Crowd Was Smaller, but Perchville Still a Success

Despite rather unfavorable weather conditions over the week-end, the 31st annual Perchville USA Festival was termed an outstanding success by its sponsor, Tawas Area Promotions.

Crowds attending events on Saturday and Sunday were held down due to the cold weather and drifting snow, but Sunday's attendance was not far off the pace of other years.

The area set aside for Sunday afternoon's demolition derby was lined by several thousand spectators, who watched Richard Spencer of Whittemore win the $250 cash prize and first place trophy.

Ronald Thompson and Richard Warner were tied for second place, each winning $100 in cash and trophies. Fourth place went to Richard Valent, worth $50 in cash and trophy, while Ronald Williamson of East Tawas won fifth place prize money of $25.

The "swimming pool" cut into the ice at the Michigan Waterways Dock provided much hilarity both Saturday and Sunday as members of the Tawas Bay Polar Bear Club—numbering 20 or more each day—defied the below freezing temperatures by diving into the water.

Antics of the Polar Bears were filmed for a television program and the hit of Sunday afternoon's program was Lone Sabin, who represented Tawas Bay Artists on the queen's court. She joined the Polar Bears for an afternoon dip on both days.

Grand prize winner of the ice and snow sculpture contest as judged by Tawas Bay Artists during Perchville USA week-end was the large perch at North Star Motel, entitled, "Biggest Catch."

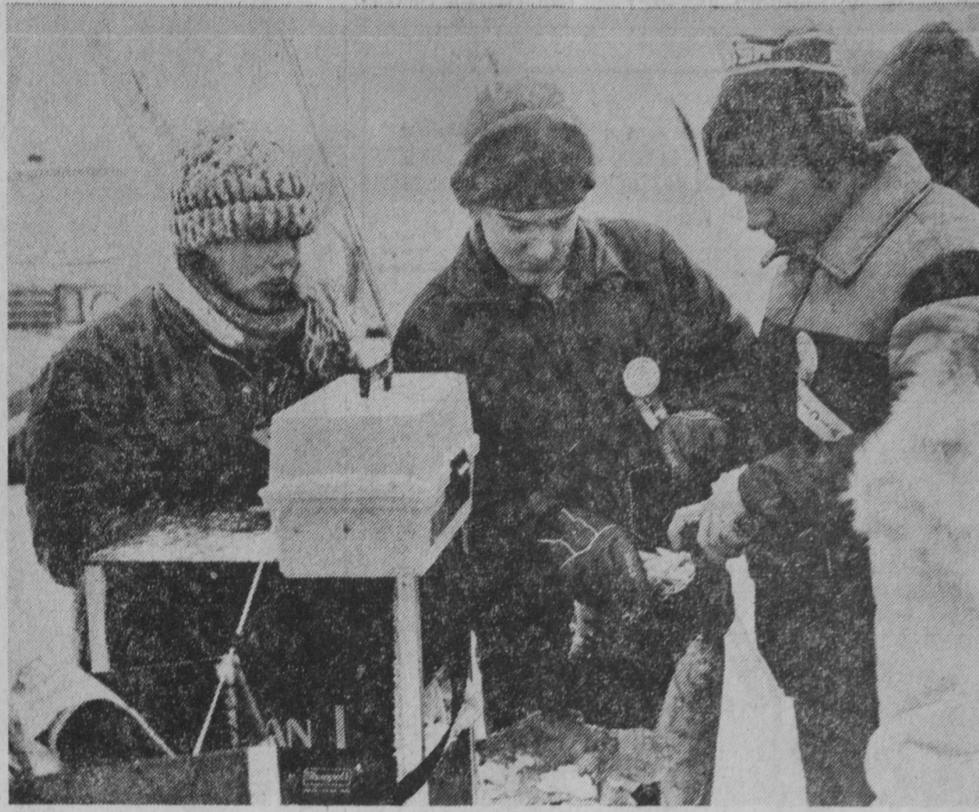

Dennis Bergeron won first place in the adult division with a sand castle at Acapulco Motel; Genie's Restaurant, first in family division, "Genie and Lamp." First in grade seven-12 competition went to Thomas Hughes and Tony Calabrese, 251 Meadow Road, "B. C. Comic Strip" and second place to the youth group at East Tawas Assembly of God Church, "He is Risen." "Lion" by sixth grade and under at Tawas City Elementary School won the first place in that division. Tawas Bay Artists sponsored the contest and displayed a bald eagle which did not enter the competition.

Frank Meyer of East Tawas was grand prize winner at Perchville over the week-end with the largest perch. Largest catch of perch was made by Terry Sergeant of East Tawas, largest pike by Timothy Stonehouse of Tawas City and largest trout by Thomas Wallace. No entry was made for the largest catch of pike.

Prize winners from the button drawing were John Katterman of Tawas City, freezer and meat; John Neihoff of Detroit, cross-country skis, and Robert Hackborn of Tawas City, $75 gift certificate.

Rotary fish shanty prizes went to Reginald Look of East Tawas and Michael Slanck of Linwood.

Parents Protest Cutting Spring Sports

TA School Still in Deficit

Parents of students participating in spring sports suggested alternatives to a recommended cut in extracurricular activities to balance Tawas Area School's budget, but members of Tawas Area Board of Education said Monday night that final action would not be taken until February 23.

This school district, like others in the state, has its back against the wall due to a reduction in money received from the state. In Tawas Area's case, the total deficit is $151,596.

Administrators and board members have studied the district's financial problem for a number of weeks and, on January 12, decided to make cursory cuts, but still carry a full academic program during the 1980-81 school year. At the same time, it was decided to reduce some programs not essential to full academic offering.

Although seven different areas were cut, only $49,615 was actually reduced from 1980-81 spending. Using $38,156 in its fund equity and $27,800 from debt retirement, the administration reduced the deficit by $115,570—still $36,026 short of eliminating the deficit.

The principal problem with the above action is that the $38,156 from equity and $27,800 from debt retirement are one-time transfers for this year only—funding for the next term will be even more serious as the state is expected to issue further cuts in funds.

As a result, the board of education and administrators must now review its 1981-82 budget to trim out what fat it can find in an extremely lean budget and then ask district taxpayers to approve a millage increase at the annual school election in June.

Because it is an "out of formula district"—Tawas Area has a high valuation, behind each child—the school has not received state membership aid since 1973. Its categorical aid, mainly for transportation, amounted to $212,000 last term and, following a $25,000 cut in August, receives $85,000 this year. In 1981-82, categorical aid will be reduced to $17,000 or $22,000.

Faced with the almost impossible task of balancing a budget after a $141,596 cut in state funds in December—$67,259 in categorical aid and $74,337 in "categorical recapture for out of formula districts"—coupled with another $10,000 cut in January for nonreimbursement of speech therapy, school officials have been scrambling to find an answer.

