Reagan-Bush are Winners!

Ronald Reagan and George Bush rolled to a sweeping Republican victory yesterday (Tuesday) as the people made their final choice in the electoral process of American freedom.

RONALD REAGAN

From Washington, D. C., Pres. Jimmy Carter conceded defeat over national television at 9:57 p. m., but his advisors had forecast a defeat for Democrats earlier in the day. He sent a message to President-Elect Reagan pledging his full support to bring about an orderly transition of government.

Thus ends a long and hard-fought campaign which began nearly a year ago during state presidential primaries. As late as last week, political polls wavered each day in favoring one candidate or the other, but the televised "Great Debate" between Reagan and Carter apparently had a far greater impact on voter choice than all analysts first believed.

Michigan, which voted solidly in the Republican camp, was expected to have a record turn-out of voters due to the special interest provided by voter decisions on "tax cutting" constitutional amendments. All of the constitutional proposals were headed for defeat.

Locally, Iosco County voters were expected to have a record turn-out of voters. In Tawas City, 979 out of 1,154 registered voters, or 84.8 percent, went to the polls. This compared to a 79 percent turn-out in 1976 and 70.8 percent in 1978 when the state was considering the Headlee and Tisch proposals.

Tawas City voters received an additional ballot Tuesday and gave overwhelming support to issue $175,000 worth of general obligation bonds to finance construction of a new fire hall.

The measure passed by a 611-357 margin. Two previous proposals to construct a city hall-fire hall-library complex had been turned down by small margins.

County Clerk D. Keith Pappas believed Tuesday night that approximately 80 percent of Iosco County's registered voters went to the polls. Late in the afternoon, his office sent 100 additional ballots to East Tawas to cover a possible shortage. Additional ballots were also sent to Tawas City, where two precincts had only three sets of unused ballots when the polls closed at 8:00 p. m.

While electronic wizardry projected a Republican landslide nationally and in the state early Tuesday evening, here in Iosco County's paper ballot precincts, most election boards were not expected to have results tabulated until well into Wednesday morning.

The first unit to make an official return to the county clerk's office was Baldwin

Township at 1:00 a. m. this morning (Wednesday). Baldwin voters gave comfortable margins to all Republicans at the county, state and national levels.

GEORGE BUSH

STUDENTS of the Tawas City Elementary School favored Republicans Ronald Reagan and George Bush over Pres. Jimmy Carter and Walter F. Mondale by a substantial margin in a mock election held Tuesday. The fourth, fifth and sixth graders cast 46 percent of their ballots (112) for the GOP candidates while 36 percent (89 votes) went to the Democratic standard bearers. Fifteen percent (37) of the votes went to John B. Anderson, independent presidential candidate. The total vote represented 76 percent of the student body, which was a bit higher than the voting by parents in Tuesday's election. This voting project was handled by Virginia Coyle, fifth grade teacher, who was assisted by Julie Neuens, a student teacher from Central Michigan University. Standard voting procedures were used by the students and each had to register prior to the election in order to vote. Melinda Jordan and Geri Stonehouse comprise the election board for the fifth grade in the top photo. Receiving ballots are Robert Monk and Marcy Olle. Miss Neuens presided at the ballot box in the center picture as Mark Host casts his ballot. The bottom picture shows students filling out ballots in booths.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Commission Takes Action

Airport Runway Resurfacing OK'd

Approval was given Monday by Iosco County Board of Commissioners to expand construction at the county airport to include complete resurfacing of the east-west runway.

Adopted by a split vote of the board, the resolution authorized a total project expenditure of $220,000 on a 50-50 matching basis with the state.

The project previously undertaken this year saw extension of the runway to 3,500 feet but, following a meeting Monday morning, the majority of commissioners felt it would be wise to include resurfacing of the original portion of the runway this fall.

The county had intended to apply for federal funds to finance the cost of resurfacing a project to be scheduled next year, but it was learned here Monday that applications had not been made for federal participation.

Despite the fact that Iosco's share of resurfacing the runway would have been five percent of the total cost under federal participation rather than 50 percent, commissioners pointed to the tremendous over-all saving in tax dollars by not using federal funds.

Because of the added expense of an environmental impact statement and other specifications, total cost of the airport expansion-renovation program would have been approximately $600,000 with federal participation.

State aeronautics officials, who were willing to boost their participation by $20,000 to a total of $70,000, were of the opinion Monday that the project would be delayed several years if the federal government was involved.

A substantial saving in the resurfacing project also came about through location of a blacktop plant in the vicinity which is providing material for resurfacing of US-23. Cost of the resurfacing is to be approximately $80,000.

State aeronautics officials inspected the original runway Monday and found considerable deterioration. Because of an anticipated delay until 1983 if the federal government is involved, it was pointed out that the runway would deteriorate to such an extent by then that it could not be safely used.

As its original investment in extending the runway, the county's 50-50 match with the state came through $41,000 in federal revenue sharing funds and a loan of $50,000 from the state. An additional $18,000 is to be borrowed from the state, all to be repaid over a period of 10 years.

"I don't think we can afford not to include the resurfacing project this year," said Com. David George, finance chairman. "The airport represents a long-term investment for all of the people of this county and I doubt if the project can ever be completed for less money than this."

taken years for the county to get this far with the airport and he believed it would be wishful thinking to wait for federal funds to become available.

Chairman John Webb said there was no alternative but to "fix the runway," but he believed the commission had been misled as he believed that following county-state participation in the runway extension, application for federal funds to aid resurfacing would have been automatic. He felt it would be "hard to sell the project to people on my side of the county" and he believed that airport fees would have to be increased to help pay the difference.

Webb abstained from voting on the question but Com. Marian Ulman, who voted "no," pointed out that resurfacing should have been accomplished in 1979 when it was originally discussed and at a lower cost. She also believed that an engineering fee of $41,000 was much too high for the project.

