Downtown Development Authority Proposed

Council Hears Public Comments

Divergent opinions were expressed for the second week in succession at a public hearing held Monday night by the Tawas City Council concerning commercial development along US-23.

A week ago, some citizens demanded—and won their point—that all commercial properties between the two city limits along US-23 be included in a redevelopment district; some of the same citizens Monday night questioned if a proposed downtown development authority was needed.

City Mgr. Lowell Thomas announced that he was preparing a resolution to include the additional properties to be included in the redevelopment district, rather than just the area proposed originally by the city council from Mathews Street to Wheeler Street. A public hearing on the expanded redevelopment district is to be held October 20.

Following Monday night's hearing on the proposed downtown development authority, Carl Babcock suggested that councilmen should take the time to contact West Branch and officials of other communities in the state to learn more about downtown development authorities. It was suggested that a representative of Imlay City's downtown development authority might be willing to come here and explain the advantages to be gained by establishing one similar to that community's group.

Babcock serves as chairman of the city's commercial committee appointed by the council. This group meets every Wednesday noon to discuss means of improving the commercial area and serves as a welcoming group for new businesses locating here. While he believed that such a committee should continue to function, he said that it lacked authority to "do some of the things which we feel are necessary."

Members of the committee besides Babcock include Earl Davis, Benjamin Brewer, Edward Freil, Leonard Hoshach, Wayne Thompson and Gary Wood. Babcock said that several members had met with representatives of Imlay City during the mayor exchange day program here last spring, then later visited Imlay City and became convinced that establishment of a downtown development authority was what is needed here.

Such a proposal was made earlier this year to the council and Monday night's public hearing was held to get public reaction to the proposal. Letters were sent to all property owners explaining the proposal and how an authority could be established under state law.

"Purpose of the authority," stated the letter signed by the city manager, "is to assist in the prevention and correction of deterioration in business districts and to promote economic growth. Its objective is to work with business property owners and the city to improve the physical and economic conditions of the downtown district. A majority of its members must have a financial interest in the downtown district."

To achieve these objectives for the business community, with approval of the city council, the authority may do such things as:

1. Prepare development plans;
2. Plan and propose the construction or renovation of public facilities, buildings, multiple-family dwelling units which may be necessary in the economic growth of the downtown district;
3. Acquire and sell property, improve land, enter into contracts, charge and collect rents for use of any property;

4. Sell tax-exempt revenue bonds to finance improvements;
5. Levy up to two mills on property within the district to finance improvements;
6. Receive donations and grants and borrow money.

Several communities across the state have established authorities, including West Branch, Imlay City, Traverse City, Cadillac and others. As (See HEARING, page 5.)

Commissioner John Webb Answers Judge's Letter

In a public statement released this week, John Webb Jr., Fifth District commissioner, said he "owes my supporting public an answer to what normally would be considered a crank letter, even though to some, it may carry prestige from a sometimes-honored judge."

The letter, addressed to citizens of Iosco County several weeks ago, was signed by Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller. Webb claimed the letter was "timed to be printed just before the election."

Webb maintained in his statement that "this letter was meant to mislead the public as to the credibility of several commissioners, including myself. If the accusations had any substance, they may have stood the test of rebuttal and would not have to have been sneakily timed."

"I was very surprised to learn of the judge's fears or insecurity for, on the surface, our relations were at least cordial. This board of commissioners has been checking close as possible to governmental wastes and is encouraging more use of the computer to provide instantaneous data as to unusual or excessive spending. Possibly, the judge was 'shook up' when he was asked why he now allows a per diem for walking across the hall and serving in another courtroom. Our district judge claims that, in the past, he has helped substitute in the circuit court many times without requesting any extra compensation. The circuit and district court judges are state-paid employees, who both are receiving a good county supplement, already, on top of their state pay.

"The judge's encouragement of a county coordinator or administrator is a subject that has been under discussion for at least as long as I have been on the board. It has some merit and I think will eventually come about, although possibly at a greater cost to the county."

"The judge's computer comment was apparently off the cuff and not researched. Probably, he listened to an idle rumor. The fact is that the computer, which is new and under warranty, did temporarily break down due to the magnetic head colliding with the moving disc. This also happened in Kalamazoo and Arenac Counties, which had air conditioning. They, along with Iosco, also had their computers repaired free.

"The judge's law library comments were slanted, leaving out many facts which I shall relate to you. The law library is partially funded by penal fines; this year, $1,500. The balance has come from other county appropriations as needed. For the last several years, we used anti-recession money to make the supplement. Now, the federal government has stopped anti-recession money so other money must be used. When no other money was noted available, Judge Miller approached the board and volunteered to make temporary cutbacks in some book purchases. Immediately, David George, our finance chairman, presented (and our board approved) a $1,000 appropriation to the law library fund again. Just lately, when more unbudgeted money was needed, we adjusted the county budget, transferring another $1,500 into the fund.

"The jury commission budget, as mentioned, was an oversight, but was immediately funded with no argument."

"Our county board meetings are open meetings," said Webb. "We welcome all members of the public as well as all county officials to visit with us and to discuss their problems. If, at any time, someone has felt not welcome or mistreated, I am sorry and if known, I will make an extra effort to make them more comfortable."

Judge Miller retired from office this month after serving 20 years as circuit judge.

Senior Citizens Get Building Site

Action on preparing a long-term lease for development of a senior citizen center on city-owned property at East Tawas was turned over to Mayor Robert Bolen Monday night by the city council.

Site of the proposed new center is on property near the city's underground water storage facility on East Lincoln Street.

The lease with a designated local agency would make the senior citizens eligible for state or federal funding for construction of a new facility.

In other business, bids were accepted from three different firms for auditing the city's books. Weinlander, Fitzhugh, Bertuleit and Schairer of East Tawas submitted a bid of $6,540; the firm of Burnside, Lange and Taylor of Midland suggested a three-year bid of $5,500 for 1980, $6,000 for 1981 and $6,500 for 1982; a firm represented by Karl Cross submitted a bid of $6,000.

The council's finance committee was given power to act on selecting a certified public accountant to perform the audit.

As a compromise with a proposed contract with the Detroit and Mackinac Railway as a consideration for the city to plant trees along railroad right-of-way between Bay Street and US-23, the council agreed to mow the strip of land on an alternating week basis with the railroad. Tentative approval had been given the city to plant the trees, but a formal agreement submitted by the railroad provided that the city would take entire responsibility of mowing the property.

The council adopted departmental transfers to balance the budget at the end of its fiscal year.

New Dentist Locates Here

Charles E. Kudwa, DDS, has announced the opening of his general dental practice at 1113 South US-23, Tawas City, located north of Royal Motel.

A native of Detroit, he attended Cardinal Mooney Latin School, received a bachelor of art degree from Sacred Heart Seminary and bachelor of art degree from Wayne State University.

He graduated from the University of Detroit Dental School in May of this year.

He is married to the former Kathleen O'Connor, former resident of the area. They have two children, a son, Scott, seven years of age, and a daughter, Andrea, four years old.

"We are pleased to be returning to an area which we love and to become a part of the community," said Kudwa.

Drop City Hall Renovation to Boost Fire Hall Chances

On recommendation of Mayor David Westcott, Tawas City Council Monday night deleted renovation of the city hall from the bond proposal to go before voters in November and will seek approval only on construction of a new fire hall.

Westcott said he had a number of reasons for his recommendation, mainly because "we have a roof over our heads" with the present city hall and, at present, there is "no roof over the fire department."

He explained that one tanker truck in the fire department's stable of equipment is presently parked outside the city garage and department of public works equipment would have to be moved outside to provide room during the winter.

He said that the city's architectural consultant had estimated the cost of the fire hall at $160,000 and renovation of the city hall at around $65,000. "I would hate to see the people vote 'yes' on city hall renovation and vote 'no' on a new fire hall," he stated.

Coun. James Lansky was of the same opinion, stating that voters may decide to go along with the "cheaper" of the two issues, although Coun. Robert Pawloski pointed out that voters might not approve either proposal.

Coun. Donald Hayes felt that just one proposal should be placed before the voters "and they know we need a fire station."