Believing that present academic offerings should remain at least for the current year, school officials made the following cuts:

Eliminate spring sports and extracurricular activities (forensics and band travel), a saving of $12,530; figure a saving in gas consumption, $15,000; cut all custodians five hours a week, $3,902; cut all secretaries five hours a week, $2,752; cut time in food service program, $2,130; reassign detention supervision, $800; cut K-12 budget in operations and maintenance, fiscal services, administration expense (cut board salaries), cut special education, elementary and high school expenses for a saving of $13,500.

Because of the $36,026 deficit still remaining after the cuts and further reduction expected in state funds, the school will have a cash flow problem in May.

The 21 parents in attendance at Monday night's meeting were definitely not happy about the cuts in extracurricular activities, particularly in sports.

All speakers emphasized the importance of sports to youngsters and two, Kenneth Conn and Thomas LeClair, believed that the board of education should take a look at reduction of staff due to the gradual reduction in numbers of students attending school.

Coach Richard Look said that head coaches of spring sports had agreed to defer payment of salaries until some future time, amounting to $7,000.

Other speakers among the group of parents in attendance felt that the spring sports program could be salvaged at least for this year by seeking contributions of gifts, possibly through the Braves Boosters organization.

Some legal implications may be involved in accepting such gifts and it was pointed out that board policy presently forbids the earmarking of any gifts for a specific program. Parents in attendance felt that the board policy could be revised.

Gary Wood said that it was tough to see cuts being made in extracurricular activities—sports, forensics and band—particularly when "there are not enough such activities in the present curriculum."

Some parents expressed the opinion that once extracurricular

PARTICIPANTS in Friday's legislative tour are shown here lined up with their snowmobiles at Tawas Golf and Country Club at the end of the 73-mile trip through the for-

Hale-Tawas Area Go All Out to Host Legislators on Snowmobile Safari

State Rep. Tom Alley of West Branch called Friday's legislative tour from West Branch to the Tawas a great success.

"We were particularly impressed by the hospitality shown by folks from the Hale area," said Alley. When the nine-snowmobile caravan reached that point, participants were entertained at Wicker Hills Golf and Country Club.

"We had an excellent meal and were greeted there by Ray Kesler, Plainfield Township supervisor. The Hale Snow-drifters really went out of their way to welcome us," stated Alley.

The 73-mile trip started Friday morning from the Frank Alley Park at Clear Lake, north of West Branch. The lake is named in honor of Representative Alley's late father.

Coordinating the trip was Stanley Lievense of the Michigan Travel Bureau, who was accompanied by Gil Clark, the travel bureau's chief photographer.

Besides Alley, legislators making the trip were Ernest Nash of Dimondale, a former Whitney Township resident, and Louis Dodak of Saginaw, chairman of the house agricultural committee and a member of the conservation committee. Joining the group in Tawas at the end of the trip was State Sen. Mitch Irwin.

Breakfast was served at the West Branch Country Club by the West Branch Chamber of Commerce and stops were made along the way at the Timber Steak House at South Branch, Wicker Hills Golf and Country Club and Whispering Pines.

Among area residents making the trip were Archie Gay of Whittemore and David Hufstetler, president of Ogemaw Hills Golf and Country Club.

Good News for a Change at Hale School Meeting

After several months of worrying over finances, Hale Area Board of Education, administrators and parents in attendance at Monday night's monthly board meeting heard some good news for a change.

That good news came in the form of reports from elementary and secondary principals.

Dennis Guiser, elementary principal, gave a report on elementary school youngsters for the past decade which indicates students have made significant educational growth based on achievement tests.

In 1971, elementary students of the district were below national norms, but due to improvements made in the system, testing has revealed that students have surpassed national norms since 1978 and have continued at the higher level.

Dale Purkey, secondary principal, explained results of his survey of the junior and senior high school and the school will scrap modular scheduling entirely next year.

Classes have returned to a seven-hour day and all students are in class for 50-minute periods. Due to a reduction of 74 children during the next four years, a reduction of one staff member is projected.

Another delightful announcement came from Dearborn Public Schools. That school has 50 surplus uniforms in its junior high school band program and has donated them to Hale Area School. The uniforms are relatively new and were donated through the efforts of one of the school administrators, who has a vacation cottage in the Hale area. At the present time, the junior high school band wears sweaters for its performances.

A request from Marie Bellville for reinstatement to her regular classroom teaching assignment in 1981-82 was tabled by the board of education. As a compromise last year, she had offered to resign her classroom position next term and to be reassigned to another classroom area for a period of one year only.

Would Establish New Door-Cabinet Plant in Alabaster

Sale of the former McKay warehouse and auto body shop on US-23 south of Townline Road was announced last week by L. G. McKay Jr.

The new owner is Richard Werkmeister of Mt. Clemens, who owns the Calumet-Clad Manufacturing Company at Madison Heights.

The firm plans to operate a shop in the building to manufacture cabinets and overhead doors. Thomas Bohmier of East Tawas is to manage the plant.

It is expected that eight persons will be employed in the new business.

Established 1884

That war is a costly lesson in terms of human sacrifice, suffering and loss of property is a hard lesson often forgotten with the passage of time. On the flip side is a fact which often escapes human understanding—modern warfare utilizes prodigious amounts of nonrenewable natural resources which never can be replaced.

America's natural resources took a beating during World War II and the effects have been felt during the past decade. During the war years—1942 through 1945—this country used up its natural resources more rapidly than ever before.

Minerals for manufacturing modern weapons and equipment, plus the fuels to propel them on world-wide battle fronts, along with civilian demands at the same time, cost the United States more than 36-billion dollars. The dollar amount does not seem so great in these days of inflated spending by the federal government, but natural resources were cheap during World War II.

The above amount, according to a report in 1946 by the United States Bureau of Mines, was about six times as much as used in a normal year and it was one-fifth of the total value of all minerals and fuels produced in the United States in the 65-year period from 1880 to 1945.

The then secretary of interior believed that only nine of the major minerals remained in this country's known domestic reserves in sufficient quantity of usable grade to last 100 years or more. The known reserves of 22 other essential minerals had dwindled to a 35-year supply or less.

The supply of petroleum in 1945 was even less. It was estimated that the assured domestic deposits of oil would last from 14 to 20 years at the rate of use in 1945. Interior Secretary Ickes predicted that "unless something is done about it, or new deposits are found, you will use something else in the family car after that."

Immediately following World War II, this country and its huge oil companies made treaties with a number of oil rich countries of the Middle East to provide a cheap supply of petroleum for nearly 30 years. Demand for an increasing supply of oil each year burst this bubble, however, through the increasing number of vehicles on the nation's highways, the switch to oil for home, commercial and industrial uses and the array of new synthetic products developed from oil, including the clothes worn on our backs.