Voting in favor of expanding the project to include resurfacing this year were Stech, George and Carlton Merschel.

Commission Delays Final Action on Line Item Budget

A summary budget calling for an expenditure of $2,296,879 for county operation was given tentative approval last week by the county board of commissioners, but final action is not to be taken until later.

In its resolution, commissioners said that a detailed line item budget would be adopted prior to December 31, but not until the state legislature determines the amount of revenue and programs it is to provide to the county during 1981.

The state legislature has been forced to sit on its hands on a state budget until after November 4, when voters were to consider the outcome of three different tax proposals. Adoption of any of the constitutional amendment proposals would have a direct effect on disbursement of state funds.

The commission did take action on approving salaries of elected county officials, judges and set salaries for its own members.

Salaries of county commissioners are to remain at the 1972 level—$200 per member and $250 for the chairman—but the per diem was increased to $45 per day, representing an annual increase of 7.9 percent for commissioners who work on the county business two days a week.

The resolution noted that other elected officials were granted a 13.42 percent increase during 1979-80 and the commission approved an 8½ percent increase for elected officials in 1981-82.

Salaries to be paid during 1981 are as follows:

County clerk, $17,600, plus $2,000 for circuit court and board of commissioners supplement; county treasurer, $17,600, plus $700 supplement for management of the tax revolving fund; register of deeds, $17,600; drain commissioner, $3,200; sheriff, $21,500; prosecuting attorney, $26,500, plus $2,944 as a cooperative reimbursement supplement.

Salaries to be paid judges include: Probate judge, $6,800 as the county supplement, $6,000 as county matching and $23,950 state salary; district court, supplement of $6,206; circuit court, county supplement of $8,500. No state salaries were listed for the district or circuit court judges.

Added to the commission resolution was the statement that the commissioners hoped the probate, district and circuit court judges would "accept the county supplement as compensation for sitting in Iosco County as a visiting judge, whenever possible, without charging the county the visiting judges' fees."

The commission rescinded a resolution adopted in August prohibiting payment of bar association dues for judges and prosecuting attorney after January 1981.

Iosco Housing Office Opens

The new office of the Iosco County Housing Commission, located at 705 West Westover Street, East Tawas, is now taking applications for loans through the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Under this program, homeowners earning 80 percent or less of the county's median income would be eligible for loans through HUD.

Iosco County has been awarded $400,000 in HUD grant money to be used by qualifying homeowners to bring their property up to code requirements. A five-member commission was recently appointed by the board of commissioners to oversee the program.

"As in all government programs, the grant is confusing," states Harris Barkman, housing commission chairman. "It

Mayor's DDA Appointees Approved by City Council

Appointments by Mayor David Westcott of eight persons to serve on Tawas City's new Downtown Development Authority were approved Monday night by the city council.

This new organization, established by ordinance two weeks ago, is to serve as the vehicle to stimulate commercial redevelopment in the city's business district.

Named to the authority were Dr. Dennis Mollard and Duane Walters, terms expiring in 1982; Gregory Huck and David Lesinski, terms to expire in 1983; Del Myles and John Pridnia, terms to expire in 1984; Benjamin Brewer and Brent Babcock, terms to expire in 1985.

All of the appointees are property owners within the business district and were selected from a list of candidates submitted by councilmen and the council's commercial committee.

Establishment of the DDA provided considerable controversy at two previous council meetings. Petitions were circulated within the business district. Signers indicated they wished to take advantage of tax incentive provisions contained in redevelopment districts, but objected to formation of a downtown development authority because of possible additional taxation for administration.

All work by the new authority must have council approval and it was indicated at the last meeting that the city does not expect to assess additional taxes in the business district for operation of a DDA.

The mayor made another appointment during the meeting to fill a vacancy on the planning commission. Arthur Krass was appointed to replace Walters.

In other matters, the council approved a self insurance program recommended by the city's carrier which would raise the city's deductible cost on dump trucks and fire apparatus. The recommendation was based on the city's accident experience and it was felt that a saving would result from raising the deductible from the present $250 per vehicle to $1,000 per vehicle.

Authorization was given to purchase a diesel tractor and rotary mower offered by a private party at $4,800.

The city manager reported that a contract on finishing the pier at the Tawas City Park had been extended to June 31, 1981, in order that corrections can be made to the asphalt walks by the contractor. The council authorized reducing the amount remaining in the contract from 10 percent to 6.3 percent, which was believed sufficient to cover the cost of blacktop repair.

A letter was sent by the city to property owners in North Park Acres seeking consent to prepare easements for the city to take over maintenance of the ditch leading from Fifth Avenue to the river.

The city manager reported that survey work on city-owned lots on Twelfth Avenue is expected to increase in price due to the problem of locating property lines.

A letter published by the volunteer fire department supporting the new fire hall proposal was presented to the council. The letter was to have been distributed door-to-door by firemen prior to Tuesday's election.

The council reviewed the second draft of a new personnel policy for city employees.

F&M Bank of Hale Buys Tawas City Bridge Bonds

Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Hale entered the low bid Monday on the purchase of $65,000 worth of Michigan Transportation Fund bonds to finance the local share of constructing two bridges in Tawas City.

The Hale bank's bid called for an interest rate of 9.5 percent for 10 years, with total interest to be paid by the city amounting to $42,009.95.

A second bidder, Louis Schimmell of Detroit, entered a bid of 10 percent.

Monday's bid opening was the second time that the city had advertised the sale of the bridge bonds. No bids were received two weeks ago.

City Mer. Lowell Thomas commented Monday night that Friday's prime interest rate was highest in the recorded history of the bond market.

The city manager told the council Monday night that the state was to award the contract Tuesday to Great Lakes Contractors of Warren. The schedule calls for the Warren firm to begin construction the third week in November and the Sixth Avenue bridge over Dead Creek will be removed first, followed by the Whittemore Street bridge over Tawas River.

