MSU Students to Aid City With Interpretive Center

Seniors and graduate students of Michigan State University enrolled in an environmental interpretation class are to assist the City of Tawas City in developing plans for an interpretive center at the mouth of the Tawas River.

Although funding for the proposed center at Gateway Park is currently in limbo due to a federal freeze on funds, City Mgr. Lowell Thomas said Monday that the city was continuing to develop plans in anticipation of future funding.

Maureen H. McDonough, assistant professor and extension specialist with the department of parks and recreational resources at Michigan State University, was here Monday to finalize plans for student participation.

She said that Susan Lambrecht, former county extension director here, had made preliminary arrangements concerning the MSU class study.

About 10 students are to be involved in compiling background information for developing potential exhibits and audio-visual presentations for the center. Objectives listed by the city for development would include displays pertaining to recreational opportunities in the area as well as exhibits concerning the cultural and natural history of Lake Huron.

"This project will provide students the opportunity to work with a real client in determining major themes and develop a series of alternatives for an interpretive center," said the MSU professor.

Students are to start the project in about two weeks as part of the spring quarter of instruction. Work is expected to be finished by June.

Iosco County May Contract Building Code Enforcement

Iosco may follow Ogemaw County in dismantling its building and safety inspection department and turn to a private firm to provide this state-mandated service.

At its meeting Wednesday, Iosco County Board of Commissioners took note of a report from its neighboring county that it would save an estimated $93,000 during the next two years by contracting for this service.

Ogemaw Board of Commissioners, by a 4-1 vote, handed over building code enforcement to Michigan Transportation Services, Incorporated, a private firm from Allendale. The private firm said it may hire some employees of the present building department at West Branch.

According to David George, chairman of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners, this county's building and safety inspection department ended 1980 with an $18,000 deficit.

Another commissioner, Carlton Merschel, expressed the opinion that the board of commissioners should have some control over rates being charged for inspections.

Chairman George felt that this county should consider contracting for this service and turned the matter over to the buildings and grounds committee.

Com. Marian Ulman was assigned the work of arranging for a meeting with local builders to discuss the matter.

Merschel stressed the fact that the county, should it decide to contract for this service, must be certain that the firm selected would be one which would have an ongoing operation to ensure that the county meets state mandates.

Russo Decides Not to Seek Seat

James Russo announced Monday night that he would not seek re-election to Tawas Area Board of Education during the annual school election on June 8.

A second trustee, Barbara Miller, whose four-year term also expires June 30, has not indicated if she will be a candidate.

Russo noted that no candidate has filed nomination petitions as yet at the administration of-rice. Last day for filing is April 6.

He said he did not know if his announcement would encourage potential candidates to file nomination petitions, but Russo said he would like to solicit candidates for the board of education.

Stating that he had served "his turn" on the policy-making board of education, Russo said that a board member needed desire and determination. "It is not an easy job," he stated.

Temporary Fence Removed from TR

Contractor for construction of two new bridges in Tawas City made short work Thursday of removing debris - collecting fences in the Tawas River and Dead Creek after direction was received from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

The DNR had ordered placement of the fences downstream from the two bridge sites last fall. Constructed of wire fencing and weighted to stand upright on the river and creek bottoms, the structures collected materials which dropped in the streams during construction.

Last week, the sheriff's department notified the city that fences were blocking the spring migration of fish in the river and that game violators reportedly had been using dip nets to illegally take fish from the river below the Whittemore Street bridge.

Edmunds Engineering Company, the city's consultant, was notified of the problem and immediately informed DNR authorities.

Work on the two bridges is progressing rapidly and it was evidently felt that a point had been reached where the fences could be removed with minimal environmental impact.

Seek Kozlow With Stolen Car Warrant

A warrant has been issued charging Edward M. Kozlow, 52, formerly of Iosco County, with possession and concealing a stolen automobile.

Kozlow, said to be employed at Detroit, is being sought by local authorities following his escape during a high speed chase last Thursday involving Michigan Department of Natural Resources officers, state police and the sheriff's department.

Two DNR officers allegedly recognized Kozlow during the act of removing a fish trap from the East Branch of the AuGres River. Kozlow made his escape in a four-wheel drive vehicle with the DNR officers in hot pursuit.

The chase began on Alabaster Road east of National City Road then wound several miles along county roads, back trails to M-55 and north on Old State Road where the four-wheel drive vehicle struck a tree.

Sheriff's department and state police officers joined the search for the suspect, who made his escape on foot. A state police tracking dog from Bay City was called to the scene but lost the suspect after his trail led to the AuGres River.

Investigation revealed that the four-wheel drive vehicle, a 1978 Ford Bronco, had been stolen in December 1979 at Perysburg, Ohio.

Must Decide Proposed Tax Rate

TA Board Sets Millage Vote

With Michigan presently in an uproar on how to reduce governmental spending with a tax cutting or shifting amendment now a certainty for a state-wide referendum in May, Tawas Area Board of Education set legal machinery in motion Monday night to establish the date for a second millage election should the first proposal be rejected by voters on June 8.

The action was not necessarily a lack of confidence in what voters might determine at the general election, but Supt. Allan Dighera believed that action now would save time at a later date if a second election is needed. The action also ensured that a third election could be held before a September 2 deadline, if necessary.

Between now and June 8, the board of education and administration will be studying millage proposals to be presented to voters. Citizen input can also be expected.

Because of declining enrollment, a reduction in staff can be expected for next term. Salaries represent the largest share of any budget and class scheduling for the 1981-82 term is currently being scrutinized for potential savings.

The district will end the current fiscal year with a deficit of approximately $44,746. That amount will be repaid out of next year's budget and, if further cuts are not made, a second like amount would have to be added to the new budget.

Tawas Area School currently levies 21.25 mills for operation—with 12 mills voted by the people and 9.25 allocated as the school's share of the 15-mills split with the county, townships and intermediate school district. In addition, Tawas Area School voters established a sinking fund of .5 of a mill last year for special school maintenance. The latter was approved for five years.

No discussion has been held as yet as to the millage proposal to be placed before voters on May 8. A letter was received from Tawas Area Federation of Teachers indicating that its negotiation team was ready to begin bargaining on a new contract as soon as possible. The board of education held an executive session Monday night to make negotiation plans.

A legislative update given Monday night by the superintendent indicated that a school aid bill was moving rapidly through the legislature but it is too early to determine how the proposed legislation will effect finances of this school. Some improvement could optimistically be expected in categorical aid which was slashed during the current year, but this district is not expected to receive any membership aid.

The superintendent said that new legislation would permit schools to borrow money from the state for operation rather than to go through the more expensive process of receiving permission from the Municipal Finance Commission.

The effect of the tax proposal which will go to voters in May, cutting taxes on homesteads in half, increasing the rate on sales tax and guaranteeing a 100 percent payment to local units of government for taxes "lost" will be studied and debated extensively during the next month.

In the meantime, school officials must adopt a millage proposal which has some chance of passage by district voters.

School Board President Answers AFSCME Criticism of Budget Cuts

A general answer to a recent complaint by noncertified employees of Tawas Area School over a reduction in hours as a means to balance a budget deficit was given Monday night by Susan Rieth, board of education president.

Mrs. Rieth noted that AFSCME Chapter No. 1545 representing the employees had submitted a grievance over the matter on March 11, two days after the presentation of its letter to the board of education.

"Since we are now officially into a grievance, we will attempt to give a general answer in lieu of violating contract language and leaving ourselves open to other charges at a later date by deviating from the contract and the grievance procedure," said Mrs. Rieth.

In its letter, AFSCME expressed concern over the school debt—noting it was created by the withdrawal of funds to this district by the state—but it stated "This debt is one that is going to have to be solved by the local school district."