Mayor Westcott expressed the opinion that perhaps some minor renovation could be made to the city hall at some future time, using funds available in the city's budget. Once the fire equipment is moved out of the city hall, former quarters of the fire department would be turned into a large room for meetings of the city council and other public use. The present combination council room-office would be used exclusively for offices.

Although the architect found that the 3,600-square-foot steel building could fit on the proposed site at the corner of Fourth Avenue and Mathews Street and recommended a figure of $160,000 as the total cost, City Mgr. Lowell Thomas said that $15,000 should be added to the total to cover land purchase, legal expense, soil testing, survey and minimal furnishings.

He emphasized that specifications would be prepared so as to permit dealers in prefabricated steel buildings to bid on the proposed project.

The proposed site for the fire hall is owned by the Detroit and Mackinac Railway, plus a portion of property owned by William Borosch. The former was once the location of the Hamilton Store and the latter was included in the former Campbell Grocery property.

The council unanimously approved deletion of the city hall project from the proposal and approved wording of a ballot which was to be presented Tuesday to the county clerk for his certification to place the question before voters during the general election in November.

Coun. John (Joe) Martin said he was voting "yes" on asking voters to approve the proposal "because we need a new fire barn," despite the fact that he felt the proposed site was too small.

Hopefully, said Thomas, the cost would be less than $175,000 as he believed that contractors, eager for work during the present state of the economy, would enter competitive bids.

He said that the city's architectural consultant had estimated the cost of the fire hall at $160,000 and renovation of the city hall at around $65,000. "I would hate to see the people vote 'yes' on city hall renovation and vote 'no' on a new fire hall," he stated.

Claim Hypnotist Will Catch Bullet Fired at Him

Coming to Tawas Area High School on Sunday, October 5, will be Gene Delfont, master hypnotist. The program will be held from 8:00 to 10:00 p. m.

According to advance publicity, Delfont makes a bullet catch "which is not a fake or trickery. He has a bullet wound in his right shoulder that attests to the fact." At the end of one of his acts, he has a person from the audience come to the stage and Delfont is shot with a .357 magnum at 40 feet.

Delfont is to drive blindfolded, escorted by the Iosco County Sheriff's Department, using only the sound of a police siren for direction. This is to take place Saturday, October 4, at 12 o'clock noon, leaving Tawas Area High School and arriving at the Midway Family Shopping Center.

Delfont practices clinical hypnotism between performance dates and has appeared all over the United States and Canada. The program is being presented by Timothy Dean Haskin, athletic director, and Gene Gerber, director of community education.

US-23 Widening Through Arenac Slated in Future

State Rep. Tom Alley has learned from the Michigan Department of Transportation that plans had been made to surface the full width of shoulders along US-23 in Arenac County, but the state has decided to reduce the scope of the project and surface the shoulders for three feet only on each side. Contracts for the project were awarded in July and August.

A decision on the reduction was reached when a review by field personnel indicated that there are three bridges needing to be widened from M-65 north and the road would require resurfacing within a few years.

Alley had asked why US-23 in Arenac County was not being improved in the same way as the highway through Iosco County.

The department said that the highway in Iosco County was in need of resurfacing and the shoulders were paved full width with bituminous materials. Resurfacing was needed because of the poor road surface and in order to reduce maintenance costs, increase road safety and provide a nonmotorized facility.

It was also pointed out that the pavement in Arenac County, starting from Standish north-easterly to M-65, was resurfaced in two contracts during 1974 and 1976 and was not in need of resurfacing at this time.

Some Happy That Road Salt May be Curtailed

The current recession and budget difficulties by Michigan governmental units may curtail one practice which some car owners have fought to curb for years.

Earl Rogers, engineer-director of the Michigan County Road Association, reports that salting of roads will be cut back in many counties due to dwindling funds.

County road commissions will receive 11 percent less motor fuel and license plate revenues this year, but operating costs still are rising due to inflation. As a result, counties may have to reduce winter road maintenance by decreasing salting or sanding, particularly if overtime is required.

Although salt is used to remove ice and relieve hazardous conditions on state highways during the winter, application of salt on highways speeds the rusting of vehicles.

In addition to using less salt, road clearing by snowplows is expected to be less and could result in more treacherous driving for many motorists.

Hale Motorist Hurt in Crash

James A. Jones, 23, Hale, was injured in a crash September 9 on Esmond Road. Investigating sheriff's department officers said that a car pulled in front of him as he was going around a curve. The car went out of control and struck a telephone pole. He was treated at Tawas Hospital.

(Read Job 27:1-6; Psalm 146:1-2)

One of the tasks that I have taken on in my retirement is to remove plantain peels thrown carelessly by tourists and pedestrians near railway platforms, bus depots and main market centers. I decided to work at this task after an elderly man slipped on such a peel and damaged his back and hip bone.

From that day on, it has been my routine task to remove these peels with my walking stick, thus helping to prevent accidents.

I have no official role in any specific organization now. But I have people to serve. I can rouse civic responsibility, help to prevent accidents and exhibit Christian concern for God's good earth and His people who dwell on it. Retirement does not mean that our Christian responsibility is over. There will always be something we can do to fulfill that responsibility.

PRAYER

Dear Lord of all mankind, create in us a heart to love, a will to serve and a purpose to fulfill Thy will on earth. The earth belongs to Thee and Thou hast given it to us for our own use. Make us good stewards of Thy gift. Amen.

INSTANT REFRESHMENT BLENDER DRINKS

Tropical Storm and Strawberry Yogurt Frost are blender-quick ideas which you'll want to serve often. Both are taste-tempting, healthful treats.

These blender drinks are delicious any time of the day. For example, they are nourishing ways of replacing the calories youngsters burn up with after-school activities.

Tropical Storm would also make a super breakfast for those people who "don't have time for breakfast." It's packed with protein from instant nonfat dry milk and an egg. More good nutrition and flavor come from unsweetened pineapple juice and a ripe banana. Blend the ingredients with ice cubes until frothy and frothy. A Tropical Storm blender drink with whole-grain toast breakfast meets 20% of the U.S. RDA of the eight major nutrients excluding niacin. Garnish the drink with a pineapple chunk and a sprig of mint, if desired.

Instant nonfat dry milk and yogurt provide protein power for Strawberry Yogurt Frost. Frozen strawberries turn it into a really frosty blender drink. Strawberry Yogurt Frost is a delicious alternative to "empty calorie" snacks and desserts.

While both blender drinks are appealing and cooling during the warm months, they're also good ideas to serve throughout the year. All of the ingredients, including bananas and frozen strawberries, are almost always available.

TROPICAL STORM (Makes 3 cups)

3/4 cup (6-ounce can) unsweetened pineapple juice, chilled

1 egg
1/3 cup Carnation Instant Nonfat Dry Milk
3 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 large ripe banana
12 ice cubes

Place all ingredients in blender container. Cover and process on high until smooth. If desired, garnish with pineapple chunk and sprig of mint.

STRAWBERRY YOGURT FROST (Makes 3 1/2 cups)

1 1/4 cups (10-ounce carton) frozen, sweetened, sliced strawberries
1/3 cup Carnation Instant Nonfat Dry Milk
1 cup plain yogurt
3/4 cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cut frozen block of strawberries in half. Put strawberries, nonfat dry milk, yogurt, water, and vanilla in blender container. Cover and process on high until smooth.

BANANA YOGURT FROST: Substitute 2 large ripe bananas, chilled and peeled, for sweetened sliced strawberries. Add 2 tablespoons sugar. Proceed as above.

A FRUITFUL ESCAPE TO PARADISE

Paradise. There's something about this word that conjures up irresistible thoughts of shady trees, balmy seas and persistent sunshine. Not to mention thoughts of lush, exotic fruits of paradise.

Consider first the succulent papaya. Often called the "sunshine melon from Hawaii," papayas have a Crenshaw melon-like taste, with an added pineapple twist. A papaya's skin coloring may range from green to yellow though the inside flesh is bright gold with a wealth of black seeds nestled in the cavity of the fruit. Mainland dwellers will find papayas available in most markets year 'round, and favorite ways to use the fruit have a strong Polynesian influence whether served with pork, beef or barbecued kabobs or as half shells filled with seafood.