The firm plans to assemble the two timber spans during the winter and, as long as work progresses, the bridges are to remain closed. Thomas said the city wishes to avoid closing the bridges and then having the contractor shut down work during cold weather.

The council authorized certification of Edmands Engineering Company for handling the work. Engineering cost of the Whittemore Street bridge is not to exceed $24,224, with engineering for the Sixth Avenue bridge not to exceed $16,642. The city's share of that cost would be 10 percent.

Thomas said that an expected increase in the city's share from $65,000 to $71,000, caused by a $4,700 fee for required site testing, was premature as the state is to participate in that cost and the city's share will be lowered.

Replacement of the two 70-year-old bridges is being financed through a cooperative program with the state.

WOMEN of Immaculate Heart of Mary Church held a bazaar Saturday at the parish hall. The program had a Christmas theme and Santa Claus was on hand to check over the different booths where women were dressed in old-time costumes. —Tawas Herald Photo.

'Real Witch' Followed Kids on Halloween

Sharon Schlager of East Tawas and a group of five children, including three of the Schlager children, a cousin and a friend, have experienced a Halloween mystery for the last two years. A friendly witch has followed the group on their trick or treat trek each year though none of the children nor Mrs. Schlager know who she is. Her appearance from behind trees leads the children to believe she is a real witch who is able to fly.

The witch's friendliness, even agreeing to pose for snapshots with the children, adds to the thrill of trick or treat night.

Erickson-Gingerich Vows Said at TC Church

TC Church

A reception for 450 guests at AuGres Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall followed the exchange of vows Saturday, November 1, at Emanuel Lutheran Church, Tawas City, when Diane L. Gingerich became the bride of Gerald W. Erickson.

The Rev. James Rockhoff officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white, pink and wine carnations. Dean Kobbs was organist for the 6 o'clock double ring service.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gingerich and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Erickson of Tawas City.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected an ivory gown with pleated skirt ruffled at the hemline, cuffed sheer sleeves and high neckline. The bodice featured V-shape lace styling and she wore a lace edged floor length veil. Her bouquet was comprised of wine, pink and white flowers.

Sue Schwichtenberg of Watertown, Wisconsin, was matron of honor with Kim Wickert, Shelley Davison and Diane Erickson, bridesmaids. Jayme Gingerich was flower girl. The attendants were attired in wine floral gowns featuring pleated skirts and blouson tops with elbow length sleeves slit to the shoulders. They carried baskets of wine, white and pink flowers. Flowers in their hair complemented their attire.

Mark Gingerich was best man. Groomsman were Andrew Bischoff, John Erickson and Clint Potts. Alan Erickson and Michael Gingerich were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gingerich chose a pastel wine dress with pleated skirt and matching shawl. Mrs. Erickson wore a baby blue dress with V-neckline, full skirt and angel wing sleeves. Pink corsages enhanced their attire.

The bride's attendants hosted a bachelorette party and Mrs. Schwichtenberg, Carol, Kathy, Mary and Diane Erickson and Miss Davison honored the bride with a shower at Whitney Township Hall.

Sportsmen's clubs, conservation organizations and private citizens were asked this week to help prevent damage to power line insulators.

J. E. Wessels, district manager of Consumers Power Company's northern region - Tawas district, said that the onset of deer hunting season usually brings a sharp increase in gunshot damage to insulators.

"True sportsmen do not use insulators for target practice," Wessels said, "and the peer pressure they can exert on less thoughtful hunters could save thousands of customers from power outages."

Consumers Power and its customers have paid nearly $400,000 since 1975 to replace thousands of insulators damaged by gunfire. Last year alone, almost $73,000 was required to replace 1,193 insulators.

"But the cost of replacement is not the only penalty paid. Last year, more than 75,000 customers were without service, some for up to six hours, because of gunshot damage to insulators. In one case, emergency generators had to be brought to several homes in Roscommon County where residents were dependent on life-support systems."

Consumers Power offers cash rewards of varying amounts for information leading to the arrest and arraignment of those who cause power outages.

Consumers Power serves more than 1.3-million electric customers in 61 counties in Lower Michigan.

Federal Government Fosters Rural Hydroelectric Plants

Rural communities that wish to reduce utility bills by building or reactivating small hydroelectric generating facilities may get a boost from a new federal program announced recently by the White House. The program will help small rural communities, many of which operate their own generating facilities, stabilize their electricity costs and reduce dependency upon fossil fuels. The change of regulation specifies that loans can be made to restore deactivated dams and hydroelectric generators, enlarge or improve existing plants or construct new facilities.

The Department of Energy has identified over 3,000 small dams which were once used for hydroelectric power and are considered promising to rebuild. Those in areas of less than 10,000 population would be eligible for FmHA assistance under the agency's community facilities program.

FmHA will process loan applications in the same manner as for any other community facility loan, including the determination that other credit is not available at reasonable rates and terms. These FmHA loans carry an interest rate of five percent for up to 40 years. FmHA also can finance connecting lines to the nearest practical point of an existing system.

Potential loan applicants are to be public bodies, such as municipalities, counties, districts, authorities or other subdivisions of a state. Nonprofit organizations such as associations and cooperatives also will be eligible if they have legal authority to operate such facilities.

For further information and processing, interested persons should contact the local FmHA county office listed under United States Government, Department of Agriculture, in the telephone directory. The county office will refer interested individuals to the appropriate FmHA district office serving the area.

The Tawas Area Braves came from behind to turn aside Alcona, 15-12; Oscoda Owls averted a whitewashed season by shutting out Ogemaw Heights, 30-0; the Hale Eagles posted a 12-0 victory over Hillman.