"We appreciate your concern relative to the school debt," said Mrs. Rieth. "In the final analysis, the entire school district will be responsible for the debt. The preliminary action taken thus far is only the tip of the iceberg."

As one means of cutting costs, the board of education directed that noncertified employees—secretaries, custodians and cooks—work one hour a day less, which cut the deficit by $10,784.

The school's total operational deficit expected on June 30 is $118,570 and numerous cuts have reduced the deficit to $44,746.

"The cuts suffered by the classified employees without, we might add, anyone losing a full time position, are only a beginning," said Mrs. Rieth. "Future economic problems, declining enrollment, etc., will necessitate the supreme sacrifice."

The AFSCME letter had criticized the board of education for cutting employee hours and not cutting spring sports, but Mrs. Rieth stated that the retention of spring sports "was a decision to carry a full program. If the sports had not been cut does not mean other areas would not have been cut."

She said the board position relative to the restoration of work hours "will be a decision that will emanate from the grievance procedure."

In answer to another AFSCME criticism concerning contracting for payroll work with Bay-Arenac Intermediate District, the board president said that to eliminate employee payroll services would necessitate adding staff at a far higher cost than $1,500 for the service.

The AFSCME letter also criticized the board for not hiring a mechanic to perform work on school buses.

"The mechanic question is under study. Presently, money would need to be expended to implement the saving. Current work loads do not justify hiring a full time mechanic. Other avenues are going to be pursued. We are presently buying some of our parts at the savings you mentioned. Salary reimbursement for a mechanic has changed because of changes in the school aid act."

The board of education president said that extracurricular assignments are part of a master agreement which must be followed. The union had suggested that the district seek volunteer help in a number of areas. The board of education president's answer was: "Would you like volunteers to drive extra bus trips, open gyms and clean them to save the cost of classified employees overtime? We think not."

The board of education president agreed that the cut would not present a spick-and-span building. "Our voters will have an opportunity to decide what they want in June regarding this problem and program offerings," she stated.

The board's answer concluded with the statement: "The number of students was taken into consideration when the decision was made to retain our spring extracurricular activities."

Property Owners Should be Wary of Speculators

Leon Putnam, county register of deeds, advised property owners Tuesday to be wary of a number of private individuals who are speculating in oil and gas leases.

The register of deeds said that 150 documents were received by his office Monday assigning oil and gas leases to a second firm.

Since early January when two new gas wells were opened toward the center of the state, oil and gas leasing activity increased by leaps and bounds in this county. The going rate for such leases has jumped from $2.50 per acre to a known high of $56. The average per acre rate being paid here at present is around $40.

Numerous firms have canvassed property owners to lease large blocks of land, but a number of private individuals have been operating here, too. The latter usually pays a lower rate to individuals who have not been aware of the increased price being paid for leasing rights. The private dealers then assign the leases to larger firms and make a quick profit.

Putnam was of the opinion that the actual owners of property should be the ones making a profit in the current leasing boom and his advice to potential sellers was to ask questions of neighbors and to deal with known firms.

"We also have had one instance where a check issued by a private individual for an oil and gas lease has 'bounced' when it did not clear the bank. The lease was later assigned to a larger firm. Property owners should make sure they are dealing with responsible firms," said Putnam.

NHS Chapter Plans Trip

Members of Tawas Area School's National Honor Society are planning a three-day trip to Toronto, Canada. The trip is an annual event for members.

Teachers accompanying the group will be Mrs. Robert Erickson and Larry VanWagoner. A third adult is to be named later.

The organization raised money for the trip through sponsoring dinners and collecting old newspapers for salvage.

Iosco to Establish Own Foster Home Program

On recommendation of Probate Judge William H. McCready, Iosco County is to establish its own foster home program.

A resolution adopted Wednesday by the county board of commissioners stated it was dissatisfied with the service presented by Community Family and Children Services of Alpena in the operation of the foster family group home program in Iosco, Arenac and Ogemaw Counties.

Iosco is to make application for a $10,000 grant to establish its own foster care program and Judge McCready expects to have the proposal prepared in two weeks. Effective date of the new alignment would be September 30.

In 1975, this county joined Arenac and Ogemaw in making application for a grant to establish the tri-county program. This program was funded by a $10,000 state grant to each county, plus an additional $5,000 to each unit for banding together. Judge McCready felt the group home program was an excellent idea, but he told commissioners that it had never worked out the way it was intended. He had previously urged the county board of commissioners to withdraw. During a recent meeting with agency administrators, more money was requested to expand operations.

In other matters, a meeting has been set for April 1 between the county treasurer, township treasurers and the equalization department director to discuss ways of solving operational problems in the computer department.

Because of incomplete tax rolls prepared on the computer system, settlement between the county treasurer and treasurers of local units has been delayed. As a result, a final figure for this year's tax revolving fund to pay delinquent taxes has not been established and the county stands to lose interest money it receives from investing funds. Normally, settlement with local treasurers is completed by March 9-10.

Nelkie also reported that delinquent tax rolls had not been prepared as of last Wednesday.

On recommendation of Ray Kesler, treasurer of Iosco Commission on Aging, this county has joined Trio Council on Aging in making application for a federal program to fund hiring of 13 workers at senior citizen drop-in centers and other programs for older citizens.

Kesler said that this county would receive $35 in federal funds for every local dollar invested. The local contribution would be $500 for the months of April, May and June.

He said that workers hired under the program would aid handicapped persons in their own homes, who might otherwise be institutionalized at the medical care facility or elsewhere. Outreach workers would also be provided to act as a liaison between older persons and governmental social programs which would result in a direct saving to the county.

With the ending of the federal CETA program, Kesler said it was becoming more difficult to operate senior citizen centers since the selection of workers from other programs is limited.

In presenting his annual report, Harry Krueger, county drain commissioner, was asked to have the county attorney prepare a contract for repaying legal fees connected with administration of VanEtan Lake dam.

The commission authorized an expenditure of $226 to send Det. David Brumfield and Det. Mark DeBeauvoir to the Michigan State Police Training Academy. The officers would participate in a two-week crime scene technician school.

A letter from Larry Thornton of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources notified the county that Multi-County Sanitary Landfill on Monument Road may be adversely affecting Gray Creek in its operation. A recent inspection found that contaminants from the landfill were entering the creek. The county is currently considering renewing a contract with the private firm for landfill service. At the same time, the board of commissioners is studying the possibility of establishing a county landfill on National Gypsum Company property southwest of Sand Lake Road.

The commission authorized payment of $23 per day to Thomas Marsh as assistant airport manager for a period of up to 20 days during the absence of Wilbur C. Roach, manager.

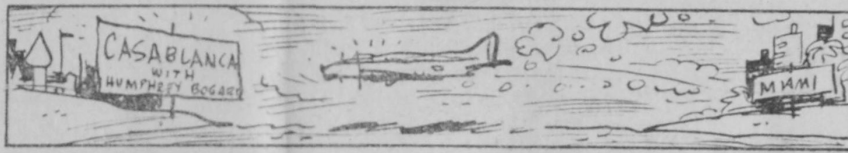

The commission adopted a resolution establishing a uniform fee of $5 for certified copies of birth, death, marriage and divorce records and $2 for each additional copy. This uniform fee is to be adopted throughout the state.

Authorization was given to pay $417.90 for the purchase of a commercial vacuum machine for the county building and an expenditure of $1,295 was authorized for purchase of a new typewriter for the circuit court.

