Judge Miller Honored on Retirement from Bench

Judge Allan C. Miller, who retires this month after serving the 23rd Judicial Circuit for nearly 21 years, was honored at three different events last week.

Members of the 23rd Judicial Circuit Bar Association and their wives honored Judge and Mrs. Miller at a party Thursday night at the Wabun.

A ceremony was held Friday morning at the Iosco County Building when his framed portrait was added to the photographic gallery of past judges which lines the walls of the circuit courtroom.

The judge and his family were honored Friday noon at a luncheon held in the board of commissioners room and attended by county employees.

Guest speaker at Thursday night's program was Circuit Judge Harry McAra of Flint, who is president of the Michigan Judges Association. Judge Miller was secretary of the association.

Other speakers included Judge Philip Glennie of Alpena, Judge Joseph Swallow of Alpena, Judge Carl Horn of St. Ignace, Atty. Ronald Tyler was master of ceremonies for the program.

James Shotwell, president of the bar association, presented a brass desk clock to the judge. An engraved plaque stated that the gift was "in appreciation for 21 years of judicial excellence."

Besides his wife, Betty, members of the family attending included Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Miller, Clifford Miller and Elizabeth Miller.

A resolution adopted at the Thursday noon luncheon of Tawas City Business Association commended Judge Miller for his long service to the county. He retired a gavel which had been presented to him by the association in 1960, just two days after he had taken over as circuit judge.

Judge Miller has accepted a position with the United States Civil Service as an administrative law judge. He has been assigned to the Department of Housing, Education and Welfare at Macon, Georgia.

He was elected judge of the 23rd Judicial Circuit in the spring of 1959 and succeeded the late Herman Dehnke on January 1, 1960.

Hale A. Superintendent Discusses Amendments

Three tax amendment proposals to be placed before voters at the November general election are being opposed by the Michigan Association of School Boards, according to a report Monday night to Hale Area Board of Education by Supt. Peter Holley.

Holley said that one proposal, which would limit the school tax levy to 24.5 mills, would increase the state income tax by 6.6 to 8.4 percent. He said that considerable concern was being expressed over possible lessening of local board control if this amendment is adopted.

He said that the governor's proposal would shift the burden to the sales tax with a 5.5 percent increase. He said that the state association is concerned over adoption of that tax as it is undependable during an economic decline.

He said that adoption of the so-called Tisch amendment would slash property taxes with no shift and would mean a drastic cut in all programs.

Holley said that a survey conducted in California, where a similar amendment had been adopted, resulted in the state assuming 85 percent, rather than 45 percent, of school funding. The budget was cut by 800-million dollars, however, resulting in elimination of transportation in many areas, a cut in adult education by 55 percent and other services drastically cut.

He said there would be significant problems in California schools during the years ahead, "which says a lot about local control over schools."

The superintendent recommended Monday night that the board of education go on record opposing the three proposed constitutional amendments.

In other business, the board accepted a bid of Valley Roofing Company, Bay City, of $23,966 to remove and install a new roof on the six-room elementary unit.

The board authorized acceptance of $4,649 bid from Pearsall Hardware on a new mowing-snow blower tractor.

The board approved the 1979-80 audit of Weinlander, Fitzhugh, Bertuleit and Schairer and named that firm to audit school books for 1980-81. The cost would be $2,695.

Michael Snider resigned his position as drafting teacher in the high school due to the distance he traveled between home and school.

Contracts of new teachers accepted included Gary Bushman, high school business; Patricia Kosuth, librarian; Cynthia McBain, home room teacher for sixth grade; Janet Putnam, high school physical education.

Dale Purkey, high school principal, reported that school opened smoothly this term. He said that a detention area has been established for those students who disobey school rules. An area has been assigned for such students to work on teacher assigned materials. He said the hope is that the detention area would never be used.

Dennis Guiser, elementary principal, reported that a number of cases of head lice had been reported prior to the start of school and inspections are being made each Tuesday at school to prevent an increase in infestation. A few students were sent home because of infestation.

The board of education certified the tax levy for five townships, including Logan, Hill, Plainfield, Reno and Grant. The total operational tax renewed is 14.75 mills; the county allocation is 9.2056 mills, scheduled for a rollback under the Headlee Amendment; three mills of voted debt retirement.

Consideration is being given to honor the Plainfield Township Fire Department at a future football game. Members replaced lights at the football field at no cost.

Plans are being made to honor Charles Millard and Frank Levia, former board of education members, at a recognition dinner.

The superintendent reported on a five-year program to replace typewriters in use at the school.

Council to Expand Zone OK Commercial Redevelopment Dist.

Approval of establishing a commercial redevelopment district for all commercially-zoned property bounded by Wheeler Street to Mathews Street was approved Monday night by the Tawas City Council.

After lengthy discussion with property owners in other areas of the commercial district, the council decided to include the entire commercial zone along US-23 in the redevelopment district.

Action specifically encompassing the remainder of the district is to be taken at a future meeting of the council in order that legal notification may be given to property owners under terms of state law.

When the commercial redevelopment district was originally discussed some weeks ago, it was the thinking of the council that the three-block area between Mathews Street and Wheeler Street should be specifically designated in the redevelopment district.

It was felt then by the council that the above area contained a concentration of commercial structures which would fall within the state's tax abatement program to encourage removal and replacement with modern structures.

Most persons attending Monday night's hearing expressed the opinion that the entire US-23 commercial zone should be included, among whom were Dr. J. D. LeClair, Robert Rollin, Gregory Huck and Allan W. McCall.

The city manager explained that any commercial area meeting the criteria for this program could make application to be included. He said that the council had indicated it would look favorably on other applications. He pointed out, too, that regardless of being included in a designated district, each property owner would have to make application and be approved by the council.

Although stating that his property would not qualify for this program, LeClair felt that it would be good public relations for the council to include all commercial areas in the redevelopment district.

Only cleared or vacant land with new commercial construction would meet the criteria for the 50 percent tax reduction for a period of 12 years. Each application would require approval by the state tax department as well as the city council.

John N. Brugger, who is expected to be one of the first to make application under this program to include his store expansion on First Street, felt that the entire commercial zone should be included in the commercial redevelopment district.

Coun. Hugo Keiser believed that many of those attending the public hearing had misinterpreted the state act. He pointed out that special tax incentives had been given to industry under a similar program. Each required designation of a district, approval by the council and the state. He said the proposed perimeter of the district between Mathews and Wheeler Streets was designated because of a blighted condition.

Others felt that designation of the entire commercial zone as a redevelopment district would eliminate the first step for those not in the three-block area.

Thomas said that for property to meet the state criteria, it must be obsolete and declining in commercial activity. The property must have been zoned commercial for three years in order to meet the requirement.