Although the "known" petroleum reserves in this country were expected to be used up in 20 years following the war, the unknown black gold reserves were again speedily found through new technology developed during the war. The utilization of these reserves was again speeded by other major military conflicts, including Korea and Vietnam.

Use of Middle East oil helped to protect this country's unknown reserves of petroleum and those are the resources which are just now being tapped through new exploration, even right here in Michigan where drills are biting ever deeper into the earth in the quest for natural gas.

An article in this newspaper 35 years ago stated that scientists and chemists had provided a synthetic oil substitute "which can be used when the time comes—or perhaps before we actually need it." That dream has not yet been realized because of the high cost of producing synthetic fuels.

Wars cost more than money, for money is renewable. Iron ore, coal and petroleum are not. No one need worry, however, about coal for this country has enough to last hundreds of years; but metal ships that were sunk by submarines, aircraft that crashed into oceans or on mountains and the fuel used by those ships and planes are all lost—and lost forever.

It is something to think about when someone is heard to say: "All this country needs is another war to get the wheels of industry moving again."

Polar Bears Had Fun

TAWAS BAY'S Polar Bear Club again provided great entertainment for visitors to the 31st annual Perchville USA Festival. More than a thousand spectators lined the "swimming pool" cut into the ice of Tawas

Bay for each program Saturday and Sunday to watch the fun and most spectators were shocked by the nonchalance shown by swimmers in diving into the frigid water. One swimmer (below) wore a grotesque mask, not to hide his identity but probably to hide chattering teeth. The next picture shows two swimmers cooling off in the snow before taking a plunge. Several women joined in the swim, including the gal in the bottom photo wearing a swim suit.—Tawas Herald Photos.

(Read Matthew 14:15-21)

This past summer, we had the opportunity to worship in a rural church away from home. The service was a real celebration. As the minister read the story of the loaves and fishes, I saw new implications in the verses.

The Bible passage recounted the feeding of the 5,000. Jesus simply commanded the multitude to sit down. He did not say, "Churchgoers sit here, old people sit there, teen-agers sit away over to the side." His invitation was to all, without discrimination.

Today, Jesus is still inviting us to come and enjoy. You and I tend to insert limitations. But Jesus says simply, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy-laden, and I will give you rest." God's love is an open invitation, no questions asked, no conditions set. Simply come and enjoy.

You and I are invited to share God's goodness, regardless of our age or stage in life.

PRAYER
 Loving God, help us to accept Your love and promises in the way they are given. Give us understanding and insight concerning Your will for us. Amen.

Veteran City Treasurer Surprised With 'Roast'

"I was never so shocked in all my life—it was unbelievable—I'll never get over that one." This was the way Grace C. Pelton summed up the surprise "roast" in her honor Sunday night at Lixey's China House. More than 80 persons attended the party, including her six children and their spouses, 14 grandchildren and her coworkers at the East Tawas City Hall, along with city officials. Mrs. Pelton is to retire from her position of East Tawas city treasurer on April 7, the day after the annual spring election. She is not a candidate to succeed herself after serving the city for the past 20 years. "My children and grandchildren were here to spend the week-end and to help me celebrate my birthday. They all packed up Sunday afternoon as if to leave for their homes, but all stayed to surprise me at the party," she stated. Master of ceremonies for the "roast" was City Clerk Clyde Soper. Both the clerk and Ronald Turner, city assessor, presented humorous plaques to Mrs. Pelton and Mayor Robert Bolen presented an official certificate from the city commending her for her long years of service. Other speakers included Estelle Kuntz, secretary of the water department; William Smith, assistant manager of the water department and former city superintendent; Joan Pike, former part-time secretary for the water department; her son, Norman Klénow, councilman; Jacob Montgomery, city superintendent; Mayor Bolen. A native of East Tawas, the former Grace Merschel, Mrs. Pelton has served under five different mayors, beginning with Elmer Werth and followed by C. V. Miller, Clarence McKenzie, James Campbell and Bolen. She received a gift of luggage from city hall employees and she said Monday that it would come in handy when she visits members of her family during the coming year. She also plans a Florida vacation. Members of her family attending Sunday night's party were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Klénow, East Tawas, and their three sons; Ruth Peterson and her husband, Edward, and their two daughters from Manistee; Lynn Cholger and her husband, Tyler, and their three children from Warren; Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Klénow and three children from Norway, Upper Peninsula; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klénow and their son of Southfield; Carol McKinley and her husband, Steven, and their two sons of Ludington. She was presented with a new camera outfit by her children so that she can record her future travels on film. "I love fishing and swimming and I will have time to enjoy the out-of-doors during my retirement," she said Monday, still bubbling over Sunday night's big surprise party.

Student Absence Due to Illness Increases at TA

Student absences due to illness last week were three to five percent higher than normal, reports Charles Reddick, assistant principal at Tawas Area High School. Of the 596 students in high school, 83 were missing from classes on February 2. By Wednesday, absences were slightly less. Average daily attendance throughout the term ranges from 93 to 94 percent of the total number of students. During the preceding five-day week, there were 55 students absent due to illness; on February 2 alone, 60 students stayed home because of illness. Reddick said the school makes a weekly attendance report to the Michigan Department of Health. He said most of the illness was attributed to the "flu." He said that staff attendance had been excellent despite illness among students.

GIVE VALENTINE COOKIES WITH YOUR PERSONAL TOUCH

Add your personal touch to Valentine's Day gifts with cookies from your kitchen. Individualize "love letters" with friends' names or special messages using ready-to-spread frosting and pressurized decorator icing. If you really want to get your message across, give a jumbo heart-shaped cookie. When you use refrigerated ready-to-slice cookie dough you have time to be creative, so you can turn these simple-to-make cookies into personal tokens of your affection.

VALENTINE COOKIE SHAPES

Materials Needed:

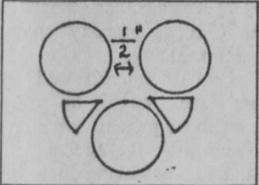

- 1 roll refrigerated sugar (17 oz.) or chocolate chip (16 oz. or 27 oz.) ready-to-slice cookie dough
- red, blue and pink pressurized decorator icing
- ready-to-spread vanilla frosting

General Directions:

For easier cutting and shaping, work with part of the dough at a time and refrigerate the rest until needed. Slice cookie dough as directed for each shape. Shape cookies on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 350° F. as directed for each around edges. (Do not overbake.) Cool on cookie sheet 1 to 2 minutes; remove. Cool completely before decorating.