GENE BALLINGER of Oscoda, who made state headlines 10 years ago when he was convicted in federal court of defrauding Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Hale out of $750,000 in a check kiting scheme, is charged with first degree murder at Silver City, New Mexico. His wife, Phyllis, and father, John Ballinger, are charged with conspiracy to commit murder. A fourth person, John Rizzo, is also said to be involved in the murder of a stockholder in a ranch which Gene Ballinger operated. A former deputy sheriff and one-time Tawas City businessman, Ballinger established a treasure hunting supply business at Oscoda in the 1960s. He operated a treasure hunter's newspaper in conjunction with the business and is shown above in his museum then located at Oscoda. The business was closed following his conviction and, after serving a term in prison, he again established a treasure hunting supply business and newspaper in New Mexico. According to the El Paso (Texas) Times, he and his wife are currently in Florida fighting extradition to New Mexico.—Tawas Herald Photo.

File Suit in W-P Labor Dispute

The union representing non-certified employees of Whittemore-Prescott Area School commenced suit in Iosco Circuit Court seeking a writ of mandamus ordering the board of education to rehire two custodians who had been discharged.

Bringing the suit is the Whittemore-Prescott Area Schools Noncertified Personnel Association, an affiliate of Michigan Education Support Personnel Association.

The suit was filed on behalf of Leo Pasmik and Verna McCarney, who were discharged

August 25, 1980, by the school district.

The suit claims that the decision to permanently discharge the two custodians was not for proper cause and in violation of the collective bargaining agreement between the union and the school.

Damages over $10,000 are sought for all pay lost, plus fringe benefits.

The court is asked to issue a writ of mandamus ordering the board of education to re-employ plaintiffs as custodians in Whittemore - Prescott Area Schools.

TH Baby Sitter Training Ends

Tawas Hospital announced the completion of a baby sitter's training program conducted by Kay Kernstock, registered nurse, a volunteer of the community relations committee of the Development Council. The class, conducted in four sessions, teaches basic safety, first aide procedures and infant care. Receiving certificates were Maria Allen of Long Lake; LaLonnie Sapp, Saunie Parent, Cathy Clark, Shelly VanWormer, Sue Spiteri, Leann Heilman and Tracy Moore of Hale; Kristin Meiswick of Tawas City, and Missy Reiter of East Tawas.

Other persons lecturing to the group were Lynn Pillsbury, East Tawas Volunteer Fire Department on fire safety; Mark DeBeauvoir, Iosco County Sheriff's Department, home security, and Terry DeRosia, Tawas Hospital ambulance coordinator on mouth to mouth resuscitation and the Heimlich maneuver.

The class will be offered again Tuesday, April 7, 3:45 p. m., in the Tawas Hospital classroom. The program is available free of charge to prospective baby sitters, age nine and up. To register, call 362-3411, extension 352.

Career Guideline Information at TA

During the week of February 2, all juniors at Tawas Area High School had the opportunity to participate in a career guidance and educational planning program, the ACT Career Planning Program, a program designed to help young adults make better decisions about their educational and career plans. The cost involved was covered by a grant offered through CETA Region 7B.

Participating students completed the career planning program assessment instrument which measures the students' career related interests, experiences, abilities and plans. The information is developed into a report for each student to help them relate this information about themselves to career options and the world of work. The results will be reviewed by the guidance department for the parents and the students who took the test.

There will be two meetings, one on Tuesday, March 31, and the other on Thursday, April 2. Both meetings will begin at 7:00 p. m. in the high school commons. Parents may attend either session and they are urged to bring their son or daughter with them.

Counselors will explain the profile reports that each student receives, along with various other facets of career planning. Applying to college and financial aid are topics which will also be covered.

Shellenbarger-Niederquell Vows Said at Whittemore

A rose covered arbor decorated the Whittemore Chamber of Commerce Building Saturday, March 21, for the marriage of Terri Lee Niederquell and Tyson Shellenbarger. The Rev. Daniel A. Costea performed the double ring service.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Niederquell of Hale are parents of the bride and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Shellenbarger, also of Hale. Mr. Shellenbarger was accompanied on the guitar by Nelson Shellenbarger for vocal selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of imported French Chantilly lace and accordion pleated organza over taffeta fashioned with a fitted pearl accented bodice, scalloped lace edge neckline and bishop sleeves. The skirt featured an overlay of lace extending to an attached chapel length train. A raised headpiece secured a long veil of illusion mist. She carried a silk bouquet of burgundy tipped roses and blue bridal blossoms.

Maid of honor was JoDee

Brandal with Mrs. David Stoddard and Gloria Fahndrich of Saginaw, aunts of the bride, bridesmaids. Miss Brandal wore a blue gown with spaghetti straps and chiffon cape. The bridesmaids were attired in matching pink and yellow gowns.

Serving as best man was Elite Shellenbarger, brother of the bridegroom. Another brother, Flynn Shellenbarger of Hale, and the bride's brother, Allen Niederquell, also of Hale, were groomsmen. Ushers were Brian Niederquell and Kyle Shellenbarger.

Mrs. Niederquell greeted 500 guests for a dinner reception in a pink gown with chiffon overlay adorned with a corsage of silk pink roses and apple blossoms. Mrs. Shellenbarger chose a navy blue dress complemented with silk blue blossoms and miniature roses.

Following a trip to the Upper Peninsula, the couple will reside on Curtis Road, Hale.

The bride was honored at a personal shower and two miscellaneous showers by her attendants and family members.

Parent-Teacher Meetings at W-P

Parent-teacher conferences at Whittemore - Prescott Area Schools will be held Wednesday and Thursday, April 1-2. The elementary school conferences are slated for 1:00-3:30 p. m. and 7:00-9:30 p. m. Wednesday and the junior and senior high school conferences are at the same hours Thursday.

Maud Randall Chipper at 96

Maud J. Randall of East Tawas, who was 96 years old last week, was honored by friends and members of Irene Rebekah Lodge at a celebration on Friday, March 20, at McDonald's Restaurant.

Mrs. Randall was born March 27, 1885, at Reese, the first of 10 children of Edwin and Elizabeth Mosher. When she was 13, her family moved to the Twining area where her father worked in the stove mill and farmed.

After a time working in the Twining general store-post office-telephone office, she moved to Tawas City, working in the post office under Postmaster William Kelly for seven years. Returning to Twining, she worked over 22 years in the bank there, serving as assistant cashier.

On February 5, 1936, she was married to Harlan Randall. Although she did not have children of her own, she raised Mr. Randall's grandson, Harlan Shotwell, through his high school years. Randall died in 1954 and in 1957, she came to East Tawas to reside with her sister, Mrs. Guy (Pearl) Spencer, who is the youngest of the Mosher children.

Mrs. Randall is a member of Irene Rebekah Lodge; Lake Shore Chapter No. 661, American Association of Retired Persons; Tawas Area Senior Citizens, and the Twining Baptist Church.

She attributes her long life to her temperate habits and her trust in God.

Discuss Museum Support Program

Discussion of the need for developing programs to support Iosco Historical Museum and election of officers highlighted the regular meeting of Iosco Historical Society last week. The financial need arose when funds from the CETA program were discontinued. New displays have been set up at the museum and special events are planned during the summer months.

Cooperation from all of the community in recognizing the problems and solutions are the present goals of the society.

Heading the group will be Harris Barkman, president; assisted by Gary Nelkie, vice president; Lucina Chirko, treasurer, and Marion Jennings, secretary.

Lower Hemlock Herman Good Cited for Heroism

A citation for heroism was presented to Herman Good of East Tawas by Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary No. 5678 Monday, March 23. The presentation, made by Grace Misener, was for helping to save the life of a canoeist on Tawas Lake last fall.

A project started by Ruth W. Smith, state president, to benefit the blind, was completed and forwarded to Mrs. Smith by Theresa Roiter, project chairman. A new project to provide funds for two children to attend camp will be a joint effort of the post and auxiliary.

