Federal Fugitive Nabbed; Arraigned, Held at Bay City

Bearded Grant Goddard Jr., 52, appeared to be no different than any other prisoner when he was led Thursday out of the Iosco County Jail and whisked to Bay City for arraignment in federal court. But Goddard is a master of disguise and federal authorities should know—they had been looking five years for him.

Wednesday, Goddard was captured by Oscoda-AuSable Township Police after eluding local authorities for five days by hiding out in the wooded area west of Oscoda. When arraigned the next day in federal court at Bay City, he requested a court-appointed attorney and bond was set at $75,000.

Before being released to federal authorities, Oscoda-AuSable Township Det. Raymond Knuth and state police from East Tawas questioned Goddard in regard to a number of area burglaries and the August 2 disappearance of an Oscoda woman. Authorities of both Iosco and Alcona Counties may seek warrants for his arrest.

Under the circumstances, federal authorities say the $75,000 bond set by a federal magistrate is too low. Goddard had slipped the scene on two previous arrests when bonds were set at $10,000 each.

Goddard had been wanted under a four-count federal warrant since 1976, three of the counts involving possession of firearms (including a shotgun) by a felon. Rather than face the federal court at Bay City, he skipped to Flint, got a job in an automobile plant and stayed hidden under an assumed identity.

During that time, federal authorities say he fleeced banks out of thousands of dollars by running up large loans on credit cards. He was arrested at Phoenix, Arizona, on May 8 for nonappearance in federal court on a four-count treasury department indictment. Released on a $10,000 bond, Goddard returned to his home near Mikado.

Since 1968, when he was convicted of conspiracy in 1965 bank robberies at Whittemore and Otisville, along with escaping from a United States marshal, recaptured and then served a prison term, Goddard has changed his identity numerous times.

Local authorities believe that he has been involved in many area burglaries and are trying to link the stripped down truck which he owned under an assumed name, found last month in a wooded area west of Oscoda, with the August 2 disappearance of a woman from Wurtsmith Air Force Base.

It was under those circumstances that he had been under surveillance by Oscoda-AuSable Township police. On October 3, police attempted to stop him west of Oscoda, but both Goddard and his father, Grant Goddard Sr., 78, jumped out of their truck on VanEttan Lake Road and made a break for it. The older man was captured, but his son waded across VanEttan Creek and disappeared into the woods. Grant Goddard Sr. is free under $10,000 bond for carrying a concealed weapon and aiding a federal fugitive.

The younger man remained hidden in the woods for four nights before being spotted by an Oscoda resident, who tipped off police and he was apprehended near his father's house trailer.

He had been posing as a retired air force officer, was wearing a heavy beard dyed black and did not wear his glasses. He was wearing the same beard Thursday when he was transferred to federal court at Bay City but, as a prisoner, had no shoes and was wearing handcuffs.

$20,254 Short of Balancing

Tawas A. School Eyes Budget Cuts

Another round trimming its 1980-81 operational budget is to be scheduled soon at a special work session of Tawas Area Board of Education's budget committee.

At Monday night's regular board meeting, Supt. Allan Dighera said that projected expenditures would fall $20,254 short of balancing anticipated revenue of $3,014,010.

One of the problems facing school budget makers throughout the state is that the legislature is not expected to take action on a school aid bill until after the November 4 election. This delay is attributed directly to proposed amendments to the state constitution affecting taxes which will go to the people on November 4.

Under an executive order of the governor in August, $25,000 was lopped off categorical aid which Tawas Area School District receives from the state. Because of the current state membership aid legislation, this school district, along with Hale Area School, receives no membership aid for educating children. The district bears the entire cost as the state aid act favors low valuation districts.

Because of the current economy of the state, with budget reductions to meet reduced revenue, categorical aid funds were cut three months ago. Funds to be received by this district include $120,000 for transportation, $45,000 for special education, $39,000 for vocational education, $6,000 for community education, $3,000 for court placed children and $4,500 for driver education.

The superintendent said Monday night that total local revenue amounts to $2,715,719 under the 1980-81 budget. Also included in the revenue column is $204,445 from the state and $93,846 from the federal government.

Expenditures include $633,483 for elementary instruction, $311,650 for junior high instruction and $737,568 for high school instruction. Additional expenditures include $39,284 for vocational instruction, $133,431 for special education, a second special education category of $16,027, $48,093 for community education, $300 for health services and $103,458 for administration expense.

Other expenditures include $74,833 for Title I expense, $352,696 for fiscal services, $290,105 for operation and maintenance, $295,106 for transportation, $2,869 for community services and $51,000 under outgoing transfers.

Between 75 and 80 percent of the total operational expenditure is for salaries.

Dighera said that the budget had been trimmed in previous sessions in order to meet anticipated revenue and he believed that some school districts of the state would be submitting budgets which would show a deficit at the end of the year.

He said that this school district actually has a negative balance of $75,893 at the present time, but a $55,639 fund balance from the previous year would be used to offset part of the deficit.

The superintendent pointed out that there was no cushion for unexpected expenditures which may occur later in the year and only a few options were available in cutting the budget.

"It is going to be a tight budget—every bit of revenue has been plugged in, including the delinquent taxes from the Holland House," said Dighera.

A TRANSACTION is to be completed later this week whereby this industrial building presently occupied by Tawas Industries, Incorporated, will become the new location of Brugger's Foodland, along with possibly two mercantile stores.

The industrial firm, which has occupied the site since 1959, is to consolidate its operation at a second plant to be expanded on Cedar Street.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Brugger's Foodland Plans Major Expansion Into Industrial Building

Sale of the block-long building housing Tawas Industries, Incorporated, Tawas City, to Brugger's Foodland is expected to be finalized later this week. John N. Brugger said yesterday (Tuesday) that he would present a site plan Thursday night to the Tawas City Planning Commission detailing his plans for a new grocery store, with possibly two other mercantile stores, utilizing the former industrial building.

Tawas Industries, Incorporated, is to consolidate its manufacturing operations at its second plant on Cedar Street north of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway yard. An addition is to be constructed at that site to house the entire operation of the firm.

Brugger said that his present plans had developed swiftly in recent weeks. The frame building which had housed the grocery when it was established here in 1927 by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brugger, located east of the present store building, was razed in late summer.

The intent was to construct an addition to the present store, but Brugger said Tuesday that he changed his mind because of complications which would have arisen in trying to operate the business while construction was taking place.

Two small buildings presently owned by the industrial firm and located south of the main structure are to be removed from the property.

The new grocery store is to be located in the center of the industrial structure with its main entrance opening on the present parking lot. The store would have approximately 9,000 square feet of floor space.

Provisions would be made for a mercantile store in the front portion of the industrial building, which presently houses offices, plus a second store at the southeast end of the building. The present industrial warehouse quarters would be utilized as a grocery store warehouse.

Brugger said that his plans call for converting the present grocery store building into an office building. A 100-car parking lot would be located between the present store and Consumers Appliance. Work is to start shortly on paving the area formerly occupied by the original store building and the former house of Alma Johnson.

The land transaction to be completed later this week with the industrial firm includes a parking lot north of the railroad tracks, which would be used for employee parking.

Brugger said that it would take about three to four months to "put everything together" concerning plans. The architectural firm of Hacker and Simons of Bay City is to handle remodeling of the industrial building for commercial use.

"We think this development will make a nice improvement to the city as it will provide convenient shopping and good parking," said Brugger. "We are enthused, but there is a lot of work ahead of us."

Brugger's Foodland is currently moving the stock out of its East Tawas store into the store on First Street and movement of store equipment is to start next week.

Tawas Industries, Incorporated, constructed its industrial building in 1950 and has made a number of additions since then.

Public Hearing on ITC Use of Rollin Building

A public hearing is to be held Thursday night, 7:30 o'clock, by the Tawas City Planning Commission on proposed use of a building owned by Robert N. Rollin for the headquarters-repair garage of the Iosco Transit Corporation.

The transit commission had submitted a site plan to the city planning commission under terms of a local ordinance, but special approval was necessary due to the fact that vehicle repair is not permitted in a B-2 business district.

Action on the special use permit is to be taken following the public hearing. All property owners within 300 feet of the building, located on US-23 south of the Tawas River bridge, have been notified of the session.

At a recent meeting of the planning commission, a request by Stanley Stasik for open storage of trailers and boats on his property at 924 West Lake Street was tabled.

The city manager is to prepare an amendment to the ordinance to provide for storage of campers and boats as a use permissible on special approval. The amendment is to be considered Thursday night.

It is planned that a public hearing on the proposed amendment be held at the November meeting and, if approved by the commission and adopted by the city council, Stasik would be encouraged to apply for special approval covering his facility.

A site plan submitted by John McMurray for location of a realty office at 1146 South US-23 was approved by the planning commission. It was pointed out that the proposed parking area and drive must be paved within one year following approval.

City Mgr. Lowell Thomas presented a request from the city for site plan approval for the library at 510 West Lake Street. It was determined that the nature of the use for both the library and city hall was properly classified as a business office, requiring one parking space for each 400 square feet of usable floor area. The plan was approved, requiring three off street parking spaces for the library and four off street parking spaces for the city hall.

Thomas also presented the city's request for approval to extend a road into the industrial park. The first phase involves placing a gravel road approximately 600 feet in length to serve four lots. Sewer, water and bituminous paving will be installed in the future.

A public hearing is to be held at the commission's December 18 meeting on several amendments to the zoning ordinance which brings language governing the zoning board of appeals into conformance with state statutes. The most significant change, which is optional within a community, involves provision for alternate members on the board.

Action on a request from the city council to determine if a city lot east of Tawas River on the south side of Mathews Street should be sold to a private owner, the planning commission recommended that the city should only consider selling the parcel for commercial development.