Sweethearts 1) Slice cookie dough into 1/4-inch slices. Cut 5 of the slices into quarters. 2) Use 3 whole and 2 quarter slices for each cookie. 3) Arrange slices on cookie sheet as shown. Let stand 4 minutes to soften. Press slices together gently to form heart shape, leaving 1/2 inch between top slices to insure indentation when baked.

Love Letters 1) Slice cookie dough into 1/2-inch slices. 2) Use 1 slice for each cookie. 3) Arrange slices 3 inches apart on cookie sheet. Let stand 4 minutes to soften. Press each into a rectangle about 3 1/2 x 2 1/2 inches, using a knife or spatula to form straight edges and smooth top surface. 4) Bake for 10 to 13 minutes or until golden brown around edges. (Do not overbake.) Cool. 5) Spread some cookies with ready-to-spread frosting, leave others plain. Using decorator icing make decorative edge, stamp, hearts and written words with a writing tip.

Perchville Pictorial

THE KING AND QUEEN of the Perchville USA Festival, Roger Jackson and Susan Lambrecht, rode in an open convertible during Saturday's parade. Snow was falling and the weather was bitterly cold, but all had great fun, judging from the expressions on the faces of the clowns. Kids lined Newman

Sheriff's Department Investigations

Three breakings and enterings were included in investigations by Iosco County Sheriff's Department last week.

Charles Kemmerer, Ninth Avenue, Tawas City, reported that a quantity of building materials was stolen from his shed. Cottages owned by Robert M. Upton and Edna Stanley, both in Plainfield Township, were entered.

Larcenies investigated were reported at Old Orchard Park, Oscoda, $160 stolen from a safe; Michael Russell, First Street, Tawas City, theft of a wood maul and sledge hammer from a truck; Edward D. Kirby, National City Road, gates torn open and a cord of firewood stolen from cottage.

TRIO COUNCIL ON AGING SETS MEETING FEB. 17

Regular board meeting of Trio Council on Aging, Incorporated, will be held at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, February 17, in the Ogemaw County Building in West Branch.

Three Candidates for City Treasurer

Three candidates will vie for the two slots in the February 16 primary election at East Tawas. The two persons receiving the largest number of votes will oppose each other in the annual spring election to be held April 6.

The three candidates are Kathleen Bolen, Norma Reinke and Kimberly Morrill. One of the above candidates will succeed Grace C. Pelton, who retires after 20 years of service.

The April 6 election will feature one other race on the ballot. Larry Wingrove, incumbent Second Ward alderman, is being opposed by Robert Powell. Unopposed on the April 6 election ballot will be George Staudacher, First Ward alderman; Norman Klenow, Third Ward alderman; Mayor Robert Bolen; City Clerk Clyde Soper.

Three Hurt in Crashes

Three personal injury accidents were investigated last week by Iosco County Sheriff's Department.

John L. Campbell, 18, Alpena, was treated Wednesday at Tawas Hospital after his vehicle slipped off the roadway and crashed into a sign at the Detroit and Mackinac Railway crossing on Whittemore Road.

John W. McNicoe, 35, was treated Friday after losing control of his snowmobile and David Brown, 22, Tawas City, was treated Saturday at Tawas Hospital after his snowmobile rolled over on Tawas Bay.

Ice Shanties Damaged by Vandalism

Officers investigated vandalism complaints in which ice fishing shanties on Tawas Bay were destroyed by a four-wheel-drive truck equipped with a snowplow. Shanties were owned by Stanley Blurry III, John Mikulcik and Timothy Stonehouse, all of Tawas City, and Virginia M. Briggs of Saginaw.

A fifth vandalism complaint was reported at Michigan Gypsum Company in Sherman Township, where a truck from Bay City had a tire slashed by someone using an axe. The truck stopped at the entrance to the property and the tire was slashed.

Iosco Students Graduate at Central Mich.

December graduates of Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, from Iosco County included Mark Janowiak of East Tawas, a bachelor of science degree in business and administration; Linda Kay Bell of Hale, a bachelor of science in physical education; Janet Caldwell of Oscoda, a bachelor of science degree in English, and Deborah J. Whitford, Oscoda, who graduated cum laude, a bachelor of science degree in education of the mentally impaired.

Finances

lar activities are cut, it would be very difficult to return them at some future time.

In addition to the school's financial difficulties, Supt. Allan D. Dighera pointed out that the February state printout indicated an overpayment of $9,848 in state aid. This will have to be deducted from any 1981-83 funds to be received from the state.

He said, too, that the $27,800 to be included in paying the deficit is the amount remaining from the district's bonded indebtedness on the high school, which was retired June 30. State law allows the board to transfer the money to the general operational budget or into a building and site fund.

"I believe our physical plants definitely need work to upgrade them, but due to our financial situation, I am recommending that the board direct the administration to file the necessary papers with the Municipal Finance Commission to effectuate the transfer to the general fund."

During discussion by board members, Robert Curry pointed out that this district and others in Northern Michigan had placed themselves in the current bind by following state-mandated property assessment procedures (the state constitution requires that property be assessed at 50 percent of true cash value to determine state equalized valuation).

Curry pointed out that numerous governmental units in Wayne County had paid no attention to state equalized valuation procedures and school districts there benefited by receiving state membership aid.

James Russo said that "next year is where we are going to have to cut" and the superintendent said the district would have to get through this year "as best as we can."

The suggestion was made from the floor that negotiations should start soon on a new contract with teachers, but it was pointed out that state law does not require the start of negotiations until 60 days from the expiration of the present contract.

In the meantime, the board of education, administrators and district taxpayers must take a hard look at next year's financial problems. Susan Rieth, board president, said that taxpayers, most assuredly, would be asked to approve an increase in operational millage in June—but much study is ahead before any proposal is placed before the people.

Nineteen CETA Slots Dropped; 12 More Jobs to be Erased March 31

Nineteen labor slots provided under the federal Title II CETA program in Iosco County are to be erased effective February 28 and 12 more slots under Title VI are to be terminated March 31.

This was the word Wednesday to the Iosco County Board of Commissioners from Nancy Reinhart of the Region 7B Manpower Consortium.

Because of a cutback in CETA funding and the fact that money on hand must be used to pay the cost of unemployment insurance for laid off workers, the 42 slots under Title II will be reduced to only 13.

The CETA program was established a number of years ago to provide training for unemployed persons in order to equip them for jobs in new fields. The original intent was eroded by state and local governments, however, when slots were used to provide low cost manpower to fill governmental jobs.

Here in Iosco County, the original purpose of CETA was met through a training program conducted by the county equalization office, which saw a number of persons being trained as property appraisers. This county was no different than others, however, as remaining slots were filled in nontraining programs at various levels.

Only one slot remains today for appraisal clerk training in the equalization department, which has completed the major work of reappraising the entire county for taxing purposes. Other slots were filled by clerks, custodians, laborers and aides in various townships, county and state jobs.