Flora Roberts won the mystery package and lunch was served by Theresa and Barbara Roiter. Get-well wishes were extended to Matt Anderson, husband of Violet Anderson.

Election of officers is slated for the April 13 session. Delegates and alternates will be chosen and a 50-50 drawing will be held. Fannie Walstead and Frances Hill will serve on the luncheon committee.

CLUB NEWS & NOTES

Whittemore Women Heard Party Plans

Michigan symbols were used to answer roll call by Whittemore Women's Club members Wednesday, March 18, at the city hall. Adele Brown gave an update on state legislation including the introduction of a bill by S. I. Hayakawa to abolish the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit, to which General Federation of Women's Clubs are opposed.

Progress on the plans for the annual card party was also presented by Mrs. Brown. This year, the card party, cosponsored by Burleigh Rural Ladies, Whittemore Volunteer Fire Department and Whittemore Women's Club, will be held Friday, April 24, at the elementary school.

Marion Thompson reported on Club Women's Magazine, which urges clubs to plant trees on Arbor Day. She also reported on art in the schools.

Ida Dorsey informed the group of the convention of Federation of women's Clubs and our ladies, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Dorsey, Lina Dunham and Val Samson, attended a meeting of the convention Thursday, March 19, at Midland.

Program for the day was on Michigan with members presenting interesting facts.

Indian Culture-Crafts Theme of DAR Meeting

Culture and crafts of American Indians featured the March luncheon meeting of River Aux Sables Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, in the home of Mrs. Lyle W. Adams, Tawas City.

The hostess displayed old and new Michigan Indian basketry, jewelry and a blanket from the plains area and Theresa Sieland, Fairview, explained the significance of dress, decoration and weapons detail in her painting of Sioux, Shoshone, Crow, Blackfoot and Comanche warriors.

The series of oils and other art works, some of which have been seen in the Fairview-Mio area, will be displayed during the summer at regional shows.

Miss Sieland, who is a 1980 Ferris graduate in business advertising, is chapter chairman of junior membership and will attend the April NSDAR Congress in Washington, D. C., as a Michigan DAR page.

Members honored Mrs. Adams and Miss Sieland with a per capita contribution to the work of the Michigan Indian committee. Projects supported by the DAR include St. Mary's School for Indian Girls in South Dakota and Bacone College in Oklahoma.

Mrs. Homer D. Roberts, chapter regent, presided at the meeting and Mrs. Worthy T. Boyd, chapter and state registrar, announced the enrollment of two members, Mrs. Tasman A. Dowling of Hale and Virginia Lee Duggan of AuSable Lake.

VFW Auxiliary Presented Three Flags to School

Three American flags were presented to St. Joseph Catholic School Monday, March 16, by Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary No. 5678. The presentation was made by Mabel Smith, Americanism and loyalty chairman, and senior vice president. Accepting for the school was Sister Jean Karen, principal.

The flags will be used in two meeting rooms and the library.

PWP to Meet at IHM Hall

Richard Dines, psychologist, will address Parents Without Partners Thursday evening, March 26, on children in divorce. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p. m. at Immaculate Heart of Mary Parish Hall.

Saturday, March 28, the group will travel to West Branch to welcome a new club to the PWP family. Information on car pool may be obtained by calling 362-5796.

Local National Gypsum Plant Wins Divisional Safety Award

For the second consecutive year, the National City plant of National Gypsum Company has won the annual Division I safety award for the Gold Bond Building Products Division.

The last time the local plant had a lost time accident was in August 1978. Since then, employees have worked 930,000 man-hours through February with no time lost due to accidents.

"Our present goal is for 1,000,000 man-hours, which we should reach some time in May," said Richard Harris, plant manager.

LaVerne Koepke, supervisor of safety and personnel, said the Gold Bond Division's accident frequency for 1980 was 0.9 actual, with approximately 9% million man-hours in diversified mining operations. The company standard for 1980 was 1.3 frequency and National Gypsum has set a standard of a 1.1 frequency.

Safety success at National City, said Koepke, is attributed to a good loss control program, which is based upon the concept that the conditions responsible for accidents are usually similar to the conditions that are responsible for other productive and economic losses. These conditions include delays, damaged material and equipment and interior products.

Koepke said considerable emphasis is placed on the unsafe acts as well as the unsafe condition present in the industry.

"This program is backed by a conscientious and dedicated group of hourly and supervisory employees working together to correct and eliminate those conditions and practices that can be responsible for losses before they occur," said Koepke. "When the loss does occur, it provides a means of determining and eliminating the basic and related responsible conditions to preclude recurrences."

Plant Manager Harris said, "Our union - represented safety and health committee represents all departments of the plant and quarry in matters of safety and has been instrumental in our success in safety. It meets monthly to discuss any problems relating to safety and report on unsafe conditions and practices that could result in a loss. It then follows up on all unresolved problems."

In recognition of the outstanding safety award, each employee of the plant received a new pair of safety shoes.

Richard LaPeer Returns to Iosco as Special Education Coordinator

Richard D. LaPeer, who once founded the hardwood as a member of the Tawas Area Braves and later coached high school basketball in Pennsylvania, has returned to this area in his new position with Iosco Intermediate School District.

Officially appointed Wednesday night as coordinator of planning, monitoring and data collection for federally mandated and funded special education programs, LaPeer has been on the job here since March 16.

One of his principal jobs will be to revise special education plans for the intermediate district and to monitor local districts to ensure that federal and state mandates concerning special education are being followed.

He spent his first week here visiting schools of the county and, in the process, has become reacquainted with several teachers who attended high school in the county when he was going to school here.

LaPeer attended Tawas Area High School and was entered in a college preparatory program, graduating in 1966. He was a member of the varsity basketball team for two years.

He attended Eastern Michigan University from 1966 through 1971, receiving a bachelor of science degree in special education for the hearing-impaired. He received a master of education degree in special education from Mansfield State College, Mansfield, Pennsylvania, in 1979, and is currently pursuing an educational specialist degree in special education, with state endorsement as director-supervisor of special education, at Eastern Michigan University.

Prior to coming here, he spent the last 1 1/2 years as supervisor of student teachers at Eastern Michigan.

LaPeer served as consultant for the hearing-impaired from 1974 to 1979 at Williamsport, Pennsylvania, and taught ninth and 10th grade science and mathematics in 1971 and 1972 at the Michigan School for the Deaf at Flint.

His other related employment activities include coaching all levels of basketball, was a track official and recreational coordinator while he was with Southern Tioga School District, Mansfield; coordinated a federally funded camp for hearing-impaired youth; served as youth counselor and diagnostician for the North Pennsylvania Diagnostic Center; was a graduate assistant at Eastern Michigan University.

A member of Phi Delta Kappa, he is a member of the Pennsylvania Speech and Hearing Association and Pennsylvania State Education Association.

He and his wife, Roxanne, are parents of two children. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald LaPeer, are residents of Towlne Road, Tawas City.

Lela Osgerby

Educator
Librarian

A former East Tawas resident, who made Sand Lake her home after more than one-half century in the teaching profession, is credited with forming a state-wide association in 1941 which continues to influence young people of the state.

When she celebrated her 80th birthday here in 1965, Miss Lela Osgerby was still going strong. An inveterate traveler, she was still driving her own car to Florida and on various trips during the year.

She has since passed away, but the name of Miss Osgerby will long be remembered in state library circles—mainly through her efforts, the Student Library Assistant Association of Michigan (SLAAM) was organized and youngsters enrolled in the association still take an active part in operation of libraries in state high schools.