If sold, the planning commission recommended that the property should involve a use compatible and beneficial to the river location, with the provision that sufficient land be retained by the city to provide pedestrian access along the river's edge.

Legion-Sr. Citizens Near Agreement

Tentative approval of an agreement between Tawas Area Senior Citizens and Jesse C. Hodder Post, American Legion, Tawas City, was made at a Tuesday business meeting of the senior citizens group.

The plan presented by the Legion trustees for use of the American Legion Hall on North Street as a senior citizen drop-in center calls for the payment of certain utilities plus $125 a month rent.

Previously, senior citizens were permitted to use the building rent free, although utilities were paid by the group.

The new agreement will allow the Jesse C. Hodder Post to make needed improvements to the building, including installation of insulation to save on energy costs; a new walkway, paved parking lot in front of the building, mainly for use of wheel chair visitors to the drop-in center from Provincial House and the Iosco County Medical Care Facility.

A spokesman for the American Legion post said the rental money received from senior citizens would only be used for needed building improvements.

The plan presented to the senior citizens will be acted on by members of Jesse C. Hodder Post at their regular fourth Friday meeting in October.

Marching Band Won First

Tawas Area Marching Braves Band performed Saturday at the Southfield, Eisenhower, Clio, Northern and Montrose.

The band performed "Slaughter On Tenth Avenue," "My Favorite Things" and "Let It Be Me."

The band consists of 33 winds, 10 percussions, 12 flags and two command personnel, with a total of 57 members, but managed to out perform other bands.

This win qualifies Tawas for participation in the state marching band competition to be held at Durand next Saturday. The band will perform at 1:45 p. m. and everyone is encouraged to attend and support the band.

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands; one nation, under God, indivisible with liberty and justice for all.

Artist Gives 'Novel Look' to Lake Street

A "new idea" was also presented by the artist-planner when he brushed in a few trees along Lake Street. This may be a novel idea, but there are many residents who can recall the "boulevard look" of the main business street not so many years ago when a row of trees lined Lake Street from a point east of River Street to Whittemore Street. Over the years, many of the trees were removed after being damaged by automobiles and other trees were removed by property owners, who believed that places of business were being hidden from the view of passing motorists.

It seems to this corner that formation of a downtown development authority—perhaps a different name could be selected—should be formed to promote beautification and yes, even expansion of the community's commercial area.

This would require a cooperative effort on the part of all property owners, but this harmony certainly has not been showing in recent weeks or even recent years. That is too bad for the community.

The brush strokes mentioned above may be seen on plans displayed at the city hall, showing how some fresh paint, planting a few trees and installation of iron grillwork could improve some old buildings in the "500" block.

To achieve the artist's conception of the improvements would be a rather simple and not-so-costly matter, although the problem of off street parking would still have to be solved. What can be achieved by the artist's brush can be done with a painter's brush.

(Read Exodus 20:1-17)

The dinner had been superb. Our host and hostess were charming and the conversation stimulating. Our discussion had focused on ideas and events. Then, when someone mentioned a mutual friend who was not present, conversation suddenly changed to monologue. One of the guests began to repeat some ugly gossip about the friend. The other guests remained silent while the woman continued the rumors she was spreading.

Then, in a firm tone, a lone voice inquired whether the speaker had verified the tales she was telling.

"No, but I do not need to. Everybody knows it is true."

"But everyone does not know it is true," the objector insisted. "I, for one, know that it is not true, and I insist that you stop making these false accusations. You are maligning my friend by repeating cheap, untrue gossip."

What courage that protest took! But, what a Christian act it was. It was just as effective a demonstration of discipleship as coming to the physical defense of a helpless person.

We do not need to stand in a pulpit to witness. Opportunities come every day for us to make an effective witness. All we have to do is recognize them and act.

PRAYER
Lord, give me the courage to speak when I can be a witness. In Christ's name. Amen.

Pastor James Mehan will also attend the convention.

State Police Trooper on Disability

State Police Tpr. Terry J. Zidick, 38, of the East Tawas post, has been granted a duty disability retirement effective October 10, Col. Gerald L. Hough, department director, has reported.

Zidick, who joined the department in March 1964, is credited with more than 16 years with the state police. His disability status is related to injuries received in a patrol car traffic accident several years ago.

Following graduation from recruit school, Zidick was first assigned to the former Detroit (Redford Township) post. He then was transferred in 1966 to the Bay City post before assignment in 1977 to East Tawas.

Zidick was born at Saginaw where he graduated from high school. Beginning in 1960, he served in the United States Navy for 36 months, including 24 months on duty overseas.

He and his wife, Janice, have a daughter.

Loretta Meyer Was Honored

Three guests, Mary Stone, Zita Raedeke and Lucille Harvey, were among 89 persons attending the Tawas Area Senior Citizens meeting Wednesday, October 8.

Loretta Meyer of National City was named member of the month. A resident of the area for 10 years, she is the mother of seven children and has 13 grandchildren. Her hobbies include bowling and sewing and she heads the committee responsible for making coffee, setting tables and cleaning up after meeting of the organization.

A fine of 10 cents will be imposed on members not wearing membership pins at future meetings, with proceeds to go for Christmas bonuses at the party in December. Winners will be chosen from member of the month list.

Members having reservations for the color tour will leave from Tawas United Methodist Church parking lot Thursday, October 16, 9:00 a. m. For information, call Fred Francis, 362-4046, or Eleanor VanMeter, 362-3533.

Mrs. Stone and Herbert Steele won door prizes with other prizes going to Adolph Meyer and John Reynolds.

Citizen Input Important to Health Service Program

Residents within the 14-county East Central Michigan Health Service area are being afforded the opportunity to not only make their health concerns known but to have input into health planning programs and directing resources that will affect their present and future health care services.

Health survey forms are being circulated throughout the 14-county health service area by local health departments and the East Central Michigan Health Systems Agency.

The form is divided into the following major categories: Contagious disease, chronic disease, mental and emotional problems, health systems problems, environmental problems and other health problems.

After all survey forms are gathered and tallied, public hearing will be scheduled to report the results and to provide an opportunity for expression of additional concerns. Forms are available at local health departments and the East Central Michigan Health Systems Agency.

Resulting from a joint effort between local health departments and the ECMHSA, the survey will be used each year to determine current needs and to serve as a method to see how health concerns change throughout the years. The form is presently being considered for use throughout the State of Michigan.

Residents should fill out only one form. After completing the form, residents are urged to drop them off or mail them to either their local health department office or ECMHSA, 1213 South Washington Avenue, Saginaw, MI 48603.

Marian Rose Gave Review on Orchids

Marian Rose, an orchid specialist, gave a scholarly review of growing orchids at home at the East Tawas Garden Club Monday, October 13. Several varieties were exhibited. The amount and kinds of light, humidity, ventilation, temperature, soils and fertilizers were explained. Sensitive to other plants and preferring to not associate with them, there are 16,000 varieties and hybrids are countless. They are native to every country on the globe.

Attendance was given by enlarging upon exotic flowers, aided by John Moehring's "Readers Digest of Flowers" and the library's loan of "Exotic Flowers" books.

Orchid souvenirs were won by LaFern Winstead, Ruth Beecham, Elizabeth Besancon, Mary Dillon, Betty Wilec and Carrie Mielock.

Christmas Greens Workshop is commencing plans for wreath making, Sylvia Metzger, Dorothy Wilson, Eleanor Cooke and Mrs. Besancon being in charge.

Winterizing the garden, herb indoor growing, annual reports and installation of officers are on the agenda at the Monday, November 10, meeting at the home of Erna Wolfin.

Hostesses were Alice White, Leora Mohr and Stephanie Wilkusi.

Halloween Party Set at MC Facility

Plans for a Halloween party with costumes to entertain patients at Isoco County Medical Care Facility were discussed by auxiliary members when they convened Monday, October 13. Appreciation was extended to Carol's Curl Corner employees for time and supplies needed to do the hair of patients last week.

A rummage sale will be held Thursday and Friday, October 23-24, at the home of Margaret Charters, 324 Second Street, Tawas City. Besides the usual household goods and clothing, institutional and hospital items will be for sale.

Helps Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues

Doctors have found a medication that in many cases gives prompt, temporary relief for hours from pain and burning in hemorrhoidal tissues, then helps shrink swelling of these tissues caused by inflammation. The name: Preparation H. No prescription is needed. Preparation H. Ointment and suppositories. Use only as directed.

TOP WILDLIFE PAINTING—This acrylic painting of a red fox and a bluejay was judged the best of nearly 90 paintings entered in Michigan's first "Wildlife Artist of the Year" competition. The artist is Gijbert van Frankenhuyzen of Bath in Clinton County, who is art director for Michigan Natural Resources magazine. The state-wide contest was sponsored by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC), which is issuing a limited edition of 750 prints of the painting signed and numbered by the artist.

CLUB NEWS & NOTES

Moehring Gave Program on Arrangements

John Moehring of East Tawas presented a program on flower arrangement at the Tuesday, October 7, meeting of Tawas City Garden Club. The arrangements were taken to Ruth Keiler at Isoco Medical Care Facility and George Liske at Provincial House.

During the business session, led by Margaret Leitz, discussion was held on guest night planned for October 20 at the Masonic Temple. A catered dinner will be served and Arthur Leitz will present the program.

Hosting the group at her home in East Tawas was Stephanie Deprest. Marion Jennings and Cleopatra Shelp served the luncheon to the 21 members in attendance.

Sweet Adelines Attended Alpena Open House

Eleven members of prospective Sweet Adelines of Tawas and Oscoda traveled to Alpena Tuesday night, October 7, to attend an open house hosted by Sweet Adelines of Alpena, the Anamakees. As part of the program, William Gilmet, Alpena mayor, presented a plaque to the Anamakees in appreciation of their contribution to Music Week.