Tawas closed the season with a record of four wins and five losses. Hale Eagles had an over-all record of five wins and four losses, best in the county, while Oscoda had a final record of one win and seven losses.

Jay Grabow was again the big gun for Tawas, scoring a touchdown and passing for another touchdown.

Alcona took a 6-0 lead in the second period when Matt Rozanek ran 19 yards for a touchdown pass to Tom Sanders, the first a seven-yard toss in the opening period and a four-yarder in the final quarter.

Tom Green was Hale's top rusher with 56 yards in 15 carries. Schulte connected on seven of 17 passes for 132 yards, while Dan Dear, injured in the opening quarter, had 25 yards.

Oscoda upset the visiting Ogemaw Heights Falcons as Oscoda got touchdowns from Jon Myers, Merle VanSchlaick, Ken Wilson, Scott Smith and two by Kelvin Delaney.

Myers' touchdown came on a 21-yard pass from Ron Lamrock, VanSchlaick scored on a 15-yard run, Wilson raced to pay dirt on a 50-yard dash, Smith crossed the goal line from two yards out and reserve fullback, Delaney, had touchdowns on runs of four and 23 yards.

Alcona ended its season with a record of six wins and three losses.

Hale Eagles finished in second place in the North Star League behind unbeaten Atlanta.

Bob Schulte, Hale quarterback, completed a pair of touchdown passes to Tom Sanders, the first a seven-yard toss in the opening period and a four-yarder in the final quarter.

City Councils Hear Report on RR Station

Opening of the Railway Station at East Tawas as a means of raising money for charitable programs of the area was announced by Michael Reed at Monday night council meetings in Tawas City and East Tawas.

Reed told council members that he had one of the largest antique model railroads in the world and had been working for five years on assembling working exhibits.

This new railroad museum opened Tuesday at Scoot's Small Mall and is open two hours each weekday afternoon, as well as Saturday afternoon.

Reed told councilmen he was offering charitable organizations the opportunity to secure admission tickets at a 50 percent discount and sell them for a profit.

In other matters at the East Tawas Council meeting, Roger Jackson of the chamber of commerce was told that the council had no objection to use of the state launching ramp as a parking lot for snowmobiles during the winter. He was referred to the department of natural resources to secure formal permission. The ramp area would be used to park cars and trailers. Permission is to be sought from the highway department for snowmobiles to cross US-23 to Wadsworth Street, then to Washington Street to reach Monument Road.

ROBERT OWENS and Carolyn Bohan, center, are shown with a group of federal, state and local officials making an on-site inspection of the Tawas River mouth Thursday morning. Owens represents the Department of Interior's Fish and Wildlife Service and believes the city's plans call for too much filling of submerged bottom land.—Tawas Herald Photo.

US Fish and Wildlife Service Objects to Reclaiming Land

Efforts were made Thursday to resolve one of the two potential snags which have developed in recent weeks over Tawas City's application for federal-state funding of the land stabilization-recreational use plan at the mouth of the Tawas River.

The city's preapplication for Land, Water Conservation funds to aid the project has been given virtual approval by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, but an objection has been filed by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service over the impact of filling or "reclaiming" of land now under water.

Because of his department's interest in protecting water as a habitat for fish and aquatic life, Owens said he really could not look at the project from an economic standpoint, which both the city and state feel is of primary importance to the area.

Owens pointed out, however, that a final decision would not be made on his department's objection until engineering plans were reviewed concerning possible alternatives to filling or reclaiming land behind the sea wall.

He is to contact Dr. Ernest Brater, a University of Michigan professor who was the hydrological consultant for the final plans, as well as reviewing findings of the state fisheries division as to why the DNR feels reclaiming the land would only have a minimal impact on fish breeding grounds.

During the past several years, engineering consultants hired by the city have developed a number of preliminary plans for land stabilization and recreational use at the river mouth and a number of alternatives were considered in plans which have been under consideration since last January. Those plans were turned over to Owens for study.

M. C. Nielsen, chief of the submerged lands management program for the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, said Thursday his department was prepared to issue a permit to the city for use of state bottom lands in the project, believing it was in the best public interest.

From there, he joined the controversial and short-lived Federal Baseball League for one year and was with Louisville of the American Association until 1918.

When Roach retired from Louisville, he had a consecutive game streak of 546 games. This durability streak—a national record—was broken when he injured a finger.

Roach not only was regarded as a smart player, but also as a great strategist as a manager. In 1919, he had an offer to take over as manager of Louisville, but turned the job down. It went to his friend whom he started in baseball, Joe McCarthy, later to become famous as the manager of the Chicago Cubs, New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox.

The first step toward resolving USFWS's objection was taken during an on-site meeting with two representatives of that department, along with city officials, a representative of the Detroit District of the United States Army Corps of Engineers and a representative of the submerged lands division of the Michigan DNR.

The second obstacle in the path of this long considered project was to have been resolved, one way or the other, by state voters at Tuesday's general election. Gov. William G. Milliken announced two weeks ago that should the Tisch amendment be adopted, the state would not have money to match Land, Water, Conservation Act funds.

Both Nielsen and the city manager believed that any delay caused by an in depth assessment by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service might tend to cause a delay in processing the corps of engineers permit, thus jeopardizing the $80,000 in LWC funds already approved by the state.

The city had applied for a $127,000 allocation of funds, but Thomas said that he was extremely happy with the promise of $80,000 to help fund the first stage of the project. The city is to make application for Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission funds and has received assurance that the county parks and recreation commission would allocate $30,000 if the project is approved. Total estimated cost of the project, representing the first stage, is $240,000.

The city currently is facing a December 1 deadline for making its final application for LWC funds and, according to all information received by City Mgr. Lowell Thomas, the project has been practically guaranteed $80,000 in LWC money to commence the first stage. Tawas City's share of the funding is the largest slice of $280,000 allocated for 12 different projects in the state.