Miss Osgerby's father served as superintendent of schools at Mayville, Marlette, East Tawas, Fenton and Howell. She attended school here and later attended Columbia University, the University of Michigan and the University of Chicago while studying for her degrees in library science.

She began her teaching career at Millersburg in 1909 and ended it in Bellevue in 1961, where she taught for 22 years.

As a high school English teacher and librarian, she had an extraordinary rapport with her students, having the faculty of not only being an excellent teacher, but a good friend and confidante to students as well.

Under her influence, the Bellevue High School Library was established in 1933 and shortly after that she initiated a SLAAM program in that school which is now an accepted practice in most Michigan schools.

The "Osgerby Plan," which was acceptable by the state, is one in which students meeting certain requirements assist with the librarian duties during the school year.

As a reward for their assistance, Miss Osgerby conducted a tour for those students at the end of each school year. Three other adults—the school principal, a mother and the bus driver—besides Miss Osgerby, accompanied the students.

During the tours, numerous historic and literary sites east of the Mississippi River and some west of it were visited, making history and literature live for the students.

The bus was provided by the high school and money for the trips was earned by various projects during the year and the individual savings of the students.

In addition to her duties as a teacher and librarian, Miss Osgerby acted as sponsor for the senior class for 12 years and coached all their plays. She also served on the Services Commission of the Michigan Education Association for three years during that time.

In 1942, Miss Osgerby had a severe heart attack and was medically advised that her teaching days were over. After she had been immobilized for five months, the students literally stormed the doctor's door to plead for her return to the school, promising that they would carry her everywhere.

In February 1943, the doctor bowed to the student's demands and allowed Miss Osgerby to return to her teaching and library work. The students, true to their promise, carried their beloved teacher upstairs and downstairs the rest of that year.

She always believed that this love shown by her students healed her.

In 1949, the Bellevue High School Library staff held a Lela Osgerby testimonial dinner at which time it was said, "Seldom has a small school been so fortunate as to have in one teacher a combination of firm leadership, limitless energy, lively interest in everything about her and a warm understanding of young people."

After retirement from teaching, this person with a "lively interest in everything" was in great demand.

She served in Albion for a year as school librarian, after which she retired from school work entirely.

The next year was spent at Paw Paw where she helped reorganize the county library and the following 10 years she acted as city librarian in the Petoskey Public Library.

saw Miss Osgerby in the British Isles, during which time she toured England, Scotland and Wales. She spent some time in Lincolnshire, England, home of her ancestors where three towns are called Osgerby.

She was an active member of the Michigan Library Association, the Michigan Education Association and the American Association of University Women, as well as the National Retired Teachers' Association.

During her retirement years at Sand Lake, Miss Osgerby was often called upon to speak at district meetings of the Student Library Assistant Association of Michigan and was the principal speaker at a meeting held in November 1965 at the Alabaster headquarters of Iosco-Arenac Regional Library.

In addition to her teaching-librarian career, Miss Osgerby was active in the Lyceum League of America and was an officer in the last club of that organization in the United States—Independence Club No. 1408 of Whittemore. (Incidentally, the last living member of the Lyceum League of America, which gave this country its "Pledge of Allegiance," is Alice Goupil, now 100 years of age, who is a resident of Provincial House Nursing Home in Tawas City.)

It is well to remember the outstanding contributions made by such educators as Lela E. Osgerby, who was an inspiration to Michigan young people throughout her long life. Should the Iosco Historical Society ever establish a "hall of fame" to honor those persons who have made important contributions to the state, her name should be enshrined at or near the top of the list.

Business is the First 'Soft Touch' for Charity Drives

The first person approached for donations—from supporting special school programs through the gamut of charitable causes and area promotions—is the main street businessman. He is a soft touch.

It is tough to draw the line on these contributions, but many small businesses have seen the need to do so—regardless of pressure tactics used by solicitors, young and old; others try to be "good fellows" and continue to dig into the till until it really hurts.

Last week, this newspaper reported that the Tawas City Council had granted permission to the local Rotary Club to use city-owned property at the mouth of the river as a site for its food concession trailer. The club asked for permission to use the property only during the smelt season and special event week-ends, but being good fellows, the council got carried away with the spirit of the thing and wrote a carte blanche ticket approving use of the site until December 31.

A club committeeman told the council he had contacted nearby restaurant operators and had received no objections to operation of the food concession trailer. Following last week's story in this newspaper, however, one restaurant owner said he did not object to the trailer for a few nights during the smelt season, but he felt issuing a permit for practically the entire year was a bit too much.

A club representative stopped at the Herald office to complain about the story and wanted a "retraction"—the club only asked to use the property "for a few nights during smelt season."

A retraction by this newspaper is a moot point—the council made the decision, it was reported and is a matter of public record. What is important, as this corner sees it, is for everyone concerned to get a little better perspective on a growing problem.

As this corner sees it, after a long winter and in an economic slump to boot, the businessman who supports his community by paying real estate and personal property taxes—along with shelling out of a lot of donations to charity—should not be subjected to "charitable programs" that skim the top off his small profits—be it for two or three week-ends or for the entire year's money-making campaigns for charity—should not compete with established business.

This community has a peddler's ordinance and it should be enforced—be it a nonprofit organization or not. The fee actually is payment in lieu of taxes to protect those who have investments in the community. The fee should not be waived for anyone.

Know Your Michigan Law

By Attorney General FRANK J. KELLEY

A circuit court judge has agreed that Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and consumer representatives have the right to offer evidence in opposition to utility requests for "temporary" or "emergency" rate increases before the state Public Service Commission (PSC).

Ingham County Circuit Judge Robert Holmes Bell ruled as "unlawful and unreasonable" a "partial and immediate" rate increase of $1,231,000 annually granted by the PSC to the Upper Peninsula Power Company (UPPCO) on August 21, 1978. The power company collected about $600,000 under the invalid order until the order was superseded by a final rate order on February 5, 1979.

Judge Bell declined to order UPPCO to immediately refund the money collected under the invalid orders but instead remanded the case to the PSC to receive and consider the evidence that it had refused to hear in 1978.

Attorney General Kelley said: "The court's decision striking down the 1978 UPPCO emergency rate increase is a significant victory for the rate-paying public. It forces the Public Service Commission to open its doors to the people and businesses who pay the bills, despite the efforts of the utilities and the PSC to make 'emergency' rate increases a private affair."

Judge Bell specifically ruled that a hearing officer for the PSC—subsequently the PSC itself—acted improperly when he refused to allow Attorney General Kelley and a group of Upper Peninsula municipalities led by Ontonagon Township to present evidence in opposition to the emergency rate increase.

Judge Bell, in a February 27 order finding the PSC's rate hike procedure unlawful, observed that: "The commission received voluminous testimony over 40 hearing days by the company's witnesses . . . (but) did not allow any rebuttal evidence which plaintiff, attorney general or the Township of Ontonagon intended to offer."

In his appeal to the Ingham Circuit Court, Kelley argued that Michigan law requires a full and complete hearing on pending rate increases with opposing parties allowed to introduce evidence. In agreeing with Kelley, Judge Bell wrote, "It is obvious that when the PSC hearing officer denied the plaintiffs (Kelley and Ontonagon Township) an opportunity to submit evidence in opposition to the proposed interim rate increase, he acted in contravention of MCLA 460.62(1); MSA 22.13 (62). Pursuant to the scope of review set forth in MCLA 426.26; MSA 22.45 sub (c) this court must find that the order of the PSC was unlawful and unreasonable."

Upper Peninsula Power Company is headquartered in Houghton and sells electricity through most of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. In a separate case, UPPCO has pending at the PSC a request for an emergency rate increase of nine mills, per kilowatt-hour, or about 17 percent. UPPCO received a 10 percent rate hike on October 23 and is scheduled to receive in April an annual cost of living rate increase equal to 12 percent of its operation and maintenance expenses. UPPCO also receives monthly rate adjustments to reflect changes in the cost of fuel and power purchased from other utilities.