Local Sweet Adelines hold practice sessions every Thursday evening at Tawas Area High School and the group is open to new members.

Interested in crafts? Supplies and lessons are available at House of Wood, Mathews and US-23, Tawas City. Phone 362-2521.

Tawas Bay OES Elected New Officers

Presiding at the Monday evening, October 6, meeting of Tawas Bay Chapter No. 71, Order of the Eastern Star, were Donna Lemon, associate matron, and Marshall Lemon, associate patron. Election of officers was held and five members, Fern Chisholm, Donald Langley, Joseph Blake, Donald and Winifred Lamb, were presented with proficiency cards through the association. Dianne Knight sang a solo.

Amendments to AIA Association constitution and bylaws were read by Marian Rose and approved by the chapter to be presented at the spring session of AIA.

Mr. and Mrs. Lemon were elected worthy matron and worthy patron with Doris Sprout, associate matron; Milo Nielson, associate patron; Isabelle Leslie, secretary; Marie Hennigar, treasurer; Frances Eaton, conductress, and Shirle Squires, associate conductress.

Mr. and Mrs. Lemon and Mrs. Sprout were named delegates to the Grand Chapter with Mrs. Eaton, Mrs. Leslie and Nielson, alternates.

Open installation is slated for Saturday, October 18, and initiation, November 6. Serving on the refreshment committee were Mrs. Chisholm, Mary Brigham, Pearl Engelbrecht and Violet Small.

Presidential Candidates

How They Stand: On The Role Of Government

• "There is mounting evidence that excessive Government regulation is hamstringing our economy, handcuffing our business enterprises and robbing the consumer through increased inflation."

• "[T]he vast bulk of the federal regulatory machinery has not been properly streamlined and scrutinized...we must establish a comprehensive timetable for the review of the entire regulatory framework, instead of relying upon piecemeal review."

• "Just as our country's needs and problems are changing, so too must our national legislature readily adapt to keep pace with the times. The low esteem in which the public now holds the Congress should give us special cause to make the Congress more open, accountable, responsive and efficient."

• "The underlying principle of...regulatory sunset bills is... unless the Congress is somehow forced to exercise its oversight responsibility over these matters in a periodic and systematic way, it just won't be done."

• "The federal government, in recent years, has assumed a larger and larger role in local education programs, resulting in waste and duplication of effort... The creation of the new Department of Education affords the opportunity to review the full range of federal education programs in a coherent and comprehensive fashion."

• "[A] quiet revolution was wrought in the manner of financing presidential campaigns, when in 1976, for the first time, we made the matching fund provision available to presidential candidates. I would like to see it extended to congressional and senatorial campaigns."

JOHN ANDERSON

• "We've got a pressing need to get rid of regulations that are unwarranted, and many of them are absolutely unwarranted. And we've got a need to manage those that are needed in the most effective and enlightened and sensitive way."

• "We are reducing the anti-competitive regulation of the airlines, trucking, rail and banking and the communications industries. This is the most fundamental restructuring of the interrelationship between government and the private sector that's taken place since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal."

• "We will continue to work with Congress to pass sunset legislation. This legislation will overcome the inertia that lets Federal programs continue when they have outlived their purpose. It will ensure that Congress regularly reviews programs to decide whether they should be changed or eliminated."

• "The new Department of Education...will make education programs more responsive. It will make those who administer and who carry out these programs more accountable to the students and to our people. And most important of all, it will heighten attention to education and the challenges it and we face today."

• "The impact of special interest contributions on congressional campaigns has grown dramatically in recent years. It is time to adopt public financing for congressional elections before it is too late. Such public financing will avoid the appearance of undue special interest influence and will allow worthy candidates without adequate funds to run for Congress."

JIMMY CARTER

• "[M]y plan is to conduct a total review of the thousands and thousands of regulations and a plan for getting rid of the unnecessary regulations...[that are] so costly even to the shopkeeper and the farmer and the individual as well as to business and industry."

• "Everything that can be run more effectively by state and local government we shall turn over to state and local government, along with the funding sources to pay for it. We are going to put an end to the money merry-go-round where our money becomes Washington's money, to be spent by the states and cities only if they spend it exactly the way the Federal bureaucrats tell them to."

• "[T]he best way to ensure quality education is to maximize control by parents, teachers, and local school boards. [W]e should transfer general federal education funding programs back to the states and local school districts...with the tax resources to pay for them. [W]e should abolish the Department of Education."

• "[W]e should establish a 'sunset' procedure for regulations with substantial impact, and give Congress veto power over all federal regulations."

• "[F]raud and waste must be fought both vigorously and systematically. First we should place the investigative responsibility outside the agencies. Second, we should give the President and Congress authority to rescind funds misspent by agencies."

• "[R]eagan [D]oes not believe taxpayers should subsidize political campaigns...[he] is opposed to federal funding of congressional election races...and does support campaign disclosure laws."

RONALD REAGAN

This issue profile is part of a series titled, "How They Stand," compiled by Common Cause from materials released by the front-running Presidential contenders and from statements reported by major news media since January 1, 1980. Although space constraints limit the breadth and depth of these profiles, we have attempted to present statements that are representative of the candidates' views on the issues. While Common Cause neither endorses nor opposes candidates, this project is part of our election year effort to promote informed discussion of the front-running candidates' positions on significant issues. A similar project was conducted in 1976.

Baby Feeding: What Mothers Should Know

• Are American babies the best fed?
 • Is cow's milk the perfect food for young infants?
 • Are solid foods at two to three months healthy?
 All answers are "no." Surprised? Many American babies, who should have the best diets, suffer from "malnutrition." Why?
 Too often, parents feed infants cow's milk and solid foods at the too-early age of three or four months. It's fashionable, "everyone" does it, and it lends status to parents whose baby is "so far ahead of the others."
 The American Academy of Pediatrics encourages breastfeeding for an infant's first year. If a mother is unable or chooses not to breastfeed, or stops early, pediatricians recommend infant formulas because they provide the best nutritional alternative for the entire first year.
 Cow's milk contains much too much protein and salt and not enough iron for a newborn's fragile, developing system.
 Pediatricians Recommend
 The First Four Months: The infant's diet should consist only of breast milk or infant formula. According to nutrition experts, today's formulas are very close to mother's milk in nutritional value and composition.
 Months 5 through 7: During this transitional period, mother's milk or infant formula provides all essential nutrients. Solid foods may be introduced one at a time depending on Doctor's instructions. Allow a week for each new food to watch for allergic reactions.
 Months 8 through 12: Until baby's first birthday, continue with breast milk or infant formula because they are the best sources of protein and nutrients. Solid foods such as rice cereals, fruits and vegetables will become a larger part. It is important not to switch to cow's milk—whole, low-fat or skim milk—at this stage in a child's development.

Six Subjects Apprehended Stealing Gas

Six subjects were apprehended Sunday night by Iosco County Sheriff's Department and are charged with stealing gasoline.

line from vehicles at three residences in Tawas Township.
 The department received a call from a Miller Road resident stating that one subject had been "scared off" while trying to siphon gasoline from a car. The property owner gave pursuit.
 A car was stopped on Lorenz Road by sheriff's department officers. Officers found equipment used for siphoning gasoline. Officers said that jackets worn by the subjects were saturated with gasoline.
 Two juveniles involved were turned over to their parents.

Investigate Marijuana Use at TA

Two possession of marijuana complaints reported last week by Tawas Area School authorities were investigated by Iosco County Sheriff's Department.
 One complaint involved two junior high school students, who smoked a marijuana cigarette shortly before entering school, and the second complaint involved a number of high school students who were observed smoking marijuana cigarettes outside the school.
 The cigarettes were confiscated by authorities.
 Executive hearings before the board of education were held Monday night concerning expulsion of several students from school.

HOW TO USE A LIBRARY

By James A. Michener

Mr. Michener is a Pulitzer Prize-winning novelist, author of "Tales of the South Pacific," "Hawaii," "Centennial," and "Chesapeake." This article is part of a series prepared at the request of the International Paper Company to help all Americans read better, write better, and communicate better.

Learning how to use the card catalog in the library is easy—and important.

You're driving your car home from work or school. And something goes wrong. The engine stalls out at lights, holds back as you go to pass.

It needs a tune-up—and soon. Where do you go?

The library. You can take out an auto repair manual that tells step-by-step how to Michener tune up your make and model.

Or your tennis game has fallen off. You've lost your touch at the net. Where do you go?

The library—for a few books on improving your tennis form.

"The library!" you say. "That's where my teacher sends me to do—home-work."

Unfortunately, I've found that's exactly the way many people feel. If you're among them, you're denying yourself the easiest way to improve yourself, enjoy yourself and even cope with life.

It's hard for me to imagine what I would be doing today if I had not fallen in love, at the ripe old age of seven, with the Melinda Cox Library in my hometown of Doylestown, Pennsylvania. At our house, we just could not afford books. The books in that free library would change my life dramatically.

Who knows what your library can open up for you?

My first suggestion for making the most of your library is to do what I did: read and read and read. For pleasure—and for understanding.

How to kick the TV habit

If it's TV that keeps you from cultivating this delicious habit, I can offer a sure remedy. Take home from the library a stack of books that might look interesting.

Pile them on the TV set. Next time you are tempted to turn on a program you really don't want to see, reach for a book instead.

Over the years, some people collect a mental list of books they mean to read. If you don't have such a list, here is a suggestion. Take from the library some of the books you might have enjoyed dramatized on TV, like Remarque's "All Quiet on the Western Front," Clavell's "Shogun," Tolkien's "The Hobbit," or Victor Hugo's "Les Misérables."