Thomas felt that it might be inappropriate to include the entire commercial zone in the redevelopment district as all properties are not blighted nor commercially obsolete. He said, too, that it might not be within the spirit of the act to include a potential outside developer in the redevelopment zone. "It flies in the face of the statute to include the entire commercial area," commented Thomas.

Council Prepares to Submit New Building Proposals to TC Voters

Preparations are being made to submit two proposals to Tawas City voters in another try at borrowing money to finance construction of a municipal building. This program is a much-scaled-down version of two previous attempts rejected by voters.

At its regular meeting next Monday night, the city council is expected to adopt legal documents and ballot wording to place the proposals before voters at the November 4 general election. Action must be taken no later than September 16 by the council in order to meet election requirements.

Sample proposals and ballot wording were presented to the council Monday night by City Mgr. Lowell Thomas. Legal work was handled by the firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone of Detroit.

No dollar amount was available Monday night, but the city's architectural consultant is to meet this week with suppliers of prefabricated steel buildings in order to provide an estimated total next week to the council.

One proposal calls for construction of a prefabricated steel building at the corner of Mathews Street and Fourth Avenue for a new fire station. A second proposal seeks voter approval for renovating, remodeling and improving the present city hall building at 508 Lake Street.

Farmers Home Administration had set aside funds to provide low interest borrowing for the city on its two previous proposals and the last word was that this money was still available for a project here.

If financed under FmHA, the interest rate would be five percent for a period of 40 years. Should some unforeseen circumstance arise and the federal money is not available, ballot wording provides that the project would be funded through general obligation bonds.

The city manager reported Monday night that options to purchase had been obtained from the Detroit and Mackinac Railway on the vacant lot at the intersection of Mathews Street and Fourth Avenue, along with a portion of the lot owned by William Borosch adjacent to the former Campbell Grocery Store, now used by Borosch as a warehouse.

When this compromise program was first discussed, the idea had been to include a library with the fire hall, but the library was dropped from plans several weeks ago. The library is now located in a house adjacent to the city hall and owned by the city.

According to Thomas, the architect has two different ideas for placement of the fire hall on its proposed site. Both plans call for a building with 3,600 square feet of floor space. One plan calls for a square configuration with property at the rear utilized for drive-through doors. The second plan calls for an oblong building with doors across the front.

Thomas said that Fire Chief Herbert Blust favors the oblong building with a parking apron in front of the building. Trucks

Lumbermen's Monument Closed for Major Project

Lumbermen's Monument grounds in Huron National Forest have been closed to all motorized vehicles on a temporary basis. When work is completed in May 1982, this popular attraction of Northern Michigan will have been completely renovated and an important new visitor information center will be in use.

Calvin Norton, Tawas District ranger for the United States Forest Service, said Thursday that the gate to the grounds had been closed last week in order to start work on the $250,000 project.

Construction of new sidewalks is expected to be completed this fall and the base grade will be laid for a new parking lot and new picnic pads.

Norton said that contracts are to be awarded later this year for road construction work and the new visitor information center.

The new center is to have a 75-80-car parking lot, 13 picnic pads and the site is designed to accommodate 300 people.

Of major importance will be considerable savings in heat with overhead doors only on the front of the building. The city manager is to check requirements of FmHA on fire halls, as it has been indicated previously that a drive-through arched entrance would be constructed.

It was the feeling of the fire chief that there would be considerable savings in heat with overhead doors only on the front of the building. The city manager is to check requirements of FmHA on fire halls, as it has been indicated previously that a drive-through arched entrance would be constructed.

MEET AT HOSPITAL

Weekly Thursday noon luncheon of the Tawas City Business Association will be held September 11 at the cafeteria of Tawas Hospital. A tour of the facilities is to follow.

Contracts on Two Wooden Bridges to be Awarded by City in October

Plans for constructing two wooden bridges have been completed and are to be placed out for bids in October, according to a report Monday night to the Tawas City Council by John Edmands, engineering consultant.

Edmands said that the bridges are to be completed by the summer of 1981. Should a contractor start work this fall, provision is to be made for traffic to use present structures during the winter months.

Included would be a 40-foot span over Dead Creek at Sixth Avenue. The roadway would be 28 feet in width with five-foot walkways on each side. A 50-foot approach would be included.

A second bridge would be constructed over the Tawas River on Whittemore Street. This bridge would have a 64-foot span, with 28-foot roadway and two walkways five feet in width. Approaches would be constructed for 75 feet on either side of the bridge.

These two bridges are being replaced through a state critical bridge program. Estimated cost of the Sixth Avenue bridge over Dead Creek would be $154,000, with $26,320 to be furnished by the city, while the Whittemore Street bridge would cost $223,000, with local funds amounting to $29,850. The Sixth Street span's cost has increased by seven percent since originally projected. No increase was noted for the Whittemore Street bridge.

Plans were approved by the council.

City Mgr. Lowell Thomas said that additional property would be required for the Whittemore Street bridge in order to make a change in the angle of work is to be performed by the city crew and major excavation may require a contractor. The city manager said that final word is being awaited on the city's preapplication for Land, Water Conservation Funding for development at the river mouth. He said that the Michigan Department of Natural Resources had approved plans, but an environmental impact statement may be required from the United States Army Corps of Engineers. Thomas said the city would know within 10 days if such a statement is required.

On recommendation of Coun. John A. Martin, parking on Court Street is to be prohibited from First Street to Pine Street.

Coun. Florence Upson reported that an individual was interested in purchasing city property on the southwest side of Mathews Street. This site has been proposed as an alternate road to the post office and the matter was turned over to the planning commission for a recommendation.

During the citizen portion of the agenda, Robert Rollin complained about poor ditch drainage along US-23 south of the river bridge. The city manager reported that the city crew had cut cattails and weeds in the ditch this summer. Rollin said that if the city cannot maintain the ditch, he would petition the state highway department to have it done. A program to improve the drainage was dropped earlier this year by the state and city due to the high cost involved.

It was also suggested by citizens that the Townline Drain may be causing some of the problems. It was felt that the city should petition the county drain commissioner to clean the drain. This would involve Alabaster and Tawas Townships and work would be under a special assessment basis, stated the city manager.

TA School May Join Suit Over Executive Aid Cut

Tawas Area School may join the Troy School and 122 other districts in challenging the governor's recent cut in categorical aid to schools, which includes transportation and special education.

A letter from the Troy Board of Education states its legal counsel contends that the governor's action in reducing categorical aid violates the state constitution. In addition, the Headlee Amendment adopted last year guarantees that the state is to financially support its mandated programs.

The local board of education stated it would join a class action suit, but was not particularly interested in joining potential litigation if local funds would be required.