The legendary mango has been known for centuries to be one of "the most eaten fruits in the world." The flavor is like that of a peach with a hint of pineapple, and the fruit may be either round or elongated in shape. Depending upon variety, mango skin color may be green, yellow or tinged with red and yellow, though the inside flesh is a brilliant gold with a long flat seed in the center. The islander way to eat a mango is like a banana, by scoring the skin in quarters and peeling the sections of skin away. Mainland markets will find mangos arriving in the early spring and staying through the summer.

A venture into paradise is not complete without sampling the curious kiwifruit. The brown, fuzzy exterior hides an interior of brilliant emerald green with tiny black edible seeds. New Zealand's kiwibird gave the fruit its name and both its namesake country and California provide this fruit year 'round to most markets. A tangy, tart-sweet flavor with a delicate taste of watermelon, strawberries and bananas all rolled into one distinguish the fruit.

Fortunately for all frustrated paradise vacationers, those exotic fruits are no longer confined to the tropics. According to Calavo Growers of California, a major marketer of tropical fruits in the U.S., these fruits are enjoying widespread popularity in this country with expanding supplies foreseen for the future. Bananas and pineapples, move over!

questions and answers

Q. I'm thinking about having my social security payment deposited directly into my checking account. If I do, will the bank notify me when my benefit is deposited? Or, will I have to wait until I get my monthly bank statement to find out if the bank got my benefit?

A. Financial institutions are required by law to notify direct depositors that their social security payments either have been received and deposited or have not been received. Written or oral notice must be given within 2 business days after the payment is received or after the payment was scheduled to be received but was not. The law, which was effective May 10, 1980, also requires financial institutions to provide a readily available telephone line direct depositors can call to find out if their benefits were deposited.

Q. I plan to retire at the end of the year. I was going to take a day off from work to apply for my social security benefits, but my daughter told me I could apply by phone. Is this true?

A. Social security may not be able to complete your claim by phone, but they can start it for you. Almost all social security business—from applying for benefits to reporting a lost or stolen check—can be handled by telephone. This special telephone service is called Teleservice. To find your social security Teleservice phone number, look in your local telephone directory under Social Security Administration.

Q. I recently received treatment from my doctor for a minor illness. He doesn't accept assignment of Medicare medical insurance payments, so I have to file the claim for payment. I've never done this before. How do I apply for the payment?

A. You will have to complete a Request for Medicare Payment form (also called Form 1490) and send it to the Medicare carrier that handles medical insurance claims in your area. Fill in Part I of the form and ask your doctor either to fill in Part II or to give you an itemized bill to attach to the form. If you don't have a copy of the form, you can get one at any social security office. The people there also can give you the leaflet, How to complete the Request for Medicare Payment, which provides detailed instructions on filling out the form.

NEWS OF ENERGY

OIL: THE NUMBER OF NEW WELLS MAY BREAK A RECORD

Energy experts have long predicted that if government price controls were removed from crude oil, the marketplace would provide the economic incentives needed to increase the search for energy in the United States. Decontrol has started, and that's exactly what is happening. Here, the president and chief executive officer of Phillips Petroleum discusses the effects of the initial stages of decontrol on our energy supply—and on America's future.

By Wm. C. Douce

Though complete decontrol of oil is more than a year away, the search for energy in the United States is being stepped up.

At the beginning of 1980, the oil industry was expected to spend some $33 billion for U.S. petroleum exploration and development—an 18 percent boost over the previous year. Halfway through the year, Phillips and other companies raised their exploration and production budget estimate, and the estimate for the industry is now up to $37.5 billion.

The number of drilling rigs at work in the United States for 1980 was originally projected at 11 percent over 1979. However, by the end of June, it advanced to 23 percent and some authorities now expect to break 1955's all-time record.

At the beginning of the year, oil companies expected to drill some 56,000 new wells. The estimate was raised by another five percent—and a 25-year-old record may be broken this year.

It will take several years to translate the exploration boom into actual oil production, and people are already speculating on what the outcome will be. For example, while Newsweek quoted the President: "We have reversed the decline in domestic crude oil production," a Wall Street Journal headline said, "Despite Big Oil Hunt, U.S. Crude Output is Likely to Keep Sliding."

Future U.S. oil production probably lies somewhere between the optimistic predictions and the pessimistic forecasts. Today, the nation's crude oil production is declining and we're using up our oil faster than we are finding new reserves. Roughly, Americans are using two barrels of oil for every one we find.

The debate over how decontrol will alter the course of U.S. crude oil production and reserves is not important. The important point is that with increased exploration and production we can expect U.S. crude oil production and reserves to decline at a much slower rate than would have been otherwise possible.

This is what we can realistically expect to happen as crude oil and natural gas price controls gradually disappear. This is what can be done when prices are set by the public in the marketplace, not by regulators in Washington. This is what can be done when our economic system operates freely, providing companies with the opportunity for earning a profit tomorrow on today's investments.

Hearing

part of this city's proposed program for the commercial area, last week the council adopted an ordinance establishing a commercial redevelopment district, which would provide a tax incentive for new commercial construction. Each application for tax relief would be held on an individual basis, requiring council and state tax commission approval, similar to a program adopted here for industrial districts.

During his presentation, Babcock said the area encompassing the total redevelopment district has a true cash value of approximately $4,000,000 in real and personal property. He said that one-half that amount representing the state equalized valuation would generate $8,000 per year, under a two-mill levy, to provide funds to operate and administer the downtown development authority. As an example, he said that a property owner with a $40,000 state equalized valuation would pay $80 in additional taxes annually. Babcock felt that such an investment would actually be a net saving to taxpayers within the commercial district as it would provide an incentive for redevelopment and would stimulate the community's economy.

Brewer, another member of the council-appointed commercial committee, felt that the downtown development authority would provide a vehicle which could be used to develop the commercial area without using funds paid by residential property owners. He said that most towns which are progressing are using a downtown development authority.

Hosbach, another commercial committee member, said he was impressed with his visit to Imlay City. "In order for Tawas City to progress, we have to have the DDA," he stated.

During the public comment portion of the hearing, Dr. John D. LeClair said he was opposed to increasing the tax millage in the commercial area because profits and income in the commercial area are less each year. "I don't like foolish moves that would be detrimental to the city," said LeClair and he felt that the city council should spend more time on industrial development to provide jobs.

Former mayor, Herbert Chelger, expressed the opinion that the main reason for establishing the DDA was to develop the "500" block between Mathews and Whittemore Streets and believed its main intent was to promote construction of public buildings. He was of the opinion that location of city and county buildings in the business district detracted from the commercial area and read a statement.

Brewer countered by saying that the DDA was not being proposed to benefit any particular area, but for the commercial area as a whole.

Richard Powers expressed the opinion that such an authority was not needed and that any work should be done on a special assessment basis.

Former councilman, Robert Rollin, said that he wanted property owners south of the US-23 bridge represented on the authority and wanted Babcock to read off the list of names which the committee had recommended to the mayor for possible appointment. The mayor said that individuals had not been contacted as yet, but if Rollin or anyone else had some names to suggest they would be considered for appointment for the proposed nine-member board.

Rollin also wanted the act under which downtown development authorities are established to be read at the public meeting. He claimed that provisions of the proposed ordinance to establish a DDA were in conflict with the state act. The city manager asked that the differences between the ordinance and the state act be cited, but Rollin declined to do so.

Gregory Huck expressed the opinion that members of the nine-member authority should all come from taxpayers within the commercial area, inasmuch as they would be paying for any improvements. Members of the council agreed with his opinion.

"Whether we want to do something, or whether we want to do nothing is up to the community," said John Brugger. "Any worthwhile project would stand on its own two feet."

Coun. Hugo Keiser said there is support for establishment of a DDA. He said that confidence in the proposed downtown development authority recommended by the commercial committee was needed so it could act in the best interest of the business district.

Mayor David Westcott felt that establishment of such an authority was necessary, which would also encourage industry to locate here.

The only formal action taken by the council was to hear the first reading of an ordinance to establish a downtown development authority. It is expected that further discussion will follow its proposed establishment at the second reading at a future meeting.

