Tawas Herald Photo.