Included is a clerk-typist in the county building, a custodian at the jail, payroll clerk for CETA and custodian for the board of commissioners, a laborer at Old Orchard Park, two appraisal clerks for Oscoda Township, a custodian in Plainfield Township, an interviewer for the AuSable-Oscoda Historical Society, two clerk-typists for Plainfield Township, two athletic aides for Oscoda Community Education, a laborer in Grant Township, a clerk-typist and a laborer for the City of Tawas City, a custodian at the Iosco County Historical Museum.

In addition, a secretary, substance abuse aide and program aide were provided the mental health department; three outreach workers, center aide, kitchen aide and custodian for Trio Council; a clerk-typist for the Michigan Employment Security Commission; a clerk-typist for the WIN program; a laborer for the United States Forest Service; an account clerk and four clerk-typists at Wurtsmith Air Force Base; three clerk-typists at the Iosco Department of Social Services.

The 13 positions recommended by Region 7B to be retained under the reduced program included custodians at the jail and county building, clerk-typists for Plainfield and Oscoda Townships, two slots in mental health, a clerk-typist for Tawas Area Chamber of Commerce, an appraisal clerk in the equalization department, custodian-kitchen aides at Tawas City, Oscoda, Hale and Sand Lake for Trio Council drop-in centers and CETA payroll clerk.

Jobs terminating March 31 under Title VI will be the assistant airport manager, a custodian for Trio Council, three housekeeping aides at Iosco Medical Care Facility, three program aides for Mental Health, a vocational aide and elementary aide at Hale Area School, an athletic aide at Tawas Area School and a laborer for the City of Whittemore.

Two of the slots at Iosco County Medical Care Facility are to be retained under regular employment.

Slots approved by the board of commissioners were the same as recommended by Region 7B, with the exceptions that the county building custodian and appraisal clerk in the county equalization department were eliminated. Iosco Historical Society is to keep its custodian, Oscoda Township is to keep its appraisal clerk and one combined slot was provided for Oscoda-AuSable Chamber of Commerce and Oscoda-AuSable Historical Society.

Board Holds to 1981 Budget; Delays Funds for Reprinting Road Maps

Action by the board of commissioners Wednesday indicates that Iosco County will continue the "austerity" program directed last year by the commission.

A bill for $2,500 as the county's share in printing road maps, presented by the county road commission, was denied by the county commission. According to the billing, the other half of the $5,000 total cost was to have been paid by the road commission.

Commissioners were unanimous in the opinion that the cost for the road maps was not included in the 1981 budget and felt that contingency funds should not be used for this purpose.

On hand during the discussion was County Treas. Edward Nelkie, who said that the financial condition of the county "does not warrant this kind of expense." He felt that the board of commissioners and various departments of the county building had done an excellent job with its austerity program and should continue those efforts. As the "watchdog" of county funds, Nelkie said he could foresee financial problems down the road, especially in the lowering of revenue from the state. "If you open the door now to this type of spending from the contingency fund, there will be trouble in June."

Three of the four commissioners expressed their opinion concerning financing of nonbudgeted items: "If we relax our efforts now toward controlling spending, we will stay relaxed," said Com. Carlton Merschel; "We could not afford to attend conventions and seminars, so we cut back," said Com. Marian Ulman; "It is like complying with a diet—if you stick to it one day, then go out and have a chocolate sundae the next day, what have you got?" said Chairman David George.

It is expected that the county's share of the road maps will be budgeted for payment in 1982. The 50,000 maps ordered for free distribution last from 2½ to three years and commissioners said privately that the road commission would be reimbursed next year.

In other matters, Susan Lambrecht, Iosco Cooperative Extension director, introduced Betty Hooker, 4-H program assistant, who announced that five new 4-H clubs had been organized in the Oscoda area since the first of the year.

A letter of resignation submitted by Wendy Pappas, clerk-typist in the cooperative extension office, was read. The department requested permission to fill the vacancy.

Mrs. Lambrecht also announced that Kenneth Kernstock had been appointed acting extension agent for Arenac County. She said that Kernstock, who has served as extension agent in Iosco County, applied for the Arenac position and had been accepted as of February 1. She did not believe there would be an immediate replacement of the position in this county.

The county treasurer presented the audit of building authority funds to the commission. At the request of the treasurer, a resolution was adopted to establish a tax revolving fund for 1980. Money borrowed each year in this program makes an immediate pay-off of taxes due to the county, township and schools.

Nelkie estimated that delinquent taxes would amount to $1,570,000 and requested permission to borrow $1,750,000 for the tax revolving fund. He said that approximately 10 to 15 percent in reserve funds must be kept on hand to cover costs in the event that enough taxes are not collected when payments are due.

The treasurer pointed out that the tax revolving fund had been very beneficial to the various units of government due to immediate pay-off on taxes. He said, too, that the fund had provided $109,000 to the general fund through interest received, "which helps to keep the county going."

Important Occupations
During Lumbering Era:

Foundryman and Saw Filer

Two important auxiliary services provided by tradesmen during the days when sawmills furnished the major employment and were so important to the economy of Northern Michigan are practically forgotten today.

Sharpening saws was the specialty of one or more tradesmen at each sawmill operating in the region and, while the skill of filing and grinding is still a necessary trade in keeping carpentry tools in good order, the art of sharpening a large circular, band or gang saw blade is no longer needed in local industry.