Keeping The FAITH

"DIVINE LOVE AND WISDOM is a fountain of life I am always happy to be near. I find in it a happy rest from the noisy insanity of the outer world."

These words by the legendary Helen Keller seem particularly appropriate in these deeply troubled times of global conflict and economic chaos. Sometimes the world does indeed seem insane and this condition leads many of us to ponder the concepts of love and wisdom.

What is love? Human existence presents no more basic question. Love has been extolled by poets, described by novelists, dramatized by playwrights, analyzed by psychologists, advocated by theologians, and even profaned by pornographers. But in the end, it remains as mysterious as that baffling phenomenon of nature—lightning. We can observe the effects of love, yet cannot grasp its essence.

If ever there was a definitive work on this elusive and universal subject, Emanuel Swedenborg's DIVINE LOVE AND WISDOM meets the test. Swedenborg, 18th century scientist, philosopher, and theologian, begins where others left off. With his opening statement, "Man knows that there is such a thing as love; but he does not know what love is," his theme is clearly established.

Now in its 54th printing, readers will find this book fascinating and challenging; it will enlarge one's understanding of life itself. No one can fail to share some of the delight of Helen Keller who credits the works of Swedenborg as being a great source of comfort and inspiration to her. Copies of DIVINE LOVE AND WISDOM can be obtained by sending $2.00 to the Swedenborg Foundation, Inc., Dept. DLW, 139 East 23rd St., New York, N.Y. 10010.

Catholic Women Held Meeting

Regina Frank, president, led opening prayer of St. Joseph's Council of Catholic Women Thursday, March 19. Introductions were made by each member and one guest, Donna Blust, was present.

A letter from Eleanor Donahue informed the group of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women meeting Wednesday, March 25, at Immaculate Heart of Mary Church with the Rev. Fr. Francis Murphy guest speaker.

A smorgasbord is slated for April 25. The ladies of the parish will clean the church April 14 starting at 10:00 a.m. A pot-luck dinner is scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, April 16, followed by Mass.

Mental Health Board Meeting

AuSable Valley Community Mental Health Services Board will hold its next regular meeting on Monday, April 13, 7:30 p.m., in the Commissioner Room, Iosco County Building, Tawas City.

Area coverage of this board consists of the Counties of Iosco, Ogemaw and Oscoda.

Ambulance Service Operation May Require Some Alternative Financing

A discussion on audits of books for Tawas Hospital Ambulance Service and Oscoda Ambulance Service Wednesday by the Iosco County Board of Commissioners indicates that alternative methods of funding those services may have to be provided.

David George, chairman of the county commission, said that only $7,000 remained in the county's ambulance fund at present and $10,421.17 is required to pay the deficit for operating the ambulance service through March 31.

Ambulance service operation has been funded through federal money received as payment in lieu of taxes, generated by the more than 100,000 acres of federally-owned land in this county. It was reported that no money has been included in the budget from PILT funds this year.

Chairman George and other members of the commission said that high priority had been placed on operation of the ambulance service.

Terry DeRosia, ambulance coordinator for Tawas Hospital, reported that one of the biggest sources of ambulance deficit is the fact that about 75 percent of the insurance companies make claim payments that are too low to cover ambulance costs.

Four ambulances are in operation here and two units purchased in 1974 and 1975 need replacement. DeRosia said that one salvation might be fewer ambulances would be needed if medical specialists locate here in expanded hospital facilities, thus eliminating the need for transferring patients to other hospitals. He said that transferring patients was an extremely high item in the ambulance budget.

Replacement cost for the two old ambulances would be approximately $33,000 each.

Com. John Webb suggested that consideration be given to replacing ambulance chassis and utilization of the old ambulance bodies. DeRosia pointed out that reconditioning was possible, but federal and state regulations would have to be followed.

Good News Department

THE SEA COULD SET U.S. FREE

Two hundred years after 1776 and the U.S. is still not free. We are still seeking to be free from dependence on foreign raw materials that are vital to our economy.

Today, an important focus of that search is on the ocean floor, in water sometimes three miles deep. Lying on the seabed are enormous quantities of small, grey-black nodules which contain vital minerals we need. Currently, our only significant source of these minerals is to import them from countries such as Russia, South Africa, Zaire, Indonesia and Gabon.

The technology for mining the nodules from the ocean depths is now under development. But even more critical are the developments taking place in the laws of the United States, and in the agreements between nations which will govern the ability of American business to have access to the mineral supplies.

These nodules are important to our economy. They contain manganese, without which we cannot make steel. Yet America has virtually no manganese of its own. We import 98 percent of the manganese we use mostly from Russia and South Africa.

The nodules contain cobalt, which is required in the manufacture of jet engines, cutting tools and stainless steel. America also is dependent on foreign sources for 98 percent of its cobalt.

The nodules would also supply nickel and copper. Today we import 71 percent of the nickel we need, and 15 percent of the copper, and these percentages are growing.

Recognizing the potential for mining minerals from the deep ocean floor, a number of American companies such as Sun Ocean Ventures, a subsidiary of Sun Company of Radnor, Pa., are now investing in mining technology. Sun Ocean Ventures and others in the U.S., Europe and Japan are aware of the lengthy development period that will be involved, and that the investment will run into the hundreds of millions of dollars. The international political climate needed to support and encourage this investment is not promising.

Since the important ocean mining areas lie in international waters, the ownership of the minerals has been a thorny international issue. A United Nations conference has been attempting to negotiate a treaty for eight years, without success. The latest treaty proposal would place "full control" of the seabed in the hands of a new international agency dominated by developing countries. The agency could set prices, extract royalties, and conduct its own mining operations in competition with private companies.

At home, the U.S. Congress has recently passed legislation to establish ground rules under which American companies could begin ocean mining operations. The legislation will provide a guarantee that American companies will have continued access to the mining areas under any treaty subsequently ratified by the United States.

The U.S. legislation will also impose strict controls to prevent damage to the ocean environment, and require that substantial royalties be paid from ocean mining income into a fund for the special benefit of the developing nations.

Enactment of this law will strengthen the hand of American negotiators in upcoming United Nations deliberations. It could establish a standard for future treaties. It could also encourage other nations to enact similar laws that would lead to reciprocal agreements permitting equal access to these important mineral resources by all who are willing to invest in the development of the expensive technology.

Full Gospel Businessmen Set Deadline for Reservations

Reservations for Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship, Huron Shores Chapter, dinner at the Tawas Masonic Temple Saturday, April 4, may be made before noon the day of the meeting. Early reservations are advised since a capacity crowd is expected to hear Abraham Rababy on a return visit.

During his last visit, Rababy spoke of his experiences in the Middle East and will now tell of Bible prophecy in that area as well as the roles to be played by Israel, Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Lebanon. He will provide insight into events in today's headlines foretold in the Bible.

A non-nominational event, everyone is invited. For reservations, call 362-4656, 362-8132, 376-7612, 739-8595 or 739-3817.

Proceedings of Iosco County Board of Commissioners

March 4, 1981

A regular meeting of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners held at the County Building in Tawas City on March 4, 1981, pursuant to published schedule.

Meeting called to order at 9:35 a. m. by Chairman George and the roll called.

Present: George (District 2), Merschel (District 3), Ulman (District 4) and Webb (District 5).

Absent: None. (A vacancy existing in County Commissioner District No. 1)

The following annual report of general fund disbursements for the year 1980 was presented by the county clerk and reviewed by board members: (Available at the clerk's office)

Chairman George invited any members of the public in attendance to address the board, to which there was no response.