If you like what you read, you can follow up with other satisfying books by the same authors.

Some people in their reading limit themselves to current talked-about best sellers. Oh, what they miss! The library is full of yesterday's best sellers; and they still make compelling reading today. Some that I've enjoyed: A. B. Guthrie's "The Big Sky," Carl Van Doren's "Benjamin Franklin," Mari Sandoz's "Old Jules," and Norman Mailer's "The Naked and the Dead."

How do you find these or any other books you're looking for? It's easy—with the card catalog.

Learn to use the card catalog

Every time I go to the library—and I go more than once a week—I invariably make a beeline to the card catalog before anything else. It's the nucleus of any public library.

The card catalog lists every book in the library by:

1. author; 2. title; 3. subject.

Let's pick an interesting subject to look up. I have always been fascinated by astronomy.

You'll be surprised at the wealth of material you will find under "astronomy" to draw upon. And the absorbing books you didn't know existed on it.

CAUTION: Always have a pencil and paper when you use the card catalog. Once you jot down the numbers of the books you are interested in, you are ready to find them on the shelves.

Learn to use the stacks

Libraries call the shelves "the stacks." In many libraries the stacks will be open for you to browse.

To me there is a special thrill in tracking down the books I want in the stacks! For invariably, I find books about which I knew nothing, and these often turn out to be the very ones I need. You will find the same thing happening to you when you start to browse in the stacks. "A learned mind is the end product of browsing."

CAUTION: If you take a book from the stacks to your work desk, do not try to return it to its proper place. That's work for the experts. If you replace it incorrectly, the next seeker won't be able to find it.

Learn to know the reference librarian

Some of the brightest and best informed men and women in America are the librarians who specialize in providing reference help.

Introduce yourself. State your problem. And be amazed at how much help you will receive.

CAUTION: Don't waste the time of this expert by asking silly questions you ought to solve yourself. Save the reference librarian for the really big ones.

Learn to use The Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature

This green-bound index is one of the most useful items in any library. It indexes all the articles in the major magazines, including newspaper magazine supplements.

Thus it provides a guide to the very latest expert information on any subject that interests you.

So if you want to do a really first-class job, find out which magazines your library subscribes to, then consult The Reader's Guide and track down recent articles on your subject. When you use this wonderful tool effectively, you show the mark of a real scholar.

Four personal hints

Since you can take most books home, but not magazines, take full notes when using the latter.

Many libraries today provide a reprographic machine that can quickly copy pages you need from magazines and books. Ask about it.

If you are working on a project of some size which will require repeated library visits, keep a small notebook in which you record the identification numbers of the books you will be using frequently. This will save you valuable time, because you won't have to consult the card catalog or search aimlessly through the stacks each time you visit for the material you seek.

Some of the very best books in any library are the reference books, which may not be taken home. Learn what topics they cover and how best to use them, for these books are wonderful repositories of human knowledge.

Your business and legal advisor

Your library can give you help on any subject. It can even be your business and legal advisor.

How many times have you scratched your head over how to get a tax rebate on your summer job? You'll find answers in tax guides at the library. Thinking of buying or renting a house? You'll find guides to that. Want to defend yourself in traffic court? Find out how in legal books at the library.

Library projects can be fun—and rewarding

Here are a few ideas:

1. What are your roots? Trace your ancestors. Many libraries specialize in genealogy.
2. Did George Washington sleep nearby? Or Billy the Kid? Your library's collection of local history books can put you on the trail.
3. Cook a Polynesian feast. Or an ancient Roman banquet. Read how in the library's cookbooks.
4. Take up photography. Check the library for consumer reviews of cameras before you buy. Take out books on lighting, composition, or darkroom techniques.

Or—you name it! If you haven't detected by now my enthusiasm for libraries, let me offer two personal notes.

I'm particularly pleased that in recent years two beautiful libraries have been named after me: a small community library in Quakertown, Pennsylvania, and the huge research library located at the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley.

And I like libraries so much that I married a librarian.

IN THE SERVICE—

Completes CG Aviation Course

Coast Guard Amn. Henry J. Lahti Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lahti Sr., East Tawas, has completed the aviation machinist's mate course and was promoted to his present rate.

During the 10-week course at the Aviation Technical Training Center, Elizabeth City, North Carolina, students received instruction on the fundamentals in aircraft maintenance and repair of the types of engines used on coast guard aircraft. After initial aircraft training, he will be flying as a crewmember aboard a coast guard aircraft involved in search and rescue, logistics, oil pollution control and various other duties.

A 1979 graduate of Tawas Area High School, he joined the United States Coast Guard in August 1979.

Re-Enlists in US Air Force

Sgt. Charles P. Steeno, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Steeno of DePere, Wisconsin, has re-enlisted in the United States Air Force at RAF Bentwaters, England, after three years military service.

Sergeant Steeno is a 1976 graduate of DePere High School.

His wife, Shelia, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Loll, Tawas City.

Busy Week at Headquarters

A busy week at Republican Headquarters located in the Holland House is over. Interest was widespread with curious visitors from all over the state.

One of the most gratifying conclusions of the week was the number of youngsters who stopped by and certain local teachers who picked up brochures, bumper stickers, pins and posters to decorate school mock election exhibits.

Phone service is scheduled for Wednesday, October 15, so call information for the number until it can be published.

Reports by Republican precinct delegates on Commitment 80 will be sent to Republican Headquarters October 20; therefore, it is urgent that the delegates who have not filled their obligation to Commitment 80 pick up their packet.

Humor of the week goes to Walter Schultz, Democrat for prosecuting attorney. Somehow, an ardent supporter was able to place a large Schultz poster on Republican Headquarters' front window.

Reservations are being taken for a victory party Tuesday, November 4, election night at the Holland House. A pre-victory dinner between 6:00 and 9:00 p. m. will be topped off with an 11 o'clock snack.

It is said that an informed public has the ability to make the right decision. Republican Headquarters has information on national and state candidates—stop in and pick up a brochure.

Beating Inflation With Proper Car Care

Have you experienced "detonation," "dieseling," "sponginess," or a "rough idle?" Then you're probably an automobile owner. You've also most likely encountered the complex and expensive task of repairing and maintaining your car.

In a time of inflation, preventive car engine, body and interior maintenance will eliminate many costly repairs required after the damage is done. The automotive engineers at Sears recommend a complete tune-up, preferably twice a year. This will solve the four problems listed above, as well as many others.

"Detonation" is a metallic popping or pinging sound heard often during acceleration. It can arise from a low engine coolant level, a loose fan belt or restricted air flow.

"Dieseling" is heard when the engine continues to run after the ignition is turned off. It can be caused by a dirty carburetor, an incorrect choke setting, or gasoline with an octane rating that's too low.

"Sponginess" is felt when pressing the acceleration pedal produces little or no change in speed, caused by a poorly adjusted carburetor or cracked and damaged spark plugs.

A "rough idle" means an uneven idle in either hot or cold engines, and again, is caused by an incorrect choke adjustment, or a dirty carburetor or faulty carburetor adjustment, or the need for a tune-up.

To minimize car problems, try to hold down costs by keeping your car running right, before problems occur. This approach will save you money, as well as make your car deliver maximum gas mileage.

The heart of auto maintenance is the tune-up, which produces optimum gas mileage with minimum engine wear. Have your car tuned at least once a year by an expert, or purchase auto tune-up and test equipment to do your own tune-ups for even greater savings. Auto tune-up manuals are easy to obtain, and the work is easy to learn. Tune-up is a popular classroom topic in continuing educational programs.

With the high price of gasoline today, fuel economy is a prime concern among most consumers. Driving at a steady speed of about 50-55 miles per hour will give optimum gas mileage. A cruise control accessory, relatively inexpensive, can be helpful here.

Also useful for getting better mileage are radial-ply tires. Their minimal rolling resistance, when properly inflated, diminishes fuel waste. For longer tire life, correct front wheel alignment is a necessity.

Engine life can be prolonged by using select chemical additives. They provide a simple cleaning method for the entire fuel system.

Also, make sure to choose the proper grades of gasoline and motor oil, and change oil and filters regularly during the life of your car.

Cosmetically, the body of the car is its most important part. Rust-proofing when you car is new can do much to keep it looking good for years. When rust spots develop, clean and sand them quickly, and use quality putty and paints to complete the job. For the interior of your car, repair rips in the seats and use seat-covers for longer life. Floor mats are a simple way of protecting carpet.

In general, pay more attention to your vehicle and it will respond with improved performance and greater reliability. Avoid unnecessary idling—turn your engine off when you're waiting for someone. Don't speed up to a light or stop sign and jam on the brakes. Plan shopping trips to visit the most stores with the least amount of driving. Try to drive smoothly and consistently.

Emil Lynch Died Oct. 8

The Rev. Edward Fairbanks officiated Saturday, October 11, at Jacques and Kobs East Chapel, East Tawas, for funeral services for Emil F. Lynch of East Tawas who succumbed Wednesday, October 8, at Tawas Hospital. Burial was in Floral Gardens Cemetery, Bay City.

Born at Prescott July 7, 1913, he lived at Bay City for many years before moving to the area.

Surviving are his wife, the former Marguerite Ridgley, whom he married March 12, 1938; two sons, Lawrence W. of Bay City and Gerald of Farmington; two daughters, Jeanie Dixon of Bay City and Kathy Cary of Mesa, Arizona; seven grandchildren; his mother, Agnes Lynch of Bay City, and two brothers, Tony and Charles Lynch of Brandon, Iowa.

The family requests memorials be directed to Michigan Heart Association or Bay County Association for Retarded Persons.

School Studies Involvement in Newman Street Project

A long-range plan presented by the City of East Tawas for modernization of Newman Street is currently being studied by Tawas Area Board of Education.