In other business, Barbara Miller was appointed the board's representative to a meeting of a county advisory tax limitation committee which is to consider extension of "pegged millage" at a special session Thursday.

Laurie DeBeau and James Blair reported on the federal-state funded Project Harmony program, under which learning disabled children are placed in regular classrooms.

The board of education is to make an inspection of school buildings prior to the meeting on September 22. The one-hour visitation, from 7:00 to 8:00 p. m., is to be made aboard one of the district's new diesel-powered school buses.

The school superintendent and Susan Rieth, board president, are to attend a tax workshop October 2 at Lansing and then are to conduct a workshop at Alpena for school officials of Isosco, Alpena, Alpena and Montmorency Counties.

THEN and NOW!

The oldest organization for girls, an old hand at helping young people grow, has grown in some new ways itself lately that benefit girls and boys — and adults, too.

THEN: Back in 1910 Charlotte and Luther Gulick founded the Camp Fire Girls and set it in its traditions of leadership, individualism and warm companionship that have helped make it unique. In those first years, its programs were aggressive and progressive. The fashionable bustle was discarded in favor of practical clothes for camping. Girls were given the opportunity to explore, to create, to develop, to have fun in ways that previously were limited to boys. Camp Fire programs helped prepare them for their futures as responsible, self-directed women.

NOW: Camp Fire, Inc., is determined to continue this tradition of helping young people, both boys and girls, develop into achieving adults who feel responsible to their country and to other human beings, who have the skills needed to function successfully and who can influence the decisions that affect their own lives. It's an organization that helps young people, starting at age four and five on up to Horizon Club members, who are older teenagers, learn the skills and enjoy the activities suitable to their age groups.

The various programs include club programs, recreation and outdoor programs dealing with the physical and emotional needs of the handicapped, employment programs for older youths, sex education, information on drug abuse and safety, special tutoring, and self awareness courses.

The organization knows growing up takes a lifetime, and for 70 years Camp Fire has been growing with young people. Join in the growing, too. Contact your local Camp Fire council or Camp Fire, Inc. headquarters at 4601 Madison Ave., Kansas City, Mo. 64112. Δ but he felt the council could take such action if it desired. Rollin felt that the commercial redevelopment zone was a good idea and he believed the area south of the river bridge should be included.

Coun. Donald Hayes believed the entire commercial area should be included. Start Early With Retirement Planning

People who are thinking about retiring at the end of the year, should start making some serious plans now, a social security representative said recently.

And those plans should include social security. There are several factors a person should consider.

First, a person under 65 considering retirement should remember that his or her social security benefit will be permanently reduced if received before 65. The amount of the reduction depends on the number of months a person gets benefits before 65.

The reduction amounts to 20 percent at 62, 13 1/3 percent at 63, and 6 2/3 percent at 64. The reduction is figured by the number of months a person is under age 65. Future cost of living benefit increases will also be reduced by the same amount.

Other factors can influence a person's decision to retire, the spokesperson said. Availability of a company pension could be a factor. So could the person's ability to continue working.

At any rate, a person should apply for social security retirement checks 2 or 3 months before he or she reaches 65 even though he or she has no retirement

questions and answers

Q. I'm buying Medicare hospital insurance because I didn't work long enough under social security to be entitled to it. I also pay the monthly premium for the medical insurance part of Medicare. Paying both premiums takes a big bite out of my limited income. Can I drop the medical insurance?

A. People who buy Medicare hospital insurance must enroll and pay the premium for medical insurance, too. You cannot cancel the medical insurance part without losing your hospital insurance protection. But, you can cancel your hospital insurance and still continue your medical insurance. For more information, call any social security office.

Whatever your time of life...

Social Security protects you.

That's why your Social Security Card is important to you. It answers the call in case the alarm rings for four basic needs. If you are disabled, it pays disability benefits. If someone you love and depend on dies, it provides survivor benefits. When you retire, Social Security benefits help you enjoy the things you worked so hard for. And when you reach 65, or you've been getting Social Security disability checks for at least two years, Medicare helps pay the hospital and medical bills.

If you have any questions about your Social Security protection, call your Social Security Office. It's listed in the phone book under Social Security Administration.

AF Academy Cadet Writes of First Experiences in Fitness Training

After an arduous month as a basic cadet, Keith McCready of Tawas City is now a cadet fourth class at the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado and has begun his academic year of study.

McCready, the son of Probate Judge and Mrs. William McCready of Tawas City, was salutatorian of the 1980 graduating class of Tawas Area High School.

Much has happened to the young man since he left Tawas City in June to enter the air force and his letters back home to his family have been most interesting to those who have been permitted to share his experiences.

Those who recall their own military experience like his father, who was a member of the army air corps during World War II, basic training or "boot camp" in the old days was a snap compared to the conditioning program given young people entering today's military academies.

"It is after taps, so I am writing with flashlight under the covers," wrote McCready on June 25. "They told us to write last night 'in our free time' to mail this morning, but, of course, I had no free time. My hair is about three-eighths of an inch long—easy to handle. Today, I just realized: 'It is almost kind of fun, so far.'"

On June 29, he wrote: "The other day, we took the obstacle course. The obstacles are not that bad, but we spent a total of about one hour jogging in place between obstacles. The worst obstacle was the tunnel—crawl on your belly in the dirt for about 40 feet, under chicken wire, with about one foot of room. You cannot breathe because of the dust. I'll be able to survive, though. If I get too hot, I will simply fall into one of the water holes. The physical training is not all that hard—already I can tell I am in better shape, though. I am getting enough to eat now—once you learn how to eat for seconds, it is okay."

Cadets are required to sign up for intramural sports and the only sport McCready had any team experience in was wrestling. On an impulse, he signed up for tennis and made the team.

"One week ago, I was sitting outside the hotel, waiting for the bus. My how it has changed—I am getting used to people with short hair. My feet are not too bad yet. I have a couple of blisters, but it has been worse at home. We spend more time taking tests than exercising and spend a lot of time double-timing to and fro—always running."

"It is not as scary as it used to be. At first, the cadre just terrorized us. Now, they do not scare me, but I still want to do and say the right things so I don't get yelled at. I get yelled at an average of seven to 10 times a day. It is still not as hard as band was for the first couple of years."

On July 16, McCready reported that his flight, the Cobras, was now "Number one" and he was picked for honors in history. "When I was home with mono, I borrowed a history book from Mr. Erickson and read it cover to cover. Please let him know—I think he will be happy."

His letter on July 21 stated that he had "made the drum and bugle corps. I am so excited about it—me, who did not even make honors band two years ago. Please tell Mr. Salamo as I think he will be happy. So, this fall I will be going to Illinois, Washington, not to mention West Point and Hawaii."