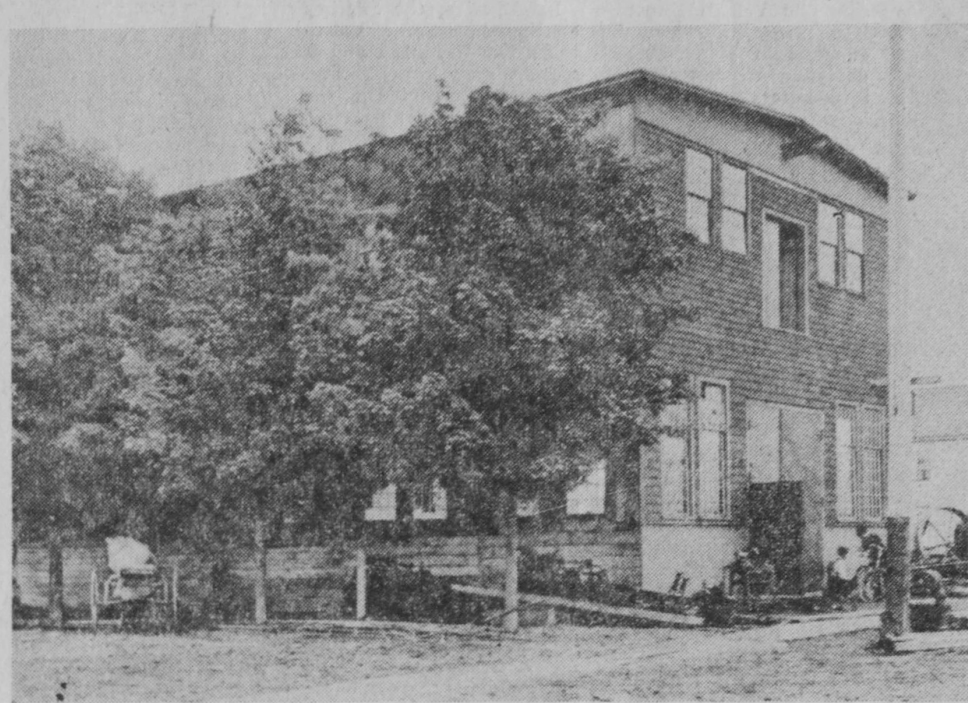

Another tradesman no longer on the local industrial scene is the foundryman. The service he provided in keeping the saws humming, making cast iron replacement parts right in a local shop, is no longer required as steel has replaced cast iron used in fashioning industrial machines.

When a replacement part cannot be provided by the manufacturer of the machine, or if time does not permit the securing of a broken component of a modern-day machine, the industrialist turns to his own machinist or a local shop providing this service.

In the case of the old-time saw filer, there was always an air of mystery surrounding his craft. It is said that doors to the saw filing room were always closed or locked to visitors as a means of protecting the jobs of the filers. Such patiently learned skills were handed down from father to son and only on rare instances did an unrelated apprentice have the opportunity to learn the craft.

One picture of a saw filing room in a local mill has survived the passage of time and is included with this feature. It shows George Redhead and his son, Audley, of Tawas City working in the filing room at the C. H. Prescott Mill on Tawas Bay.

The father is shown sharpening a large band saw which appears to be approximately two feet in width. A large circular saw has been propped against the filing bench at the request of the photographer. The son is operating a grinding machine which is powered by a small belt which he is straddling. A long, endless belt may be seen hanging above the heads of the two men. This belt was connected directly to the mill's main steam engine and wound its way throughout the building to provide means of power at various points. Needless to say, such belts were extremely dangerous and caused numerous accidents to the workmen. Only one picture has survived of the Tawas Iron Works, later the Walker Foundry, at East Tawas and is included with this feature. This two-story frame building covered with shingles was located on East Bay Street and the firm was in operation for more than 40 years before being destroyed by fire. The Tawas Iron Works, ac-ording to the History of the Lake Huron Shore, was established by John Walker, a native of Delaware. Numerous additions were made to the original shop as the increasing demands of the business required.

THE TAWAS IRON WORKS, later the Walker Foundry, is shown during the early machine work for the local sawmills and was located on East Bay Street at East 1890s. The firm provided heavy castings and Tawas—a location convenient to the mills.

The establishment included a foundry, machine shop, blacksmith shop and pattern department. "The works are located on Bay Street, convenient to the mills," stated the history published in 1883 by H. R. Page and Company of Chicago, Illinois.

In the spring of 1881, Walker took his two sons, F. J. and S. A. Walker, into partnership and the firm name was changed to J. Walker and Sons.

The Walker Foundry survived the lumbering era here by many years, providing its service to the Detroit and Mackinac Railway and third generation members of the family were employed in the railroad shop.

According to records in the Iosco County Clerk's Office, John Walker died April 21, 1885, at the age of 53 years.

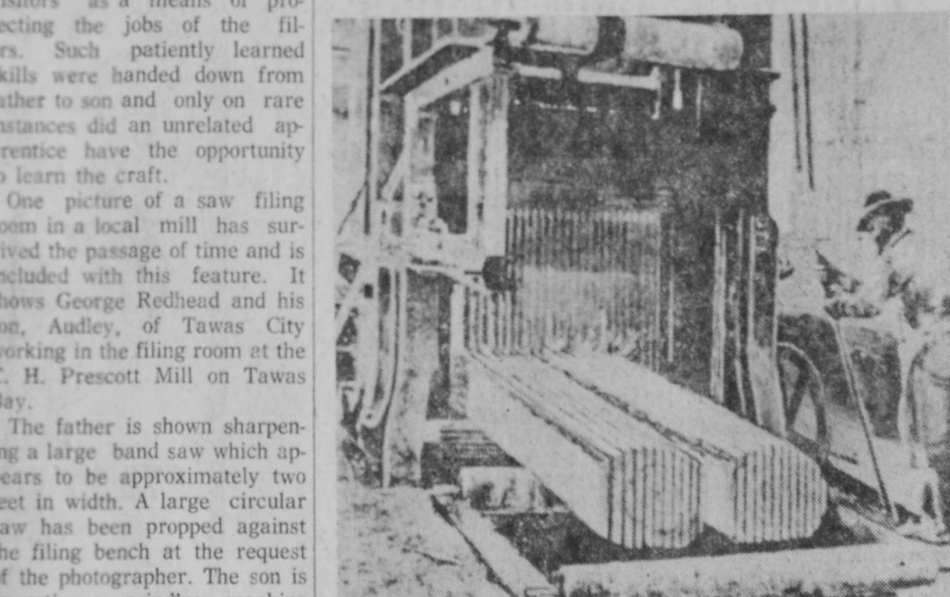

An interesting story handed down concerning the foundry involves an East Tawas boy who neglected his school work, but was always seen hanging around the Walker Foundry, watching the men at work and helping them by anticipating the need for certain tools.

"The late Sam Anker was in the machine shop one day and noticed the boy's activities," wrote the late Miss Edna Otis in her book, "Sawdust Days." "Give that boy a job," he is reported to have told the Walker brothers. "If you haven't something special for him, let him tinker on that engine of mine." Anker had a shingle mill at Hale and the engine was in the shop for overhauling and repairs."