The chairman and board members reviewed business to be considered and the agenda for the day, whereupon Chairman George reported, with respect to the request by local package-liquor dealers for board approval under the provisions of Act No. 433, Public Acts of 1980 - of the sale of spirits for consumption off the premises on Sunday after 12:00 noon, that letters have been sent to all local units of the county to obtain their input and recommendations before taking action on the matter. George further reported that the Oscoda Ambulance Service has been requested by letter to forward a copy of their most recent auditor's report for the board's review.

At 9:50 a. m., Iosco County Probate Judge William H. McCready appeared to discuss with board members his request to terminate the existing Tri-County Foster Family Group Home Program - which is currently being funded by grants to Arenac, Iosco and Ogemaw Counties, and the services provided under contract with the Community, Family and Children Services, of Alpena, Michigan - and to review alternative program possibilities; whereupon on the board, upon order of the chairman, recessed to confer with Judge McCready, to stand in recess until 2:00 p. m.

Upon call to order at 4:00 p. m., all commissioners being present, the minutes of the board of commissioners meeting of February 18, 1981, were reviewed and a motion offered by Commissioner Merschel that they be approved. Motion was supported by Ulman and carried.

Commissioner Webb, reporting for the administrative committee, reported in reference to: The contract negotiations with district court employees; a meeting of the governing board of the Tri-County Foster Family Group Home Program scheduled for tomorrow; the contract with the Police Officers Association, representing the sheriff's department employees; the flat fee requested by Building and Safety Inspection Department Administrator Edward Sterling for new homes inspections; the proposal for a new solid waste landfill site and program; the proposed extension of the contract with the Multi-County Landfill Corporation pending development of a new solid waste disposal program, and a new contract with County Equalization Director John Rose.

A brief recess was ordered by the chairman at 4:07 p. m.

Upon call to order at 4:15 p. m., Chairman George reported in regard to incorrect telephone numbers for the ambulance service and sheriff's department in the Continental Telephone Directory, which was discussed briefly, and referred to the probability that the payment-in-lieu-of-taxes on federal forest lands (P. I. L. T.) will not be funded in the future, proposing that the board may want to review landfill fee schedules and other sources of funding for various programs. Future funding for solid waste landfill operation was thereupon discussed at some length.

Commissioner Webb presented and moved adoption of the following resolution, motion being supported by Ulman and carried.

Your administrative committee recommends that the clerk number consecutively all resolutions which come before this board beginning March 4, 1981.

Continuing, Webb referred to the renewal of the contract with County Equalization Director John Rose, indicating he was to have a resolution, but that the matter has still not been resolved.

Finance Chairman Merschel presented and moved adoption of the following resolutions:

Your finance committee recommends that travel vouchers for County Road Commissioners A. J. Aulerich and Henry M. Conley in the amounts of $11.10 and $39.96, respectively, be approved for payment from road commission funds.

Supported by Webb and carried.

Your finance committee recommends that the county clerk and treasurer be authorized to pay the housing commission's inspector out of the county general fund upon receipt of approved vouchers from the housing commission, subject to reimbursement from housing commission funds. This resolution to facilitate the payment of workmen's compensation insurance.

Supported by Webb and, following a period of discussion wherein was raised the possibility of problems regarding future unemployment benefit obligations, etc., failed on the following roll call: Ayes: Merschel and Webb. Nays: George and Ulman. Following continued discussion, a motion by Webb to reconsider the resolution was supported by Merschel and carried; whereupon the question was called again and carried on the following roll call: Ayes: George, Merschel, Ulman and Webb. Nays: None. Chairman George reporting for the record that he changed his vote because of not wanting to jeopardize the program.

Your finance committee recommends that, upon the advice of the building and safety inspection department, Iosco County adopt a $90 fee for hearings before the construction code board of appeals, the fee to cover costs of the hearings and to be submitted by the applicant at the time of filing an appeal.

Supported by Webb and carried.

These Spicy Doughnuts Are Baked!

Only the holes were left at a recent tasting of these unusual baked doughnuts, developed by the American Spice Trade Association. Instead of being deep-fried in oil, the dough—which is spiced with a fragrant combination of cinnamon and nutmeg—is shaped with a doughnut cutter and baked in the oven. While still warm the doughnuts are rolled in a mixture of sugar and more nutmeg. Heavenly with cold milk.

BAKED SPICED DOUGHNUTS

2 teaspoons white vinegar	1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
3/4 cups all-purpose flour (unsifted)	2 eggs
2 teaspoons baking powder	1 1/4 cups sugar, divided
1 teaspoon baking soda	4 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted and divided
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg, divided

In a measuring cup place vinegar, add enough milk to measure 2/3 cup; set aside for 10 minutes (mixture will curdle). In a small bowl combine flour, baking powder, baking soda, 1/4 teaspoon of the nutmeg, cinnamon and salt; set aside. In a large bowl place eggs, 1 cup of the sugar, oil and reserved milk; beat until smooth. Add reserved flour mixture; continue to beat until smooth. Cover and chill 1 hour. Preheat oven to 350°F. On a lightly floured board, roll dough 1/2-inch thick, adding additional flour if dough is too soft. Cut dough with a 3-inch doughnut cutter. Place on 2 greased baking sheets, 2 inches apart. Brush with 2 tablespoons of the butter. Bake until lightly browned, about 20 minutes. Brush with remaining 2 tablespoons butter. Combine remaining 1/4 cup sugar and 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg. Roll doughnuts in sugar. Cool on wire racks. Keep in a tightly covered container. YIELD: 2 dozen.

Worcestered Pot Roast Conveniently Seasoned

There are many ways of seasoning pot roasts. The German Sauerbraten-style is marinated for days in vinegar and spices. Swedish cooks simmer the meat with bay leaves, anchovies and a bit of brandy. But one of the easiest ways, and one of the tastiest, is to use the original Worcestershire sauce as the main seasoning—for a rich, browned flavor. Here we've "worcestered" a can of tomato sauce with onion, salt and a dash of sugar, and created a subtle barbecue flavor. It's an inviting combination with the beef, carrots and potatoes.

BAKED WORCESTERED POT ROAST

2 tablespoons vegetable oil	1 1/2 teaspoons salt
3 1/2 pound beefsteak bottom round or beef chuck roast	4 cups peeled and quartered potatoes
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce	2 cups carrots, cut into 2-inch pieces
Water	1 jar (16 oz.) boiled onions
1 tablespoon Lea & Perrins Worcestershire Sauce	1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons sugar

Preheat oven to 350°F. In a heavy sauce pot heat oil until hot. Add beef, brown on all sides. Add tomato sauce, 1/4 cup water, Worcestershire Sauce, sugar and salt. Cover and bake for 2 hours. Add potatoes, carrots and onions. Continue to bake, covered, until beef and vegetables are tender, about 1 hour. Transfer beef and vegetables to a serving platter. Combine flour with 2 tablespoons water. Blend into liquid in sauce pot. Cook and stir over low heat until thickened, about 1 minute. Serve over sliced meat. YIELD: 6 to 8 portions.

Favorite Bread

It's safe to call this your "Favorite Bread" since the recipe asks you to pick the flavor. Raspberry, strawberry, apricot, black cherry... whatever strikes your fancy. The fruit flavor comes in the yogurt you choose; the rest of the medley from wholesome and natural ingredients—a beguiling combination of aroma, taste and texture. Chunks of pecans punctuate each bite with nutty goodness.

3 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/2 cup chopped pecans

Self-rising flour and self-rising corn meal provide the added convenience of preblended salt and leavening, sparing you extra measuring and mixing steps. Even more, "self-rising" makes all homemade breads an important source of the B-vitamins—thiamin, niacin and riboflavin—and the minerals, calcium and iron. Add that to the nutritional contribution of the other ingredients and you have a "health food" even though it tastes like a "fun food."