In the same letter, he instructed his parents not to send food in letters. "My new cadre check the envelopes. I just got the gum you sent, dad. Thanks. I only had to do 10 push ups per stick." He also reported that he had crossed a water hole on barrels and planks and ran another obstacle course.

On August 1, he said he had run the confidence course. "I even survived it! Like they say, I am growing more confident about my physical capabilities. I am done with the bayonet assault course, too. But the thing that was worst of all was the valley sweepstakes, which is a 4.7-mile run, up and down hills, with stops for questions along the way. My 18th birthday was about the hardest day in my life. First we ran the sweepstakes, then we marched five miles back to the cadet area, after tearing down all the tents and everything. After that, do we get to rest? No, we had an hour of drill—a day I'll long remember."

"It seems the summer full of exercise was not in vain—at yesterday's physical fitness test, I did 16 pull ups, quite an improvement over the nine in my first test."

His last day as a Cobra was on August 21, when he joined his squadron for the next two years. "Yesterday was a big day for another reason: Payday! I guess we don't get paid for June, so this was my first. I got $40—I feel so rich! Forty dollars in a checking account and no way to spend it." As an aside, he assured his parents not to worry about his health as he had gained three pounds.

On August 18, he wrote that the "academic year is starting to bear down already. There is not enough time for anything. I am averaging about five hours of sleep at night, which is probably about normal. The surprising thing is that I have not fallen asleep in class yet."

Now that he is a cadet fourth class, he is "able to receive foodstuffs in the mail—hint, hint." To an old World War II "chow hound" like his dad and others who have read Keith's letters, things really have not changed that much in the military.

St. Clair Shores Team Won Tawas Slowpitch Tourney

Two Detroit area teams battled for the championship trophy in the eighth annual Tawas Women's Invitational Slowpitch Tournament held here last week-end.

The Grand Dutchess team of Warren had an undefeated record going into the championship series and had knocked off Shores Inn of St. Clair Shores in the semifinal game.

Shores Inn, second place winner last year, came back to win two straight games late Sunday, 19-2 and 10-2, beating Grand Dutchess and receiving the trophy from Marge Marx, tournament manager. The champions won five of six games played Sunday.

Tawas' two entries in the tournament were eliminated in games Sunday. Tawas Bar lost to Marquette and Bentley, while WIOS lost to the Oakland Woofers and the Softball Bar.

There were 28 teams entered in the tournament and communities represented included Detroit, Brighton, Royal Oak, Romulus, Taylor, Durand, Flint, Grand Blanc, Pontiac, Ann Arbor, Saginaw, Waterford, Anchorville, Harper Woods, Mt. Pleasant, Redford, Livonia, Clio, AuGres, Marquette and the Tawas.

All games were played at Tom Dillon Memorial Park, the Newman Street field and the independent baseball field in Tawas City.

Tawas Lost Two Opening Games

Tawas Area Braves took it on the chin twice against Sanford-Meridian. The varsity lost the season opener, 18-13, and the Junior Braves were shut out, 13-0, at home.

Friday night's game saw good defense by both teams and Tawas took a quick lead in the opening quarter when Kelly Moffatt ran for a nine-yard touchdown.

The Braves shut out Sanford-Meridian in the first quarter, but the winners came back in the second quarter when Fillmore scored on a one-yard plunge to narrow the gap to 7-6 at intermission.

Sanford-Meridian struck quickly in the second half when Scott Walter took the opening kickoff and raced 77 yards to a touchdown.

Fillmore scored the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter on a 33-yard run.

Tawas came back with a rush when Jay Grabow hit Jon Dunn with a touchdown pass. Grabow, who was one for two during the night in kicking, had his second attempt from placement blocked by the Sanford-Meridian line.

Thursday night's junior varsity game saw Sanford-Meridian scoring twice in the first quarter and the game then settled into a defensive battle as neither team could move the ball.

Action this week finds the Braves playing host Friday night to Boyne City in another nonleague affair. The junior varsity is to scrimmage the freshman squad Thursday night.

Hale Eagles Lost to Tough Tigers

Hale Eagles opened the football season Friday night with a loss to the tough Alcona Tigers, 17-7, but the Western Iosco County team turned in a good team effort and stayed within striking distance until the last four minutes of play.

Alcona scored in the first period when Roy Emington pulled in a pass from Jim Hart. The ball was touched and tipped by four different players before it was finally snagged. The boot from placement gave Alcona a 7-0 lead at the end of the first period.

Hale's defense proved to be a good one and held the Tigers in the second period, but Terry Lewis made good on a 36-yard field goal to give Alcona a 10-0 lead at the half.

Hale finally reached the scoreboard in the third quarter when Tom Sanders snared a pass from Quarterback Bob Schulte to cap an 85-yard touchdown drive. Tom Lesneski booted the extra point from placement and Hale narrowed the gap to 10-7.

Emington scored his second touchdown of the night in the fourth quarter on a 16-yard run. The final score came on a boot from placement.

The Eagles had a respectable offensive game with 236 yards, 132 yards by rushing and 104 by passing.

Schulte completed six out of 15 passes for 69 yards and Tom Sanders completed one pass for 35 yards.

Chris Millard was Hale's top rusher with 71 yards in 12 carries. Dan Dear had 42 yards in 11 attempts.

Lesneski topped the defenders by being in on 18 tackles, while Jeff Dillon was in on 13 tackles. Dear and Steve Saylers were credited with nine tackles each while Bob Schulte and Jim Schulte each had eight.

Officials marched off 60 yards against each team and the penalties against Hale hurt its cause. Coach Vern Reed said his team looked good during the opener and should be tough on defense. Little mistakes were costly against Alcona, one of the better teams of the north country.

Action this Friday night finds the Eagles playing at Whittemore-PreScott.

Cards Beat AuGres in Grid Opener

Whittemore-PreScott Area Cardinals tripped up AuGres, 21-6, in a nonleague game played Friday night.

Jim Graham scored all three touchdowns for the Cardinals on runs of one, three and four yards. He chalked up 206 yards on 26 carries.

Bill DeBoeber passed to John Pavlik for one point after touchdown and Mark Briggs kicked the other.

The Cards held AuGres to 161 yards and the Wolverine touchdown was set up on a pass interception and a 40-yard run.

Defensive standouts for the winners were Sherman Bingle, eight solos and eight assists; Pavlik, six solos and eight assists; Dean Prescott, five solos and eight assists. Graham intercepted two passes and Pavlik recovered an AuGres fumble.