The East Tawas Elementary Unit would be included in a special assessment district which would help to finance the local share of this project. According to a preliminary estimate, the school's share of the improvement would be approximately $10,000.

Supt. Allan Dighera told board of education members

Monday night, that the city is seeking federal funds to assist with the project and it may be some years before any action can be expected.

Improvements would be made to the street, sidewalks, lighting and trees would be planted for decoration.

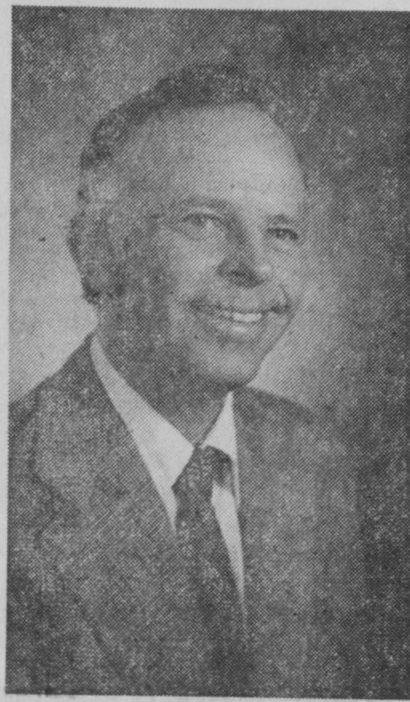

In other matters, a letter was sent to National Gypsum Company, addressed to Ronald Warner, thanking the National City-based firm for the donation of $630 worth of chemicals for the school's laboratory. Because of the current economy in the state, a mandated school breakfast program is not expected to be funded for the current year and the program will not be implemented. The board of education of this district has opposed such a program.

School Board Takes No Stand on Tax Amendments

On advice of Supt. Allan Dighera, Tawas Area Board of Education has taken no stand concerning the Tisch amendment and other tax proposals which are to go to state voters on November 4.

Thomas Huck, board secretary, reported Monday night that a board committee had attended a special session held recently at Alpena to study all of the proposals. He said that board of education members had been provided with considerable information and a discussion on the amendments would be held at the October 27 meeting.

Numerous voices are being heard throughout the state concerning the Tisch amendment, Proposal D, and one of those has been Thomas N. Bonner, president of Wayne State University.

In a statement last week, Bonner pointed out that the arithmetic of Proposal D is simple, but he pointed out that state moneys over which the governor and the people's representatives exercise any real authority amount to 3.6-billion dollars.

"The Tisch amendment," said Bonner, "would force two-billion dollars of this back to local communities to replace revenues lost by cutting in half local property taxes that have been rolled back to their 1978 level. Remaining in the state treasury would be 1.6-billion dollars for all corrections and prisons, mental health care, state police protection, colleges and universities, community colleges and other state services for which the state now pays 3.6-billion dollars. This would be a cut of nearly 60 percent."

Bonner said that Tisch "employs the familiar tactics of the demagogue: The facts cited by opponents are 'scare tactics' of the governor and his henchmen; the two-billion dollars in revenue lost to the state could be plucked from 'waste' in current spending."

Before hacking government and education to pieces, Bonner pointed out there were responsible alternatives, including the Coalition Tax Reduction proposal, Proposition C, which would sharply reduce property taxes but shift the burden for continuing essential services to the sales tax.

Others support Proposition A, which is designed to protect K-12 school funding while cutting property taxes and seeking their replacement by raising the income tax and in other ways.

More will be heard about the various tax proposals during the next few weeks and Michigan voters are urged to listen to the discussions before the November 4 election.

Flu Vaccine Clinics

District Health Department No. 2, under the direction of Dr. Paul Christenson, has recently received the 1980 flu vaccine and will be offering special clinics during the rest of October and into November. This year's vaccine will provide protection against three strains of flu: A/Brazil-1978, A/Bangkok-1979 and B/Singapore-1979.

Flu vaccinations are recommended for persons at high risk, especially those 65 and over and/or those persons who are chronically ill. It has been determined that the onset of flu could result in rather severe health problems for this high risk group. Persons who are at high risk should make a special effort to receive the vaccine.

Clinic times have been set at each senior citizen center, serving the Counties of Ogemaw, Iosco, Alcona and Oscoda. Call the local senior citizen center to obtain the clinic times or call the local health department office to obtain the center information. If unable to attend the clinics at the senior citizen sites, the following regular immunization clinics which will include immunization for flu have been scheduled. Tuesday, October 21—Harrisville office, courthouse annex, 10:00 a. m.-12:00 noon and 1:30-3:30 p. m.; Skidway Chamber of Commerce Building, 9:30-11:30 a. m. (See CLINICS, page 6.)

Oscoda Woman Finds Volunteer Service at Provincial Rewarding

Barbara Troy has discovered a rewarding new world as a volunteer at the Provincial House skilled nursing facility in Tawas City. Mrs. Troy, who began volunteering at the nursing home a few months after her husband, Arthur, became the facility's maintenance mechanic in April, says that working with the elderly is an enriching experience. About three times a week, Mrs. Troy rides to work with her husband and spends the day assisting Reata Drumm, activities director, in a number of ways.

"I help with games and crafts and just do anything that needs doing," she says. "I really enjoy being with the people and helping them." Originally from New York, the Troys moved to Oscoda in 1968 where Troy was stationed in the air force. He retired as a technical sergeant in 1976 and worked at a local factory until he was laid off last winter.

With four children, one of whom is developmentally disabled and living in a special home in Mt. Pleasant, Mrs. Troy has chosen not to work full time. Instead, she volunteered on base in Oscoda, has been a scout leader and is unit leader for a girl scout day camp.

"I had never worked with older people before," she says, adding that her experience as a volunteer and with her own impaired son has given her a foundation for working with the elderly handicapped.

"I learned with my son that you have to let disabled people go at their own pace and do things for themselves as much as possible," she says. "If they are doing a craft project and it does not come out perfect, at least it is something they did themselves—it is their accomplishment."

In addition, she says, a regular part of volunteering at Provincial House is providing companionship to the residents, many of whom may not otherwise receive outside visitors.

"They like individual attention and that is why volunteers are so important," she says. "It helps give the residents a sense of importance that someone would make this special effort to be with them."

Mrs. Troy has already recruited some of her friends and neighbors from Oscoda to join her as a volunteer at Provincial House. Several of them began volunteering last month when their children returned to school.

"It is not something you do for recognition," Mrs. Troy says. "It is something you have to feel."

A REWARDING new world has been discovered by a volunteer at Provincial House Nursing Home, Tawas City.

New Veterans' Counselor Has Two Degrees; Served 22 Years in USAF

Howard Spencer, 42, retired air force chief master sergeant, is Iosco County's new veterans' counselor with offices in the county building. His appointment by the county board of commissioners was effective October 2.

Succeeding Robert Brown, who resigned last month and moved to Sault Ste. Marie, Spencer is a native of Orange, Texas, and spent 22 years in the air force.

He is a graduate of Central Michigan University, where he received a bachelor of science degree in 1975 with state certification as an elementary teacher, and he received a master degree from CMU in elementary administration.

Besides serving as veterans' counselor, he teaches job skills in the Oscoda School community education program, plus teaching remedial mathematics and reading in the Whittemore-Prescott Area School-Tawas Area School consortium.

His service-connected education includes attendance at the air force's pharmacy technician school, the noncommissioned officer academy and the senior noncommissioned officer academy.

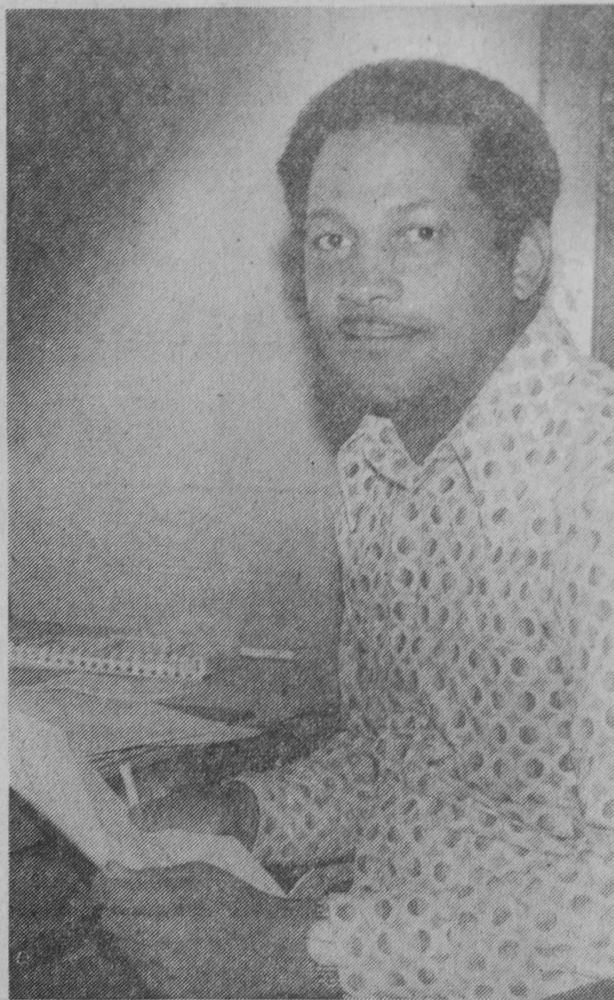

Retiring from the air force in 1979, he had served as hospital sergeant major and pharmacy superintendent at Wurtsmith Air Force Base.

His other duty stations during a 22-year military career included Ellington Air Force Base, Texas, 1957; Rabat, Morocco, 1957-59; Kincheloe Air Force Base, Michigan, 1959-61; Walker Air Force Base, New Mexico, 1961-63; Clinton Sherman Air Force Base, Oklahoma, 1963-66; Izmir, Turkey, 1966-67; Athens, Greece, 1967-70; Wurtsmith, from 1970 until retirement.