From an historical viewpoint, the city actually is proposing to reclaim land at the river mouth which has been lost through years of Great Lakes shore line erosion. That fact was emphasized by aerial photographs and maps presented by the DNR. The site was once the location of Thomas felt that the good resulting from the stabilized shore line and properly engineered river mouth, to minimize sand blockage which restricts the upstream spawning migration of fish, far outweighed the minimal impact on the loss of fish spawning grounds through reclamation of land now under water. He also pointed out that the bay is stocked by the state to enhance recreational fishing opportunities for the public.

Roach moved to Baltimore of the International League and played with Buffalo. In 1915, he led International League shortstops, including the great Joe Tinker.

Roach was sold to the Washington Senators in 1912, then moved to Baltimore of the International League and played with Buffalo. In 1915, he led International League shortstops, including the great Joe Tinker.

Robert Owens and Carolyn Bohan, representing the Department of Interior, Fish and Wildlife Service, pointed out Thursday that they had no objection to construction of a proposed sea wall to narrow the entrance channel at the river mouth for shore line stabilization purposes, but they were concerned about filling in or reclaiming a little more than three acres of land behind the sea wall. Both felt that a reduced fill area would not affect shore line stabilization.

The only Iosco resident ever to be honored by being named to a hall of fame is the late Wilbur C. "Roxey" Roach of Tawas City.

On November 8, 1965, the former professional baseball player was among 18 athletes inducted into a district hall of fame at Johnstown, Pennsylvania.

Among other inductees that year were Maurice Stokes, who was an all-star professional basketball player until 1958 when he was stricken by sleeping sickness; Tom Yewcic, former quarterback of the Michigan State Spartans; Donald Hall, a member of the Detroit Red Wings; James (Rip) Collins, former professional baseball player.

A native of Windber, Pennsylvania, Roach began his professional baseball career with Youngstown and Sharon of the Ohio-Pennsylvania League in 1908. The following season he played for Lancaster of the Tri-State League and batted .302.

He was purchased by the New York Highlanders, now the Yankees, after the 1909 season for $1,900. Roach played shortstop and second base for the Highlanders in 1910 when they finished second in the American League and again in 1911. One of the all-time great first basemen, Hal Chase, served as manager of the team.

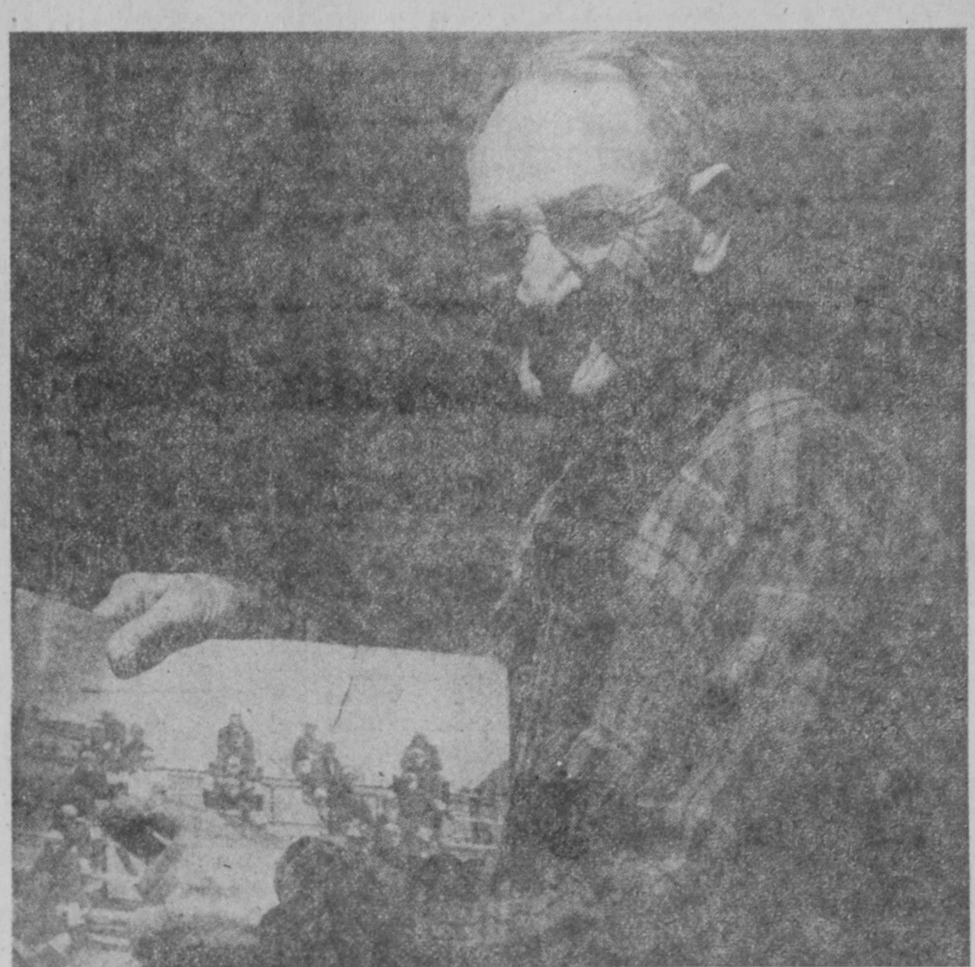

Roach was sold to the Washington Senators in 1912, then moved to Baltimore of the International League and played with Buffalo. In 1915, he led International League shortstops, including the great Joe Tinker.

From there, he joined the controversial and short-lived Federal Baseball League for one year and was with Louisville of the American Association until 1918.

When Roach retired from Louisville, he had a consecutive game streak of 546 games. This durability streak—a national record—was broken when he injured a finger.