Learning Experience

SPECIAL education students at Hale Area School have received some practical experience in gardening through a program which began last May when seeds furnished by Iosco Soil Conservation District were planted outside a portable classroom unit. Last week, the students harvested squash, cucumbers, tomatoes, green beans, carrots, lettuce, green peppers, cabbage, cauliflower and potatoes and began selling the produce to school staff members and the student body. The youngsters tended the garden during the summer and are now learning how to can some of the vegetables. In the top photo from left are Jeff Short, Angela Schneider, John Jansen and Joni Hampson, special education teacher. Two of the students are shown at right with some of the produce—Tawas Herald Photos.

KIDS had their last fling at summer by swimming in the old water hole and returned to school last week for the start of the fall term. The day after Labor Day has been the traditional school opener since Michigan established the first real public school system in the country back in its early history. School really has not changed all that much for several generations of kids, although buses have replaced shoe leather in recent years. This selection of pictures out of the past should recall quite a few memories for Herald readers. Some of the pictures were snapped as late as the 1960s, while others can be traced back to the 1890s. Most of the old school buildings have been replaced and are unknown to the present generation, but to an older age group, the pictures should provide a nostalgic look at the past.

Tax Limitation Renewal Under Study of Committee

A county advisory tax limitation committee is to meet Thursday to consider a petition by the county board of commissioners to "extend and alter" the present pegged millage system which expires this year. Voters of the county approved

"pegging" the 15-mill allocation adopted five years ago for the county, schools, townships and intermediate school districts. In effect, voter action eliminated any need for the old county tax allocation board, which previously had met annually to consider the tax split.

The allocation adopted five years ago provides 9½ mills for schools, 4½ mills for the county, one mill for townships and 25 of a mill for the intermediate school district.

Under a 1979 amendment by the state legislature, the law permits altering or extending the limitation to 18 mills of taxes through a county advisory tax limitation committee. Statutory members of the committee would be the county treasurer, the finance chairman of the county board of commissioners and the intermediate school district superintendent.

The probate judge would name a member of a school board representing a K-12 school district, along with one member who would represent municipalities of the county. Municipalities are defined in the general property tax limitation act as cities and villages, not a township.

The sixth member would be a person not officially connected with or employed by any local or county unit and would be named by the county board of commissioners. At Wednesday's session, the commission named J. B. Smith of Oscoda to that post. He once served as finance chairman for the board of commissioners.

The seventh member would be a township supervisor, to be selected by the township supervisors of the county. Completing this new committee would be the eighth member, selected from one of the smallest K-12 school districts in the county, to be selected by the intermediate board of education.

According to the 1979 act, "the committee shall meet within 10 days of its selection and shall prepare separate tax limitations for the county, the townships and school districts in the county, aggregating not more than 18 mills, as a majority of the committee deems best to provide for the financial needs of the county, townships and school districts. The separate tax limitations shall be promptly transmitted to the county board of commissioners and the functions of the committee shall then cease."

The question of the separate tax limitations adopted by the committee would then be submitted to a vote of the registered electors of the county.

County Clerk D. Keith Pappas said that action on forming the committee was necessary in order to place the tax limitation proposal before the voters at the November general election.

Farm Product Market Value Shows Increase

The 1978 market value of agricultural products sold by the 237 farms in Iosco County amounted to 4.7-million dollars, or an average of $19,688 each, up from 3.1-million dollars in 1974 with an accompanying increase in production costs, according to a preliminary report of the 1978 Census of Agriculture released recently by the Bureau of Census, United States Department of Commerce.

A breakdown of the county's total agricultural sales for 1978 and that for 1974 is as follows: Crops, 1.1-million dollars compared with $680,000; livestock and livestock products, 3.6-million dollars and 2.3-million dollars; poultry and poultry products, $7,000 and $3,000.

While the value of gross sales rose, the farmers' costs also climbed since 1974. Expenditures for feed for livestock and poultry for 1978 were $576,000 compared to $384,000; costs of gasoline, diesel and other petroleum products were $251,000 compared to $182,000. Farm energy costs of all types totaled $327,000 for 1978. The estimated market value of machinery and equipment per farm increased from $17,603 to $27,884.

Of the total farms in the county, 19 had gross sales of $40,000 or more and 168 had sales of under $10,000. Farms operated by individuals or families represented 93 percent of the total. No farms were operated by corporations. Some 95 percent of the operators owned all or part of the land they operated.

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands; one nation, under God, indivisible with liberty and justice for all.

Chief Justice Said Many Nice Things About 'Al' Miller

An interesting letter was read into the record of the 23rd Judicial Circuit Friday morning. "Nobody ever accused Allan Carpenter Miller of being a blushing violet—on the bench or off—and I do not propose now to break with precedent," stated Mary S. Coleman, chief justice of the Michigan Supreme Court. Chief Justice Coleman said that Judge Miller had confided to close friends and others "that we of the supreme court have little regard for precedent. However that may be, I am truly proud to take part in this recognition of your splendid service to the people of the 23rd circuit and to those of the entire State of Michigan."

Chief Justice Coleman said that Judge Miller, probably more than any other trial judge, "has by assignment drawn the judicial 'hot potatoes' it has been feasible to entrust to your talents. If I am correctly informed, you have served as visiting judge in more than one-half of the state's 83 counties." She said that the judge, long ago, had "earned a reputation for an abundance of judicial virtue—fearlessness, independence, courage, a sure knowledge of the law, common sense in applying it, uncommon vigor and zeal, a keen understanding of human nature and that leavening sense of humor which is essential to the fair and rigorous administration of justice. In cataloguing your judicial qualities, let us not overlook your command of language. When you speak, it is uniformly easy to understand.

"I salute you and that for which you have stood in your splendid judicial career. Those who wish our system well have much cause to regret your departure," said the chief justice.

The words should be treasured by the judge and the county. Only two weeks ago, the county board of commissioners had trouble adopting a resolution commending the judge for his nearly 21 years of service. Although individual commissioners may have been upset by some of the judge's remarks aimed at them prior to the primary election, holding a grudge is "small potatoes."

But, then, it is a free country and the individuals involved may act as they wish, no matter what others may think. Like the chief justice stated in her letter, "nobody ever accused Allan Carpenter Miller of being a blushing violet"—in 1974, when he was campaigning for a seat on the supreme court, Judge Miller made a reference or two to "hogwash" that he said was being dispensed by the majority from Lansing. In the same letter, Chief Justice Coleman called the judge "a great adornment to Michigan's trial bench."

Your

Michigan Law

By Attorney General FRANK J. KELLEY

Just as a corporation has a board of directors to make important decisions for the company, the State of Michigan has a governing body called the Michigan Administrative Board which makes decisions concerning all activities of state agencies.

One of my duties as attorney general is to serve on this board along with the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer and superintendent of public instructions. The state administrative board was created by statute in 1921 with the purpose of coordinating the activities of state government. As a result, the state's highest officials have general supervisory authority over all administrative agencies.