According to office records, the veterans' counselor had 159 contacts with veterans, widows of veterans and dependents during the last quarter. Consultation service is provided by the field service officer of the Disabled American Veterans and the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund.

The office is open two days a week, Tuesdays and Thursdays, 1:00 to 5:00 p. m. The telephone number is 362-6571.

He and his wife, Jewel, reside at Oscoda with their two children, a 14-year-old daughter, Sabrina, and an 11-year-old son, Tyrone.

Row of Norways a Memorial

STANDING BOLDLY against the skyline is a memorial planting of Norway pine, established more than 50 years ago along a three-mile stretch of the old Thompson Trail leading out of the Tawas.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Along the old Thompson Trail—now known as Monument Road—leading in a northwesterly direction out of the Tawas toward the AuSable River, is a row of Norway pine trees 40 to 50 feet in height.

Seemingly out of place because of the profusion of jack pine and hardwoods growing in the background, this memorial planting of between 900 and 1,000 trees stretches for a distance of two to three miles along the southwesterly side of the blacktop pavement, from the easterly boundary of Huron National Forest at the top of Ganate's Hill to Gray's Gulley.

First plantings in the row of memorial trees were made September 10, 1926, at the dedication of the old Thompson Trail. In charge of the program was R. G. Schreck, then supervisor of Huron National Forest, later an East Tawas businessman.

Later, on September 21-22, 1928, hundreds of Michigan residents—men, women and children—gathered for the official dedication ceremony in connection with the planting of 5,557 acres of pine seedlings in the Kiwanis Plantation.

That planting "is the largest individual project ever sponsored by a lay organization in the United States," reported The Tawas Herald in its September 28, 1928, issue. "Some idea of the size of the project may be gained when it is stated that the planting necessitated the plowing of furrows some 5,000 miles in length, a distance equivalent to one-fifth of the earth's circumference."

The 1928 dedication program was held near the McCullom Banks, known in early Iosco history as a great railway, where millions of feet of white and Norway pine logs were banked during the winter and then rolled into the AuSable River in the early spring to eventually find their way to sawmills at AuSable-Oscoda. Actual location of the famed banks was slightly downstream from Largo Springs.

At the time of the gathering, approximately 2,500 acres of the project had been planted. Archie N. Case of Jackson, governor of Michigan Kiwanis, initiated the ceremonial planting on September 22.

"Others in the party planted individual trees along the old tote road. These trees will carry metal tags with the name of the person who planted each until harvested in 50 to 70 years," reported the Herald.

GROUNDS of Lumbermen's Monument overlooking the AuSable River are currently being renovated to include a visitor information center, to be completed in 1981.—Tawas Herald Photo.

ENTRANCE to the Huron National Forest northwest of the Tawas is marked by this sign erected by the United States Forest Service. The forest is one of the resource assets of this region and establishment of its pine plantations can be attributed directly to man's concern over the environment—starting in the early 1900s.—Tawas Herald Photo.

One of the features of the 1928 program was the laying of a base for a monument to overlook the AuSable River. "The base of the statue, which will be a replica of an old-time riverman, is to be composed entirely of stones," reported the Herald.

Plans were changed later and a fitting monument of three bronze figures—a riverman, timber cruiser and sawyer—was created by Robert Aitken, internationally known American sculptor. Stones set as a base for the potential monument in 1928 were removed and a 20-ton granite base was installed overlooking the river.

Stones furnished by various Kiwanis Clubs of Michigan, originally intended for the base of Lumbermen's Monument, were later fashioned into a monument in the Kiwanis Plantation.

On May 24, 1929, members of the Lumbermen's Memorial Committee planted additional trees along the Thompson Trail. Among them were W. B. Mershon, Saginaw; T. W. Hanson, Grayling; John W. Blodgett, Grand Rapids; C. Rust MacPherson, Saginaw; Charles T. Mitchell, Cadillac; George L. Burrows, Saginaw; H. E. Fletcher, Alpena; M. Fletcher and Robert Rayburn, Alpena, all representing past and then modern-day lumbering interests.

That same fall, 110 more Norway seedlings were planted by proxy in honor of leading Michigan conservationists. Flint school children planted 50 trees on May 2, 1931, and on May 27 of the same year, East Tawas school children planted 20 or more seedlings.

Now, after more than one-half century of growth, the Norway pines planted as seedlings during the 1926-1931 era are flourishing and add a spectacular touch of beauty to the old Thompson Trail.

It is not expected that those trees bordering the highway will be harvested, as reported by the Herald 52 years ago, although a few have disappeared when roads were changed.

During recent years, the United States Forest Service has conducted several timber stand improvements along the road which saw the clear cutting of large squares of jack pine and hardwoods, along with some controlled burning. This "opening of the forest" has further emphasized the row of memorial trees, which now stand out in bold relief against new growth.

In connection with a project now under way to renovate and expand the grounds at Lumbermen's Monument, the forest service is interested in documenting various aspects of the forest's history—from the days when millions of feet of white pine logs were driven down the AuSable River to later times when man wisely transformed a cutover, burned-over sand and plains into today's beautiful Huron National Forest.

As part of that documentation, Forest Ranger Calvin Norton plans to use metal detecting equipment in an effort to locate one of the original metal tags which were attached to the pine seedlings at the time of planting more than 50 years ago.

One story that has often been told is that those tags bearing the names of persons planting the individual trees were later gathered, placed in a container and then buried along today's Monument Road. Anyone with information is invited to contact the Tawas Ranger District office in the Federal Building at East Tawas.

Work is to start this fall on a new Lumbermen's Monument visitor information center. This project has been in the "dreaming stage" for a number of years and will become a reality within a year or two.

Files of the forest service are being gleaned for pertinent information which would be useful in the new visitor information center. One aspect would be to obtain firsthand accounts of the memorial planting from actual participants.

To coincide with construction of the new visitor information center, encouragement is given to local government to erect a Thompson Trail historical marker. This tote road from East Tawas to the AuSable River led in the general direction of today's Monument Road, although it veered to the southwest at one point.

The road originally honored the name of T. F. Thompson, early day lumberman, whose farm overlooking the South Branch River in Thompson Township, now part of Plainfield Township, was a stopping point for travelers. Today, that site is contained within the boundaries of the national forest and would also be a fitting place for a historical marker.

T. F. THOMPSON A road, dedicated to his memory in 1926, has since had its name changed.

Bravettes Bounced Out of Tie by Standish - Sterling

Tawas Bravettes were knocked out of a tie for first place in the Northeastern Michigan Conference October 7 by the Standish-Sterling Panthers, 60-41.

The Bravettes held a 22-15 lead at intermission, but lost in the second half. Fouls hurt Tawas' cause as Standish-Sterling meshed 15 points at the foul lines.

The Bravettes meshed 16 of 60 shots for a 27 percent shooting average while the winners completed 20 of 52 shots for 38 percent. The Panther girls also completed 20 of 32 chances at the foul lines.

Tawas now has a record of two wins and two losses in conference play while the Panthers have won three games and lost one.

Jan Johnson was leading scorer for Tawas with 14 points, followed by Kris Papenfus and Debbie Allen, six points each; Lisa Koeneske and Lisa Bielby, three points each; Linda Nelkie, Renee Powell, Colleen Curry and Diane Nelkie, two points each; Kellie Brockebrough, one point.

Lori Marx topped Standish-Sterling scorers with 20 points, followed by Renee Pocke, who had 17.

JV Girls Defeated by Central JV

Tawas junior varsity girls basketball team was defeated October 7 by the visiting Standish-Sterling squad, 55-46.

Standish-Sterling led from the starting quarter.

The Tawas team had 34 turnovers and completed 21 of 56 shots for a shooting average of 37 percent, as compared to a 47 percent shooting average of the winners on 25 out of 53 shots.

Dawn Allen topped Tawas scorers with 18 points, followed by Ann Wood's 12 points. Patty Stephan turned in eight points, Ann Wood and Lisa Seifert each meshed four.

Leading scorer for the winners was Stacey Koin, 18 points.

Eagles Defeated by High-Flying Atlanta, 30-7

Hale Eagles were dropped from the undefeated ranks and out of a first place tie Friday night by league-leading Atlanta, 30-7.

Atlanta, which has league games left with Hillman and Posen, took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter when Todd Marlatt connected with Jerry Orm on an 85-yard aerial touchdown.

After Atlanta made it 7-0 on a kick from placement, Hale's Dan Dear scored a six-pointer on a 50-yard run and Tom Lesneski tied the game, 7-7, with his boot from placement.

That ended the cheering for Eagle fans as Marlatt threw two touchdown strikes to Alan Poag.

Atlanta's defense put Hale on the ropes twice during the night when the Eagle punter was caught in the end zone for safeties.

Hale had won two games in NSL play.

The Eagles had total offensive yards of 186 during the night and Dear scampered for 118 yards in 16 carries. Bob Schulte completed four of nine passes for 47 yards.

Top defenders for Hale were Lesneski, Dear, Larry Caverly, Jeff Dillon and Steve Campbell.

Hale plays host Friday night to Arenac Eastern.

KELLY MOFFATT broke through the Pinconning defense on this run and was brought down by the Spartan secondary after a good gain. Moffatt scored Tawas' lone touchdown against the visitors.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Braves' Defense Adequate, but Spartans Rolled to Win

Tawas Braves stayed within striking distance against the NEM Conference leaders Friday night, but the Pinconning Spartans made good use of its passing game to win easily, 17-7.

It was the third loss as against only one win for the Braves this season in conference play.