Roach not only was regarded as a smart player, but also as a great strategist as a manager. In 1919, he had an offer to take over as manager of Louisville, but turned the job down. It went to his friend whom he started in baseball, Joe McCarthy, later to become famous as the manager of the Chicago Cubs, New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox.

Roach was a friend of Detroit Tiger pitcher, Miles Main, and the two men owned a cottage here at Indian Lake. The two professional baseball players, along with Leon Cadore, a pitcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers, spent several off seasons

"THAT'S ME, right there, when I was with the New York team in the American Division back in 1909," said W. C. "Roxey" Roach when Bert Stoll snapped this picture in 1946 for The Bay City Times. A few days later, the former professional baseball player was honored at a Tawas Day program at Briggs Stadium, during a game between the Detroit Tigers and the New York Yankees.

here enjoying hunting and fishing during the days when Roach was with the Highlanders.

In 1924, Roach returned to Tawas City and purchased the Henry Kane Ford Sales. He was in the automobile business here until 1941, operating under the name of Roach Motor Sales.

When he moved here from Pennsylvania, the Johnstown Daily Tribune stated: "Every sportsman in the district will regret the decision of 'Roxey' Roach to leave here and make his future home in Michigan and, at the same time, all will wish the popular Windber man every success in his new business and at his new residence. Roach has been one of the leading figures in the sports world in this section for many years and he numbers his friends here by the thousands."

He was known here as an expert AuSable River trout fisherman, hunter and state trapshooting champion. His hand-tied streamer flies were regarded by AuSable River trout fishermen as the best available. During the late 1920s and 1930s, he promoted trapshooting here as a local sport and a range was established at Tawasville on M-55, east of the Plank Road intersection.

Roach was instrumental in the acquiring of land and development of a baseball field on North Street by the City of Tawas City and independent baseball team and was one of the organizers of the Iosco Sportsmen's Club, serving for many years as its treasurer.

When he was nearing the end of his life, local friends honored him at a "Roxey Roach Day," July 31, 1946, under sponsorship of the East Tawas Chamber of Commerce. He was guest at Briggs Stadium, Detroit, for a game between the Tigers and the Yankees and was accompanied by four Greyhound bus loads of Northeastern Michigan friends.

Preceding the special day, arranged by Scott Shuman, a fishing pal of Roach and then owner of the East Tawas Recreation, the late Bert Stoll, northern correspondent for the Bay City Times, wrote:

"Some sunny afternoon at Briggs Stadium, there'll be an old-timer up in the stands rooting for the Detroit Tigers. Or perhaps for the opposing team that day—depending on where his sympathies lie.

"The old-timer will be Wilbur C. 'Roxey' Roach of Tawas City, a big league baseball player back in the days when most of us were in knee pants. On that day, baseball fans from the Tawas and Iosco County, as well as from Bay City and other Northeastern Michigan points, will accompany 'Roxey' for the special celebration. Harry Heilmann has sent word that he will broadcast 'Roxey's' big league record of years ago, that day. And it is quite a record, too."

Less than a year later, Roach passed away in 1947 at the age of 65 years.

When inducted posthumously into the Johnstown District Hall of Fame 15 years ago, his son, John Roach of Glencoe, Minnesota, accepted the award and then called Mrs. Elsie Roach to the dias, where she was presented the award to her late husband. Twenty members of the Roach family were in attendance at the banquet.

That trophy is still prominently displayed in Mrs. Roach's residence on Court Street, along with pictures of "Roxey" during his professional baseball playing days.

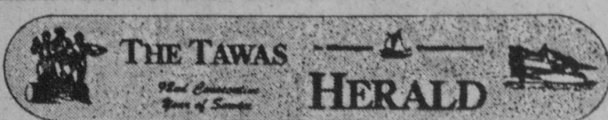

MRS. ELSIE ROACH is shown in 1965 holding a trophy presented posthumously to her late husband after being inducted into the hall of fame at Johnstown, Pennsylvania. Roach moved to Tawas City in 1924 to be-

local application for federal-state funding at the mouth of the Tawas River because of the amount of submerged bottom land to be reclaimed.

It is too bad that this objection was not voiced earlier for the city faces a December 1 deadline to have its final application approved by the state for $80,000 in Land, Water Conservation funds to assist the project. It should be noted, however, that the United States Fish and Wildlife Service did not receive a copy of the plans until two months after filing by the city last July. This was not the fault of the city, but was the result of several federal agencies being involved.

While the local area may think otherwise, Owens does have a legitimate objection to the filling in of more than three acres of lake bottom to improve the river mouth. He asked that data concerning the reason for this fill, along with supporting engineering findings, be forwarded to his office. This was done Thursday.

The project has received approval from all state agencies—the city actually proposes to reclaim land which is clearly shown on aerial maps of years ago, but which has since eroded through high water of Lake Huron. Once the land is gone, however, the city must abide by laws protecting the bottom land. It appears that there is a jurisdictional conflict between federal and state agencies over this matter and it is hoped that the difficulty can be resolved within a minimal time period in order for the city to meet its deadline with the state.

I am a bird watcher. I have observed on many occasions a mother bird brooding over her young. This has occurred when there were danger signals because of the presence of a crow, hawk or some predator in the vicinity of the nest who seemed bent on destroying the young. Or the same thing has happened when the sun was very hot and there was not much leafy coverage over the nest.

I have always been amazed that the hen sits on the rim of the nest and spreads her wings over the edges, so that her brood is practically covered. The nestlings do not rebel. They keep perfectly still and seem to understand and enjoy the protection given by their mother.

How unlike humans these little feathered creatures are! Our Lord desires, longs, to protect us from the many dangers and evils present in our everyday life. But on many occasions we will not accept the protection God offers.

PRAYER

Dear Lord Jesus, may we seek the protection, love and care which comes from being under the shadow of Your almighty wings. Amen.

 God longs to gather us close.