The most important responsibility of the board is its authority over certain state funds. Funds appropriated by the legislature cannot be spent by state agencies until the money is allocated by the board. The board can also order the merging of cash from various state funds to manage the overall cash flow and attain a balanced budget for the state.

The state administrative board has many responsibilities in the area of state borrowing. It must approve the form and manner of tax anticipation notes for short term financing without any given fiscal year. Bonds for highway construction and school loans are also reviewed and approved by the board.

Compromise settlements for unpaid taxes due to the state are approved by the state administrative board. Claims against the state for injuries, disabilities and death caused in emergency and military instances are also handled by the board.

The board is responsible for the approval of state contracts including highway construction, printing, design and construction of state buildings, the sale or conveyance of certain state lands, and leases for drilling rights in oil, gas or other minerals on state-owned lands.

Citizens who want to be heard on matters falling under the jurisdiction of the state administrative board can do so by attending their regular meetings. They are presently held on the first and third Tuesdays of each month at 10:30 a. m. in the governor's office.

Dear Editor:

This letter is really addressed to all the children in this area. Would you like to send a get-well card to 10-year-old Allen Valko, who was seriously injured in an airplane accident in Iosco County two weeks ago? The plane accident also killed his father.

Let us help him get over this tragedy by showing that we care. I am hoping he will receive at least 100 cards.

He is still in a hospital in Ohio, but cards may be sent to his home address, Allen Valko, 3150 Stoney Bridge Lane, Columbus, Ohio 43220.

Thanks,
Betty Kubiac

NEWS OF ENERGY

THE ROLE OF WOOD IN OUR FUTURE

By T. Marshall Hahn Jr., President Georgia-Pacific Corporation

Only a century ago, wood supplied two-thirds of this country's total energy needs. Today most underdeveloped countries rely on wood for much of their energy. The forest products industries have always used wood as an energy source in manufacturing.

Between 1972 and 1979, the paper industry, the second largest manufacturing consumer of purchased energy, reduced its use of fossil fuel and purchased energy per ton of output by more than 20 percent.

In addition, the pulp and paper industry leads the nation in cogeneration: using heat first to generate electricity, then for production. Georgia-Pacific has performed even better than the industry average in self-generation of energy from wood residue. Georgia-Pacific also sells ethyl alcohol, a by-product of pulpmaking. It produces more than 5 million gallons a year of 190 proof alcohol and upgrades 2 million gallons to 200 proof for gasohol.

The company is concerned, however, that in a rush to replace oil and gas with any possible alternative, the government will subsidize an uneconomical use of wood as fuel. That could disrupt existing forest products industries and create shortages of building and paper products. It could easily establish a wood-fuel industry forever dependent on subsidies to keep it afloat.

Wood is a renewable resource that can play a role in supplying future energy needs, but only coal and uranium have the potential for significant expansion of energy supplies over the next several decades.

The U.S. should continue to explore many alternative energy sources, but these efforts should result from market forces instead of massive subsidy programs which provide no firm economic footing for the developing technology.

Although wood is our greatest renewable resource, it is not an unlimited resource and it cannot solve our energy problems. If we were to burn the entire annual growth of our 500 million acres of commercial forest, we could replace less than ten percent of our energy requirements each year. This would halt production of building and paper products as well as the many chemicals we now derive from wood.

What's more, wood used in construction can endow a greater energy benefit than wood burned for fuel. Wood itself is an excellent natural insulator and outperforms competing products by wide margins. It takes considerably less energy to manufacture wood building products than any of the alternatives. This reduces both energy consumption and the emission from the more energy-intensive production of the competing products.

Over time, rising energy prices and improved biomass collection and conversion technology will probably increase the value of currently uneconomical timber. However, to reach its full potential, the bio-energy industry will have to look toward expanding the forest available for biomass farming.

Over the past decade, large tracts of productive forests have been made unavailable, either by legislated wilderness areas or by procedural delays that have taken even larger regions out of production.

These trends have resulted in supply restrictions while millions of tons of timber die and rot in federal forests each year. With the roadblocks to development of the biomass industry removed, we can look forward to steady expansion in the use of wood for fuel with the prospect that in the long term, it will play a substantial role in an increasingly diversified energy mix. The forest products industry looks forward to participating in the expansion of our energy future.

Our college biology class had to grow bean plants for study. When the project was over, I decided to keep my plants. Over the next couple of weeks they kept growing and more plants sprouted all healthy and living.

However, one day I noticed they were all wilting. I finally realized the paper cup they were planted in did not allow enough room for their roots. I transplanted them to a large coffee can and they perked up almost before my eyes. Their roots had new room to grow and stretch.

How about our faith in God? When we first came to Him, we sent roots down in faith and began growing in His love. But, did we then limit our growth by limiting our container of faith, thereby limiting how much we would let God change us and do through us?

Knowing God is a growing process. In any friendship, the two friends have to grow to know each other. When it is time in our growth to move to a larger faith, to allow God to do more things, do we stay in our small faith and wither or do we grow?

PRAYER

Dear God, we thank You that You keep seeking our growth even when we prefer to stay as we are. Give us Your grace to find a deeper faith in You, knowing that You always want the best for us. Amen.

Mold - Mildew are Weather Problems

The unusually wet weather this summer is producing the perfect conditions for the growth of mold and mildew, much to the dismay of home owners and apartment dwellers. "It is important to remove mildew once it sets in, because it causes considerable damage as it grows," says Susan Lambrecht, Iosco County Cooperative Extension director. "Mildew leaves musty odors, discolors fabrics, leather and paper, and sometimes eats into fabrics so severely that they rot and fall to pieces."

Mildew looks like a thin, whitish layer on surfaces. The molds that cause mildew grow most often on cotton, linen, rayon, silk, wool, leather, wood and paper. These molds flourish wherever it is damp, warm, poorly ventilated or poorly lighted. Sun and air are the best defenses against mildew. USDA Home and Garden Bulletin No. 68, "How to Prevent and Remove Mildew," contains detailed instructions for removing mildew. The bulletin is available from the local MSU Cooperative Extension Service office, 362-3449.

Eliminating the conditions that encourage the growth of molds is the best way to prevent mildew from forming. "Warm, damp areas that are poorly lighted and ventilated offer ideal conditions for the growth of molds that cause mildew," says Mrs. Lambrecht. "Eliminating the dampness, improving ventilation and giving certain surfaces special care will help control the growth of mold. Keeping closets, dresser drawers, basements and other areas as clean and dry as possible will help prevent mold from growing. Musty odors are a sign of mold growth and should be eliminated as soon as possible. Musty odors usually disappear if the air is well heated and dried. Controlling the causes of dampness will help to prevent the growth of mold spores, which are usually present in the air. Using dehumidifiers is one effective way to minimize dampness.