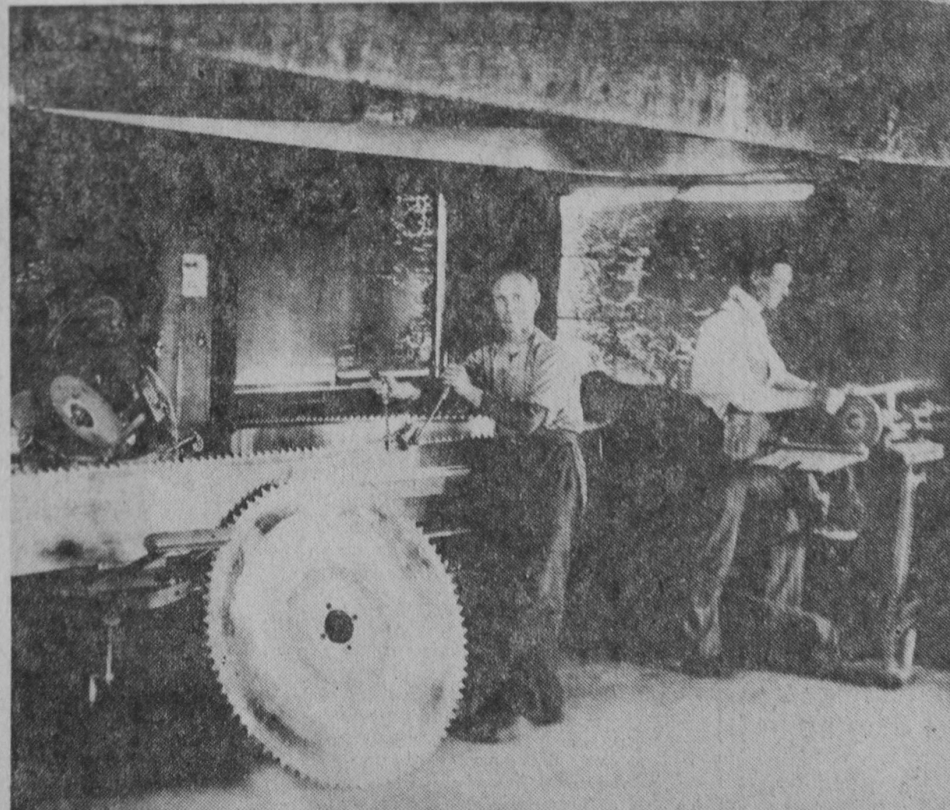

The boy was given a job in the foundry and a few years later moved to Saginaw with his family. The young tinkerer from East Tawas then moved to Detroit during the pioneer days of the automobile and he found employment in that new industry.

There, the young man invented a valve-in-head engine for his new automobile called the "Marr." He interested some capitalists in his new venture and a factory was opened at Flint. The name of the automobile was changed to Buick and the rest of the story is history.

The old Walker Foundry at East Tawas was destroyed by fire around 1914 and has been practically forgotten. A post card has survived showing firemen at the scene of the blaze.

THIS GIANT GANG SAW could gulp down two white pine logs at a time. Tawas Iron Works provided a pattern department and iron foundry for casting replacement parts for heavy equipment such as this.

A RARE VIEW of a filing room shows George Redhead sharpening a gleaming band saw blade while his son, Audley, is at work on a grinder. This scene would give an OSHA inspector fits today because of the dangerous drive belts winding through the room—young Redhead is straddling one!

St. Valentine's Day: A 1,700 Year Tradition

February 14th is St. Valentine's Day again this year. And again this year, people happily in love, and those who hope to be, will send valentines to the objects of their affection. But few lovers realize that the history of this happiest of holidays dates back more than 1,700 years—and that its origin was anything but happy.

St. Valentine's Day stems, incongruously, from the death of a Roman bishop named Valentine, who was beheaded on February 14, 273 A.D. by Emperor Claudius II. According to one account, Claudius had outlawed marriages because they kept men at home rather than fighting for Rome. Valentine, so the story goes, paid with his life when he continued to marry young lovers. Another version had Valentine thrown into prison, where he befriended the jailkeeper's daughter. When his ornate love letters to the young lady were discovered, he was executed on February

14. His last note was signed "your Valentine."
In England, the Roman conquest introduced a pagan fertility festival that was celebrated on February 14. Nearly a century after the Romans left England, Pope Gelasius abolished the pagan ritual and established St. Valentine's Day in 496 A.D. as a celebration of love.

St. Valentine's Day thereafter came to be observed in much of the Christian world, but especially in England, where in 1537 King Henry VIII instituted the holiday by royal charter. A 1667 entry in Samuel Pepys' diary mentions special notes of endearment sent to his wife on St. Valentine's Day, including one with "her name writ upon blue paper in gold letters."

Norecross-Rust Craft Collection
This sentimental 19th century valentine (ca. 1835) was colored by hand. Its four lines of verse read:
"Thou darling of my life,
my soul's delight,
By day my vision, and my dream by night,
Thy service shall my only pleasure be,
And all my heart's delight in pleasing thee."

In America, the Pilgrims continued the St. Valentine's Day tradition and it steadily grew in popularity. Among the earliest U.S. valentines were Pennsylvania Dutch cards fashioned with painstaking workmanship and calligraphy. Some resembled lace, an effect achieved by thousands of pin pricks arranged in elaborate patterns.

Nineteenth century valentines took many forms—including colorful designs of hearts and flowers and cleverly folded cards with cut-outs of rose petals, angels, and cupids that moved when unfolded. There were also comic valentines that poked gentle fun at recipients.

Like so many things that have historical and aesthetic value, old valentines are now collectors' items. Particularly prized are lacy British valentines with pastel paper underlays, early handmade and engraved cards, and Civil War, World War I, and World War II valentines.

Based on traditional heart and cupid motifs, this colorful 14-penny stamp issued by the British Post Office to mark St. Valentine's Day is adding an extra touch to millions of valentines being exchanged this year in England and the U.S.

One valentine sold last year for an extraordinary $2,250. The popularity of valentines has also led to the growth of nationwide collectors clubs, whose members regularly trade and exhibit rare specimens.

Valentine's Day has become so well established that in England this year millions of lovers will exchange valentines sent with a special postage stamp, issued for the occasion by the British Post Office. This beautiful stamp, an allegorical rendering of two cupids by artist Fritz Wegner, is also available in America (from StanGib Ltd., 1325 Franklin Avenue, Garden City, New York 11530) to both collectors and the romantically inclined who want to add an unusual touch to their missives of love. Of course, these British stamps must be accompanied by regular U.S. postage on valentines mailed in the United States.

Despite its unfortunate origin, St. Valentine's Day has become one of our happiest and most enduring traditions. And as long as people enjoy sending and receiving messages of love, this colorful annual ritual will continue forever.

LOVE TAKES THE CAKE

Here shown against a background of the Piazza dei Signori in romantic Verona, home of Romeo and Juliet, is a luscious Italian Love Cake, a delectable delight that calls for cake layers to be sprinkled with Amaretto di Saronno, Italy's beloved liqueur, and filled with strawberry and pistachio ice cream. The cake is then covered with a drift of whipped cream and decorated with chocolate hearts.

When there's romance in the air, the occasion calls for an appropriate dessert and what could be more suitable than an Italian Love Cake?

After all, who knows more about love than the Italians? St. Valentine, the patron of lovers, was a Roman. Romeo and Juliet were from Verona. And Amaretto di Saronno, the drink of love, is from Saronno where 450 years ago a beautiful young woman created an intriguing liqueur for the man she loved.