Labor Market Study Ready for Inspection

A limited number of copies of a labor market study prepared by a Central Michigan University research team for Region 7B Employment and Training Consortium is now available to local units of government and community based nonprofit organizations.

The study, initiated by the Private Industry Council of Region 7B, conducted in Arenac, Clare, Gladwin, Iosco, Isabella, Midland, Ogemaw and Roscommon Counties, forecasts best job possibilities in the eight-county labor market.

Job prospects were best in transportation, communications, public utilities, wholesale trade, finance, insurance, real estate and services, while mining and manufacturing offered the least opportunity. Construction and retail trade were rated tops and on the upswing.

Anyone desiring further information concerning the study may contact Schurr at the Region 7B office on the campus at Mid Michigan Community College, Harrison, or by calling 517-386-3864.

Ladies Should Try Sewing Wardrobe

Ladies who think they do not have time to sew their own clothes might be surprised to learn how many garments one could make in the time she has available.

Suppose a wardrobe needs updating and only about two hours per week are available to spend mending, sewing or shopping for clothing. Two hours may not sound like much time, but over a month it adds up to eight hours.

In eight hours of sewing time a month, one could make two skirts or a skirt and blouse or a blazer or one terrific dress. Or, several of last year's garments may be mended or altered to this year's look.

If updating a fall wardrobe is a goal, remember that time is involved, whether to purchase ready-made clothes or to make your own. Think about how much time is spent shopping for clothes. Include travel time to and from the stores and time spent browsing through racks of clothes, trying on garments and altering the clothes once they are bought, adjusting skirt or pant length, reinforcing buttons, etc. When considering everything, one might decide there is time to sew after all.

There are lots of ways to motivate a desire to sew. For many families, the price of commercially made clothing compared to family clothing needs and budget is a major motivating factor. Looking through pattern books or magazines and attending fashion shows can provide ideas about what to make or how to alter a garment. Some people get out the fabric they bought during last year's sales and become enthusiastic about turning the fabric into new fall creations.

An extremely good motivator is getting the sewing machine in good working order. Oil and clean it before sitting down to sew, to avoid interrupting the construction process.

Set realistic goals and organize sewing time for success. Begin with an easy piece—a skirt rather than a blazer, or a blouse rather than a man's jacket.

Sewing a wardrobe might not be for everyone, but for one with the skills—or the patience to learn them—new or made-over garments can be made for one's self or other family members in less time than one thinks.

Tawas Bravettes Lost to Ogemaw H. Falcons

Tawas Bravettes were unable to stop the fast-breaking Ogemaw Falcons October 30 and lost a Northeastern Michigan Conference game, 79-56. Cindy Short, who scored 24 points for the winners, passed the 1,000-point mark of her varsity career.

Ogemaw jumped off to a 17-9 lead in the first quarter and that was it for the Bravettes. Tawas had 31 turnovers as compared to 13 for Ogemaw and the Bravettes completed 24 of 52 shots from the floor while the winners made good on 34 of 59 shots.

Colleen Curry was top scorer for Tawas with 10 points, followed by 10 points turned in by Lisa Bielby. Jan Johnson had eight points, Lisa Konenske meshed six, Debbie Allen had seven, Diane Nelkie contributed five points, Linda Nelkie and Renee Powell had four points each and Kris Papenfus added a foul shot.

The junior varsity lost the preliminary game, 35-33, as the Tawas players were able to mesh only 14 of 63 shots for a completion average of 22 percent.

The team has a record of five wins and two losses and a 10-3 record over-all.

Ann Wood topped all scoring with 12 points, followed by Amy Wood's 10 points, nine points by Dawn Allen and two points by Patty Stephan.

Free Diabetes Screening Offered

A free diabetes screening program will be conducted by Tawas Hospital laboratory, daily from 8:00 a. m. to 2:00 p. m., November 17-21, announced Susan Weaver, laboratory director.

The program is carried out in conjunction with the American Diabetes Association, Michigan Affiliate, and is designed to detect unknown diabetics in the general population. Persons who know they are diabetics are not eligible for the testing.

Mrs. Weaver elaborated that everyone should take advantage of the screening, but those persons who are termed high risk should make a special effort to be tested. One is considered high risk if: There is a family history of diabetes or one is currently having any of the following symptoms: Frequent urination, sores that do not heal easily, blurred vision, weight loss with no explanation, excessive hunger, obesity or excessive thirst.

The test involves the drawing of a small amount of blood from a vein in the arm. The blood must be drawn exactly two hours after the eating of a test meal. Plan to report to the hospital laboratory at least 15 minutes before the two-hour wait is completed to allow for necessary paper work to be filled out and blood sample to be drawn. There is no need to phone ahead. The test meal may either be eaten for breakfast or lunch, whichever is most convenient.

It is important to include all the following foods, in the amounts listed in the sample meal plan. Do not drink (other than water), eat, smoke, chew gum, candy, cough drops, etc., following the meal, until the blood sample is taken.

Exactly two (2) hours before blood will be drawn, eat:

- BREAKFAST:
- 1 Cup orange juice
 - 1 Cup corn flakes or oatmeal
 - 1 Cup milk
 - 1 Tablespoon sugar
 - 2 Slices toast
 - 1 Tablespoon jelly
 - 1 Egg (if desired)
 - Coffee (without caffeine) or tea

- LUNCH:
- 1 Cup orange juice
 - 1 Bowl vegetable soup
 - 4 Saltine crackers
 - 1 Slice lunch meat or cheese
 - 2 Slices bread with butter, margarine or mayonnaise
 - ½ Cup vegetable or salad
 - Coffee (without caffeine) or tea
 - 1 Slice or scoop ice cream

Exactly one hour, 45 minutes, after finishing the meal, report to the hospital laboratory to have paper work done and to have the blood drawn.

A free blood pressure check will also be done on all participants of the screening.