SATURDAY'S Penny Pinchers' Fair sponsored by Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service proved to be highly informative and interesting. Held at the East Tawas Community Building, the event was well attended by persons wishing to learn how to save money. Several local people volunteered to demonstrate crafts, including Lillian White of Whittemore, shown with the antique spinning wheel which she purchased years ago for $15; Kenneth Kernstock, left, how to smoke fish; Christine Deckett, middle right, chair caning. Demonstrations were held throughout the day (lower photo) concerning a variety of subjects—from CPR cold water drowning, to baking bread, recycling clothes, vegetarian cookery, pierced lamp shades, homemade yogurt, homemade toys and games and even home brew. Visitors had fun learning how to save money.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Cardinals Won Over Hale Eagles

After two straight losses, Hale Area Eagles will try to get things turned around Friday night when they open the North Star League season against visiting AuGres-Sims.

The Eagles fell Friday night before the Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals, 12-9, in an exciting game that was not over until the final minutes.

A key play in that game saw the Cardinals "eating the ball" in their own end zone on a safety late in the game, rather than to punt and give the Eagles a chance to go ahead.

Whittemore-Prescott's hard-running halfback, Jim Graham, put the Cardinals on the scoreboard in the first quarter with a 10-yard touchdown run. This score was set up after a snap from center sailed over the Eagle punter's head and the Cardinals took over on Hale's 10-yard line.

The attempted conversion was blocked by Steve Sayers of Hale and Whittemore-Prescott had a 6-0 lead.

The Eagles roared back with a touchdown in the second quarter when Dan Dear tied the game on a 12-yard run to cap a 93-yard drive which started from the seven-yard line. The conversion from placement gave Hale a 7-6 lead at intermission.

That lead did not last long as the Cardinals' Bill DeBouver capped a 75-yard drive for the Whittemore-Prescott team with a one yard touchdown plunge. The attempted two-point conversion failed on a pass and the Cardinals held a 12-7 lead.

In the fourth quarter, the Eagles forced the Cardinals back to the one yard line and, in a punting situation, the Cardinals chose to give up a two-point safety rather than permit Hale to take over with in scoring distance. This key play turned into a game-winner for Whittemore-Prescott as the Cardinals punted out of trouble on a free kick.

The Eagles had 161 yards rushing and Bob Schulte, quarterback, completed seven of 17 passes for 90 yards.

Top rushers for the Eagles were Dear with 86 yards in 13 carries and Tom Lesneski with 49 yards in 15 carries.

Chris Millard turned in an interception for the Eagles as did Kevin Kreiner.

Top defenders were Larry Caverly, who was in on 12 tackles; Dear and Jeff Dillon, in on 11 tackles each; Lesneski, seven tackles.

It was the second straight win for the Cardinals, who are off to their best season in recent years.

Eighth Grade Girls Split Two Decisions

Tawas Area eighth grade girls split the decisions in two games played last week with Alcona. The "A" team won its game, 23-22, while the "B" team lost, 17-15.

Top scorer for the "A" team was Colleen Phillips, who had 10 points. Missy Minard contributed nine points, while Mandy Kaiser and Sue Grack each had two points.

Tawas took the lead in the second quarter and, although Alcona came back to tie the score, Tawas remained in control.

Lupe Birkenbach had seven points to pace the "B" team. Beth Dalbec meshed five points and Lucy Scott had three points. Tawas had foul trouble during the game and finished with only four players on the floor.

Boyne City Topped Tawas; Braves Open NEM Friday

A hard-hitting Boyne City team gained partial revenge for three straight losses to Tawas Area High School in as many years by turning the tables here on the Braves Friday night with a 14-13 victory.

Although the score was close and the Braves came within a whisker of tying the score early in the fourth quarter, the visitors dominated play with a bruising offense and a hard-hitting defense which limited Tawas to only 73 yards in the first half. Included in Tawas' first half total was a 58-yard run.

Some key penalties against Boyne City helped the Braves to keep the Ramblers out of the Tawas end zone and, after an initial case of "shell shock" early in the game, Tawas turned in a good defense.

Boyne City scored a touchdown the first time it got its hands on the ball, hitting pay dirt in 12 plays after taking the opening kickoff. Included in the series were two completed passes, but the major effort by the Ramblers came on a hard-hitting ground attack which saw Quarterback John Tompkins bulling his way over for a touchdown in five minutes, 43 seconds remaining in the quarter. Halfback Kerry Krusel ran the two-point conversion to give Boyne City an 8-0 lead.

After two punts by Tawas and one by the Ramblers, Boyne City made it 14-0 with seven minutes, 39 seconds remaining in the second quarter. The Western Michigan team rolled to the four-yard line in 10 plays and Todd Newville picked up the touchdown. The attempted run for a conversion was stopped by the Tawas defense.

Each team had a pass interception before intermission and Tawas' snare by Quarterback Jay Grabow led to Tawas' first touchdown. After a 15-yard penalty against the Ramblers, Halfback Kelly Moffatt broke loose on a 58-yard run to put Tawas on the scoreboard. Grabow booted the conversion to slice the Rambler lead to 14-7.

A pass interception by Kurt Leslie shortly before the half ended another Boyne City drive.

Tawas' Area High School Marching Band entertained the large crowd of opening night football goers with an outstanding show at intermission. Tawas defense came to the front early in the third quarter to stop a Rambler drive and the Braves penetrated to the 37-yard line before punting. A Tawas pass was intercepted and Boyne City had the ball for three plays before Leslie knocked the ball out of a Boyne City halfback's hands and Grabow ran the fumble for a touchdown.

Attempting to tie the game with eight minutes, 47 seconds remaining in the fourth quarter, the Braves were still one point behind when the snap from center on the attempted conversion from placement was mishandled.

Tawas' defense held against Boyne City on two drives and the Braves tried a passing offense to get the go-ahead touchdown. The Braves tried seven passes and completed two to reach the Rambler 38 with 34 seconds to go on the clock. Boyne City took over after fourth down and that was the game.

Boyne City gained 239 yards on the ground and 17 in the air for a grand total of 256 yards. Tawas had 144 yards on the ground and 29 through aials for 173 yards.

Moffatt had 77 yards in 13 carries, Grabow had 59 yards in five carries and McDonald had eight yards in four attempts. Grabow hit for 29 yards on passes.

Defensively, Jon Dunn turned in five solo tackles and 14 assists, Mike Galavage had seven solos and seven assists, Bill Dalbec had five solos and eight assists, Leslie had six solos and five assists. Moffatt had six solo tackles and six assists and Grabow had five solos and nine assists.

The Braves open the Northeastern Michigan Conference schedule this Friday night by playing host to Gladwin.

Committee Had Brief Session

Set Iosco Tax Limitation

Thursday morning's meeting of a county advisory tax limitation committee—actually what was once known as the county tax allocation board until adoption of "pegged millage" here in 1976—took only 25 minutes to decide that it would be best to present the same split of the 15-mill tax allocation to voters at the November general election.

This was a far cry from the days prior to 1976, when representatives of various levels of government and schools spent hours arguing and then voted on shifting one-half mill of taxes or less between government and schools.

In effect, the committee's action asks voters to divide the 15-mill tax allocation according to the 1976 action of 4.5 mills for county operation, .25 of a mill for the intermediate school district, 9.25 mills for schools and one mill for townships for a period of five years.

Voters in 1976 really did not understand the question when presented at the election, which is evidenced by the fact that pegged millage won by the narrow margin of 4.846 to 4.781. A "no" vote would in no way reduce taxes as there would be a 15-mill levy according to state law, regardless of the election. The only question then, and in the upcoming general election, is that the millage would be "pegged" for another five years, thus doing away with any hassle during annual meetings of the allocation board.

Should voters reject the proposal in November, the annual meeting of the tax allocation board would be renewed for splitting the 15 mills of taxes.

About the only question debated Thursday was the time limit to be determined on es-ablishing the various tax levies. The present "pegged" millage rates are not scheduled to expire until December 1981, meaning that this same rate will be in effect until 1982. The meeting was called in advance of the expiration date in order to place the proposal before voters at a general election.

David George, representing the county board of commissioners as finance chairman, pointed out that the county's operational tax levy was second lowest among 83 counties in the state and, because of the current unstable economy of all levels of government in the state, he felt that "pegging" the millage for an actual period of seven years was too long a time.