The big difference in the game was the exceptional passing ability of Spartan quarterback, Kendall Kinsey, who connected on 16 of 21 passes for 235 yards—more than the total offensive yardage piled up by the Braves during the night.

Pinconning jumped out in front with a 7-0 lead when Kinsey capped a 60-yard drive with his one yard quarterback sneak. He booted his first conversion of the night and Pinconning was off and running.

Quarterback Jay Grabow of Tawas connected with Mark Tousey on a 41-yard pass play which was good for the touchdown and Grabow knotted the score with his kick from placement.

On the next series, the Spartans took the kickoff and marched to the 20-yard line where Kinsey booted a field goal to break the tie, 10-7.

The winners' final score came on a roll out option by Kinsey, who tossed one yard to Darren Ingle for a touchdown. Tawas could do nothing on the ground against the Spartans and the Braves had 183 yards in the air.

W-P Cards Upset by S-S Panthers

Whittemore - Prescott Cardinals were upset Friday night, 24-12, by the Standish-Sterling Panthers.

Cardinal scoring came on a quarterback sneak by Bill DeBoever late in the first half and Brad Perry scored on a one yard plunge in the third quarter.

Standish - Sterling scoring came on runs by Roger Kroczaleski of 47 and 18 yards, plus Brian Zdanowski's quarterback sneak. The Panthers scored three conversions on runs.

Jim Graham led the Cardinals in rushing with 87 yards to his credit.

Jr. Braves Won Over Pinny JV

Tawas Junior Braves registered a 25-14 win Thursday night over Pinconning. Tawas piled up 230 offensive yards during the night.

Scoring for Tawas were Charles Elliott, 15-yard run; Rod Loeffler, three touchdowns on runs of five yards in the second and third quarters and a one yard plunge in the fourth. Elliott was top ground gainer with 127 yards. Tawas completed seven of nine passes for 74 yards.

Defensive standouts were Pat Kaems and Dave Klenow.

Huck Named to All-NEM Team

Jim Huck of the Tawas Braves was named to the all-Northeastern Michigan Conference golf squad at the conclusion of the season.

Gladwin, conference champion, placed three members on the team while Ogemaw Heights, second place winner, placed one member on the team.

Scores by Tawas players in the conference match included Huck, 89; Phil Petrach, 95; Keith Harris, 98; Mark Jurczyk, 100; Jim Alexander, 111. The match was held at Sugar Springs.

Bravettes Lost, 62-45, to Tigers

Tawas Bravettes lost, 62-45, Thursday to the Alcona Tigers, but the junior varsity came through with a 62-42 victory.

The Bravettes fell behind in the first quarter and took only 44 shots at the basket during the night, losing their offensive momentum. The Tigers held the advantage in every quarter and were never headed.

Colleen Curry meshed 17 points to pace Tawas, followed by Jan Johnson's 14 points. Mendy Matuzak led the winners with 19 points.

The junior varsity scored 26 points in the third quarter to put the game in the win column for Tawas. Dawn Allen had an outstanding game, scoring 28 points and getting 28 rebounds. Patty Stephan was the only other player scoring in double figures with 10 points.

Tawas Girls Won Two of Five Games

Girls basketball teams of Tawas Area High School won two of five games played last week.

The freshman team lost to Alpena, 68-24. Tracy LeClair was top scorer for Tawas with 14 points.

The eighth grade "A" team lost to Oscoda, 32-15, and lost to Standish-Sterling, 42-19. Missy Minard was top scorer against Standish-Sterling with nine points and Michelle Mousseau had five points against Oscoda.

The "B" team won both of its games, defeating Standish-Sterling, 17-15, and Whittemore-Prescott, 21-8. Lucy Sciotti and Donna Miner had six points each against the Cardinals while Lupe Birkenbach had eight points and Beth Dalbec turned in six points against Standish-Sterling.

Name West Branch Woman to FmHA Co. Committee

Mrs. Calvin (Joann) Reetz of West Branch has been named to a three-year term on the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) county committee, it was announced Monday by Philip Roberts, state director. In making the appointment, Roberts said, "The Farmers Home county committee is a vital link to local conditions. The agency counts on its judgment, experience, knowledge of people and agriculture in their communities in selecting applicants who have a reasonable chance of success."

Seek Resumes for Perchville Candidates

Resumes may be submitted for the Perchville queen contest through the month of October to June Hudgins, 1424 South US-23, Tawas City. According to Mrs. Hudgins, the contest requirements have been changed this year.

Anyone can nominate a mother, grandmother or friend by submitting a resume of her activities along with her name, address and telephone number.

The committee assists the agency in determining the eligibility of applicants for FmHA farm loans. They also act as an advisory committee on FmHA farmer program implementation. The committee is made up of three members, two of whom must be farmers deriving the principal part of their income from farming at the time of their appointment. Other members in Ogemaw, Iosco, Roscommon County Area committee are Charles (Dean) Wangler and Mrs. Norman (Doris) Miller.

Political Memorabilia at Henry Ford Museum

COINCIDING with the national presidential campaign, Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, is featuring a collection of items from past political campaigns as shown here.

For those who have thought the typical political campaign consists of buttons, banners and banter, Henry Ford Museum's special exhibit, "Politics, U. S. A.: 1789-1980," will offer a delightful surprise.

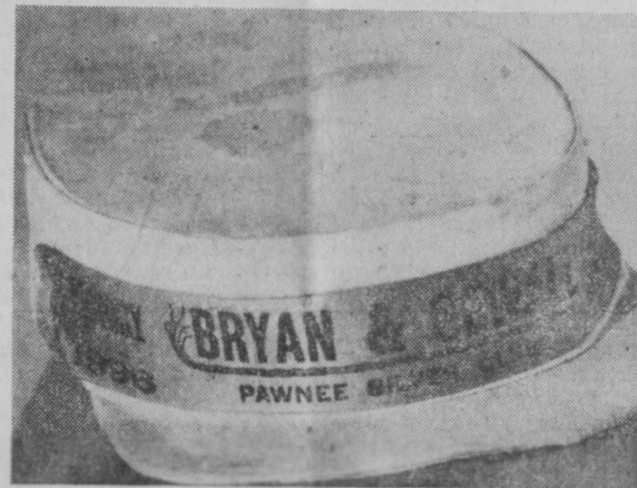

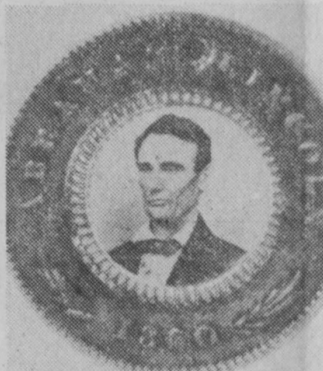

According to Walter Simmons II, curator of metals at the Dearborn museum and coordinator of the exhibit which lasts until November 9, virtually every aspect of American life was reached through campaign items and is reflected in the massive exhibit. Among the hundreds of artifacts, visitors will find a John Quincy Adams pin box from the controversial 1824 Adams-Jackson campaign. Andrew Jackson garnered more popular votes, but Adams became president.

Simmons also points to the early development of political songs, like the Fillmore Quick Step, the Psalm of Sammy Tilden and the Polk Polka—"one step forward and two steps back," the song went, "puts you in Polk's pack." Beyond the sheet music in the exhibit, there is a diverse selection of parade paraphernalia including parasols, Japanese lanterns, handkerchiefs, hats, walking sticks with candidates' profiles, as well as items for the home such as Boss Tweed banks and an Alf Landon "Land On Roosevelt" cast iron elephant.

With the museum exhibit, visitors can walk from memorabilia of George Washington to the latest President Carter material. There is even a 1980 "Students for Stassen" button.

OVER THE RIVER AND THROUGH THE WOODS TO GRANDMOTHER'S HOUSE WE GO. FOR $1.28.

It doesn't matter how many rivers, woods and miles separate a little girl from her grandmother.

Continental can bring the two of them together in an instant. With a long distance call.

And if the call is dialed direct the cost of their visit will be surprisingly low.

For example, if the little girl lives in Blythe, California and her grandmother lives in Caro, Michigan, a three-minute call will cost you no more than $1.28, excluding federal and local taxes.

And those are just our regular 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. rates.

If the call is made during one of our bargain calling periods (weekends and week nights after 5 p.m.) she can save up to 60% off our regular rates.

At Continental we're working to keep these long distance rates as low as possible.

Because we believe that nothing should come between a little girl and her grandmother.

Not rivers. Not woods. Not mountains. And especially not the cost of a phone call.

Real Estate Seminar Set by FmHA

A seminar is planned for real estate realtors, brokers and building contractors, according to Philip H. Shaw, local Farmers Home Administration supervisor.

FmHA procedures and policies regarding FmHA home loans will be discussed on Thursday, October 16, 7:00 p. m., in the Surline Elementary School cafeteria in West Branch. The cafeteria is located at the west end of the Surline School at the corner of First and State Streets.

Shaw said all realtors, brokers and building contractors who work in Ogemaw, Iosco and Roscommon Counties and would like to know more about FmHA programs are invited and should plan on attending.

For further information, contact the FmHA office at 345-5470.

Artists Schedule Regular Meeting

Tawas Bay Artists will convene for the regular monthly meeting Thursday, October 23, 7:30 p. m., in the Art Gallery. At the business meeting, the nominating committee will present its slate of officers for 1981.

A special program with Lowell Thomas, Tawas City manager guest speaker, will enlighten members on future plans for the Gateway Park and the part the Art Gallery will have in it.

Marilyn Jurczyk and Martha Steffens, cohostesses, will serve refreshments after the general meeting.