Stir together flour, corn meal and sugar. Blend in butter and yogurt; beat 1 minute on medium speed of electric mixer or 150 strokes by hand. Add eggs and vanilla. Beat 2 minutes on medium speed or 300 strokes by hand. Stir in pecans. Pour into greased 4 1/2 x 8 1/2 -inch loaf pan. Bake in preheated 350° oven 60 to 70 minutes, or until done. Cover with aluminum foil, if necessary, to prevent excess browning. Cool 15 minutes before removing from pan. Cool completely before serving. Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop.

FAVORITE BREAD (1 loaf)

1 cup self-rising flour*
1 cup self-rising corn meal*
1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1/4 cup butter, softened
1 carton (8 oz.) fruit-flavored yogurt

Job Rate Decline in Iosco

Unemployment increased in all of Michigan's 13 major labor market areas during January, according to estimates released last week by the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Violetta Ogilvy of the state MESC office reported Thursday that Iosco County's rate of unemployment was higher than the state average.

During January, Iosco's unemployment rate reached 16.25 percent with 1,525 persons unemployed and 7,700 persons employed.

The release of local area labor force estimates usually follows the release of state-wide estimates by several weeks. On February 6, MESC announced that the state-wide jobless rate in January was 13.7 percent, with $85,000 out of work compared with December's rate of 12.4 percent and 533,000 unemployed.

Among the 13 labor markets, the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area had the smallest increase as its rate went from 8.5 percent in December to 8.6 percent in January. The Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo areas followed with rates of 9.8 and 9.9 percents, respectively.

S. Martin Taylor, MESC director, attributed the state-wide increase in unemployment to scattered layoffs in the auto industry along with substantial seasonal job losses in construction and retail trades.

Annual Report Due April 15

Annual reports of 1980 earnings must be filed by April 15 by people receiving social security benefits who earned more than the annual exempt amount in 1980, a social security spokesperson said recently.

The 1980 annual exempt amounts were $5,000 for people 65 and over and $3,720 for people under 65 all of last year.

People who received some benefits in 1980 who earned more than the exempt amount are required to file a report of those earnings by April 15.

Those who received no benefits in 1980 are not required to file a report, but those people should file a report to make sure that any benefits that might be due for the year are paid.

A person who earned less than anticipated, for example, may be due some benefits. The only way these benefits can be paid is if the person files an annual report.

The general rule is that $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings above the exempt amount. A person can have substantial yearly earnings before all benefits are withheld. For example, a 65 year old person whose monthly benefit rate is $350 could earn $13,400 before all benefits for 1980 were withheld.

People who are required to file an annual report should have received a copy in the mail. If they have not, they should contact the nearest social security office to obtain a copy. Those not required to file, but who wish to do so, can also get a copy of the form at any social security office.

The 1981 annual exempt amounts are $5,500 for people 65 or older any part of 1981 and $4,080 for people under 65 all of 1981.

More information about annual reports and the annual earnings test can be obtained at any social security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q. My wife and I get SSI. Do I have to tell social security that our daughter is moving in with us.

A. Yes, you should notify social security any time there is a change in your household.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q. I have lost my social security card. What should I do?

A. You should visit your local social security office to apply for a replacement card. If you still have the stub showing your social security number from your old card, take it with you. You will also need to take any papers that prove your identity. Documents, such as driver's license, passport, voter's registration, or military service record that show your name, date of birth, physical description, and signature can be used.

Q. How much money will I be allowed to earn in 1981 without losing any social security benefits?

A. If you are under age 65, you will be allowed to earn $4,080 before social security withholdings any benefits. If you are 65 or older, you may earn $5,500 before any withholding. There is no limit on the amount you can earn if you are 72 or older.

Q. My 12-year-old sister recently came to live with me so that she can attend school here. My mother is still getting her social security checks. Since I am paying all of my sister's expenses, can I get the checks instead of my mother.

A. The Social Security Administration makes every effort to serve the best interest of children beneficiaries. If you feel that it is in your sister's best interest for you to manage her social security checks, you should file an application to be made her representative payee. Whether you or her mother is representative payee, the law requires that the money be spent to meet your sister's current living expenses or, if they are all met, saved for her. Even if you don't file to be representative payee, you should notify social security that your sister is now living with you.

Q. My father was severely injured in an accident and may have to be in the hospital for several months. I want him to apply for disability benefits but he cannot go to the social security office. Can I apply for him?

A. Unless your father is unable to do so, he should file his own application. If he is unable to visit a social security office, he can either apply by telephone or request that a social security representative visit him in the hospital. If he is unable to do either right away, you can notify social security that he intends to file a claim; then, when he does file (if within 6 months), his application will be treated as if it had been filed at the time of your notice.

Four forensic winners from Tawas Area High School joined Lake Shore Chapter No. 661, American Association of Retired Persons, for a pot-luck dinner Wednesday, March 18, and entertained the group with skits. Kenneth Rapp and Suzette LaPalme presented a duo interpretation, "Adam and Eve;" James Alexander, a humorous reading, and Toni Penman, "Storytelling."

John Austin led a discussion on ways and means to provide a full program for all school students. A moment of silent prayer was held for recently deceased members and Edward Davidson was welcomed as a new member.

Guests besides the students were Eleanor Yarbrough and Marie Bellon. Prize winners were Violet Small, Nellie Stafford, Mabel Smith and Miss Penman.

A sack lunch at noon April 1 will be followed by a tour of the Railway Station in the mall at East Tawas. Visitors are welcome to join the tour and meeting.

Superlatives!

Probably the most elegant jar ever designed was the one carved by Dionysio Miseroni in the 17th century. This precious ointment jar was carved entirely from a 2,680 carat emerald, the largest cut gem in the world.

Wurtsmith AFB's Financial Impact on Economy Told

Wurtsmith Air Force Base has a salary economic impact of more than 73.5-million dollars on the local economy, it was determined recently in a report sent to Headquarters, Strategic Air Command.

The "Salary Impact Report" is a semiannual review of the financial impact a military installation has on the surrounding community. This review showed that Wurtsmith's financial impact in the Oscoda-Ausable-Tawas and surrounding area is 73.5-million dollars and 87.5-million dollars for Michigan.

Representing the total military and civilian payroll and using an established economic multiplier, this figure reflects the ultimate purchasing power of each direct dollar spent by Wurtsmith personnel as it flows through the community.

The figure is derived by multiplying the number of jobs created by the base's presence in the area by the average annual salary of the people working off base. The product of this is added to the annual salaries of military and civilian workers at Wurtsmith to give the total salary impact of the base on the area.

According to the report, the presence of Wurtsmith has created 2,936 jobs in the area. Base cost and management analysis branch officials reported that this does not include one-time major contracts let for items like new buildings and other contracts like the air launched cruise missile construction.

The final Wurtsmith impact figure is achieved by multiplying the jobs by the estimated annual salary for people working in this area. This gives a product of $29,460,000, which added to the annual military payroll of $37,770,000 and civilian payroll of $6,270,000 yields the salary impact of 73.5-million dollars on the local area within a 50-mile radius of Wurtsmith.

Another major economic contribution of the base is awarding contracts. In fiscal year 1980, the base awarded more than 11-million dollars in contracts throughout Michigan, with the 50-mile area around Wurtsmith receiving almost 3.1-million dollars of that amount. In the first four months of the current fiscal year, beginning in October 1980, 5.5-million dollars in contracts have been awarded throughout the state. Of that figure, three-million dollars have been awarded to the immediate area.