County Treas. Edward Nelkie also felt that seven years was too long a period for setting the tax levy and believed that one year would be sufficient. He said, however, that he believed that voters would approve the split, as long as the tax rate was not increased up to 15 mills, which is permitted under state law.

The tone on discussion opposing any increase in the tax rate was set soon after election of a chairman, J. B. Smith of Oscoda, who once served as county finance chairman, was named by a unanimous voice vote to handle the meeting.

The chairman remarked that all members of the committee were aware of fiscal problems facing various levels of government and schools, which probably cannot be met through the 15-mill allocation or even through an increase. He felt that all governments and schools were operating at reasonable effectiveness and (See LIMITATION, page 6.)

WORK WAS ACCOMPLISHED last week by a contractor for Michigan Consolidated Gas Company to relocate a line along Sixth Avenue in Tawas City prior to construction of a new bridge over Dead Creek. This picture shows the crew moving the line into place for the crossing nine feet under the creek bottom. Work may start on the new bridge in November, although it could be delayed until spring as the contract calls for completion next summer.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Colorful-Controversial History of VanETTAN LAKE DAM

THIS IMPRESSIVE STRUCTURE controls the water level of VanEttan Lake near Oscoda. Its construction required several years of consideration and touched off a hot dispute before landing in circuit court.—Tawas Herald Photo.

The History of the Lake Huron Shore published in 1883 purports that Howard and VanEttan established a water-powered sawmill on VanEttan Lake at Oscoda in 1836. After having its dam washed out three times, the firm finally abandoned the enterprise without ever sawing a single board.

This is the only informational source which mentions any sort of settlement in this region as early as 1836, the year of Michigan's statehood, and the published date is suspected to be erroneous, for there would have been no local market for manufactured lumber—the entire region was still a howling wilderness with only a few trappers and fishermen scattered along the entire Lake Huron shore.

Transportation of manufactured lumber down the lake to such established population centers as Detroit would have been a costly and doubtful enterprise and, in 1836, Lower Saginaw—now Bay City—was but a small fishing station and would not have its first sawmill until 1845.

In any event, VanEttan Lake was dammed for a water mill some years before the establishment of Iosco County in 1857 and man has been constructing or maintaining water restrictive devices there ever since.

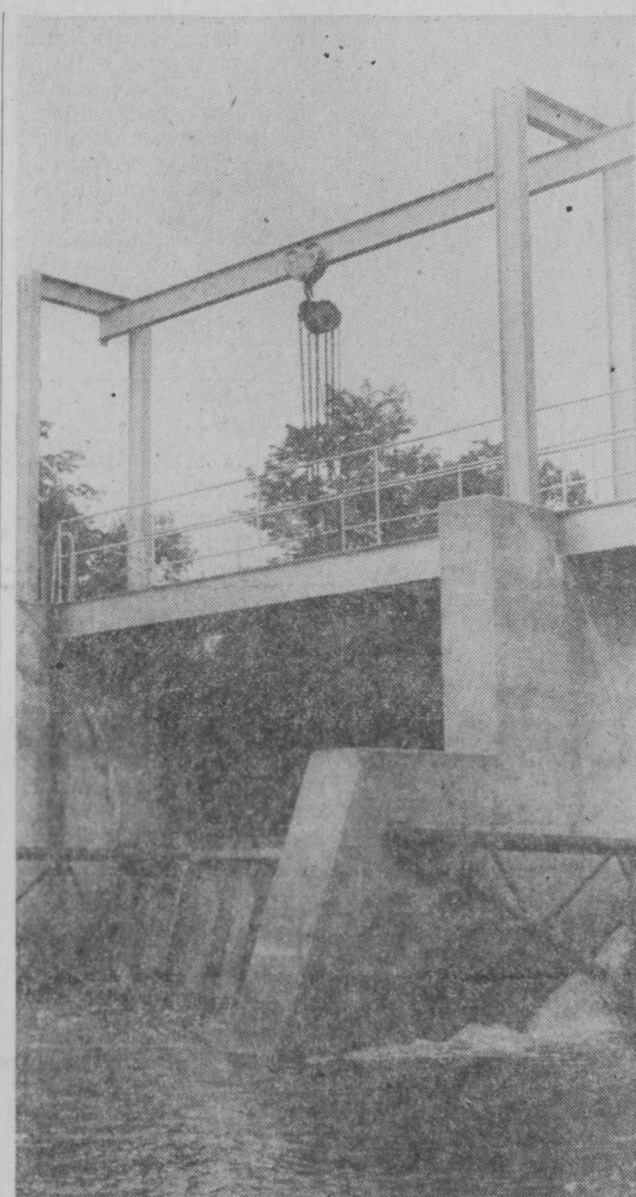

The lake served as a booming area for logs during Iosco's white pine days and a booming company owned by the Loud family controlled the running of timber down the Pine River, into the lake and eventually to the mills along the AuSable River.

In later years, dams have been constructed at the lower end of the lake so as to maintain the water level of wildlife-recreational purposes and to add value to cottages constructed along the lake shore. This has led to numerous conflicts between property owners on the lake and those below the dam, particularly when structures have washed out or were improperly designed and erosion of property along VanEttan Creek or above the dam has resulted.

A dam projected in 1946 provided one of the most controversial headaches ever encountered by the old Iosco County Board of Supervisors and the matter landed in circuit court more than one occasion. A special act of the legislature providing the legal means to construct and maintain a dam through establishment of a special assessment district was the final result and this came about through agitation originating right here in Iosco County.

In 1946, VanEttan Lake property owners petitioned the board of supervisors to construct a dam to replace one which had washed away some years earlier. Estimated cost of that structure was to be $25,000 but, before work had been completed in 1947, construction costs had more than doubled.

The board of supervisors, perhaps unwittingly, as future events were to show, had taken on construction of the VanEttan Lake dam as a "personal project."

THE MECHANISM used to open and close gates at the dam is pictured here. The keeper, paid by the township, has a job which becomes controversial at times due to varying opinions among property owners concerning the proper lake level to be maintained.—Tawas Herald Photo.

By the fall of 1947, property owners of VanEttan Lake appeared before the board of supervisors to protest a special assessment roll required to finance the project. The delegation of interested taxpayers felt that the burden of repaying the cost of construction should have been spread over the entire Township of Oscoda.

The dam was to raise the water in VanEttan Lake to a "normal and desirable water level," according to the petition submitted originally by property owners.

"VanEttan Lake dam cost $54,000 and this cost was levied against the land which was benefited by raising the water level of the lake," stated The Tawas Herald on November 7, 1947. "A number of protests were filed relative to the specific descriptions of property and assessments."

The principal cause of concern was the more than doubling of construction costs, which the Herald attributed to "increased prices of material and labor." In addition, difficulties in purchasing land for the site of the dam, court proceedings for determination of the necessity of the dam and other matters delayed its construction for a long time, or until construction costs had spiraled upward.

"The board reluctantly ordered it built last summer, contending that such construction should not be done at that time, but VanEttan Lake landowners urged its immediate construction," stated the Herald in October 1947.

On the final day of the board's November session, arrangements were completed for financing the dam. Adjustments made at that meeting included reducing the assessment of $1.50 to $1.25 per front foot on improved VanEttan Lake property, changes to certain specific assessments where "injustices" had been found in the roll and spreading the payments over a period of three years instead of one year, as originally planned.

In addition, a levy of $10,000 was made on property of Oscoda Township at large.

"In collecting the tax by a one year levy, there would have been no particular financial problem for the county, but it would have been a hardship for the taxpayers of the assessment district," stated the Herald.

The supervisors solved that problem by dipping into its courthouse building fund, established in the late 1930s, to finance construction of the dam.

"The money appropriated to the courthouse building fund each year has been invested in government bonds and the board of supervisors ordered those bonds to be sold. As the money is collected from the special assessment district, it will be replaced in the building fund," reported the Herald.

That settled the matter for about 10 years, but problems cropped up soon after the original special assessment was retired. Provisions had not been made to finance maintenance of the dam and that proved troublesome as the structure had to be entirely rebuilt.