Venting clothes dryers to the outside and using exhaust fans when cooking, bathing or laundering also help remove warm, moist air from the house. On days when the outside air is drier than the air in the house, open windows when using fans to increase air circulation.

Poorly ventilated closets get damp and musty during long spells of wet weather and articles stored in them are likely to mildew. Improve the ventilation by opening closet doors, hanging clothing loosely so that air can circulate and use a fan to renew the air.

Never let clothing or other fabric articles lie around damp or wet. Soiled garments should be dry when put in the hamper. Air and dry garments and shoes damp from rain or perspiration before putting them in the closet. After a shower, stretch out the wet shower curtain. It will mildew if left bunched together or stuck to the wall of the tub.

To absorb moisture from the air in closets and other enclosed areas, use certain chemicals. Silica gel, activated alumina and calcium chloride are available at some drugstores, building supply dealers, department stores and hobby shops.

Complete directions for proper use of these chemicals are listed in USDA Home and Garden bulletin No. 68, "How to Prevent and Remove Mildew." To obtain a copy of this bulletin, contact Mrs. Lambrecht, county extension director, 362-3449. This bulletin gives specific instructions on preventing mildew in all types of materials throughout your home.

Ambulance Service Deficit Balanced by Appropriation

An allocation of nearly $20,000 was made Wednesday by the Iosco County Board of Commissioners to reimburse deficits for the operation of two ambulance services within the county.

The board authorized payment of $1,800 to Oscoda Township ambulance service, plus $10,000 to be applied to its 1980 deficit. Payment of $8,103 was authorized for the ambulance operation deficit at Tawas Hospital.

David George, county finance chairman, reported that the cost of operating ambulances at Oscoda to date was $22,525. With revenues of $9,679, he said there was a net deficit of $13,846.

In answer to a question posed by Com. Carlton Merschel, George said that township books are audited at regular intervals. Chairman John Webb Jr. felt that preliminary payment should be made to the two ambulance services, subject to an adjustment after the audits are reviewed.

Merschel expressed the opinion that the commission should establish a limit of deficit the board would pay toward audited deficits of the ambulance services.

The resolution adopted by the board authorized the county to enter into contract with Oscoda Township to provide ambulance service.

In other business, the commission authorized the sheriff's department to sell two surplus patrol cars. During discussion, Com. James Stech questioned the practice of deputy sheriffs driving patrol cars to their homes. Chairman Webb reported that he had contacted the sheriff about this and was informed that such a practice was none of the board's business. The commission adopted a resolution stating that it would "work out something with the sheriff" in the matter.

The commission approved $27,773 as this county's share of the $1,108,671 budget of AuSable Valley Community Mental Health Service budget for 1980-81. Ogemaw County's share is $12,614.58 and Oscoda County's share is $4,895.51.

The commission certified a county child care budget totaling $92,356. With credits totaling $11,000, the total amount to be paid for child care amounts to $81,356.

Action was taken establishing an ad hoc committee to study ways and means of securing funds for operation of a county landfill.

Named to the committee were Lowell Thomas, Frieda Rempert, James Belson, Karl Bowsby, Susan Lambrecht, John Weible, Eilert Barnes, Robert Foster, Allan Buchanan, Raymond Jurczyk, Paul Hay, Kurt Kuhl and Marian Ulman.

Formation of such a committee had been recommended at a recent public hearing.

Proceedings of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners

AUGUST SESSION

August 6, 1980
A regular meeting of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners held at the County Building in Tawas City on August 6th, 1980, pursuant to published schedule.

Meeting called to order at 2:00 p. m. by Chairman Webb and the roll called.
Present: George (District 2), Merschel (District 3), Ulman (District 4) and Weoo (District 5).

Absent: Stech (District 1).
State Representative Tom Alley appeared at the board meeting to present to Charles Dye, an exchange student to Finland sponsored by the Rotary Club, a Michigan State flag that has flown over the state capitol building in Lansing.

Following the presentation, Alley met briefly with board members and discussed the K-12 education program, revenue sharing, the distressed cities bill, the county home rule form of government, solid waste disposal problems, duplication of services by various regional organizations, and other matters.

Helen Hertzler, of East Tawas, and Paula Peterson, of Tawas City, were presented by Chairman Webb with certificates of appreciation for their efforts in founding the Tawas Bay Waterfront Arts and Crafts Show in 1960, which has continued as an annual event.

Following a brief review by Chairman Webb of the agenda for the day and business to come before the board, committees were ordered to their respective duties, the official meeting to stand in recess until 3:30 p. m.

Upon call to order at 4:00 p. m. (Commissioner Stech having arrived and joined the meeting), Finance Chairman George presented and moved adoption of the following resolutions:

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Iosco County Board of Commissioners does hereby approve the proposed contract submitted by the Michigan Department of Transportation; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the chairman of the board of commissioners and the Iosco County clerk be authorized and directed to execute contract No. 80-0831 for and on behalf of Iosco County.

Supported by Merschel and carried.

Your finance committee recommends that we allow the county treasurer to increase the imprest cash account of the Iosco Medical Care Facility from $2,150 to $3,000 from medical care facility funds, per request of the social services board dated August 5, 1980.

Supported by Stech and carried.

Your finance committee recommends that travel expense vouchers for County Road Commissioners Henry M. Conley, A. J. Aulerich and Ralph T. White in the amounts of $45.90, $17.00, and $18.70, respectively, be approved for payment from road commission funds.

Supported by Merschel and carried.

Your finance committee recommends that, as per new cooperative reimbursement contract with the State of Michigan, we give the county-agreed-upon 7% pay increase to the friend of the court, Edward Seifert, and the support clerk, Rande Starling, retroactive to January 1, 1980.

Supported by Merschel and carried.

Your finance committee recommends that Iosco County share with Oscoda Township and the Oscoda Area School System the legal expenses associated with "Consumers Power Company vs. Charter Township of Oscoda" (Michigan Tax Tribunal Docket No. 39648); the county's share to be negotiated by the statutory finance committee and not to exceed 1/3 of the total legal expenses.

Supported by Merschel and following a period of discussion, a motion by Commissioner Ulman to table the matter for further study failed for lack of support. Following further discussion, in which County Attorney Ronald Tyler participated, it was moved by Ulman and supported by Stech that the matter be tabled until the next regular session. Motion carried on a voice vote.

Attorney Tyler thereupon submitted a proposed resolution he drafted for the board, for the preparation and adoption of an airport zoning ordinance, and discussed the matter with board members; whereupon Commissioner Stech presented the following resolution and moved its adoption, motion being supported by Merschel and carried.