With such credentials, it would seem the Italians know what love is all about. We could even say they take the cake.

In this case, the cake is an irresistible concoction just right for anniversaries, engagements, birthdays, showers, and, of course, St. Valentine's Day.

Keeping in mind the white, red and green of the Italian flag, we've substituted American angel food cake for the traditional sponge cake that would be used in Italy, sprinkled it with Amaretto di Saronno and layered it with strawberry and pistachio ice cream. All of this temptation is enveloped in a cloud of whipped cream and crowned with chocolate hearts. This is truly a dessert to foster and sustain romance.

- 1 angel food cake
- 1/2 cup Amaretto di Saronno
- 1 pint pistachio ice cream
- 1 pint strawberry ice cream
- 2 cups (1 pint) heavy cream
- 6 ounces (1 package) semisweet real chocolate morsels

With a sharp serrated knife using a sawing motion, cut the cake into three layers. Sprinkle layers with 6 tablespoons of the Amaretto di Saronno. Place one layer on a serving platter. Cut ice cream into slices and place pistachio ice cream on bottom layer. Top with second cake layer and a layer of strawberry ice cream. Top with third cake layer. Place in freezer. In a bowl, mix heavy cream and remaining Amaretto di Saronno and beat until very thick. Frost the sides and top of the cake and replace in freezer. Melt chocolate over very low heat until smooth. Spread chocolate in a 1/4-inch thick layer on foil and chill until chocolate hardens. With a small cookie cutter, cut hearts out of chocolate and place on top of cake. Freeze cake until ready to serve. Makes 1 9-inch cake.

4-H's Learn Lessons in Commodity Marketing

Why does the price of lettuce fluctuate from week to week at the supermarket? How might a severe drought in the wheat-producing states affect the price of bread in your local supermarket?

Both examples are tied to the economics of marketing and distribution studied by members in the national 4-H commodity marketing program, conducted by the Co-operative Extension Service, and supported by The Chicago Board of Trade.

Members learn that commodity marketing involves everything, from planting and harvesting a raw product to storing and transportation; to processing the raw product for use as food, fiber or other end products, to the merchandising and selling of the end product.

4-H commodity marketing programs are designed around such widely diverse products as clothing from a garment center to consumer education, and from silver and forest products to crop and livestock production. Commission Pays Longevity Under Grievance Procedure

Part-Time Employee Gets $66

Acting on a grievance filed by United Steelworkers Union representing county building employees, Iosco County Board of Commissioners Wednesday authorized payment on a one-time-only basis of longevity pay to a part-time employe.

County officials apparently believed that part-time employees were not entitled to longevity pay under the current contract, but union representatives pointed out that contract wording in the longevity schedule applied to each county employee.

Union grievances were filed in the name of both Irene Hughes and Irene Nelkie, part-time employees of the treasurer's office.

Computations by the county clerk's office indicated that Mrs. Nelkie qualified under the longevity schedule, but Mrs. Hughes did not qualify.

The commission's resolution authorized payment to Mrs. Nelkie of "a sum of money equal to the longevity she would have earned if she had been paid longevity for 1980." The amount paid was $65.93.

Wording of the commission's resolution did not admit that part-time employees were eligible for longevity pay and the resolution stated that clarification of longevity, pertaining to part-time help, was to be negotiated for 1981.

In other action, the board authorized pay raises to seven employees not covered under the union contract which represented the same eight percent increase granted to other employees. Included were the board of commissioner's confidential secretary, assistant friend of the court, family aide at the cooperative extension office, friend of the court, part-time secretary in the department of corrections, marine agent's secretary and support clerk in the cooperative reimbursement program.

The resolution established the airport manager's salary at $4,080 annually.

The commission reappointed Edward Tate, Clyde Soper and Harvey Rasch to the election scheduling committee.

Authorization was given to sign the contract with the state for the sheriff's department road patrol program for 1981.

Tawas Bay Artists was granted permission to use the county building corridors, rest-rooms and one office with telephone for the annual Tawas Bay Waterfront Art Show on August 1-2.

Com. John Webb and Com. David George were authorized to sit with the Iosco Housing Commission to hire an administrator for that commission.

Senior Citizens Get Special Gas Rate Cut

A new special winter gas rate for senior citizens will be put into effect by Michigan Consolidated Gas Company in March, the utility said last week.

The new rate, authorized by the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC), may give customers age 65 or more a reduced rate for gas used during the months October through May and reduce the average annual bill an estimated 2.8 percent or about $20, the utility said.

Richard W. Zemmin, vice president for public affairs, said, Michigan Consolidated will begin notifying its customers of how and where to apply for the special rate in information included with their March bills.

A. 1925, as amended, ordered that for the period beginning March 1, 1981, and ending March 31, 1982, no person shall take, or attempt to take, any species of trout or salmon from any of the waters of this state except by hook and line during the open seasons prescribed, and within the minimum size limits and maximum possession limits indicated below.

Exempt Amount Is Up

People getting social security checks will be able to earn more in 1981 than in 1980 before any of their social security benefits are withheld, a social security representative said recently. In 1981, a person under 65 for all of the year can earn $4,080 before any checks are held back. This annual exempt amount was $3,720 for 1980. The annual exempt amount for people 65 or older in 1981 is $5,500, up from $5,000 for 1980. If a person's earnings exceed the annual exempt amount, $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings above the exempt amount. People should notify social security as soon as they think their annual earnings might exceed the exempt amount. This way they can avoid receiving any incorrect payments that might have to be repaid.

There is a special rule that applies to the year in which a person retires. In the year of retirement, people can receive checks for any month their earnings do not exceed the monthly limit even though total annual earnings are well above the annual exempt amount.

The 1981 monthly limit is $458 for people 65 or over and $340 for people under 65. People who want more information about the annual earnings test can ask at any social security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory.

Q. Can I qualify for supplemental security income if I own my home?

A. If you meet all other requirements, you may qualify for SSI if you own your home. Ordinarily, an individual may have $1,500 in resources and a couple may have $2,250 in resources, not including certain necessities. A home which is the principle place of residence and the land adjacent to it, regardless of value, are excluded from the limits.

questions and answers

Q. I am not old enough to retire but I've been reading about people not getting social security even though they've worked all their lives. Is there any way to find out if I am getting credit for my work?

A. Yes there is; in fact, social security encourages people to check their earnings records every 3 years (in many cases, only those errors made during the previous 3 years can be corrected). To check your record, ask for a special form (SSA-7004) from any social security office. When the statement comes, you can check social security's records against your own. If there are any disagreements, you should notify your social security office immediately.

Doing business with social security? Use Teleservice. Instead of visiting a social security office, just pick up your phone and call Teleservice. To find your social security Teleservice phone number, look in the local telephone directory under Social Security Administration.