On October 27, 1955, the Herald reported that VanEttan Lake property owners had petitioned the board of supervisors for a special $20,000 tax levy to provide funds for repairing, improving and maintaining the dam.

Because of the lack of repair, the operation of the dam caused damage by erosion to land above and below the dam. As early as 1950, suit was commenced in circuit court by some property owners seeking relief from continued damage and compensation for damages at that time. In 1955, that suit was still pending and the dam was being operated under the control of a circuit court order issued by Judge Herman Dehnke.

"Hailed by VanEttan Lake property owners as a boon to them and the township before its construction, the dam has since caused dissatisfaction to many because the water level maintained was either too high or too low for each individual interest," stated the Herald.

The 1955 petition to the board was signed by 196 landowners in the assessment district. That petition provided for $20,000 in tax anticipation notes to be paid from taxes levied on property in the special assessment district for the years 1956 through 1959.

"It was agreed in the petition that the county at large would not be chargeable with any costs relating to damages or improvements to the dam," stated the Herald.

However, at a public hearing held in November, 40 property owners appeared before the board of supervisors and protested the special assessment tax, maintaining that the county should participate in the cost of repairs and maintenance of the dam. The board of supervisors held the position that all such costs were the responsibility of the district benefited by the dam.

At a public hearing held at the county building, Atty. J. Russell Hughes of Harrisville represented an association of VanEttan Lake taxpayers and the county was represented by William R. Barber, prosecuting attorney.

A second hearing was held December 5, 1955, to hear further objections on the special assessment district.

"Since our experience with VanEttan Lake dam," stated Glenn Long, chairman of the board of supervisors, "we are wary of proposals of dams to maintain or change water levels of lakes or streams. We have had several such proposals" (See DAM DISPUTE, page 6.)

POACHING IS A CRIME AGAINST ALL OF US—This picture should bother you. Just posing for it bothered Clifford Johnson, veteran Michigan conservation officer, who was working in Roscommon County when this illegally killed deer was found. But, Johnson has seen deer in this condition before, too many times in fact. A poacher killed the animal, and true to the form of the outdoor world's worst kind of thief, stole only the choice hindquarters, leaving the rest of the carcass to waste. It is sad but true. The DNR estimates that at least as many deer are killed illegally as are taken legally by hunters each year. By law, deer belong to all of the people of Michigan. So, poachers steal from you. They steal from everybody. Think about it.

DNR's Anti-Poaching Campaign Needs Cooperation of All Citizens

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources' anti-poaching campaign needs public cooperation in its efforts to stop violations of the state's fish and game laws. Inasmuch as September 27 has been proclaimed National Hunting and Fishing Day by President Carter and Governor Milliken, there is no better time than now to start that cooperation.

To encourage public assistance, the DNR has established a toll-free, 24-hour law enforcement hotline, 1-800-292-7800, for the public to call with information on a fish or game law violation.

This may seem inconsequential to some, but poaching right here in Iosco County is a violation against all citizens. There is but one way to curb such illegal activities and that is for all citizens to become concerned and to become interested in this new DNR program and to learn what assistance is required.

But what information should the public report? Ransom Hill, coordinator of the DNR's anti-poaching campaign, says a citizen who witnesses a violation should start by attempting to answer as many of the essential questions of who, what, when, where, how, and sometimes why, as possible.

"With answers to these questions, the conservation officer may be able to develop a case against a suspect," he says. "People, acting as witnesses, are our most valuable source of information."

What should you specifically look for as you witness a violation? To begin with, you might look for a car. If you see one nearby, note the make, model, color and license number. Was there anything unusual about the vehicle that connects it with the violators—a broken taillight, for example? The license number is the most important piece of information, so write it down if you can.

Did you see the violators? Do

Water Resources Careers Should be Considered

As high school and college students plan their careers, they want to consider working with Michigan's water resources.

A series of publications, available from Michigan State University Bulletin Office, lists over 150 job opportunities related to the Great Lakes and other large bodies of water.

For those interested in hands-on employment, "Technical Marine Careers" (E-1357), explains the responsibilities expected of such occupations as derrickmen, ship carpenters, machinists and longshoremen.

The bulletin on "Scientific Marine Careers" (E-1355) describes the work of fisheries technicians, geological oceanographers, marine bacteriologists and marine ecologists.

Other occupations, including petroleum engineers, environmental lawyers, port authority managers and wetlands managers, are listed in the bulletin, "Professional Marine Careers" (E-1356).

Each bulletin explains the types of training required and experience expected for these positions, along with information about job availability. The information was compiled and collected by Steven Stewart, MSU Cooperative Extension Sea Grant agent in Mt. Clemens.

Individual copies of the bulletins are free of charge to Michigan schools, teachers, libraries and other public agencies. For others wishing to receive this information, there is a charge. Copies may be ordered by writing the MSU Bulletin Office, Post Office Box 231, East Lansing, MI 48824, or call Iosco County Cooperative Extension Service, 362-3449.

DAR Emphasizes Observance of Constitution's Anniversary

Plans for the 193rd anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States and a refresher quiz on the constitution featured a luncheon meeting of River Aux Sables Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, in the home of Roxanne Kenyon, Sage Lake, Thursday, September 11.

The observance of September 17 through 23 as Constitution Week was signed into law in 1956 and has since been annually proclaimed by the presidents of the United States and the governors of the states.

"It is a time to read or reread the constitution and give thanks for our heritage of freedom," said Mrs. Homer D. Roberts, chapter regent.

Mrs. Roberts heads a Constitution Week committee including Mrs. Frederick C. Nash, Au Gres; Mrs. Ervin J. Wilee, East Tawas; Mrs. Adolph G. Sieland, Fairview; Mrs. Perry J. Fremont, Greenbush; Mrs. Josephine Benson, Hale; Harriett Coe, Rose City; Mrs. Lyndon E. Fogelson, South Branch; Mrs. Steven Ezo, Tawas City, and Mrs. Lloyd Wiegink, West Branch. The committee will be responsible for the observance in their communities, while Mrs. Lyle W. Adams of Tawas City, Mrs. Worthy T. Boyd of Hale and Mrs. James V. Zeder of Au Gres will provide media information and liaison with the National Society DAR.

Elected public officials have signed proclamations, which will be on view throughout the week, churches and schools will recognize the event and libraries will display special materials, according to committee reports.

Assistance in reaching local conservation officers can be obtained by calling either the Iosco County Sheriff's Department in Tawas City or Michigan State Police at East Tawas.

Reporting fish and game law violators is not something to be ashamed of, just to the contrary. Reporting the activities of slobos who continue to insist on doing things their way—in direct violation of the law—is simply being a good citizen.

This newspaper agrees with the words of the DNR's anti-poaching campaign coordinator: "It is time to quit turning our heads and uttering the words, 'I don't want to get involved.' People who steal fish and game are stealing part of our natural resources and those resources belong to all of us."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor: Recently my husband and I made a final decision to relocate out of Tawas.

It then occurred to me just how many young families have made the same choice.

In the past one year and a half, I know five families (11 children and 10 adults) and single people equals three that is 24 young people already gone and three families planning to leave in this next year totaling 11 young people. So what this comes down to is 35 young people in 2½ years.

Some of the objections for living here that are commonly heard are as follows: No advancement, poor pay, over populated with the elderly.

There is nowhere a young family can go, nothing here to expand.

This town you call a city in my eyes is deteriorating right under your noses. There's a lot of stagnate ideals that need to have a face lift. Tawas is not progressive—it's an unequal opportunity town made for middle age and retirees.

I'm not sure this next percentage is accurate but I'm told 80 percent or better middle age and retirees make up the vote here. That leaves 20 percent or lower left for the young people. It's not a fair percentage.

What this adds up to is we can't change things here to make them better.

To get a fair break here, it's all in who your family is. I've seen new businesses and I've seen them close—for whatever reasons.

Tawas sure helps the elderly but, doesn't maintain the park. You can cut costs—it's your business but, what about our little people?

Not long ago we saw a colorful landmark leave our area to make its home on F-41 in Oscoda. Do you realize how many people used that dinosaur for directions?

Outside of that one unique landmark, Tawas has nothing worth describing. Our company from out of town has told us how dirty of a place this really is.