The Iosco County Board of

Commissioners, acting as owner and operator of the Iosco County Airport, Iosco County, Michigan, HEREBY RESOLVES:

THAT, in accordance with Section 13 of Act 23, P. A. 1950 (extra session), an airport hazard area be defined and determined as that portion of a ten-mile radius measured from the airport reference point of the Iosco County Airport lying within the County of Iosco, State of Michigan.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the airport commission of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners be named to serve as the Iosco County Airport Zoning Board and be directed to prepare, adopt, and administer an airport zoning ordinance in accordance with Act 23, P. A. 1950, and the Michigan Aeronautics Commission policy.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Iosco County Board of Commissioners, in accordance with Section 20 of P. A. 23, Public Acts of 1950, hereby appoints and designates the Iosco County Planning Commission as the Iosco County Airport Zoning Commission for the purpose of carrying out those provisions and duties set forth in said act.

Commissioner Ulman presented and moved adoption of the following resolution, motion being supported by Stech and carried.

Your administrative committee recommends that Iosco County enter into an agreement with Ronald R. Tyler, attorney at law, per attached agreement, for his services as full-time Iosco County Prosecuting Attorney during the absence of Stephen H. Naegele; this agreement to terminate upon the return of Mr. Naegele to active duty as Iosco County prosecutor.

County Treasurer Edward Nelkie addressed the board to report that he has interviewed representatives of 12 C. P. A. firms concerning the performance of an audit of federal revenue sharing funds, which is being required by the U. S. Department of Treasury, Office of Revenue Sharing. Nelkie indicated that he will require additional part-time help in his office, as he and his bookkeeper will be required to spend considerable time assisting the C. P. A.'s.

Commissioner Ulman presented and moved adoption of the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, Michigan's economy is entering a recession due to a loss within the auto industry; and

WHEREAS, agriculture plays a vital role in the economy of Michigan, nearly 30% of the work force being employed in some segment of agriculture, and is our number two industry in Michigan; and

WHEREAS, basic research is necessary for any industry to remain viable, and funding for agriculture research and education has not kept pace with the economy; and

WHEREAS, reduced funding will result in decreased research and education, which will result in long term economic loss to Michigan agriculture and will directly affect every consumer; and

WHEREAS, the 4-H youth program is an integral part of the Cooperative Extension Service, and offers a variety of programs available for all youth; THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Iosco County Board of Commissioners request agriculture not be penalized by reduction in research and education funding by the state; and sioners better informed, the Iosco County clerk is hereby requested to include henceforth as part of his annual report, a complete list of all people receiving compensation from the county, the amount of W-2 and/or 1099 income, and the department, board or commission by whom employed.

Supported by Stech and, following a brief discussion where-in the clerk voiced his objection to the additional report, indicating it to be a duplication of information already compiled and readily available, the motion and support were withdrawn.

Your administrative committee recommends that -

WHEREAS, we, the Board of Commissioners of the County of Iosco, State of Michigan, wish to express on behalf of all our citizens, sincere appreciation of the efforts of Helen Hertzler and Paula Peterson for the founding of the Tawas Bay Waterfront Arts and Crafts Show in 1960, which has continued to enhance our culture in Northern Michigan;

ROLSY-POLSY
that Runs with the Wind

STIFF piece of cardboard is all that you need to make a "Rolsy-Polsy." Mark it like the pattern in the picture. Cut out the hexagonal hole in the center. Then cut along the other six lines and fold on the dotted lines. This will make three alternate tongues pointing to each side of the wheel. Now it is ready for a race with your playmate's Rolsy-Polsy. Start them in the direction the wind is blowing and they will run until they strike something.

SIDE SALAD ADDS VARIETY

If you're looking for variety in meals, and at the same time trying to please the family, introduce yourself to the concept of side salads. Pear Yogurt Salad, for example, is a refreshing salad that adds color, flavor and texture to the simplest meal. Give eating excitement to a plate of rolled ham slices and cheese triangles with a salad that combines apricot flavor gelatin, plain yogurt, diced fresh or canned pears and chopped celery. It turns out to be a satisfying meal with the addition of a crisp hot roll and glass of cold milk. Whether chilled in a three-cup mold or individual molds, this side salad promises to complement a variety of favorite meat entrees.

PEAR YOGURT SALAD

- 1 package (3 oz.) Jell-O apricot flavor gelatin
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 container (8 oz.) plain yogurt
- 1-1/3 cups diced fresh pears*
- 1/4 cup chopped celery

*Or use 1 can (16 oz.) sliced pears, drained and diced.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Blend in yogurt and chill until thickened. Fold in pears and celery. Pour into individual molds or a 3-cup mold. Chill until firm, about 3 hours. Unmold. Serve with crisp salad greens, if desired. Makes 2-2/3 cups or 5 servings.

in reference to recent legislation (Public Act 187) allowing boards of commissioners to adjust their mileage reimbursement rate to the same as that provided for other county personnel, suggesting that action be taken to bring their mileage into line; and further reported in reference to charges made during the recent sheriff's race that sheriff's employees are taking county vehicles home, voicing the opinion that the practice, if true, should be stopped. In discussion of the matter, Stech expressed the feeling that the matter should be checked out and "laid to rest."

The clerk reported briefly on the need for funds to meet the law library obligations, and requested authorization from the board to pay the monthly installments to the Michigan Mutual Insurance Company for workers' compensation coverage.

It was thereupon moved by George and supported by Ulman that the clerk be authorized to effect payment of the monthly installments of $6,220 to the Michigan Mutual Insurance Company. Motion carried. The business scheduled for the day having been concluded, it was moved by Merschel and supported by George to adjourn until August 20, 1980, 2:00 p. m., or subject to the call of the chair upon 24 hours notice to board members and the news media. Motion carried and meeting adjourned at 5:22 p. m.

How to Avoid an Explosion

You have just arrived home from a 2½-week vacation and turn on the hot water faucet. The hot water rushes out with a popping force. What happened? That pop is caused by a build-up of hydrogen gas. Small amounts of hydrogen gas normally build up in the home water system as water chemically reacts with the corrosive protection device inside the water heater. As the water faucets are used, this gas is safely released. But, if hot water is not used for two weeks or more—as over a vacation—gas may build up. The gas is flammable and could explode if ignited by a flame such as smoking or by a spark from electric components of dishwashers or clothes washers. Explosions rarely occur because it does take at least two weeks for the build-up, but the potential is there. So, if returning from a vacation of two weeks or more or moving into a home where hot water has not been used for at least two weeks, open all hot water faucets in the house and let them run for two minutes. Do not smoke or use any flame and do not turn on the dishwasher or clothes washer until you have done this.