Child Care Specialist Visited Tawas Hospital

A pediatric cardiology clinic was conducted at Tawas Hospital Thursday and Friday, October 23-24, by Dr. Dennis Crowley of the Mott's Children's Hospital, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. Doctor Crowley is a specialist in the care of children with heart disease. Over 30 children were seen in his two-day visit, saving parents the expense of trips to Ann Arbor and the children the discomfort of being away from home.

Children seen at the clinic were referred by their family physician and some were referred by Mott's to be seen on a follow-up basis. The clinic also served as a teaching program as many of the referring physicians attended with their patients and Doctor Crowley spent time answering medical staff questions. Each day of the clinic, a breakfast-lecture was conducted in the hospital classroom for interested physicians on the topic of heart disease in children, its diagnosis and treatment.

The idea of providing this service to the community was that of Dr. Jayne Dye, pediatrician of Oscoda, who arranged the first clinic and teaching visit in August 1979 and at that time eight children were seen in a one day visit. This year, the clinic was conducted one day in August and two days in October to serve the referred children.

Say Deer Hunting Traffic Will be Heaviest in Years

Northbound traffic the day before the firearm deer season opens on Saturday, November 15, should be the heaviest in five years, but hunters should encounter few travel problems, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"This is the first season since 1975 that opening day will fall on a Saturday," Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager, explained. "And despite rising gasoline costs and a trend toward increased pressure in Southern Michigan, most of the state's 700,000-plus orange army will be heading for the northern two-thirds of the state on Friday."

State Department of Natural Resources officials predict that approximately 80,000 buck deer will be taken over the 15-day season. That total is about 10 percent below last year's due to population drops caused by the harsh winters of 1977 and 1978. In all, nearly 118,000 buck and antlerless deer should be bagged by November 30.

"The only traffic problem hunters may face is along I-75 near the Zilwaukee Bridge north of Saginaw," Ratke said.

Periodic slowdowns could result both north and south of the span, where three lanes of traffic merge into two. To help cut the possibility of further jams, Saginaw River shippers have been asked to voluntarily restrict movements causing bridge openings during peak traffic hours November 14 and 16.

Auto Club predicts that northbound deer hunter traffic should be heaviest between 2:00 p. m. and midnight Friday, November 14, and 5:00 a. m. and 5:00 p. m. Saturday, November 15.

Southbound hunters on Sunday, November 16, will find heavy traffic between 2:00 and 11:00 p. m.

While hunter-vehicle crossings have been dropping in recent years, Mackinac Bridge officials expect volume to nearly equal last year's total of 18,000 before the season ends.

Auto Club reminds hunters that they must wear either a hat, vest or coat of blaze orange to hunt public lands.

Auto Club will provide traffic bulletins via radio for traveling hunters between 8:00 a. m. and 11:00 p. m. on Friday, November 14, and from 8:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. Saturday, November 15, in addition to its weekly road condition reports from 2:00 to 11:00 p. m. on Sunday, November 16.

the S. and C. D. Hale sawmill, constructed in the late 1860s. The last previous owner before the property was purchased by the city was Joseph Lubaway, who utilized piling remaining from the old sawmill tramway-dock as the foundation for a concrete pier extending out into the bay.

In this instance, however, old shore lines are not given consideration because the formerly dry land is now covered by Great Lakes waters.

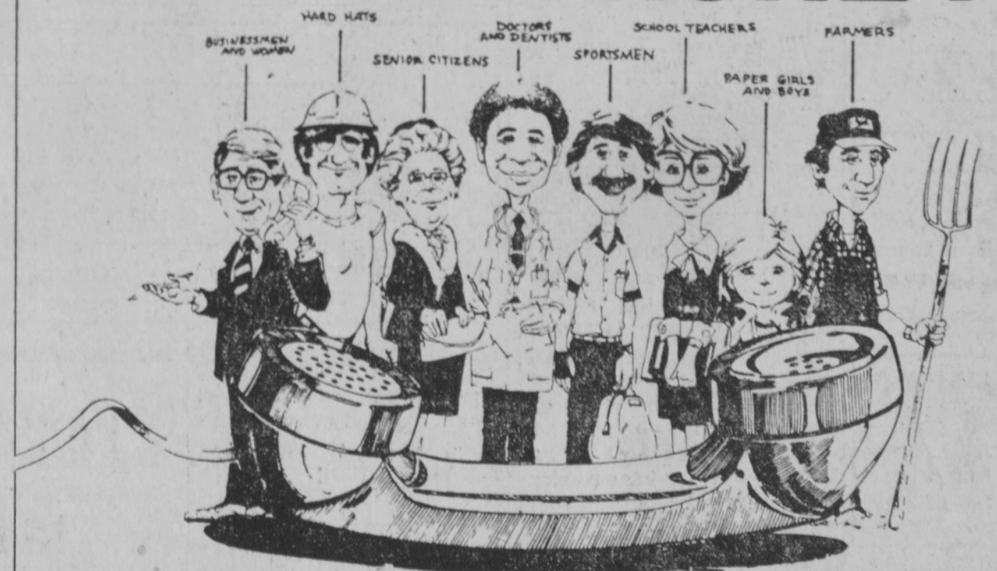

Owens felt that construction of a sea wall narrowing the channel entrance probably would result in a natural filling action with drifting sand. He saw no objection to the natural filling, but as of Thursday, was not convinced that filling more than three acres of submerged land behind the sea wall was the way to go.

As a secondary but integral portion of the entire project, upon which the city bases its application for funding, it is proposed to use that filled-in area, along with city-owned land on the east side of the river mouth, for parks and recreational purposes, with principal emphasis on fishing activities. The site has been designated as "Gateway Park."

Explaining those plans to the agencies involved in Thursday's meeting were John M. Beckett, the city's Ann Arbor planning consultant, and Mayor David Westcott.