Trio Council on Aging Serves Area Older Citizens

Trio Council on Aging is a nonprofit organization which operates under guidelines regulated through the Older Americans Act. Senior citizens in the Counties of Roscommon, Ogemaw and Iosco are serviced. The central office is located in Room 163 of the Ogemaw County Building. Gayle Issette is executive director.

Many services are offered through Trio Council. Among these are:

CHORE SERVICE — The chore service program aids senior citizens who are unable to perform heavy tasks. After the senior citizen is qualified by a chore service coordinator, a worker will be available to perform such tasks as window washing, floor scrubbing and wall washing. A goal of this service is to enable seniors to live independently in their homes.

NUTRITION — There are 11 drop-in centers throughout the three-county area. Each center provides a hot, well-balanced meal. There is a suggested donation of one dollar for the meal but food stamps are accepted. A percentage of meals served at the centers are delivered to seniors who are unable to leave their homes. The main office can be called to find out the times of the meals and the locations of the centers.

OUTREACH — Outreach workers attempt to locate isolated senior citizens. They make seniors aware of Trio's programs and attempt to solve minor problems. They also act as liaisons between Trio Council and other community agencies.

TRANSPORTATION — By implementing the volunteer driver program, transportation is available to seniors who do not have any. Doctor and dentist appointments are considered eligible for this service.

IDENTIFICATION — Senior citizens 60 years of age and older are eligible to receive an I. D. card. The card is used to obtain discounts at area businesses. A schedule of the dates and times the cards are available at the centers or the cards may be obtained from the office. Every Wednesday, I. D. cards are issued at the Trio office. No appointment is necessary to obtain a card which has a fee of one dollar.

NEWSLETTER — The Trio-Gram is published monthly. It contains information about all 11 centers, articles from the staff and the monthly menu. The Trio-Gram, which requires a one dollar donation, can be mailed to a senior's home.

In addition to these services, many others are offered through Trio Council on Aging. Call the central office to obtain information. The number is 345-3010.

PUBLIC NOTICE

REGULAR MEETING—TAWAS CITY COUNCIL
September 15, 1980

Meeting called to order at 7:30 PM at City Hall by Mayor Westcott.

Present: Hayes, Keiser, Lansky, Martin, Pawloski, Upson, Westcott. Others: Manager Thomas, Supt. Look. Minutes of September 8 meeting unanimously approved by roll call vote.

First Reading of proposed Ordinance No. 205, establishing a Downtown Development Authority, accepted on motion by Keiser seconded by Pawloski; roll call vote: unanimous yes.

Public Hearing was opened, having been duly notified by mailing to owners of record on tax roll of all properties proposed to be included in the District, and by posting in 20 locations in the District. Manager read the letter explaining purpose and duties of DDA, which was sent to all owners. Carl Babcock, Chairman of Commercial Improvement Committee, briefed audience on purpose, functions and accomplishments of the CIC. The CIC unanimously recommends establishment of a DDA, and members Babcock, Brewer, and Hosbach explained the reasons for their recommendation and the benefits the City could expect.

Dr. LeClair stated his opinion that the City most needs to attract an industry which would provide year-round employment. Greg Huck asked if improving the business district would not benefit noncontributing owners of adjoining residences; Manager replied that other properties could be added to the District upon the same procedure as initial boundaries are established. Richard Powers stated he felt businesses which were to benefit from improvements should pay for them by special assessment. Herb Cholger expressed concern that the underlying purpose might be to promote civic building improvements in the District, and his information indicates that businesses adjoining civic enterprises decay; Mr. Babcock replied that such information would be considered by the DDA in making any plans for improvements. John Brugger concluded that the question is whether the City will do something or nothing, and that if the public did not feel there was room for improvement, there would probably not have been such a standing-room-only audience in attendance for the Public Hearing. Ladd McKay expressed his support for a DDA as a vehicle to benefit the community. After further discussion, questions, and answers, the Public Hearing was closed.

Further considering proposed Ordinance No. 205, Greg Huck suggested that all members of the DDA be chosen from those who have business interests in the proposed District; consensus favored that suggestion. Concerns about liability of City for projects which might not pay their own way were answered by explanation that undoubtedly the full faith and credit of the City would only be pledged for projects which would, without question, be successful; other projects would have their own land and buildings offered as security for the financing, similar to the Hospital Finance Authority which Council established and approved in July.

Council wholeheartedly commended the CIC's work, and expressed great appreciation for the presentation of facts supporting establishment of a DDA.

Letter received from Tawas Bay Artists, thanking Council for continuing support, was read.

Further discussing Fire Hall construction and City Hall renovation, and in order to convince voters of the priority and urgent need for a Fire Hall, motion by Westcott seconded by Hayes, that funding for City offices' renovation be dropped from the ballot previously proposed; carried.

Resolution offered by Pawloski, supported by Westcott, that the following proposition be submitted to the qualified electors of the City on November 4, 1980:

Fire Station Bonding Proposition
Shall the City of Tawas City, County of Iosco, Michigan, borrow the principal amount of not to exceed One Hundred Seventy-five Thousand Dollars ($175,000) and issue its general obligation unlimited tax bonds therefor, for the purpose of paying the cost of acquiring, constructing, furnishing and equipping a building for the use of the City to house a fire station, and acquiring and improving a site therefor at the intersection of 4th Avenue and Mathews Street?

Roll call vote: unanimous yes. Although Martin expressed his continued dissatisfaction with the proposed location, he acknowledged the great need. (Full text of Resolution on file in Supp. Bk., page 87.) Clerk was directed to certify ballot wording to County Clerk by September 16.

Manager announced that Corps of Engineers is encouraging rapid progress on the river-mouth development, and will not require an Environmental Impact Statement. The Executive Committee of the County Parks & Recreation Commission is also enthusiastic and continues to support their commitment of $30,000 to the project.

Final 1979-80 budget analysis for water and sewer funds was distributed for Council information.

Manager will be attending ICMA conference the week of September 29.
On recommendation of Parks & Recreation Board, motion by Hayes seconded by Lansky that Tawas Bay Artists be granted exclusive use of the City Park on August 1-2, 1981 for the annual Waterfront Art Show; carried.

Councilwoman Upson to be excused due to her plans to be out of town during October 6 meeting, on motion by Martin seconded by Westcott; carried. Motion by Westcott seconded by Upson that Council meet in closed session under provisions of Section 8(d) of Open Meetings Act; roll call vote: Yes—Lansky, Martin, Pawloski, Upson, Westcott; No—Hayes, Keiser; carried by 2/3 majority. Adjourned 9:50.

Extra strength relieves problem itching.
It's called BICOZENE and it has 20% more anesthetic than Lanacane. BICOZENE's extra strength anesthetic safely cools all kinds of problem itching virtually on contact. And BICOZENE's antibacterial action speeds healing of itchy genital or anal areas.
Look for BICOZENE Creme in the purple box at your pharmacy. Or ask for "By-Co-Zene."
Extra strength. Use only as directed. BICOZENE

Oates Named Director of Equalization

15 Years Ago—
October 20, 1965 — Henry Oates, finance chairman of the Iosco County Board of Supervisors, has been appointed county equalization director. Under state law, each county must have an equalization director by 1968. Oates is to dissolve himself from the building contracting business and is to assume full time responsibilities of his new position.

Jack Johnson, veteran rural mail carrier of Hale, retires this week after 45 years of service.

A joint hearing of Michigan senate and house conservation committees is to be held at the East Tawas Community Building to examine recent problems caused in the Tawas-Saginaw Bay area by use of gill nets for commercial perch fishing.

An offer of $20,000 by the City of East Tawas for the former site of Anderson Coach Company has been accepted. The building formerly occupied by the firm was destroyed by fire in 1964. A warehouse is still located on the property.

Action on a proposed agreement which would allow the state highway department to remove parking along US-23 at any time it was deemed necessary was tabled for further consideration by the Tawas City Council.

25 Years Ago—
October 20, 1955—Since opening its new plant here on May 27, Osmose Wood Preserving Corporation has produced close to 1,000,000 board feet of treated lumber. This plant is the only one of its type in Michigan.

Mrs. Alice Goupil was honored Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bronson of Tawas City when 20 members of her family gathered in honor of her 75th birthday.

Officers of the student council at Tawas Area High School included James Pomerantz, president; William Laidlaw, vice president; Marlene Sedgeman, secretary; Peggy White, treasurer; Paul Fisher, sergeant-at-arms.

Supervised play time for pre-school children from 3 1/2 years to kindergarten will start October 24 at the Anschuetz School, one mile west of Tawas City on M-55.

35 Years Ago—
October 20, 1945—MM2c Donald H. Matthews is back home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Wiesler of Sand Lake, after being a prisoner of war held by the Japanese for the past three years. He was aboard the USS Pope when it sunk in the Battle of Java Sea March 1, 1942.

Tires, thousands of them, are moving out of the huge plants at Akron, Ohio, to civilian users everywhere. The reconversion from military to civilian tire production was almost immediate and first line tires will flow in ever-increasing quantities to the civilian market.

The Harry Goodales, who have made their home in Wilber Township for many years, have moved to their new home in Tawas City.

While leveling the ground in front of the residence now under construction at Hale for Al Allender, a bulldozer crashed into the front wall of the house and into the basement.

An American Legion Post has been organized at Hale and the ceremony of presentation of charter and installation of officers is to be held Sunday.

TO KICK OFF the observance of National Cosmetology Week during the week of October 5, Carol Klenow, right, and Kimberly Hayes, left, of Carol's Curl Corner, East Tawas, spent Wednesday at the Iosco County Medical Care Facility giving free hair styling to patients. A curling iron was also donated to Provincial House Nursing Home. A proclamation signed by Mayor Robert Boen commended the NCV observance, which had as its theme, "Cosmetology Makes Life More Beautiful."—Tawas Herald Photo.