Well, you can have your town and lay on your cushions till it's too late.

Just one more thing for thought. We are one family and if we know that many who left and are in the process of moving, how many do you know?

This town reminds me of the little story called "The Emperor's New Clothes." One part in particular—it took a young person to speak up because the elders were afraid.

Thank you!
Mrs. Kathy White

LOOKING BACKWARD

Netters Won 2nd Round in Legal Fight

15 Years Ago—September 22, 1965—Commercial fishermen won the second round in their bout here Friday with the conservation department in Iosco Circuit Court and there is a possibility that the case will not need a "third round."

During Friday noon's recess on a petition brought by an Alabaster Township fisherman, a radio announcement by the conservation department's fish division chief stated he would recommend that the conservation commission remove all restrictions on the taking of perch in Michigan's Great Lakes waters. The announcement came as a surprise to the attorney general's office, which was defending against issuance of a temporary injunction against state enforcement of size limits on perch.

A resolution from the City of Tawas City asking the Iosco Board of Supervisors to guarantee the current amount of spillage from a proposed Tawas Lake dam was defeated by a 13-5 roll call.

25 Years Ago—September 22, 1955—With an optimistic eye toward completing construction of the new Tawas Area Junior and Senior High School by late August 1956, Tawas Area Board of Education adopted a brochure of preliminary construction plans as presented by H. E. Beyster and Associates and authorized that firm to proceed with detailed drawings of the new school.

Tawas Area School was admitted to membership in the Northeastern Michigan Conference. Schools comprising this league are Arenac Eastern, Pinconning, Beaverton, Gladwin, Houghton Lake, Standish, West Branch and Sterling.

Iosco Has Interesting History

Lucina Chirko, chairman of the Iosco County Historical Book Program, announced at a recent meeting of the groups that are working on the project that many interesting stories and related facts pertaining to the county have made the effort in publishing the book worthwhile.

However, due to the fact that the final deadline is Tuesday, September 30, it is necessary to advise all who are writing or plan on writing their family history that entries must be in by that date. This request is urgent as it is impossible to extend the time.

Mrs. Chirko also stated that this applies to stories on community, churches, schools, fraternal organizations, businesses, industries, government, townships, cities within Iosco County, miscellaneous items other than those listed above, tributes and memorials.

The closing date for purchasing the book is also September 30 as only one printing will be made. Do not disappoint your family or grandchildren.

KELLI CARLISLE, a senior at Tawas Area High School, is presently serving as a tutor for two hours each day for two new students who recently came to this country from China. Miss Carlisle, left, is shown above in the school library with Ling Lum, 17, center, and Amy Lum, 14 years of age. Their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Bing Lum, own a restaurant at East Tawas. Neither girl could speak English when they arrived here three months ago, but their high school tutor said they were making rapid progress. Using a dictionary with English and Chinese translations, the girls work together during the sessions learning words and Miss Carlisle said the results "have been surprising." —Tawas Herald Photo.

League Decides Against Expansion

Officials of the Northeastern Michigan Conference voted

Wednesday not to expand membership of the league to include additional schools.

The most recent application for membership came this fall from T. L. Handy High School of Bay City. An earlier application had been made last spring by Oscoda Area School.

Although the larger enrollment of Handy was taken into consideration, the main reason given by officials for not expanding the league was the matter of transportation between schools, both for teams and spectators.

Acceptance of a new member school requires a favorable vote by three-fourths of the schools presently involved. It was felt that expansion of the league would not be looked upon favorably by boards of education because of increasing transportation costs.

Enrollment of member league high schools at present is as follows: Pinconning, 1,075; Ogemaw Heights, 930; Standish-Sterling, 750; Gladwin, 725; Tawas Area, 620; Whittemore-Prescott, 440.

ONLY PART OF THE JOB—Checking licenses of anglers and hunters is only part of the Michigan conservation officer's job. Besides traditional game and fish laws, the conservation officer is responsible for enforcing regulations governing watercraft pollution, industrial waste haulers, marine safety, off-road vehicles and snowmobiles, plus a variety of other natural resources laws. Whether the conservation officer is speaking at a local school, on the scene of a pollution emergency, or in the field checking a fisherman's license, his job is an important one. Protection of our natural resources is a big responsibility. The Michigan conservation officer needs your cooperation and help.

DNR Campaign Aimed at Stopping Poaching

Michigan Department of Natural Resources has launched a major law enforcement effort aimed at stopping poaching of fish and game.

Entitled "Report All Poaching" or RAP, the three-year campaign is being financed by a 25-cent fee attached by the legislature this spring to all hunting and fishing licenses and stamps, except those sold to senior citizens and the public access stamp. The surcharge is expected to bring in $700,000 each year during the three-year campaign period.

Officials of the DNR and the Michigan United Conservation Clubs have mapped a three-part strategy, which includes formation of a special investigative section of experienced conservation officers, a reward program for reports leading to the arrest and prosecution of poachers and an intensive educational program to combat poaching. Frank Opolka, DNR Law Division chief, says the program will provide everyone an opportunity to help protect natural resources.

"We can only eliminate poaching with the public's support," he says. "Our success will depend heavily on the cooperation we get from not only hunters and anglers, but from the nonhunting and fishing public as well."

To encourage that public cooperation, the DNR has established a toll-free 24-hour law enforcement hotline, 1-800-292-7800, for the public to call when they have any information on a fish or game law violation.

Opolka says a new law enforcement section in his division is now being formed that will concentrate exclusively on poaching. That section is expected to be fully operational by October 1. It will be composed of a supervisor and two other officers, who will be stationed in Lansing, but will be available to travel state-wide to follow up on poaching complaints; and seven special investigators, two stationed in the Upper Peninsula, two in Northern Lower Michigan and three in the southern part of the state.

"These special investigators are being chosen from the ranks of our most experienced conservation officers," he says. "However, their posts will not be left vacant. Their positions will be filled by recruit officers now in training."

The RAP program will also focus on a rewards system for information that results in the arrest and prosecution of poachers.

The educational part of the RAP campaign includes radio and television spots, presentation of special programs before sportsmen's clubs and the distribution of bumper stickers, posters and patches.

Posters urging citizens to report poachers will be displayed at stores that sell hunting and fishing licenses, at DNR and highway information centers, DNR regional and district offices and state parks.

Bumper stickers bearing the RAP message will be available to the public at those locations in late October or early November.

Patches bearing the "Report All Poaching" logo will be given to successful deer hunters at DNR checkpoint stations during deer season.

"Through each of these three program areas — enforcement, rewards and public education—we hope to dramatically decrease the amount of poaching now going on in Michigan," Opolka says. "If we are successful, a new and deeper respect for our state's natural resources will result. And misuse of those resources by a minority of thoughtless and uncaring individuals will come to an end."

Bravettes Varsity Split Decisions

Tawas Bravettes varsity basketball team split the decisions in two games to open the fall season, losing to Oscoda, 54-59, and winning over Saginaw St. Stephen, 46-41.

Tawas players made many mistakes in the opener against Oscoda, but overplayed them to hold their own against an excellent Oscoda squad.

Senior Diane Nelkie took control of the scoring for Tawas with 22 points, while Rhonda Hofacer played a beautiful game for Oscoda and scored 26 points.

Others scoring in double figures for Tawas were Colleen Curry, 14 points, and Jan Johnson, 10 points. Curry led in offensive rebounds with 19 and Nelkie had 10.

Curry topped Tawas scorers against Saginaw with 14 points and Nelkie had 11 points. Curry had 10 rebounds and Debbie Allen had nine.

Coach Pat Casey said the girls still had problems "getting it together" in this nonconference game, but worked their way to a victory.

The junior varsity team won over Saginaw, 61-16, making good use of a speed and height advantage.

Dawn Allen topped all scorers with 24 points, followed by Ann Wood's 17 points. Allen led in offensive rebounds with 18, while Wood had 13 steals.

The freshman girls team lost to Pinconning, 27-25. Scoring for Tawas were Tracy LeClair, five points; Evie Sventko, Amy Dillon and Sharon Hughes, four points each.

The eighth grade girls team lost to Pinconning, 22-14. Missy Minard had eight points to lead scorers and Sue Gracik had six rebounds.

International Charm In Record Time

Japanese cuisine is fast becoming a favorite with many Americans. Witness the steady growth of splendid Japanese restaurants in both urban and suburban areas. Outstanding dishes favor a variety of vegetable combinations indigenous to Japan—particularly when featured with seafood. Sauteed Tuna, Japanese Style is a recipe which can be prepared in your kitchen in a matter of minutes—thanks to frozen Japanese style vegetables in sauce. An already-done-for-you mixture of crispy beans, onions, broccoli, red peppers and mushrooms combines with tuna to create a skillet dish with gourmet overtones.

SAUTEED TUNA, JAPANESE STYLE

1 can (7 oz.) tuna, drained and broken in chunks
1 tablespoon oil
3 tablespoons water
1 package (10 oz.) Birds Eye Japanese style vegetables with a seasoned sauce

Saute tuna chunks lightly in oil in skillet. Add water and vegetables. Bring to a full boil over medium heat, separating vegetables with a fork and stirring frequently. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 3 minutes. Serve over hot cooked rice, if desired. Makes about 3 cups or 3 servings.

Dam Dispute

tions brought to us in the past few years.

"On paper, the proposed dam may work fine, but in the stream, it is a different story. Damage suits and dissatisfaction may be the result. A water level beneficial to wildlife or to one taxpayer's purpose may destroy another taxpayer's sandy beach and turn his property into a quagmire."

The board of supervisors "stood by its guns" in the 1955 matter and county funds were never used to finance maintenance of the dam.

In later years, a proposal to construct a dam to raise the water level of Tawas Lake, along with proposed dams on other streams and lakes of the county, always hit a snag when brought to the floor of the county board of supervisors. Members recalled the nearly 10-year struggle over the VanEtan Lake dam and avoided being involved in other proposed dams.

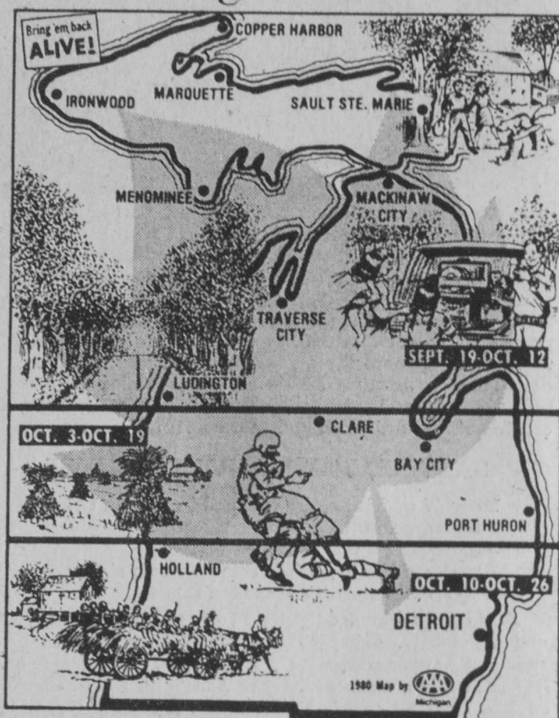

Repairs made to the dam in 1955 have withstood the rigors of time and fluctuating water conditions and, today, the water level of VanEtan Lake is constantly checked by a township employee. Gates are lowered or raised to maintain the proper level.

Although minor disputes arise occasionally as to proper level of the lake, Howard and VanEtan, who lost three dams and a mill which never sawed any lumber 144 years ago—depending if one accepts that date as the year for the first dam on VanEtan Lake—would be happy to know that everything is operating smoothly today.

Edward Tate, township clerk, said he "was keeping his fingers crossed." The special assessment tax for maintaining the dam expired with the 1959 levy.

lieved there would be no trouble in selling the renewal of "pegged millage" to voters.

Norman Olmsted, county intermediate school district superintendent, said that all schools were in trouble because of financial cuts at the state level and higher cost of operation, but he believed that "pegging" the tax levy actually amounted to sound management of funds as it eliminated the unknown factor of a changing tax levy under the old allocation board system.

Carl Babcock was of the opinion that establishing the same tax rate by the people would retain the stability of financing which has been beneficial since the original proposal went into effect in 1976.

A motion by Babcock, supported by James Dobson, was approved by a 6-2 vote of the committee. Voting "yes" were Olmsted, Dobson, Babcock, Smith, LaVerne Koepke and Mrs. Miller. Voting "no" were Nelkie and George, who said they favored a one-year period.

Olmsted, Nelkie and George are statutory members of the committee; Dobson and Babcock were appointed by the probate judge according to state law; Koepke represented townships, while Smith was appointed by the county board of commissioners and Mrs. Miller was appointed to represent boards of education.

Plants Tell You When They're Sick

How often have you spent time and money on good landscape plants only to have them die? Maybe you did not see the distress signals.

Plants do tell you when they are sick well before they die. Three publications from Michigan State University that tell how to know when a plant is in trouble, "What's Wrong With My Plant?" (E-1386), "Turf Tips For the Home Owner" (E-1401) and "How to keep Your Trees Healthy" (E-1076). All are available from the MSU Cooperative Extension Service in Iosco County or from the MSU Bulletin Office, Post Office Box 231, East Lansing, MI 48824.

Wurtsmith Newcomers Must Live in Base Housing Unit

Most Wurtsmith Air Force Base newcomers eligible for base housing will have little choice after November 5 but to live on base, according to a recent base housing policy change approved September 3 by the Strategic Air Command.

Base officials said SAC okayed a temporary mandatory housing assignment program in the latest of a year-long series of moves to fill Wurtsmith's 1,355 government quarters to a required 99 percent occupancy rate. The rate now stands at about 95 percent.

Wurtsmith officials said the plan, requested about two months ago, should eliminate a housing excess that costs the base in lost quarters allowances for every empty housing unit.

Housing office projections show an expected 60 vacancies by October, despite several administrative measures on base to reduce this comparatively high vacancy rate. Most of these vacancies are in enlisted housing categories.

The mandatory housing assignment plan was delayed until November 5 so recently-assigned enlisted members and officers can be notified of the change before they enter into off-base housing arrangements. The only exceptions permitted under the plan are to those newcomers who would experience undue hardship by living on base or to those already owning a home off base because of a previous assignment at Wurtsmith.

William Kellan, housing office manager, said the filling of vacancies following the plan's implementation should help housing residents who have completed the required 12-month occupancy period on base and now want to move off base.

Kellan said as each category of base housing reaches the 99 percent fill rate, those who entered their names on a waiting list will be allowed an off-base move. Priority will be by length of residency in base housing, he said.

This excludes housing for senior staff and other key base personnel, the manager said, since these members are required to live on base.

The mandatory housing assignment program followed several administrative moves by the housing office to reduce the Wurtsmith housing vacancy rate, said Kellan.

Base officials added that once the base reaches the required occupancy rate and is able to maintain that rate, the mandatory housing policy will be terminated.

Kellan explained those in pay grades E-1 through E-3 with families have been permitted on-base residency, although these grades are ordinarily required to live off base. The manager said there are 206 such families now in base housing.

Another administrative step was the indefinite freezing of approval for off-base moves of those who completed the 12-month on base occupancy requirement. Other steps included permission for spouses and families of overseas assignees, civilians working at Wurtsmith and members of other services to live on base.

Wurtsmith is one of only a handful of air force bases now applying the mandatory housing plan to newcomers, Kellan added.

CONTINENTAL PRESENTS THE $1.18 BIRTHDAY PRESENT.

Oh, you could spend a lot more on a present.

But to this little girl, just hearing her grandfather say, "Happy Birthday" was the best gift of all.

The cost of a long distance call is surprisingly low.

Let's say this little girl lives in Marianna, Florida and her grandfather lives in Sycamore, Illinois. A three-minute call will cost no more than $1.18, excluding federal and local taxes.

And those are Continental's regular 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. rates.

If the call is made during one of our bargain calling periods (weekends and week nights after 5 p.m.) you can save up to 60% off our regular rates.

At Continental, we're working to keep those long distance rates as low as possible.

Because we don't think the cost of a phone call should ever keep this little girl from hearing her grandfather say, "Happy Birthday."
